NON-CONFORMING — Dr. Robert G. Ceniceros of Larkspur last night waged a moving but futile fight to preserve this illegal fence at his rustic home at 10 Hazel Avenue. Claiming no one objects to the fence, the dentist said it was to blend in with the woodsy atmosphere of the area. The city council rejected his appeal however, claiming it could not make an exception to the city's ordinance governing height.

Pledge To NATO: No Troop Cuts

BRUSSELS (UPI) — President Nixon, in his most sweeping commitment yet to America's European allies pledged today there will be no U.S. troop cutbacks in Europe without reciprocal military reductions by the Communist "adversaries."

On the contrary, he said, "given a similar approach by our allies," the United States will improve its forces in Europe.

Nixon's statement was contained in a message read by Secretary of State William P. Rogers to the foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). U.S. officials said it was the most open-ended commitment of this sort Nixon has made since becoming President. They said it goes beyond fiscal year 1972 and is valid for the full period of Nixon's current term.

SECOND DAY

The foreign ministers met for the second day of the annual three-day stocktaking session of the alliance's foreign, defense and finance ministers.

The defense ministers met on Wednesday. The Soviet news agency Tass called their decisions "dangerous for the cause of peace."

Nixon, in his message to the foreign ministers, said:

"Given a similar approach by our allies, the United States will maintain and improve its own forces in Europe and will not reduce them unless there is reciprocal action from our adversaries. We will continue to talk with our NATO allies with regard to how we can meet our responsibilities together."

THE CONCLUSIONS

Nixon said the United States and its allies, "after the most searching consultations," have reached several fundamental conclusions:

—They have reaffirmed a flexible response is the proper strategy for the alliance "confronted by a formidable mix of a potentially hostile force which is constantly improving."

—They have agreed NATO's conventional forces must not only be maintained but strengthened in certain key areas.

—They have agreed to move to transform these recommendations into fact. This should provide NATO with "an enhanced capability sufficient to make the strategy of flexible response a more credible factor in the equation of deterrence."

TRUCE IN TOMALES BAY LAND DISPUTE

Solution To Tidelands For Wildlife Reached By Rancher, Conservationists

By WAT TAKESHITA

Giacomini, who wanted to dike off 132 acres of marshland to graze cattle, signed an option to sell all 367 acres of his undiked tidelands to Conservation Associates, headed by George L. Collins of Ross. The option will run to Aug. 31, 1971,which will give conservationists almost nine months in which to drum up funds for the purchase.

The option averts a heated confrontation between the rancher and conservation forces at a hearing scheduled by the Marin County Board of Supervisors for next Tuesday.

County Supervisor Louis H. Baar, who announced the option agreement, said Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, engineered the truce.

Assemblyman Bagley, who is well acquainted with Collins and the conservation associates, arranged a meeting between Collins and Giacomini to bring about the truce.

"If we had gone ahead with the hearing before the county Supervisors, chances were 50-50 that the vote could have gone either way," said Bagley. "Rather than run that risk, we got Mr. Giacomini to agree to the option."

"I would have preferred to reclaim it because it makes wonderful pastureland," said Giacomini this morning. "But rather than argue and fight about it, I thought this would be best for everyone."

Giacomini has 700 acres already behind dikes, with the present levee running across the marshland about a mile north of White House pool.

His agreement to sell to Conservation Associates is the undiked portion north of the existing dike to about Willow Point. Giacomini declined to speculate on the fair market value of the property. He said he will appoint an appraiser and Conservation Associates will name its appraiser. If the two appraisers cannot agree, they will name a third appraiser to reach the fair market value.

Collins said he has talked to officials of the state Department of Fish and Game, and they expressed interest in making a state wildlife refuge of the Giacomini marshlands.

During hearings held in October and November before the Marin County Planning Commission, an array of experts testified that the dikes would destroy wildlife habitat in Tomales Bay and increase flooding along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between the Point Reyes Station Bridge and White House pool.

Baar noted that the Marin County Parks and Recreation master plan also describes the marshlands as wildlife preserve. "The federal government might have some interest, the state does have interest, and the county has potential interest in those tidelands," said Baar. "I hope this will lead to the culmination of an acceptable settlement between the landowner and the conservation groups."

If the option is not picked up by August of next year, Giacomini said he will re-apply for the diking. If he does so, he will face a new board of supervisors, with Arnold M. Baptiste in the place of Supervisor William A. Gnoss.

Law Overrides Council Sympathy

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A young Larkspur dentist last night lost an emotional appeal to the city council and was told his artistically created fence — built from old lumber found on his property — could not be allowed to stand as is.

Sticking to the letter of the law, the council gave Dr. Robert C. Ceniceros until next August to bring his fence at 10 Hazel Avenue into conformity with the city's six-foot height limitation.

After the decision, Ceniceros told neighbors who had attended to lend vocal and moral support, that he was considering moving from Larkspur because of the action.

"It would be criminal to tear it (the fence) down . . . I can't do it," he said in a choked voice.

Ceniceros's appeal stemmed from planning commission rejection of a variance application considered in October. His quiet charm, which won over the planning commission audience but not the commission, worked the same way last night.

Presenting a slide show of the fence, Ceniceros explained how he had rescued the ancient home at 10 Hazel Avenue from near condemnation four years ago. The fence, which he said is an art object, was built from "magnificent old pieces of lumber" found scattered about his acre of property.

"It is nonconforming (by the law)," he told the council flicking through the slides, "but then again it is very conforming in that it doesn't look like it is there."

The fence, or structure as Ceniceros referred to it, is a series of weather beaten slates of varying height enclosing the old home's back yard and sides. It was constructed in such a manner that it blends into the area's lush growth despite its height which sometimes reaches 10 feet.

"When I bought the house four years ago," he told the council, "it was rescued from being divided into four lots."

He said he has been refurbishing the home and property ever since, removing 50 truckloads of junk from the back yard.

"I can't think of another person in Larkspur who has seen the fence that hasn't liked it . . . thought it should remain," he said patting the back of John Appleton, city planner. "Its a three-

Storm Is Heavier In Other Areas

Marin and Southern Sonoma were unscathed today by stormy weather that brought heavy rain throughout Northern California and deep snow to the mountains.

Rainfall tapered off but continued. In the 24 hours ending at noon today, San Rafael recorded .86 of an inch. Woodacre, in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m., had .72. Comparable 24-hour readings yesterday were 1.98 for San Rafael and 2.82 in Woodacre.

A potentially troublesome mud slide on Bolinas Road west of Fairfax, and a blackout caused by a bird in Sausalito were the worst problems reported by Marin's public works and utility officials.

The Bolinas Road slide sent a 30-foot-wide swath of mud oozing onto the pavement shortly before 10 a.m. today.

Parts of the Marinship area were blacked out because a great blue heron flew into high voltage lines at 10 p.m. yesterday, killing itself and burning out a wire. About 250 customers in the Gate Five Road area were affected for an hour, according to Leonard A. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. superintendent for Marin.

Norris Rawles, San Rafael director of public works, said his crews still were toiling to keep catch basins cleared of accumulating leaves. He said a few sewers had spilled onto streets,

U.S. Will Continue Flights Over North

PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce today defied Communist threats of retaliation and served notice on Hanoi the United States would continue to fly reconnaissance missions over North Vietnam and do "everything in our power" to free captive U.S. pilots.

Yater Bruce proposed international control of all prisoners of war camps in both North and South iVetnamese. He told newsmen after the close of today's Paris talks that the Communists were "surprised" by the offer and that they did not respond immediately.

In a bitter verbal exchange with North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy, Bruce denied Hanoi claims that six U.S. aircraft had been shot down in the Nov. 21-22 raids during which Special Forces commandos made an unsuccessful attempt to rescue captive pilots from the Son Tay camp west of Hanoi.

Bruce said no U.S. plane was shot down in the action and that the commando unit, while failing to find any prisoners in the camp, "returned safely without incurring a single serious casualty."

Bruce spoke after Thuy warned that if the United States carried out further commando raids it would have to assume "full responsibility" for the consequences. He did not spell this out. Bruce rejected the statement as "polemics, propaganda and distortions of fact."

Bruce said the Communists were fully aware that the United States was determined to fly reconnaissance missions over the North after halting all bombing raids on Nov. 1, 1968.

"Let me state once again today that we will continue to undertake these reconnaissance missions to help assure the safety of our forces in the Republic of (South) Vietnam, and that we will continue to take the necessary measures to protect our pilots and aircraft," Bruce said.

Bruce again accused the Communists of ill-treating U.S. prisoners which, he said, had prompted the Son Tay raid.

Jury Seeking Verdict In Daly Murder Case

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The jury in the murder trial of Frank J. Thurber resumed deliberations at 10 a.m. today after failing to reach a verdict in nearly eight hours of deliberation yesterday.

Jurors spent the night at a San Francisco hotel after they told visiting Superior Judge Edmund M. Moor of Alpine County they had not reached a decision at 7:15 p.m.

The case of Thurber — charged with murder, conspiracy, robbery and burglary in connection with the fatal shooting of Independent-Journal employee Allan W. Daly July 4 — went to the jury at 11:20 a.m. yesterday.

Daly died 12 days after he was shot when two youths invaded his San Francisco home demanding money. Two 17-year-old San Bruno youths, Larry G. Rutherford and Richard A. Wamsley, are serving long terms with the California Youth Authority for their self-confessed roles in the murder.

Thurber, 45, also of San Bruno, is a member of San Francisco-Oakland Mailers Union 18, an affiliate of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7.

He is accused of recruiting the two youths to attack Daly, providing the .45 caliber murder weapon and taking the youths to and from Daly's home the night of the shooting.

The jurors returned to the court room twice yesterday. At about 3:30 p.m. they asked portions of testimony of two witnesses be read to them and for Thurber's payroll record for July 4.

At about 5 p.m., they questioned Judge Moor on a point of law.

If Thurber is found guilty of conspiracy, they asked, must he be found guilty of the three other charges?

Judge Moor said he could not do their work for them, but read them a section of law indicating that a coconspirator, whether or not he is present at the commis-

Angela Davis Extradicted

BULLETIN

Supreme Court Justice Thomas Dickens granted a five day stay of extradition, however, to give the 26-year-old defendants' attorneys time to appeal to the state court's Appellate Division. Miss Davis took her extradition to the Supreme Court after it was ordered last month by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Miss Davis is charged in California with buying weapons for a San Rafael shootout in which Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons were killed.

SOUGHT FOR MURDER

Ulysses S. Grant, a New Mexico hippie commune leader who claims he is the reincarnation of the 18th U.S. president and who campaigned on this white horse for governor last year as a write-in candidate, is being sought by Sandoval County authorities on murder charges. UAW Firm: No Extension Of Ford Pact Past Monday

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers will not extend its contract with Ford Motor Co. past the midnight Monday strike deadline, heightening the threat of another nationwide strike unless a new three-year contract agreement is reached.

Emerging from Wednesday's bargaining session, Ken Bannon, director of the union's Ford Department, said the strike deadline is "very real."

"There are no thoughts of extending anything," he said. "We're working against that deadline."

The union and Ford agreed on Nov. 23, when negotiations were resumed following the conclusion of the union's 67-day strike against General Motors, to reinstate the old, three-year contract which expired Sept. 15. This gave the union the benefit of having Ford collect union dues while assuring the company there would be no wildcat strikes while talks continued.

While both sides are basically agreed on a wage and fringe benefit package similar to the one obtained at GM, they are stalled on when the wage hikes will become effective. The differential will cost the company $42 million—or an average of $250 in back pay for each worker.

Bannon said he wants the back pay for the union's 150,000 members at Ford before Christmas.

Sweeping Plans Loom In Portugal

LISBON (UPI) — Premier Marcello Caetano has proposed to parliament the most sweeping conctitutional changes in Portuguese history, including the granting of self-government for the nation's embattled African colonies.

The laws would also increase individual constitutional rights for the citizens of Portugal who lived under a virtual dictatorship and police state under the 36-year regime of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Even Caetano himself acknowledged the changes he seeks are "profound."

Caetano said racial segregation would be abolished in the colonies.

The legislation which Caetano proposed and which the parliament seemed certain to pass was a huge stride in the administration's policy to turn Portugal into a modern, democratic nation. Caetano began the process almost as soon as he became premier in 1968 following a stroke suffered by Salazar, who died earlier this year.

Manila Tremor

MANILA (UPI)—An earthquake shook tall buildings in downtown Manila briefly today.

The geophysical division of the Philippine Weather Bureau said the quake was of low yield, registering only an intensity of one on the adjusted Rossi-Feral scale of nine.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Feminists Picket

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women's liberationists demonstrated for the second consecutive day Wednesday against Cosmopolitan magazine in demands for $15,000 in "reparations" and a monthly feminist column.

Two members of the Women's Strike Coalition on Cosmopolitan magazine met briefly with editor Helen Gurley Brown, author of "Sex and the Single Girl," to press their demands. Another meeting was set for Friday.

The feminists picketed the building housing the magazine's offices for two days and the meeting came a short time after a miniature liquor bottle and a stone were thrown from a window of the building.

Attacker's Trial

MANILA (UPI) — A religion-hating Bolivian painter goes on trial before a Philippine court Friday for the attempted murder of Pope Paul VI exactly a week after he tried to stab the pontiff at Manila International Airport.

In the background of the trial of Benjamin Mendoza, 35, was a controversy on who frustrated his dagger attack and saved the life of the 73-year-old pontiff. It was the first serious assassination attempt on a Pope in modern history.

Mendoza, who paints with both hands, has signed a confession admitting he tried to kill the Pope while dressed in priest's attire as he mingled with the airport crowd.

Offshore Fines

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The government has fined three more oil companies $566,000 for operating offshore wells without storm chokes. And Shell Oil Co. faces a month-long fight to douse a flaming wild well lacking one of them.

U.S. District Judge Fred J. Cassibry fined Humble Oil and Refining Co., Continental Oil Co. and Union Oil of California the total $566,000 during their arraignment Wednesday for federal offshore drilling regulation violations.

Humble, accused of 150 violations, was fined $300,000; Continental was fined $242,000 on 121 violations, and Union $24,000 on 12 counts.

Milk Date Order

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A superior court judge ordered eight dairies Wednesday to show cause why they should not clearly date their milk cartons.

Judge Carl H. Allen, who set Jan. 6 for a hearing, acted on a suit brought by five elderly San Franciscans, a nurse and three associations who asked a court order prohibiting "deceptively coded" expiration dates on cartons.

The suit estimated that milk has a "shelf life of between seven and 10 days" and said that "as milk ages, its bacteria count increases and its nutritional value decreases."

Upholds Posters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A city probation officer has the constitutional right to decorate his office with a poster of Negro militants, an arbitor ruled Wednesday.

Attorney William Eaton, chairman of the city's arbitration grievance committee, also decided that probation officer Nelson Phillips, 30, should be reimbursed for the five days he was suspended by Warren Jenkins, acting chief adult probation officer who objected to the poster.

Jenkins has five days to decide whether to appeal to the Civil Service Commission.

New Harlow Job?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon wants Bryce Harlow, one of his top aides, to become new Republican National Chairman, White House sources have reported, but Harlow apparently does not want the job.

Harlow, chief of congressional liaison for the White House, is on an extended leave of absence from his job as chief Washington lobbyist for Procter & Gamble. He has indicated he wants to return to that lucrative job.

Harlow stands to suffer a substantial financial loss if he stays in government.

Consumer Bill Gets Death Blow In House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Advocates of new consumer protection laws admitted today they had struck out in the 91st Congress.

The last prospect for final action on a major consumer bill collopsed Wednesday when the Hous eRules Committee on a 7 to 7 vote refused to clear for House action a Senate-passed bill creating a Consumer Protection Agency.

As passed by the Senate on a 74 to 4 vote, the bill would have set up an independent agency to represent consumer interests as well as a council of consumer advisers to report to the president. The rejected House version was somewhat different, but opponents said the effect was the same —to add new layers to existing overlapping bureaucracies concerned with consumer affairs.

Earlier, a committee-approved bill to let aggrieved consumers initiate class action suits against manufacturers was sidetracked in the Senate, while a comparable bill in the House was turned down in committee.

A third major consumer bill, setting up minimum standards for warranties, also yas consigned to a House committee pigeonhole.

The Consumer Federation of America, a coalition of 180 consumer or consumer-oriented groups, said it was "angered and distressed," not only at Wednesday's rules action but also at the fact that so little consumer legislation of any kind had emerged from the 91st Congress.

Atrocities Described At Antiwar Inquiry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of Vietnam war veterans have told an unofficial inquiry that American soldiers torture and murder Viet Cong prisoners to gain intelligence information.

They said prisoners were thrown from helicopters, tortured with electrical shocks to genitals and breasts, and six-inch pegs were driven into their ears.

The veterans commented at the National Veterans Inquiry into U.S. War Crimes Policy, sponsored by antiwar groups.

Dr. Gordon Livingston, a former Army surgeon in Vietnam and now a resident in psychiatry at Johns Hopkins University, said American soldiers go through a "whole process of dehumanization" that starts with referring to Vietnamese as "gooks" and "slants."

"The acceptance of the inferiority of the Vietnamese is so broad, so pervasive that there is practically nobody not involved," he said. "In that context, it is not surprising that individual soldiers will kill innocent Vietnamese."

Livingston said that when a helicopter pilot temporarily was grounded for flying so low he killed two Vietnamese women on bicycles, he said, "It's ridiculous. Why should I be grounded for killing a couple of gooks?"

Kenneth B. Osborne of Washington, a former intelligence specialist, said he was along on two helicopter flights when American officers ordered Viet Cong prisoners thrown out to force other prisoners to talk.

Osborne quoted a lieutenant as saying that method was used "whenever we can't get information by other means."

Osborne also said American soldiers put six-inch pegs in prisoners' ears and kept tapping them inward in an effort to make them talk.

Former Sgts. Edward Murphy of Philadelphia and Stephen S. Noetzel of Long Island said American servicemen hooked the wires of battery-operated field telephones to the genitals of men and the breasts of women to give them electrical shocks to prod them into talking.

Delay Seen In Jet Fuel Dumping

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Air Pollution Control Administration says half the 50 airlines it questioned three weeks ago reported it would be 1972 before they can find a safe, cheap alternative to dumping residual jet fuel into the skies shortly after takeoffs from major airports.

A spokesman for the airlines estimated it would be next spring before manufacturers could devise an alternative to dumping and another year or more before any such device could be ready for installation.

Reverse Boot Camp Eyed For Violent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Harvard Research Psychiatrist, who spent two years working with returning Vietnam veterans, said today a "boot camp in reverse" should be created to make returning combat troops less violent before they re-enter civilian life.

Dr. Charles J. Levy, in testimony prepared for the Senate Veterans Affairs subcommittee, said men returning from Vietnam suffered profound disorientation and some were unable to distinguish between Vietnam and the community to which they return.

Lefy gave the subcommittee what he said were tape recorded transcripts of conversations he had with some Veterans.

"Like when I got back from Vietnam my sister yelled at me," he quoted one enlisted man, "I split her leg open with a lamp ... it makes you an animal. Like you can't reason."

"You see guys with legs blown off," another was quoted. "Gooks with their heads blown off and their legs off and their chests wide open. You say 'man, is that all there is to it.' Just you're dead. And no more. You get that attitude that people are just matter . . ."

Recreation Plan Held To Hub City's Usage

The proposed recreation agreement between the San Anselmo School District and the city will limit involvement in joint recreation programs to San Anselmo residents, the school board has been told.

Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry said yesterday the limitation was written into the proposed contract by Trustee Franklin C. Latcham and has been forwarded for approval to the city council. Latcham is a member of a joint committee charged with revising the agreement.

By limiting joint recreation programs to city residents, Lowry said, the two bodies will avoid the question of unequal taxation between city property owners and those in the unincorporated areas of the school district.

The recreation agreement has been proposed as a means of utilizing the school district's community service tax without duplicating recreation activities offered by the city.

In related action Tuesday the board rescinded its action of Nov. 3 which authorized the use of the service tax funds to provide after-school drama classes at Red Hill and Hidden Valley schools.

Lowry said both schools requested the programs start during school hours and continue to 4 p.m.

He said the $1,000 appropriation to run the classes was approved last night from the district's general fund, since the programs will become part of the schools' elective courses.

The San Anselmo School board also:

FUNDS — Approved submitting application for state funds totaling $2,314 for the purchase of library materials.

INTERDISTRICT AGREEMENT — Approved a request for interdistrict attendance agreement for Robert James to attend school in the Dixie School District.

LANDSCAPE FEES — Delayed until the Dec. 15 meeting payment of $1,000 to Henry Cole, landscape architect of San Rafael for drawings, specifications and details for Wade Thomas School's tot-lot.

POLICY — Tabled discussion on district policies concerning inter-district agreements and travel until the Dec. 15 meeting.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to a special meeting Saturday at 9 a.m. at Isabell Cook School for cfupection of that school and later RedHill School.

'Voice' Of Pilot Beams Yule Plea

SAIGON (UPI) — A voice identified today by Hanoi Radio as that of an American pilot shot down over North Vietnam more than two years ago asked for "less sweets and more durable, useful or tasty articles" in a Christmas package.

An American-accented voice the broadcast said was that of Navy Lt. Junior Grade Karkham Ligon Gartley, sent the short message addressed to Gartley's parents in Dunedin, Fla.

"I am in good health and am receiving good treatment during my detention here," the voice said. Several messages from Gartley also were monitored last Christmas.

Portrait Plan For Kennedys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A portrait of the late President John F. Kennedy will be unveiled at the White House in January along with a painting of his widow, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, it was learned today.

The oil portraits of Kennedy and the former first lady were painted by a New York artist, Aaron Shickler. Both have approval of Mrs. Onassis.

The portraits also must be accepted formally by the White House Historical Association which will pay for them.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS UP IN NOVATO

Christmas decorations have gone up in downtown Novato, but the lighting is yet to come.

Twenty-five wreaths, greenery encircling red Christmas bells, have been placed on light standards along the south side of Grant Avenue and at Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard.

There are two "Noel" signs along highway 101 Gronberg said.

City decorations will include a nativity scene at Highway 101 and Vallejo Avenue, with live animals provided by the Novato Valley 4-H Club.

Plane Carrying Supplies Crashes

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) — A four-engined cargo plane carrying relief supplies for survivors of East Pakistan's cyclone-tidal wave disaster, crashed tonight while coming in for a landing at the Dacca airport, the air traffic officer reported.

"As far as we can tell it was a Belgian plane," the officer said. "It was carrying relief supplies."

He said all four crewmen were killed.

Auto Is Stolen

A 1966 Volkswagen owned by Thomas Brunelle of 23 Onyx Avenue, Larkspur, was stolen sometime between 9:15 and 10:30 p.m. Monday from the Brunelle residence, Larkspur police reported. The auto has license TKL-347.

Nursing Mothers Breaking The Law?

A couple of loopholes have been exposed in Marin's brand new anti-nudity ordinance, which went into effect just 12 days ago.

A sharp-eyed critic from Berkeley complained yesterday to the Marin County Board of Supervisors that the new law prohibits mothers from nursing their infants.

"Having read your anti-nudity ordinance," wrote Rev. Jefferson F. Poland of Sather Gate Station, Berkeley, "I conclude that it outlaws nursing mothers."

Poland complained that Marin's ordinance does not make lewd intent an element of the offense, and mere exposure of the female breast is deemed a misdemeanor.

"I assume this is mere error in drafting," chided Poland. "Surely you did not consciously intend to deprive babies of their mother's milk . . . lactating females have fed their babies since long before the county of Marin existed as a governmental unit. Should you somehow neglect to repair your error of legislative draftsmanship, mothers may be forced to seek injunctive relief from the courts."

The anti-nudity ordinance, drafted by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, was approved by the supervisors on Oct. 20 and went into effect on Nov. 20.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney conceded that Poland "seems to have a point." He suggested that the county administrator send an amendment to the supervisors to exempt nursing mothers. Maloney also suggested that an exception be granted to youngsters "up to age 3, 4, 6 or whatever the age of decency is."

300 Expected At Scout Reunion

The San Anselmo Ascenders, Explorer Scout Post 15, will have a reunion dinner at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the gymnasium of St. Anselm's School.

The post was started in 1950 under the direction of Hugh L. Erwin.

Post member Terry Halbert of 157 Oak Springs Drive, San Anselmo, is taking reservations for all present and past members and sponsors of the post. He said 300 persons are expected to attend the dinner.

Bike Path Organizers Plan Parade

About 700 bicyclists are expected to take part in a "festival for peddlers" Sunday to dramatize the need for safe bicycle paths in Marin County and especially in Tiburon.

The festival is an outgrowth of Mrs. Bonnie Raisin's efforts to persuade the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to sell its right-of-way to Tiburon for a bicycle and pedestrian pathway.

The cyclists will gather at the Safeway Market on Tiburon Boulevard at 12:30 p.m. and ride to Richardson Bay Park behind a sheriff's department escort.

Participants should bring a picnic lunch, Mrs. Raisin said, and plan to stay for a program of music, speeches and prizes for the oldest and youngest participants.

Recreation Plan Held To Hub City's Usage

The proposed recreation agreement between the San Anselmo School District and the city will limit involvement in joint recreation programs to San Anselmo residents, the school board has been told.

Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry said yesterday the limitation was written into the proposed contract by Trustee Franklin C. Latcham and has been forwarded for approval to the city council. Latcham is a member of a joint committee charged with revising the agreement.

By limiting joint recreation programs to city residents, Lowry said, the two bodies will avoid the question of unequal taxation between city property owners and those in the unincorporated areas of the school district.

The recreation agreement has been proposed as a means of utilizing the school district's community service tax without duplicating recreation activities offered by the city.

In related action Tuesday the board rescinded its action of Nov. 3 which authorized the use of the service tax funds to provide after-school drama classes at Red Hill and Hidden Valley schools.

Lowry said both schools requested the programs start during school hours and continue to 4 p.m.

He said the $1,000 appropriation to run the classes was approved last night from the district's general fund, since the programs will become part of the schools' elective courses.

The San Anselmo School board also:

FUNDS — Approved submitting application for state funds totaling $2,314 for the purchase of library materials.

INTERDISTRICT AGREEMENT — Approved a request for interdistrict attendance agreement for Robert James to attend school in the Dixie School District.

LANDSCAPE FEES — Delayed until the Dec. 15 meeting payment of $1,000 to Henry Cole, landscape architect of San Rafael for drawings, specifications and details for Wade Thomas School's tot-lot.

POLICY — Tabled discussion on district policies concerning inter-district agreements and travel until the Dec. 15 meeting.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to a special meeting Saturday at 9 a.m. at Isabell Cook School for cfupection of that school and later RedHill School.

'Voice' Of Pilot Beams Yule Plea

SAIGON (UPI) — A voice identified today by Hanoi Radio as that of an American pilot shot down over North Vietnam more than two years ago asked for "less sweets and more durable, useful or tasty articles" in a Christmas package.

An American-accented voice the broadcast said was that of Navy Lt. Junior Grade Karkham Ligon Gartley, sent the short message addressed to Gartley's parents in Dunedin, Fla.

"I am in good health and am receiving good treatment during my detention here," the voice said. Several messages from Gartley also were monitored last Christmas.

Portrait Plan For Kennedys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A portrait of the late President John F. Kennedy will be unveiled at the White House in January along with a painting of his widow, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, it was learned today.

The oil portraits of Kennedy and the former first lady were painted by a New York artist, Aaron Shickler. Both have approval of Mrs. Onassis.

The portraits also must be accepted formally by the White House Historical Association which will pay for them.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS UP IN NOVATO

Christmas decorations have gone up in downtown Novato, but the lighting is yet to come.

Twenty-five wreaths, greenery encircling red Christmas bells, have been placed on light standards along the south side of Grant Avenue and at Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard.

There are two "Noel" signs along highway 101 Gronberg said.

City decorations will include a nativity scene at Highway 101 and Vallejo Avenue, with live animals provided by the Novato Valley 4-H Club.

Plane Carrying Supplies Crashes

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) — A four-engined cargo plane carrying relief supplies for survivors of East Pakistan's cyclone-tidal wave disaster, crashed tonight while coming in for a landing at the Dacca airport, the air traffic officer reported.

"As far as we can tell it was a Belgian plane," the officer said. "It was carrying relief supplies."

He said all four crewmen were killed.

Auto Is Stolen

A 1966 Volkswagen owned by Thomas Brunelle of 23 Onyx Avenue, Larkspur, was stolen sometime between 9:15 and 10:30 p.m. Monday from the Brunelle residence, Larkspur police reported. The auto has license TKL-347.

Nursing Mothers Breaking The Law?

A couple of loopholes have been exposed in Marin's brand new anti-nudity ordinance, which went into effect just 12 days ago.

A sharp-eyed critic from Berkeley complained yesterday to the Marin County Board of Supervisors that the new law prohibits mothers from nursing their infants.

"Having read your anti-nudity ordinance," wrote Rev. Jefferson F. Poland of Sather Gate Station, Berkeley, "I conclude that it outlaws nursing mothers."

Poland complained that Marin's ordinance does not make lewd intent an element of the offense, and mere exposure of the female breast is deemed a misdemeanor.

"I assume this is mere error in drafting," chided Poland. "Surely you did not consciously intend to deprive babies of their mother's milk . . . lactating females have fed their babies since long before the county of Marin existed as a governmental unit. Should you somehow neglect to repair your error of legislative draftsmanship, mothers may be forced to seek injunctive relief from the courts."

The anti-nudity ordinance, drafted by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, was approved by the supervisors on Oct. 20 and went into effect on Nov. 20.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney conceded that Poland "seems to have a point." He suggested that the county administrator send an amendment to the supervisors to exempt nursing mothers. Maloney also suggested that an exception be granted to youngsters "up to age 3, 4, 6 or whatever the age of decency is."

Warning Reminder Issued On Christmas Hazards

Christmas trees, both fresh and artificial, are potential fire traps, Marin County's chief building inspector warned today.

Herbert F. Wimmer issued the following reminders to reduce hazards in homes, offices and institutions:

The larger the tree, the greater the potential hazard. Select a tree carefully, making sure it is not dry. Branches should bend without breaking, and needles should not fall when branches are shaken.

Locate the tree away from television sets, radiators, heaters and especially the fireplace. Set it well away from stairways, curtains or drapes where it may be overturned. Do not use cotton, paper, angel hair or snow spray on a tree which has lights strung on the boughs. Lighted wax candles should never be used on a tree.

Discard all frayed cords. Keep light bulbs away from tree needles, drapes and other combustible materials. Use a step ladder or chair when decorating a tall tree.

Artificial trees can be as hazardous as live trees. Plastic trees burn and trees made of metal or metallic materials are potential electrical shock hazards. Lighting should never be strung on metal trees.

Take care to avoid too many lights on one cord or circuit. Overloaded wiring will feel warm when it is touched. Never install larger fuses to carry the load. This can cause failure of the house wiring and cause a fire. Never run wiring under a rug where it may be subject to undetected but hazardous damage.

Be particularly careful when handling exterior wiring, especially when in contact with wet surfaces. Wait until it is dry outside before changing bulbs. Metal gutters and downspouts are good electrical conductors and should never be used to support wiring. The same is true of metal siding. Lights strung on these metal surgaces can become charged, and result in electrocution.

Disconnect Christmas lighting before retiring or when leaving the home, particularly if for an extended time.

"Please be careful so that we may all have a Merry Christmas season," said Wimmer.

A $1 gold piece was coined in 1849 but proved to be too small and was discontinued.

Authorization On Cleaner Is Sought

District Mgr. Charles A. Joseph was to seek authorization to proceed with a digester cleaning project at the Novato treatment plant at an adjourned meeting of the Novato Sanitary district board at 6 p.m. today at the office of the North Marin County Water District, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

Joseph estimated the cleaning project would cost $7,500.

Remainder of Hazardous Diet Pills Off Shelves

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The last of the thyroid-amphetamine diet pills, once used by millions, have been removed from the market two years after government scientists declared them hazardous and ineffective.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA), armed with a favorable court decision, announced Wednesday it had recalled 3.3 million tablets and capsules made by Lemmon Pharmacal Co., Sellersville, Pa.

The FDA said it originally found 112 companies manufacturing, repacking or distributing the thyroid-amphetamines, and asked them early this year to remove all stocks from the market. Thirteen refused.

Seven of the balky companies eventually stopped marketing the drugs, and the FDA seized the stocks of the other six. The seizure of the Lemmon Pharmacal Co. stocks came after a court order that supported the FDA.

The final action came two years after the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council (NAS-NRC) declared the drugs ineffective for weight control and hazardous because of the increased risk of heart failure.

Many doctors began prescribing amphetamines alone for weight control following the NAS-NRC report.

Amphetamines — sometimes called pep pills or uppers — affect the body's metabolic processes.

The FDA said amphetamines are becoming so plentiful they are finding their way into "improper channels of trade" in large numbers. The FDA said they should be used only for "short term treatment of obesity" and for two relatively rare ailments — uncontrollable sleepiness (narcolepsy) and hyperkinetic behavior disorders in children.

San Domenico Sets Yule Show

Christmas programs will be presented at San Domenico School Dec. 11, 16 and 17.

A Carl Orff production of "The Christmas Story," featuring a blend of music, dance and drama and involving students in grades one through eight, will be presented at 8 p.m. Dec. 11 at Alumnae Hall on the campus.

San Domenico's high school students will present their annual Christmas Tableaux at 8 p.m. Dec. 16 and 17, also in Alumnae Hall. The tableaux are the story of the nativity as told in living pictures of Fra Angelico's fifteenth century frescos.

Israel In Denial To Train Bomb

By United Press International

Palestinian guerrillas said today they blew up an Israeli train in the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River Monday night in an attack that killed and wounded a number of passengers.

Israel said a Jerusalem-Haifa train had struck a bread truck, injuring three passengers and the truck drivers, all Arabs. They denied any bombing.

A spokesman in Beirut for the Command of the Palestinian Revolution said the commandos attacked the train near Beit Hafafa as the train was en route from Jerusalem to Haifa.

TRAIN COACHES

The guerrillas said the explosions destroyed several coaches of the train and "our fighters returned safely to their bases."

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said today the United States has turned from U2 spy planes to artificial satellites to carry out "espionage operations" along the Suez Canal front.

The United States announced earlier this week that U2 plane surveillance of the Suez Canal had been stopped three weeks ago. Al Ahram said the American satellites have been sending data about the Egyptian front to an American relay station in West Germany for retransmission to Washington.

King Hussein of Jordan wound up his reconciliation talks in Egypt today and flew to London on the third leg of his six-nation tour.

The king conferred twice with President Anwar Sadat on the Jordanian situation and official sources said Hussein emphasized his government's desire to honor the peace pacts that ended the September fighting in Jordan and aims of his trip, which also takes him to Washington, Paris and Bonn.

ARREST TOLD

A Beirut newspaper said today Syria has arrested an Israeli Jew who worked his way into the highest ranks of the Syrian Baath party and spied on one regime after another for seven years.

The newspaper, the French-language L'Orient, attributed its report to "well-informed Syrian sources." The newspaper identified the Israeli as Ahmed Rabah.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli military correspondents reported today the Soviet Union is building up its military command structure in Egypt and that there are now perhaps 100 of Soviet generals in Egypt.

Once Mighty Grizzly Is Becoming A Scarce Species

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The grizzly bear, old Ursus arctos horribilis, is a truly awesome beast.

He can outrun the fastest human being, and he can punch, bite and rip better than the toughest of the legendary prizefighters who sore spurs in the ring.

But from the grizzly's viewpoint, there is a vastly more dangerous beast — gun-toting man, or, to take a liberty with scientific classification, Homo sapiens horribilis.

Time was, according to biologist Stephen Herrero, when the grizzly was the dominant animal from the West Coast to the Mississippi, south into Mexico, and north to the Arctic Circle.

Some authorities say that before the Spaniards came the grizzly and certain Indian tribes in California competed for such foods as acorns.

"The bear fed as he pleased; the Indians took what was left," says Herrero.

European man with his firearms changed that situation. Now both the numbers and range of the grizzly have dwindled. But the big bears still exist in mountainous parts of Montana, Idaho, and Wyoming, including Glacier National Park and Yellowstone National Park and in areas of Canada and Alaska.

Writing in a recent issue of the magazine Science, Herrero said:

"As man disperses into these northern areas, further encroachments on grizzly habitat and numbers will occur. The last home for this one-time monarch of North America will soon be in game refuges and park sanctuaries."

Man, said Herrero, "must learn to coexist with the bear, or its total extinction in wild population is certain."

Herrero, a research biologist at the University of Calgary in Alberta, Canada, takes the affirmative in the debate over whether grizzlies should be permitted to go on dwelling in national parks frequented by human beings.

There are those who feel it's a case of grizzlies or people and that, therefore, the giant bears must be chased or otherwise removed from the parks.

It is true grizzlies occasionally have inflicted violence on people. But Herrero argues these incidents were frequently the fault of the victims, some of whom met disaster from mother bears while pursuing grizzly cubs to take pictures.

In the 100-year history of North American national parks, which have been visited by at least 150 million humans, only 77 persons have been hurt by grizzly bears.

This is an injury rate of about one per two million visitors. The death rate has been one per 30 million visitors.

Herrero said improved park management and wiser behavior by people (who should stay out of prime grizzly habitats) would reduce even these "negligible" figures.

He proposed that man should accept the small probability of being hurt by grizzlies in order to experience the thrill of becoming "a part of nature."

"This," he said, "is the highest purpose our parks can serve."

Student Struck On The Head

Police reported yesterday that a 17-year-old San Rafael High School student was struck on the head in a bathroom at the school Tuesday.

Laura C. Sabuco of 689 Ridgewood Drive told police she was hit from behind at 10:15 a.m., but did not see her assailant as she made her way to the school nurse's office.

The nurse, police said, sent her to Marin General Hospital by ambulance. She was treated for a bump on the head and a neck bruise.

Curbing Of Troops Seen By Europeans

LONDON (UPI) — Despite repeated U.S. denials, diplomats say America's European allies are convinced President Nixon soon will order a withdrawal home of much of the American military force in Europe.

The diplomats say the Europeans are discussing quietly what to do in such a case but, so far, have shied from committing themselves to the costly defense buildup needed to fill up whatever gap a partial U.S. withdrawal would leave.

This new car is the best reason not to buy a Volkswagen Beetle.

In a year when every car maker seems to be giving you one reason or another not to buy a Volkswagen Beetle, it might be a good idea to listen to the best reason:

Volkswagen's Super Beetle.

It has almost twice the luggage space as the Beetle of yesteryear.

It has a longer-lasting, more powerful engine.

It has a new suspension system for a smoother ride.

It has a flow-through ventilation system to bring in fresh air when the windows are closed.

The interior is, to be honest, much nicer.

The floor, for example, is fully carpeted.

In all, it has 89 things you could never find on a Beetle.

So of all the claims you'll hear this year by car makers that their cars are "better than a Beetle," there's only one car maker with 25 years experience in small cars to back it up.

Volkswagen.

Dixie Pay Hike Seen Unlikely

Dixie School District teachers seeking an 11.8 per cent hike in their salary schedule for 1970-71 last night faced a school board that apparently isn't going to grant any raise.

Although the board didn't take any action, there was clear indication from individual comment of trustees that teachers will have to wait until next year for any possible pay hikes.

What could have been a heated confrontation evolved into a calm, orderly two-hour discussion of district finances before an audience of about 60 persons, teachers and residents.

Lone spokesman for the teachers was Clark Matthiessen, chairman of the Certificated Employees Council, formerly known as the teachers negotiating council.

Matthiessen probed to determine if the board would grant something less than requested, but to no avail.

At the close of the session, Matthiessen said he would get the teachers' reaction to the turn of events and present it at the board's regular session next Wednesday.

Teachers, who were granted a 2 per cent increase in fringe benefits, but no increase in the salary schedule, were asking a 6.3 per cent cost of living boost and a 5.5 per cent hike needed, they said, to move district pay toward the Bay Area median as of 1969-70.

As trustees questioned the cost of living percentage, Matthiessen commented: "I think 11.8 per cent was to serve notice that teachers feel they are underpaid."

Teachers felt that state funds placed in the budget reserve should have gone to pay raises.

Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff estimated that the proposed pay hike would cost about $300,000 to cover "teachers, principals and librarians."

Board President John A. Starkweather said the district was holding close to the budget it "sold" to the voters in April when seeking a 50-cent increase in the general purpose operating tax rate.

"We're still trying to run the district the way we said we were going to run it this year," Starkweather commented.

It is too late to go back on past decisions, and "I don't like the idea of making changes in midstream," Starkweather said.

Matthiessen said teachers were under the assumption last spring that if additional state funds were forthcoming, there would be a hike in the salary schedule.

Starkweather said the district was in a financial bind when the board decided against any raises except the automatic step increases.

Trustee Earl H. Koehler said the cost of the proposed raises would just about wipe out the district's reserve, estimated at $379,000, leaving the district in poor shape for the 1971-72 school year.

"Would the board be amenable to discuss a smaller amount?" asked Matthiessen.

If salary is the primary consideration of a teacher, "he shouldn't work for a district that has less than average gross wealth behind the pupils," Starkweather said. "You ought to pick a district that is a little wealthier."

He said teachers apparently are interested in the total program "or they wouldn't stay in this impoverished school district."

Starkweather said next year the teachers' salary schedule "would be a major element in the picture."

The board adjourned until 8 p.m. Wednesday at the district office, 35 Trellis Drive.

Youth Fined $50 For Gas Weapon

Terrence D. Maguire, 24, of San Francisco, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of having a tear gas weapon.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. fined him $50 Tuesday for the offense.

Maguire had earlier been charged with a felony count of having the illegal weapon when arrested by the California Highway Patrol Oct. 23.

Inspection Meeting

A special meeting of the San Anselmo School District board will be held Saturday to inspect the buildings and sites of Isabel Cook and Red Hill Schools. The board will meet at Isabell Cook at 9 a.m. and at Red Hill at 10:45 a.m.

Suit To Open Oceana Road Is Abandoned

Harold E. Gregg, executive director of the Marin Conservation League, has abandoned an attempt to prevent blocking public use of a road in the Oceana Marin Development at Dillon Beach.

Gregg had claimed in a suit filed in Marin Superior Court in September that he had used a road at Estero de San Antonio for more than five years.

He said this usage under a California Supreme Court decision meant the road had been dedicated to the public.

Albert Bianchi, attorney for Highway Properties Inc. and Bodega Bay Lands Inc., developers of Oceana Marin, said yesterday that residents of the area verified that the road has been blocked for years with a locked gate.

Furthermore, Bianchi said that Gregg's claims had also been presented earlier this year to county officials by the Sierra Club and that they had been deemed false.

Bianchi added that his clients had threatened Gregg with a countersuit demanding damages for delaying the development if the suit were not dropped.

After conferences between attorneys, the suit was dismissed last week.

A 70 per cent reduction in the number of cases of small pox in the world has been achieved, says the National Center for Disease Control.

Conservatives Lose AMA Abortion Test

BOSTON (UPI) — The American Medical Association AMA has closed out its second convention of the year, reaffirming a liberalized stand on abortions and opposition to any check on medical fee and services not under doctor control.

Doctors opposed to the new AMA position on abortions adopted in Chicago in June unsuccessfully fought to get the 224-member House of Delegates to return to the AMA's previous stance.

The House, with little debate, turned down two resolutions dealing with the abortion issue with a simple reaffirmation of its new liberal policy.

This policy applies to abortions only the ethical restrictions which govern any other medical procedures, making the operation a private matter between the woman and her physician.

However, the House ordered the AMA to seek disciplinary action against doctors in states where the operation is legal who solicit patients from states where the operation is illegal. Under medical ethics, the solicitation of patients for any medical service is prohibited.

The move was seen as being directed against New York.

The antiabortion forces apparently ran out of steam following a reference committee hearing which they dominated in urging a clarification of the new policy that would have, in effect, brought back the old stance. That position allowed "therapeutic abortions" when the health or life of the mother was threatened with the birth or if there was a good chance the infant would be born deformed or mentally retarded.

In several related actions, the delegates approved an expansion of "peer review" of medical fees and services, review by doctors only. A bill pending in Congress would give the federal government a voice in checking the reasonableness of fees and other medical costs covered by Medicare and Medicaid.

Military Offers Reimbursements

Information regarding reimbursement for memorial service expenses for military personnel whose remains are not recovered is available from the Marine Corps Reserve in Marin.

Under new federal law, memorial services for military personnel who died after Jan. 1, 1961, are reimbursable.

Bonds Sales Go Down In October

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds in Marin County during October totaled $118,393, bringing the 1970 total in the county to $1,285,857, according to Marin volunteer chairman William P. Murray Jr.

The figures are down, Murray said, from October and 10-month totals last year of $149,279 and $1,486,969.

Second Bus To Be Added

A second school bus will be added to transport 58 children who attend Marin's Head Start facility at Manzanita Center in Marin City.

The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council members last night approved the rental of a second bus so that commute time for children can be cut from 90 minutes to about 50 minutes.

Joseph H. Denhart, director of the children's center and the pre-school program, said that one bus now picks up 58 children from San Rafael, San Anselmo, Fairfax and Mill Valley areas, making 25 stops on the way. He said some of the children are on the bus for three hours each day, coming and going.

A delegation of parents jammed the EOC meeting at Tiburon council chambers to back up Denhart's request.

Denhart reported that the Marin County Superintendent of Schools can provide a minibus for the Marin City facility starting Jan. 4, and the cost through June would be about $2,500.

On a motion by Robert P Simmons and a second by Lottie Hall, the EOC members authorized the budget and finance committee and the EOC staff to work with Denhart to arrange for sharing of the $2,500 cost and start the second bus moving Jan. 4.

The EOC members needed little urging from the audience to declare that the new bus for the Head Start facility was the number one priority. Aside from Denhart, only one parent, Dennis Ketterman, spoke in support of the second bus.

Las Gallinas Council Votes For Mulryan

San Rafael Planning Commissioner Lawrence F. Mulryan won the endorsement last night of the Las Gallinas Village Council in his bid for appointment to the San Rafael City Council.

Mulryan — one of eight announced aspirants for the vacancy on the city council — was the only candidate invited to attend the village council meeting. Following some discussion, he was endorsed by a 6-0 vote with three abstentions.

The village council is made up of representatives of 15 special districts, homeowners and improvement associations in an area from Puerto Suello Hill to Lucas Valley.

The vacant seat on the San Rafael council is that of Fred C. Robbins Jr. who resigned to accept appointment to the post of San Rafael City Attorney, succeeding David Menary Jr. who has been named a Marin Municipal Court judge.

Village council president Richard L. Less of the Terra Linda Community Services District introduced the subject of a possible council endorsement by noting that 40 per cent of the population represented on the council lived within the city limits of San Rafael. The other 60 per cent lives right outside the city, he said.

"We are affected just as much by decisions in San Rafael as we are by decisions that we make," he said.

But Frank Solomon Jr., representing Marinwood Community Services District, said he didn't think it right for members of the council like himself, who neither work nor live in San Rafael, to endorse a candidate for San Rafael city government.

The proposed endorsement was compared by James L. McNulty as similar to the United Nations endorsing a candidate for the presidency of the United States. "And yet the United States affects every country in the world," added McNulty who represented Gallinas Village Improvement Association.

After informally agreeing to endorse a candidate, the council turned to the question of which candidate.

Less explained that he had invited only one candidate, Mulryan, to the meeting because, he said, he didn't know if the council would agree to any endorsement.

Less said he had a great deal of faith in Mulryan and Lyle G. Martin of Lucas Valley Homeowners Association said Mulryan was the choice of his organization.

Less twice called to no avail for a motion to endorse Mulryan before Lewis Pollock of Los Ranchitos Improvement Association suggested that perhaps some members of the council did not want to vote in the presence of the candidate.

Less and Martin both praised Mulryan's qualifications for the city council and Alfred M. Petrofsky of Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District made the motion to endorse.

McNulty and Pollock joined Solomon in abstaining, and Mulryan received the votes of Less, Petrofsky, Martin, Herbert C. Belben Jr. of Gallinas Village Community Services District, James Blum of San Rafael Meadows Flood Control Zone board and Robert S. Lansche of Rafael Meadows Improvement Association.

Las Gallinas Valley Council Also:

COMMISSION — Agreed to call a meeting of every special district in the county to see if the majority would favor petitioning the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission to increase its membership by the appointment of two representatives of special districts. The meeting will be held sometime in January at the Marinwood Community Center.

RECONSTRUCTION — Thanked the San Rafael City Council, and especially Councilman John A. Miskimen who was present last night, for the installation of traffic signals at Northgate Drive and Las Gallinas Avenue and the reconstruction of the intersection at Las Gallinas Avenue and Freitas Parkway.

BLACK CANYON — Went on record in favor of a proposal for the City of San Rafael to pay $170,000 for a 539-acre parcel of land in the Black Canyon area being offered to the city by Frank Sinatra and associates. The land is valued at about $1.5 million.

ROAD — Voted to write the county public works department to urge northern extension of Merrydale Road in fiscal 1971-72 and 1972-73.

MEETING — Put over until its next meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 6 discussion of fire protection and a proposal for a full time referee at Marin County Juvenile Hall. The council will meet in the Bank of Marin's Community Room in Northgate Industrial Park.

Chief Would Make Drugs Non-Penal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police Chief Alfred Nelder thinks the problems of drug abuse and drunkeness should be lifted from the Police Department.

If there is one crisis in America today, it's the drug problem," he told a panel discussion Tuesday at the University of San Francisco. "But I don't think arrest is the answer to it, any more than it's the answer to intoxication."

"I think some sort of detoxification center might be the answer, but I'm not a medical person, I'm a policeman."

Ministers To Study Immigration Policy

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Edward Heath will unveil Britain's new policy on commonwealth immigration before January's Commonwealth Prime Minister's meeting in Singapore, diplomats say.

If he follows promises made in the June elections, Heath's policy will put commonwealth immigrants on the same basis as other aliens. He also would end the right of future commonwealth immigrants to settle here permanently once they have been admitted into Britain.

Daredevil Aviatrix Succumbs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Funeral services will be held Saturday for Ruth Law Oliver, a lady daredevil during aviation's early days.

Miss Law, the first woman to loop the loop and one-time holder of the Chicago-New York aerial speed record, died Tuesday. She was 79.

She was 25 years old when she set the speed standard in six hours and seven minutes in 1916.

Miss Law said she was inspired in her exploits by her brother, Rodman Law, the "human fly" who won fame when he climbed the outside of the Flatiron Building in New York. Rodman Law then was fired to earth from a cannon while wearing a parachute—a device his sister eschewed.

"It would have been considered a mark of cowardice," she said.

Miss Law, who bought her first plane from Orville Wright in 1912, served in the first World War but was denied permission to fly in combat.

She flew an old Curtiss biplane after the war in Ruth Law's Flying Circus which barnstormed across the country, appearing at state and county fairs.

In 1922, Miss Law announced she was retiring to a life of quiet domesticity.

"After all, nothing else counts with a woman," she said.

She leaves three nieces.

Police Praised For Conduct During Riot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Mayor Joseph L. Alioto Wednesday praised the San Francisco Police Department for its conduct during the demonstrations against South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

In a letter to Chief Al Nelder, the mayor said the "San Francisco police demonstrated once more they are without question the very best professionals in the country."

Alioto said the "usual policy" of no amnesty will be in force against the 29 demonstrators who were arrested for violence or refusing to obey police orders at the Nob Hill scene Tuesday.

"If convicted," the mayor wrote, "I trust the courts will deal sternly with the defendants."

Out of some 3,500 anti-war demonstrators, only a group of about 200 broke away and participated in violence and property damage.

Three policemen were injured in the fracas, two of them hospitalized overnight and then released.

Twelve persons charged with felonies will appear before Municipal Court Judge Joseph Kennedy Thursday.

Seven others were freed on bail, but one, Eric Joyce, was immediately rebooked on charges of unlawful assembly and refusing to disperse.

Damage estimates to property in the Nob Hill area was running into thousands of dollars.

MARSHLANDS SAVED FOR WILDLIFE

These 132 acres (dotted line) of marshland at the head of Tomales Bay may have been saved today for a wildlife preserve. Point Reyes rancher Waldo Giacomini, who wanted to dike them for pasture, signed an option to sell all of his undiked tidelands to Conservation Associates. (See story page 1.) This large area on the west side of the upper bay will become a wildlife sanctuary connecting the bay itself with the woodlands to the west, if terms of the agreement are met.

Juvenile Hall Water Flow To Be Fixed

Marin County will improve the water distribution to Juvenile Hall sometime this spring and then offer the Marinwood Community Services District a contract for furnishing fire protection to the county buildings, according to Marinwood Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield.

John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator; Donald A. Duerr, chairman of the services district, and Bonfield met yesterday to attempt to solve fire protection needs of Juvenile Hall.

Barrows promised that the county would spend the $44,000 budgeted this year on improving the mains and installing fire hydrants, Bonfield reported. The county will furnish the services district with plans of these hydrants and a map of all access roads, Bonfield said.

After the work is done, the county will offer a contract to the CSD board to furnish fire protection to the hall.

Alternative Asked To Low-Cost Housing

The Corte Madera Planning Commission made it clear last night that it opposes any low-cost housing project in the town and recommended appointment of a citizen's committee to seek an alternative to such subsidized housing.

The commission directed Arthur N. Morrison, town planning director, to approach community groups for names of potential members.

Morrison said today the commission's action followed a two-hour presentation by Werner Von Gundell, county planning director, on the proposed inclusion of a housing element in the town's general plan.

Morrison said there was a general concensus at the meeting, attended by representatives from homeowners' associations, parent-teacher associations and the chamber of commerce, that the city should look to methods other than low-cost housing developments.

He said alternatives ranged from permitting "mother-in-law apartments" in single-family residential zones to town subsidized leased housing.

He said subsidizing the leased housing program would involve adding town tax dollars to federal dollars to lease available rental units for low income families.

Morrison said the meeting's discussions primarily concerned the need to provide housing for fixed-income groups such as senior citizens. However, he reminded the group that 36 city employees and many other Marinites have incomes in the $8,000 to $10,000 range and should also be considered.

Man Hurt, Cited In Larkspur Crash

Thomas Leech, 15, of 84 Polhemus Way, Larkspur, was treated Tuesday at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip sustained when the car in which he was riding collided with a parked vehicle at 233 Madrone Avenue, Larkspur.

The driver of the vehicle, Clifford Yates, 16, of 347 Wilson Way, Larkspur, was cited for traveling at an unsafe speed and no drivers license in possession, police said.

According to officers, Yates was northbound at 7:45 p.m. when he hit the parked car owned by Donald A. Denton of 233 Madrone.

Man Hospitalized In Three-Car Crash

Thomas A. Loebsack, 54, of 7903 Burton Avenue, Rohnert Park, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital yesterday for a head cut suffered in a three-car accident at 5:20 p.m. on Highway 101 at Petaluma Boulevard South.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred when a southbound car driven by Ricardo Sosa, 28, of San Francisco, struck a car driven by Roland Hellman, 50, of 32 Manderly Road, San Rafael, and then veered across the divider strip striking the northbound car driven by Loebsack.

Bigger Field Staffs Will Aid Job-Hunting Veterans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal government's top manpower official said today he is beefing up field staffs around the country to provide better employment service to returning veterans who, a study shows, are having difficulty finding civilian jobs.

The order by Malcolm R. Lovell Jr., assistant secretary of labor for manpower, is part of the "Jobs for Veterans" program launched last week by President Nixon to help returning servicemen.

A recent Bureau of Labor Statistics study showed that the unemployment rate for returning veterans is higher than the overall jobless rate, which was 5.6 per cent in October.

"We have directed our regional manpower administrators to allocate an additional 335 positions to the states," Lovell said in testimony prepared for the Senate Veterans Affairs subcommittee. "This additional staff will be utilized only for 'beefing up' services to veterans, including adequate response to the 'Job for Veterans' program."

He said this was the first time the states have been given specific staff allocations for the sole purpose of improving services to veterans.

Lovell also said the Veterans Employment Service is arranging with the Defense Department to send three representatives to Vietnam, Okinawa and Germany to help counsel servicemen about to be released.

He said the Veterans Employment Service was producing a 12-minute color film to be shown to servicemen in Vietnam, to domestic military bases and to local public employment offices providing information on job seeking for veterans.

MARSHLANDS SAVED FOR WILDLIFE

These 132 acres (dotted line) of marshland at the head of Tomales Bay may have been saved today for a wildlife preserve. Point Reyes rancher Waldo Giacomini, who wanted to dike them for pasture, signed an option to sell all of his undiked tidelands to Conservation Associates. (See story page 1.) This large area on the west side of the upper bay will become a wildlife sanctuary connecting the bay itself with the woodlands to the west, if terms of the agreement are met.

Juvenile Hall Water Flow To Be Fixed

Marin County will improve the water distribution to Juvenile Hall sometime this spring and then offer the Marinwood Community Services District a contract for furnishing fire protection to the county buildings, according to Marinwood Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield.

John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator; Donald A. Duerr, chairman of the services district, and Bonfield met yesterday to attempt to solve fire protection needs of Juvenile Hall.

Barrows promised that the county would spend the $44,000 budgeted this year on improving the mains and installing fire hydrants, Bonfield reported. The county will furnish the services district with plans of these hydrants and a map of all access roads, Bonfield said.

After the work is done, the county will offer a contract to the CSD board to furnish fire protection to the hall.

$200 Radio Stolen

A $200 radio was stolen Monday or Tuesday from the display window of Melody TV, 1446 Fourth Street, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Alternative Asked To Low-Cost Housing

The Corte Madera Planning Commission made it clear last night that it opposes any low-cost housing project in the town and recommended appointment of a citizen's committee to seek an alternative to such subsidized housing.

The commission directed Arthur N. Morrison, town planning director, to approach community groups for names of potential members.

Morrison said today the commission's action followed a two-hour presentation by Werner Von Gundell, county planning director, on the proposed inclusion of a housing element in the town's general plan.

Morrison said there was a general concensus at the meeting, attended by representatives from homeowners' associations, parent-teacher associations and the chamber of commerce, that the city should look to methods other than low-cost housing developments.

He said alternatives ranged from permitting "mother-in-law apartments" in single-family residential zones to town subsidized leased housing.

He said subsidizing the leased housing program would involve adding town tax dollars to federal dollars to lease available rental units for low income families.

Morrison said the meeting's discussions primarily concerned the need to provide housing for fixed-income groups such as senior citizens. However, he reminded the group that 36 city employees and many other Marinites have incomes in the $8,000 to $10,000 range and should also be considered.

Man Hurt, Cited In Larkspur Crash

Thomas Leech, 15, of 84 Polhemus Way, Larkspur, was treated Tuesday at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip sustained when the car in which he was riding collided with a parked vehicle at 233 Madrone Avenue, Larkspur.

The driver of the vehicle, Clifford Yates, 16, of 347 Wilson Way, Larkspur, was cited for traveling at an unsafe speed and no drivers license in possession, police said.

According to officers, Yates was northbound at 7:45 p.m. when he hit the parked car owned by Donald A. Denton of 233 Madrone.

Man Hospitalized In Three-Car Crash

Thomas A. Loebsack, 54, of 7903 Burton Avenue, Rohnert Park, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital yesterday for a head cut suffered in a three-car accident at 5:20 p.m. on Highway 101 at Petaluma Boulevard South.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred when a southbound car driven by Ricardo Sosa, 28, of San Francisco, struck a car driven by Roland Hellman, 50, of 32 Manderly Road, San Rafael, and then veered across the divider strip striking the northbound car driven by Loebsack.

IT'S NOT A RACETRACK.

Soldiers Saw Others Talk To Calley, Shoot

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Two former members of 1st Lt. William L. Calley's platoon testified today they had watched men under his command, after he had talked with them, shoot into a ditch into which men, women, and babies had been herded.

Both, however, told a six-officer general court-martial jury they never saw Calley fire his weapon during an American infantry sweep through the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

One of them, Allen Boyce, 22, an apprentice carpenter of Bradley Beach, N. J., testified only after he had been given a written assurance of immunity from criminal prosecution by the commander of Ft. Benning. Prior to that, he had declined to tell of his My Lai experience, pleading the 5th Amendment.

The other witness was Gregory T. Olsen, of Portland, Ore. He testified here substantially as he did last month at a court-martial at Fort Hood, Texas, in which Sgt. David Mitchell was acquitted on charges of assault with intent to murder villagers in My Lai.

Calley, 27, is charged with murdering 102 civilians at My Lai, either by his own rifle fire or that of his men at his direction.

Boyce testified he had observed Calley and Pfc. Paul D. Meadlo "speaking to each other." After that, he said, "Meadlo went over and fired into the ditch."

Boyce said he had seen the group of women, children and old men put into the drainage ditch.

"When he started firing, I turned around," Boyce said. "I just didn't want to look at it. It bothered me. I went back into the village."

He said he saw the ditch again later at the same place as Meadlo had been firing. "People were lying down dead," he said. "Blood was all over them and they were not moving. I looked at them just a few seconds. You don't look at that too long, do you."

On cross-examination, he was asked if an Army criminal investigator who had questioned him after the My Lai case first broke had told him he need have no fear of prosecution.

Boyce said he had, and added: "I asked him, 'Who are you trying to get on this?' and he told me, 'Lt. Calley.'"

In a related development, Paul Narkin, a Hong Kong attorney who said he was representing 59 survivors of the alleged My Lai massacre, filed a $400 million suit Wednesday against Calley and the U.S. government.

And Narkin said he would seek a 10-day delay today in the court-martial of Calley so he can bring some of the survivors from Vietnam in hopes they could identify Calley.

Narkin filed his suit in U.S. District Court at nearby Columbus, Ga., and announced the filing through a telephone call to the press room at Ft. Benning.

The suit names as defendants Calley, Army Secretary Stanley Resor and Defense Secretary Melvin Laird. It seeks $200 million in compensatory damages and $200 million in punitive damages.

TALKS

conclude that you indeed have something to hide (and) your claims of humanitarian treatment are open to the most serious question," he said in criticizing Hanoi's refusal to discuss the prisoners' condition, or exchange.

Thuy and the chief Viet Cong negotiator, Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, returned to the talks today after boycotting them a week to protest the recent U.S. raids. Both said the Communists would fight on to "total victory" if the United States did not accept their peace plans.

Thuy said the Dec. 1 warning by U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird that the United States might carry out new commando raids to save captive American pilots was a threat to carry out "pirate acts."

"We wish to state that the American pilots captured while committing crimes in North Vietnam come under the sole jurisdiction of the North Vietnamese government and that the latter has applied to them a humane policy and that it will take measures likely to assure their security," Thuy said.

"The U.S. government will have to assume full responsibility for the adventurous acts it plans to carry out in this field."

He did not spell out what steps Hanoi would take if U.S. commandos carried out new raids against the POW camps.

Thuy said the only way to insure the safety of American troops in South Vietnam is to remove them from South Vietnam.

The wiry, tough-speaking Hanoi diplomat said, "If the Nixon administration truly is preoccupied about the fate of American pilots then it must respect the sovereignty and security of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam."

Thuy's statement was in reply to a plea by U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce on Tuesday to exchange 36,000 Communist prisoners for 5,000 Allied captives.

said there had been considerable progress in both Indochina and the Middle East since the council last met in May, but prospects for peace in both areas remained unclear.

He said the climate for a peaceful settlement in the Middle East never had been better, however. But he described the Vietnam War talks in Paris as sterile and without any progress.

Rogers said the United States is conducting an intensive study of future policy on Communist China but would not consider withdrawing support for Nationalist China's continued membership in the United Nations.

He said the United States is cautiously optimistic about the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks with the Soviet Union, describing meetings as businesslike and the soviet negotiators as serious.

But he said the United States does not believe sufficient progress has been made to warrant further movement at this time toward a European security conference, as the Soviet Union has proposed.

FENCE

dimensional structure. Each piece was placed with a lot of thought."

Ceniceros told the council he would move the fence if someone objected to it. "But there hasn't been a single complaint."

Appleton corrected Ceniceros explaining it was a complaint that brought the illegally constructed fence to his attention.

The complainant was "over 80 and senile," Kay Richards, a neighbor and supporter of Ceniceros, told the council. "And he has since moved."

Mrs. Richards told the council the fence has brought compliments from 15 people interested in buying an adjacent home.

Robert Richards of 60 Hazel Avenue described Ceniceros as a "good neighbor."

Richards said it's not a question of whether it's aesthetically pleasing or not, but rather whether the dentist has the right to use his property the way he wants to.

"If he enjoys it, I say give him a chance," he said. "I've seen him (Ceniceros) walking around the hillside picking up beer cans . . . he's a good neighbor, a few more in the county like him wouldn't hurt much."

Only one councilman, Neil R. Bixon, said he did not like the appearance of the structure.

"It's an irregular height," he said. "and it might appeal to some but not to me." Brixon said he preferred the standard, plain fence.

Other councilmen, however, indicated a likeness for the fence but said its nonconformity could not be allowed for fear of setting a precedent.

Councilman William G. Fleckles told Ceniceros he appreciated what he had done, but couldn't grant the appeal because no unusual circumstance was involved and suggested the fence be cut (from the bottom) to the six-foot limit. Thus preserving the appearance.

The council agreed and gave the dentist until August to bring the fence into conformity or abate it.

Ceniceros said later any cutting of the fence would ruin it. "I think it's beautiful as is. I can't cut it."

Man's Gear Found In Bay, Hope Fades

I-J Special Report

OROVILLE — Hope has faded for the life ofr a 36-year-old Novato man with the finding of a hat, life jacket, duck decoy and paddle at Thermalito Afterbay in Butte County where he disappeared Saturday.

Sheriff's deputies are searching for the body of Ben C. Andrews of 703 Lamont Avenue following the discovery of the items in the Afterbay where waters are about 100 feet deep.

Butte County undersheriff Richard Stenberg said if searchers can locate Andrews' boat, they have a good chance of finding his body.

Andrews set out on a duck hunting trip at the Afterbay, near the Oroville Dam Project in an eight-foot boat Saturday morning shortly before the area was swept by storms creating four-foot swells.

Youth Recovering In Sonoma Case

A 16-year-old Petaluma boy was reported in satisfactory condition today at Community Hospital of Sonoma County suffering from a possible overdose of drugs.

Sheriff's inspector Raymond Nunnely withheld the youth's name, but said two young men said they found him at 11 p.m. yesterday sprawled on the ground at Magnolia and Gossage avenues.

The youths took the unconscious boy to Petaluma General Hospital where he was treated and transferred to the Santa Rosa Hospital for intensive care. Nunnely said the boy's condition may have been caused by a combination of drugs and wine.

FTC Slaps Kava Television Ad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) accused Bordon, Inc., today of false advertising in television commercials promoting "Kava Instant Coffee."

In the commercials, a meter measures the comparative acidity of Kava and other brands. The needle swings to the extreme right with Kava, to the extreme left with other brands.

Really, the FTC said, the meter used has only 2 units expanded to cover a 14 unit scale. Hence a one unit swing of the needle looks like seven units, and "exaggerates or misrepresents the disparity between the acidity of Kava Instant Coffee and the acidity of competing unnamed brands."

Birthday Surprise For Frank Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Nancy Sinatra and producer-choreographer Hugh Lambert will be married Dec. 12 —her father Frank's 55th birthday.

"We decided since daddy likes to give things away on his birthday he ought to give me away," said Miss Sinatra.

It will be the second marriage for both. Miss Sinatra divorced singer Tommy Sands in 1965. The wedding will be in Cathedral City, Calif., a few miles from Sinatra's Palm Springs home.

Burglary Reported

Novato police reported today that someone broke into Cain's Tires at 7090 Redwood Highway and took $20 in cash and four tires valued at $162. The burglary occurred between 9:10 p.m. Tuesday and 7:30 a.m. yesterday, police said.

sion of the crime, is equally responsible for the crime.

The portions of testimony read yesterday were those of Daly's widow, Stephanie, who said she saw Thurber sitting in a parked car across the street from the Daly home sometime prior to July 4, and of Hoyt Henley, a neighbor of Thurber, who testified he saw Thurber, Thurber's son, Michael, and Wamsley and Rutherford get into Thurber's car about 6 p.m. the day of the shooting.

The payroll records were presented during the trial by defense attorney Nathan Cohn to indicate that Thurber worked at his San Francisco Newspaper Co. job until 5:15 p.m. the day of the shooting.

But the company's payroll accountant who testified admitted the records were filled in by another member of the Mailers Union and that he could not be certain that Thurber did indeed work until 5:15 p.m.

The records were not available when the jury requested them yesterday because Cohn had not entered them as evidence.

STORM

but there was no major problem.

Rainfall reported for 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today included .45 in San Anselmo, .40 at the Fairfax fire station, .40 in the Marin Civic Center-Santa Venetia area, .39 in Bolinas, .36 in Point Reyes Station, .32 at Novato, .31 in Tiburon, .30 in the Chevy Chase area of Larkspur, .25 in Belvedere, .22 in Mill Valley, .17 in Tamalpais Valley and only .10 in Susalito.

U.S. weather forecasters said the Bay Area's outlook was for 60 per cent chance of showers tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow, with westerly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Skies cleared for several hours late yesterday, but the new storm front today brought renewed warnings of snow in the Sierra, down to 3,000-foot elevation.

Trans-Sierra highways 50 and 80 were reopened last night to light vehicles with chains, after both major roads were closed for hours yesterday by blinding blizzards.

Manson Fugitive Turns Himself In

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The bizarre Tate murder trial took another strange twist yesterday when another of the "Manson Family," Brice Davis, surrendered to deputies on a street corner outside the courthouse.

Davis had been sought for another slaying in which Charles Manson is accused — that of musician Gary Hinman.

Meanwhile, prospects for a mistrial for one of the female defendants in the Tate case grew stronger as police sought defense lawyer Ronald Hughes, who has been missing since last weekend. The state prosecutor has expressed concern for his safety.

Craft Fair To Benefit School

A dinner and craft fair to benefit Shasta School will be held from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Community Congregational Church, 145 Rockhill Drive, Tiburon.

Crafts, including candles, Christmas cards and leatherwork will be available for sale.

Funds raised will help support faculty and purchase supplies for the free, experimental school for high school age young people at 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

IT'S NOT A FREEWAY.

Bayside Acres Annexation Plan Moving Ahead

The San Rafael Sanitation District board yesterday agreed it will approve annexation of the Bayside Acres area to the district if and when an assessment district is formed to finance sewer construction in the area.

District engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. said the board's action was agreeable to Clinton Lewis, president of the Bayside Acres Property Owners Association, who attended the board's meeting.

The board yesterday called for bids on pumps and mechanical equipment for the planned Francisco Boulevard Pumping Station and on the construction of a small building at the district's main treatment plant on Irene Street. Bids for both contracts will be opened at 5 p.m. Dec. 23, Caillouette said.

The board's next meeting will be at 5 p.m. Dec. 16.

Radio Station Work Approved

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved Western California Telephone Co.'s plans for fencing and landscaping at its base radio station, east of San Andreas Drive and northeast of Andreas Court.

The committee called for vertical redwood slat fencing at the site.

Committee members also agreed to protest to the Marin County Board of Supervisors that the enclosure for mechanical equipment at the Novato branch of the county library under construction off Novato Boulevard, near Seventh Street, does not conform to approved plans.

Union Leader Loses Election

NEW YORK (UPI)—The head of the New York postal union local which spearheaded the nation's first mail strike was defeated narrowly Wednesday night in his bid for re-election.

Gus Johnson, president of the Manhattan and Bronx letter carrier's union representing 7,300 mailmen, lost by about 700 votes to Vincent Sombrotto who accused him of trying to "keep on with the system, the system . . . that wasn't applicable to the times."

About 4,000 ballots were cast.

Earlier in the week, a group of letter carriers vowed to oust Johnson because of his "complacency" and "do-nothing replacency" and "do-nithing records."

Truck Driver Hurt When Rig Flips Over

A truck driver from Ceres, Stanislaus County ,was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with multiple injuries suffered when his rig overturned at 8:20 a.m. yesterday on Lakeville Highway off-ramp from Highway 101, Petaluma.

The hospital reported that Raymond Sanchez, 37, suffered a broken left arm, shoulder and pelvis. The California Highway Patrol said the tractor trailer rig carrying plywood overturned on a sharp curve pinning him inside.

OBITUARIES

Margaret Clowers Dies At 53

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Margaret Ellen Clowers, 53, wife of Dr. Walter Clowers, Sonoma County public health director, was found dead at their Santa Rosa home Tuesday night.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said death was apparently due to natural causes. Her body was discovered on the bathroom floor when Dr. Clowers returned home from work at 5:20 p.m.

She is also survived by a daughter, Linda of Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Melbostad Seeks Dissolution

Gloria W. Melbostad, former Tamalpais High School Board president, has filed a petition in Marin Superior Court asking dissolution of her marriage to J. Richard Melbostad.

According to the petition, the couple was married in June 1954 in San Francisco. They separated Oct. 21 of this year. There are three sons of the marriage, whose ages range from 10 to 15 years.

Mrs. Melbostad asked division of community property, including the family home at 355 Vista Linda, Mill Valley, as well as support for herself and the children.

Mrs. Melbostad, now a history instructor at College of Marin, resigned from the board last June after serving almost six years. Her husband is a manufacturer's representative in the lumber industry.

Stanford Pot Use Seen Up Sharply

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Of Stanford University's 5,700 students, 69 per cent have smoked marijuana at least once, a research study shows.

A similar study in 1966-67 showed 21 per cent experimented with pot.

Mrs. Emile Garfield, who headed the latest study for the Institute of Public Policy analysis, said only 11 per cent reported using marijuana twice weekly or more and that there is "very, very little" abuse of so-called hard drugs.

CHP Recruits Getting Younger

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The average age of the California Highway Patrol recruit has dropped from 26.6 to 25 the past five years, according to CHP Commissioner H.W. Sullivan.

The commissioner also said Wednesday that almost 80 per cent of the new officers were married with an average of slightly more than one child.

Pot Charge Dropped On Analysis Problem

A marijuana possession charge against Karen Scott and Gary Haggett of 320 Glen Park Avenue, San Rafael, was dismissed Tuesday by Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney's office was not ready to proceed.

It was reported that the contraband seized when the couple was arrested on Sept. 15 had not been analyzed yet because the district attorney's office is having problems making arrangements for chemists.

Soldiers Saw Others Talk To Calley, Shoot

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Two former members of 1st Lt. William L. Calley's platoon testified today they had watched men under his command, after he had talked with them, shoot into a ditch into which men, women, and babies had been herded.

Both, however, told a six-officer general court-martial jury they never saw Calley fire his weapon during an American infantry sweep through the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

One of them, Allen Boyce, 22, an apprentice carpenter of Bradley Beach, N. J., testified only after he had been given a written assurance of immunity from criminal prosecution by the commander of Ft. Benning. Prior to that, he had declined to tell of his My Lai experience, pleading the 5th Amendment.

The other witness was Gregory T. Olsen, of Portland, Ore. He testified here substantially as he did last month at a court-martial at Fort Hood, Texas, in which Sgt. David Mitchell was acquitted on charges of assault with intent to murder villagers in My Lai.

Calley, 27, is charged with murdering 102 civilians at My Lai, either by his own rifle fire or that of his men at his direction.

Boyce testified he had observed Calley and Pfc. Paul D. Meadlo "speaking to each other." After that, he said, "Meadlo went over and fired into the ditch."

Boyce said he had seen the group of women, children and old men put into the drainage ditch.

"When he started firing, I turned around," Boyce said. "I just didn't want to look at it. It bothered me. I went back into the village."

He said he saw the ditch again later at the same place as Meadlo had been firing. "People were lying down dead," he said. "Blood was all over them and they were not moving. I looked at them just a few seconds. You don't look at that too long, do you."

On cross-examination, he was asked if an Army criminal investigator who had questioned him after the My Lai case first broke had told him he need have no fear of prosecution.

Boyce said he had, and added: "I asked him, 'Who are you trying to get on this?' and he told me, 'Lt. Calley.'"

In a related development, Paul Narkin, a Hong Kong attorney who said he was representing 59 survivors of the alleged My Lai massacre, filed a $400 million suit Wednesday against Calley and the U.S. government.

And Narkin said he would seek a 10-day delay today in the court-martial of Calley so he can bring some of the survivors from Vietnam in hopes they could identify Calley.

Narkin filed his suit in U.S. District Court at nearby Columbus, Ga., and announced the filing through a telephone call to the press room at Ft. Benning.

The suit names as defendants Calley, Army Secretary Stanley Resor and Defense Secretary Melvin Laird. It seeks $200 million in compensatory damages and $200 million in punitive damages.

TALKS

conclude that you indeed have something to hide (and) your claims of humanitarian treatment are open to the most serious question," he said in criticizing Hanoi's refusal to discuss the prisoners' condition, or exchange.

Thuy and the chief Viet Cong negotiator, Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, returned to the talks today after boycotting them a week to protest the recent U.S. raids. Both said the Communists would fight on to "total victory" if the United States did not accept their peace plans.

Thuy said the Dec. 1 warning by U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird that the United States might carry out new commando raids to save captive American pilots was a threat to carry out "pirate acts."

"We wish to state that the American pilots captured while committing crimes in North Vietnam come under the sole jurisdiction of the North Vietnamese government and that the latter has applied to them a humane policy and that it will take measures likely to assure their security," Thuy said.

"The U.S. government will have to assume full responsibility for the adventurous acts it plans to carry out in this field."

He did not spell out what steps Hanoi would take if U.S. commandos carried out new raids against the POW camps.

Thuy said the only way to insure the safety of American troops in South Vietnam is to remove them from South Vietnam.

The wiry, tough-speaking Hanoi diplomat said, "If the Nixon administration truly is preoccupied about the fate of American pilots then it must respect the sovereignty and security of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam."

Thuy's statement was in reply to a plea by U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce on Tuesday to exchange 36,000 Communist prisoners for 5,000 Allied captives.

said there had been considerable progress in both Indochina and the Middle East since the council last met in May, but prospects for peace in both areas remained unclear.

He said the climate for a peaceful settlement in the Middle East never had been better, however. But he described the Vietnam War talks in Paris as sterile and without any progress.

Rogers said the United States is conducting an intensive study of future policy on Communist China but would not consider withdrawing support for Nationalist China's continued membership in the United Nations.

He said the United States is cautiously optimistic about the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks with the Soviet Union, describing meetings as businesslike and the soviet negotiators as serious.

But he said the United States does not believe sufficient progress has been made to warrant further movement at this time toward a European security conference, as the Soviet Union has proposed.

FENCE

dimensional structure. Each piece was placed with a lot of thought."

Ceniceros told the council he would move the fence if someone objected to it. "But there hasn't been a single complaint."

Appleton corrected Ceniceros explaining it was a complaint that brought the illegally constructed fence to his attention.

The complainant was "over 80 and senile," Kay Richards, a neighbor and supporter of Ceniceros, told the council. "And he has since moved."

Mrs. Richards told the council the fence has brought compliments from 15 people interested in buying an adjacent home.

Richards said it's not a question of whether it's aesthetically pleasing or not, but rather whether the dentist has the right to use his property the way he wants to.

"If he enjoys it, I say give him a chance," he said. "I've seen him (Ceniceros) walking around the hillside picking up beer cans . . . he's a good neighbor, a few more in the county like him wouldn't hurt much."

Only one councilman, Neil R. Bixon, said he did not like the appearance of the structure.

"It's an irregular height," he said. "and it might appeal to some but not to me." Brixon said he preferred the standard, plain fence.

Other councilmen, however, indicated a likeness for the fence but said its nonconformity could not be allowed for fear of setting a precedent.

Councilman William G. Fleckles told Ceniceros he appreciated what he had done, but couldn't grant the appeal because no unusual circumstance was involved and suggested the fence be cut (from the bottom) to the six-foot limit. Thus preserving the appearance.

The council agreed and gave the dentist until August to bring the fence into conformity or abate it.

Ceniceros said later any cutting of the fence would ruin it. "I think it's beautiful as is. I can't cut it."

Man's Gear Found In Bay, Hope Fades

I-J Special Report

OROVILLE — Hope has faded for the life ofr a 36-year-old Novato man with the finding of a hat, life jacket, duck decoy and paddle at Thermalito Afterbay in Butte County where he disappeared Saturday.

Sheriff's deputies are searching for the body of Ben C. Andrews of 703 Lamont Avenue following the discovery of the items in the Afterbay where waters are about 100 feet deep.

Butte County undersheriff Richard Stenberg said if searchers can locate Andrews' boat, they have a good chance of finding his body.

Andrews set out on a duck hunting trip at the Afterbay, near the Oroville Dam Project in an eight-foot boat Saturday morning shortly before the area was swept by storms creating four-foot swells.

Youth Recovering In Sonoma Case

A 16-year-old Petaluma boy was reported in satisfactory condition today at Community Hospital of Sonoma County suffering from a possible overdose of drugs.

Sheriff's inspector Raymond Nunnely withheld the youth's name, but said two young men said they found him at 11 p.m. yesterday sprawled on the ground at Magnolia and Gossage avenues.

The youths took the unconscious boy to Petaluma General Hospital where he was treated and transferred to the Santa Rosa Hospital for intensive care. Nunnely said the boy's condition may have been caused by a combination of drugs and wine.

FTC Slaps Kava Television Ad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) accused Bordon, Inc., today of false advertising in television commercials promoting "Kava Instant Coffee."

In the commercials, a meter measures the comparative acidity of Kava and other brands. The needle swings to the extreme right with Kava, to the extreme left with other brands.

Really, the FTC said, the meter used has only 2 units expanded to cover a 14 unit scale. Hence a one unit swing of the needle looks like seven units, and "exaggerates or misrepresents the disparity between the acidity of Kava Instant Coffee and the acidity of competing unnamed brands."

Birthday Surprise For Frank Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Nancy Sinatra and producer-choreographer Hugh Lambert will be married Dec. 12 —her father Frank's 55th birthday.

"We decided since daddy likes to give things away on his birthday he ought to give me away," said Miss Sinatra.

It will be the second marriage for both. Miss Sinatra divorced singer Tommy Sands in 1965. The wedding will be in Cathedral City, Calif., a few miles from Sinatra's Palm Springs home.

Burglary Reported

Novato police reported today that someone broke into Cain's Tires at 7090 Redwood Highway and took $20 in cash and four tires valued at $162. The burglary occurred between 9:10 p.m. Tuesday and 7:30 a.m. yesterday, police said.

TRIAL

sion of the crime, is equally responsible for the crime.

The portions of testimony read yesterday were those of Daly's widow, Stephanie, who said she saw Thurber sitting in a parked car across the street from the Daly home sometime prior to July 4, and of Hoyt Henley, a neighbor of Thurber, who testified he saw Thurber, Thurber's son, Michael, and Wamsley and Rutherford get into Thurber's car about 6 p.m. the day of the shooting.

The payroll records were presented during the trial by defense attorney Nathan Cohn to indicate that Thurber worked at his San Francisco Newspaper Co. job until 5:15 p.m. the day of the shooting.

But the company's payroll accountant who testified admitted the records were filled in by another member of the Mailers Union and that he could not be certain that Thurber did indeed work until 5:15 p.m.

The records were not available when the jury requested them yesterday because Cohn had not entered them as evidence.

STORM

but there was no major problem.

Rainfall reported for 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today included .45 in San Anselmo, .40 at the Fairfax fire station, .40 in the Marin Civic Center-Santa Venetia area, .39 in Bolinas, .36 in Point Reyes Station, .32 at Novato, .31 in Tiburon, .30 in the Chevy Chase area of Larkspur, .25 in Belvedere, .22 in Mill Valley, .17 in Tamalpais Valley and only .10 in Susalito.

U.S. weather forecasters said the Bay Area's outlook was for 60 per cent chance of showers tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow, with westerly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Skies cleared for several hours late yesterday, but the new storm front today brought renewed warnings of snow in the Sierra, down to 3,000-foot elevation.

Trans-Sierra highways 50 and 80 were reopened last night to light vehicles with chains, after both major roads were closed for hours yesterday by blinding blizzards.

Manson Fugitive Turns Himself In

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The bizarre Tate murder trial took another strange twist yesterday when another of the "Manson Family," Brice Davis, surrendered to deputies on a street corner outside the courthouse.

Davis had been sought for another slaying in which Charles Manson is accused — that of musician Gary Hinman.

Meanwhile, prospects for a mistrial for one of the female defendants in the Tate case grew stronger as police sought defense lawyer Ronald Hughes, who has been missing since last weekend. The state prosecutor has expressed concern for his safety.

Craft Fair To Benefit School

A dinner and craft fair to benefit Shasta School will be held from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Community Congregational Church, 145 Rockhill Drive, Tiburon.

Crafts, including candles, Christmas cards and leatherwork will be available for sale.

Funds raised will help support faculty and purchase supplies for the free, experimental school for high school age young people at 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

IT'S NOT A FREEWAY.

Bayside Acres Annexation Plan Moving Ahead

The San Rafael Sanitation District board yesterday agreed it will approve annexation of the Bayside Acres area to the district if and when an assessment district is formed to finance sewer construction in the area.

District engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. said the board's action was agreeable to Clinton Lewis, president of the Bayside Acres Property Owners Association, who attended the board's meeting.

The board yesterday called for bids on pumps and mechanical equipment for the planned Francisco Boulevard Pumping Station and on the construction of a small building at the district's main treatment plant on Irene Street. Bids for both contracts will be opened at 5 p.m. Dec. 23, Caillouette said.

The board's next meeting will be at 5 p.m. Dec. 16.

Radio Station Work Approved

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved Western California Telephone Co.'s plans for fencing and landscaping at its base radio station, east of San Andreas Drive and northeast of Andreas Court.

The committee called for vertical redwood slat fencing at the site.

Committee members also agreed to protest to the Marin County Board of Supervisors that the enclosure for mechanical equipment at the Novato branch of the county library under construction off Novato Boulevard, near Seventh Street, does not conform to approved plans.

Union Leader Loses Election

NEW YORK (UPI)—The head of the New York postal union local which spearheaded the nation's first mail strike was defeated narrowly Wednesday night in his bid for re-election.

Gus Johnson, president of the Manhattan and Bronx letter carrier's union representing 7,300 mailmen, lost by about 700 votes to Vincent Sombrotto who accused him of trying to "keep on with the system, the system . . . that wasn't applicable to the times."

About 4,000 ballots were cast.

Earlier in the week, a group of letter carriers vowed to oust Johnson because of his "complacency" and "do-nothing replacency" and "do-nithing records."

Truck Driver Hurt When Rig Flips Over

A truck driver from Ceres, Stanislaus County ,was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with multiple injuries suffered when his rig overturned at 8:20 a.m. yesterday on Lakeville Highway off-ramp from Highway 101, Petaluma.

The hospital reported that Raymond Sanchez, 37, suffered a broken left arm, shoulder and pelvis. The California Highway Patrol said the tractor trailer rig carrying plywood overturned on a sharp curve pinning him inside.

OBITUARIES

Margaret Clowers Dies At 53

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Margaret Ellen Clowers, 53, wife of Dr. Walter Clowers, Sonoma County public health director, was found dead at their Santa Rosa home Tuesday night.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said death was apparently due to natural causes. Her body was discovered on the bathroom floor when Dr. Clowers returned home from work at 5:20 p.m.

She is also survived by a daughter, Linda of Santa Rosa.

ALFRED McVICAR

Private family funeral was held yesterday for Alfred McVicar, 73, of San Rafael.

McVicar, who for many years was assistant manager of the Commercial Club of San Francisco, retired before coming to San Rafael two years ago. He died Tuesday in a local hospital following a long illness.

He was a native Californian. He is survived by a sister, Christina A. Thomas of San Rafael, and a brother, George A. McVicar of San Francisco.

Private inurnment in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma, followed the funeral.

MALCOM CRAFT

Funeral for Malcolm O. Craft, of 32 Andrew Drive, Tiburon, will be held in Woodward, Iowa, his home town.

Craft died Monday at home of an apparent heart attack, according to his doctor. He was 64.

Craft had been a resident of California 12 years and Marin County three years. He was a retired Veteran's Administration employee, having worked in Berkeley and San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Violet, of the home address.

Burial will be in Woodward, Iowa.

RUBY PERESADA

Ruby Peresada, 75, of Petaluma, died today at a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of London, England, Mrs. Peresada moved to San Francisco 52 years ago and to Petaluma 12 years ago. Her husband, Wesley, is a retired cemetery caretaker.

She is also survived by three daughter,s Daisy Benito of Petaluma, Ruby Meier of Cloverdale and Mary Kuah of Minnesota; three sons, John Lyle of Cloverdale, Billy Lyle of Montana and Albert Millerwize of Hayward; 22 grandchildren, and 21 great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Intombment will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

BURNETT CANNON

Burnett J. Cannon, 53, a retired livestock inspector, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

A native of Two Rock, he had lived in the Petaluma area all of his life. Cannon was employed by the state Department of Agriculture as a livestock inspector, retiring in 1964 due to ill health. He lived at 20 West Street.

He is survived by his mother, Marie Cannon of Petaluma; two sons, Calvin J. and Gregory of Petaluma; two daughters, Patricia of Petaluma and Sherry Long of San Diego; a brother, Leslie of Petaluma; a sister, Evelyn Brodersen of Garberville, and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma. Private burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Mrs. Melbostad Seeks Dissolution

Gloria W. Melbostad, former Tamalpais High School Board president, has filed a petition in Marin Superior Court asking dissolution of her marriage to J. Richard Melbostad.

According to the petition, the couple was married in June 1954 in San Francisco. They separated Oct. 21 of this year. There are three sons of the marriage, whose ages range from 10 to 15 years.

Mrs. Melbostad asked division of community property, including the family home at 355 Vista Linda, Mill Valley, as well as support for herself and the children.

Mrs. Melbostad, now a history instructor at College of Marin, resigned from the board last June after serving almost six years. Her husband is a manufacturer's representative in the lumber industry.

Stanford Pot Use Seen Up Sharply

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Of Stanford University's 5,700 students, 69 per cent have smoked marijuana at least once, a research study shows.

A similar study in 1966-67 showed 21 per cent experimented with pot.

Mrs. Emile Garfield, who headed the latest study for the Institute of Public Policy analysis, said only 11 per cent reported using marijuana twice weekly or more and that there is "very, very little" abuse of so-called hard drugs.

CHP Recruits Getting Younger

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The average age of the California Highway Patrol recruit has dropped from 26.6 to 25 the past five years, according to CHP Commissioner H.W. Sullivan.

The commissioner also said Wednesday that almost 80 per cent of the new officers were married with an average of slightly more than one child.

Pot Charge Dropped On Analysis Problem

A marijuana possession charge against Karen Scott and Gary Haggett of 320 Glen Park Avenue, San Rafael, was dismissed Tuesday by Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney's office was not ready to proceed.

It was reported that the contraband seized when the couple was arrested on Sept. 15 had not been analyzed yet because the district attorney's office is having problems making arrangements for chemists.

LITTLE KIDS VISIT BIG KIDS SCHOOL

Forty three moppets from the Montessori School, Inc., in Corte Madera visited Tamalpais High School yesterday morning with their teachers and three mothers to see how different another school can be from theirs. All went well despite one nosebleed and much splashing thruogh puddles. The latter, says school directress Mrs. Margaret Sheeny, was probably one of the most enjoyable parts of the trip for the rain-clad little people. Tamalpais student Alice Jacobs conducted the tour, assisted by Sandy Behnken and Tamalpais activities director Joe Petterle. "Wouldn't that be fun?" one of the tots shouted as they watched Vicki von Lackum performing on the trampoline, right.

(I-J photos by Jim Kean)

IN THE WOOD shop the nursery school students are fascinated as they watch high school student Jim Oliveira's hands using a stapler on the kayak he is making. The field trip also included visits to a sculpture class, photography class, art metal class, the band room and the home economics department where they were served juice and cookies.

Kathleen Richards Recites Vows With James Morgan In San Rafael

Kathleen Virginia Richards and James Morgan were married Saturday at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in San Rafael. A reception at the Robson House in San Anselmo followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell S. Richards of San Anselmo are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of Atkinson, Neb.

Cathy Lavaroni of San Anselmo was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mary Lou Sauber of San Rafael and the bridegroom's sister Patricia Morgan of Atkinson.

Bill Sauber of Fairfax was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bridegroom's brother John Morgan of Chicago and the bride's brother Gary Richards of San Anselmo.

Following a wedding trip to Southern California the couple will live in Albuquerque, N.M.

Kathleen was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin. She is also the sister of Steve Richards, who is with the Navy in Puerto Rico; Mary Elaine Richards of Moffet Field; and Gordon Richards of San Anselmo. Mrs. May Griffin of San Francisco is her grandmother. Prior to her marriage the bride was employed by Industrial Indemnity in San Francisco.

James was graduated from high school in Atkinson and attended the University of Nebraska. Harold Richards of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. LaVerne Krieger, Pete, Michael and Maureen Richards of Atkinson are also his brothers and sisters. He is employed by Sutter Aircraft Co. in Albuquerque.

LITTLE KIDS VISIT BIG KIDS SCHOOL

Forty three moppets from the Montessori School, Inc., in Corte Madera visited Tamalpais High School yesterday morning with their teachers and three mothers to see how different another school can be from theirs. All went well despite one nosebleed and much splashing thruogh puddles. The latter, says school directress Mrs. Margaret Sheeny, was probably one of the most enjoyable parts of the trip for the rain-clad little people. Tamalpais student Alice Jacobs conducted the tour, assisted by Sandy Behnken and Tamalpais activities director Joe Petterle. "Wouldn't that be fun?" one of the tots shouted as they watched Vicki von Lackum performing on the trampoline, right.

(I-J photos by Jim Kean)

IN THE WOOD shop the nursery school students are fascinated as they watch high school student Jim Oliveira's hands using a stapler on the kayak he is making. The field trip also included visits to a sculpture class, photography class, art metal class, the band room and the home economics department where they were served juice and cookies.

Kathleen Richards Recites Vows With James Morgan In San Rafael

Kathleen Virginia Richards and James Morgan were married Saturday at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in San Rafael. A reception at the Robson House in San Anselmo followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell S. Richards of San Anselmo are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of Atkinson, Neb.

Cathy Lavaroni of San Anselmo was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mary Lou Sauber of San Rafael and the bridegroom's sister Patricia Morgan of Atkinson.

Bill Sauber of Fairfax was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bridegroom's brother John Morgan of Chicago and the bride's brother Gary Richards of San Anselmo.

Following a wedding trip to Southern California the couple will live in Albuquerque, N.M.

Kathleen was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin. She is also the sister of Steve Richards, who is with the Navy in Puerto Rico; Mary Elaine Richards of Moffet Field; and Gordon Richards of San Anselmo. Mrs. May Griffin of San Francisco is her grandmother. Prior to her marriage the bride was employed by Industrial Indemnity in San Francisco.

James was graduated from high school in Atkinson and attended the University of Nebraska. Harold Richards of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. LaVerne Krieger, Pete, Michael and Maureen Richards of Atkinson are also his brothers and sisters. He is employed by Sutter Aircraft Co. in Albuquerque.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Gemini Boyfriend Isn't An Easy Person To Get To Know

DEAR HELEN:

"Teeny Bopper Who Knows" (who put you down for publishing the "What Is A?s" that come from your readers) don't know nuthin'! All in favor of those clever descriptions say "Aye!!!"

I doubt that any girl in the know would ever sign herself "teeny bopper." She's unreal. — FOR THE "WHAT IS A?" SERIES

DEAR FOR:

Thanks, friend. Here's one with a new twist:

What Is A Gemini Boy Friend?

He has a smile like a Cheshire cat and eyes that light up the sky.

He's a great one for throwing you into the swimming pool with your clothes on.

He's a barrel of surprises.

He gets upset sometimes, but a smile always seems to calm him down a little.

He's always there when someone needs a friend.

He has a love of life.

He'll call you at 4:00 a.m. to say "Hi," and reverse the charges.

He wears sunglasses at night, and drives a foreign car that always manages to snag your nylons.

He could charm your grandmother into wearing a mini skirt.

He may forget your birthday, but he'll bring a bottle of champagne on your six-month "first-date" anniversary.

He's the only person you know who actually enjoys hamburgers and beer by candlelight.

He'll take you for a romantic evening walk on the beach and lose the car in the fog.

He has travel in his soul, but he'll always think of you as home. Don't be too hurt if he rarely writes; he's dreaming of you (constantly).

He's a man, and he's a little boy.

He isn't an easy person to get to know; but to know him is to love him.

There's more, much more, but that all comes with the barrel of surprises. — DAISY

DEAR HELEN:

Either "Fasting Against My Will" is dating my boy friend, or there are two stingy guys running around here.

This fella I was going with is good looking, has a real good job (an engineer) — and our first date was spent feeding the ducks in the nearby park. In the month I dated him, he blew a grand total of $2.50 for a movie (second run). The other times we rode around (not far), sat in front of our television or in the park. Once he ordered a pizza, but forgot to pick it up.

As for his car, he has a '70 sports job with air conditioning, stereo, vinyl roof — the works — and he treats it like a baby. He was a great conversationalist too. It was always "my job," "my apartment," "my car . . . camera, stereo . . . etc."

Thanks, Helen, for your advice to famw. You killed two going-nowhere romances with one shiv. — FASTING NO MORE

Always happy to help. — H.

Jeff Rawles Claims Bride

Married in the chambers of Judge David Menary Monday at the Marin County Hall of Justice were Jeffrey Rawles of San Rafael and Mary Catherine Shelton of Southfield, Mich.

Judge Menary, longtime friend of the Rawles family, performed the 12:30 p.m. ceremony.

Following the exchange of vows a family reception was held at the Spinnaker restaurant in Sausalito.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Rawles of San Rafael and the brother of Norris Rawles Jr. He was graduated from San Rafael High School and will be graduated next month from San Jose State College.

Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shelton of Southfield, Mich. and the sister of William Shelton of Huntington, Mich.

Mary is a graduate of Western Michigan University and has been a teacher in Michigan.

The couple plan to visit her parents in Michigan during the Christmas holidays. They are living in Kentfield.

JUST BACK from a lengthy audition tour of German opera houses, Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo advises American singers to "forget it!" "There are too many Americans over there with the same idea, and the Germans are tired of us."

Soprano Finds No Jobs In Tour Of German Houses

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo has some advice for young singers planning to gain experience in German opera houses. Forget it! — unless you are a heldentenor or dramatic soprano, or have time and money to spend.

Gwen, who recently returned from a seven weeks' audition tour of these opera houses arranged by a top New York agent, says this has been the procedure followed by almost all young American singers because there are so many opera houses in Germany and only a few big ones in this country.

"I DID come back with a contract for guest appearances next summer with the Munich Chamber Opera under composer-conductor Eberhardt Schoerner, who also directs the Munich Summer Festival," she says.

"My husband (Joseph Curatilo, head of the Dixie School District music department) and children (Jan, 15, and Christopher, 8,) will go with me. I have given up my original ambition of a two-year contract with one of the year-round opera houses."

There are many reasons, Gwen explains, the main one being the price to be paid to be a "jet set singer," always traveling while at the same time trying to fulfill family responsibilities.

"I was offered a contract immediately with the Chamber Opera, but it would have meant staying in Europe three months," she says, "and I would have had to cancel my present concert engagements in this country. Also I had not planned to leave my family since I considered this just an audition tour."

WHY SHE abandoned the idea of a two-year contract after visiting, in addition to Munich, Duesseldorf, Hamburg, Frankfort, Vienna, Weisbaden and Cologne is an interesting story.

"There are too many Americans over there with the same idea," Gwen says, "and the Germans are tired of us. Ninety per cent of the people waiting to audition were Americans, and there were many Germans who could not get jobs. There may be many opera houses, but there are few jobs. I saw many people on their last money who were desperate for a job.

"If you are an American, you are told you have to start at the bottom in a small house with few chances of anybody important hearing you, no matter what experience you have. It could take five years to get where you already are in this country. The pay is small, not enough for a family to live on, and hours are long. The only advantage would be a chance to become fluent in the language," says Gwen.

"Another surprise was that I was amazed to find that Germans are extremely conscious of vocal categories determined by type of voice and roles sung. They will let you audition only in the category in which they have classified your voice, and you do not audition unless there is an opening in your category.

"They said I was a coloratura soubrette, but I don't think I am one exclusively, and I don't as a rule do this type of role. My voice is heavier than that. But that is what I was hired as, and I couldn't fight it. Fortunately my contract allows me to be more versatile.

"I CAN DO lyric coloratura roles because they have a little more meat in them, and you don't have to sing in the stratosphere. They thought it funny that I had sung Butterfly in "Madam Butterfly" and Mimi in "La Boheme" because they think these roles should be sung by a big dramatic voice. I have built a career on Butterfly, and I don't intend to give her up.

"I auditioned for many German agents and got another big surprise. They are public servants hired by the government and anybody can audition for them."

Incidentally, Gwen sang in German the entire recital she sang last summer on a Marin Music Chest concert.

"I was ill advised to go on this tour," she noted, "especially during the Octoberfest when there are no hotel accommodations available and everything is overcrowded."

Nevertheless, Gwen says she is satisfied because she now knows the answer is guest appearances abroad.

"MUNICH IS one of Europe's most important cities musically, where being heard can lead to further engagements. I will get my European credits and reviews without having to be buried for years."

Further advice Gwen offers to singers contemplating auditions in Germany is not to go without fluency in the language. She could speak some German through having learned it from Sabine Schmidt of Mappen-am Ems, an exchange student who lived with the Curatilo family in Terra Linda. She says her visit with Sabine in her home town was the only truly happy experience she had in Germany.

"Really incredible language difficulties are caused by the telephone," she recalls, shuddering at the thought of the experiences she endured.

"Most of what I had to do involved using the telephone. Apparently there are not enough phones — people stand in long lines to use them. It can take three hours just to get information. I could get along speaking face to face because you get clues from people's expressions and gestures — but on the phone? Utter confusion. Added to that are problems of dialects and idiomatic expressions.

Getting help from people who speak English is not so easy as it sounds," she points out. "If you have plenty of time, you can always find someone, but if you are in a hurry, you can never find anyone."

TRYING TO deciper train and plane schedules was a pure horror, she says, because they are not only in German but abbreviated. Adding to the misery was the absence of anyone to handle baggage.

"My hands blistered and finally bled from dragging my luggage," she said, showing callouses as the final result.

En route home the young singer discovered that New York is not the answer to promoting a career either.

"I sang for Menotti and Julius Rudel, director of the New York City Opera, and several other managers, but learned that if you don't live in New York or near there, your chances of getting engagements are almost non-existent. Unless you are in New York you are not available for auditions where it counts. Most singers around the country are booked out of New York, but they are standing in line for every job. We are cranking out people with degrees in the performing arts, and there are no jobs for them. Ironically, American agents are handling European artists.

"MARY COSTA tried to encourage me to continue my career on the West Coast, for I do have a career here and can continue to develop through guest appearances in Europe, and, of course, I want to continue teaching private pupils.

"I was never so happy to come home," Gwen finished. "California has got to be one of the world's most beautiful places. We have quite a country here. Going to Europe made me realize this. I would even like to become involved politically in order to preserve what we have.

"Also I can now understand why wars happen. People simply do not understand each other!"

Soap Opera Queen Has Written For Them All

CHICAGO (UPI) — The scene: near-North Side apartment of Irna Phillips, writer of soap operas.

The time: a sunny summer afternoon. A reporter enters.

MOTHER AND daughter are collaborating on a television series. It is Irna's 21st serial, Katharine's first.

Irna has been writing in the soap opera field 40 years. Katharine started a couple of years ago, typing her mother's scripts. Now she's creating and writing the series, Irna editing.

Irna describes her latest series —"A World Apart." She speaks softly, seriously. She talks as if the protagonist is real, describing him and the events which have transpired since the show began in late March.

"A World Apart," Irna says is the "most provocative thing" she has done.

"It's young against old," she explains, "radicals against the establishment, black against white, rich against poor."

SHE STARTED with "Painted Dreams," the first daytime radio serial which went on the air in 1930. Serials were called "soap operas" because in those days the sponsors almost always were soap companies.

Then came "Today's Children," first network soaper.

Miss Phillips became the first daytime writer to make the transition to television when she personally made a television pilot of "Guiding Light."

She originated "As the World Turns," which has been the media leader 12 of its 14 years. It reaches an average of more than eight million viewers every day.

THE LIST goes on. Total: 21.

"A World Apart" is the first soaper to be set in Chicago, Miss Phillips' birthplace and home most of the time since. She is the only one of the original serial creators who did not leave the city.

Her list of firsts is impressive: First to use organ music in a program. First to use a minister, a doctor or a nurse as a protagonist. First to consult social agencies. First to use specialists as advisors for her programs.

"A World Apart" has the first mother-daughter team in the field. And Irna's son, Tom, 29, says he may join by doing research for the serial. Both Tom and Katherine were adopted by Irna.

The new program is a bit of a biography, although that may not be Katharine's —or Irna's —intent. The plot concerns a bachelor mother of two adopted children.

That's Irna and her family.

Prisoner Offers Sister His Kidney

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A convicted robber has been transferred from a prison in New York City to the Baltimore jail so he can donate a kidney to prolong his sister's life.

Mrs. Joan Washington, 33, will have a defective kidney removed today. Her brother, Donald Smith, 34, begins tissue tests in his city jail cell today. The transplant operation should take place in two to six weeks, when Mrs. Washington's system has stabilized. She will be kept alive by an artificial kidney machine until then.

White House Trees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several small Christmas trees have arrived at the White House, but the main tree, a 20-foot spruce cut in Marrillan, Wis., will not arrive until Dec. 9.

JUST BACK from a lengthy audition tour of German opera houses, Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo advises American singers to "forget it!" "There are too many Americans over there with the same idea, and the Germans are tired of us."

Soprano Finds No Jobs In Tour Of German Houses

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo has some advice for young singers planning to gain experience in German opera houses. Forget it! — unless you are a heldentenor or dramatic soprano, or have time and money to spend.

Gwen, who recently returned from a seven weeks' audition tour of these opera houses arranged by a top New York agent, says this has been the procedure followed by almost all young American singers because there are so many opera houses in Germany and only a few big ones in this country.

"I DID come back with a contract for guest appearances next summer with the Munich Chamber Opera under composer-conductor Eberhardt Schoerner, who also directs the Munich Summer Festival," she says.

"My husband (Joseph Curatilo, head of the Dixie School District music department) and children (Jan, 15, and Christopher, 8,) will go with me. I have given up my original ambition of a two-year contract with one of the year-round opera houses."

North Korea Pilot Flies MIG To Seoul

SEOUL (UPI)—A Communist North Korean Air Force pilot defected to South Korea today on board a Soviet-made MIG jet fighter, the South Korean Defense Ministry reported.

The defector was identified as North Korean air force Maj. Park Sung-ku, 33, who crossed the truce front between South and North Korea aboard his plane and landed at an airbase along South Korea's eastern coast at about 2:27 p.m. today.

An initial report by the ministry said the aircraft was a MIG21 jet fighter, but later officials said they had not yet determined whether the plane was a MIG 21 or a MIG 15.

LIEUTENANT RANK

The initial report also said the defector was a North Korean Air Force 2nd Lieutenant, but later a correction was made and Park's rank was given as an Air Force major.

Full details of Park's defection were not available immediately, but ministry officials said South Korean Air Force jets met the defector's aircraft in the air and guided him to an unidentified air base along the eastern coast.

Park was the third North Korean pilot to defect to the south aboard Soviet made MIG jet fighters.

PRIZE MONEY

On Sept. 21, 1953, shortly after the three-year Korean War was brought to an end, North Korean air force Capt. Ro Kum-suk defected to South Korea flying a MIG17 and won $100,000 in prize money from the United States.

Ro later went to the United States and was granted U.S. citizenship.

On Aug. 3, 1969, North Korean air force Lt. Chung Nak-hyon flew his MIG15 jet to freedom in South Korea. He later joined the South Korean air force.

MUSIC REVIEW

Ovation, Baton For Seija Ozawa

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — An ovation at the Opera House opened and closed the program last night that marked the opening of the 59th season for the San Francisco Symphony and the first season for the dynamic young conductor Seiji Ozawa as its musical director.

In accordance with the tradition of Wednesdays as student nights, the house was packed with young people from 45 colleges and universities in the area — a fact I noted with satisfaction when Philip S. Boone, president of the San Francisco Symphony Association, mentioned it in his brief speech of welcome before presenting Ozawa his baton. Ozawa, admired by young and old, may indeed be one who can close the generation gap, musically at least.

The program was an extraordinary one. Who but Ozawa would think of balancing a first half consisting of two sacred vocal-orchestral works with a second half composed of a fantasmagoria of a young man's pium-induced dreams and nightmares ending in orgiastic revelry!

The choral works were the Haydn "Te Deum," written on commission from the Empress Marie Therese, and Leonard Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms," a setting he composed of the Biblical poems for the annual summer festival at the cathedral in Chichester, England.

The orchestral tour de force was Berlioz's "Symphonie Fantastique," an Ozawa specialty included in his debut in the United States as a guest conductor with the San Francisco Symphony. The Haydn and Berlioz numbers were the first in Ozawa's planned three-season survey of the works of these composers.

Once again Ozawa worked his magic, not only with the orchestra, as he always does, but with the splendid Stanford University chorus of nearly 200 voices. Of course, much of the credit went to its regular director, Harold Schmidt, for the excellent training that made them a beautifully balanced ensemble, technically proficient and expressive in all choral requirements. But the inspiration, I felt, that made them perform at peak capacity came from Ozawa.

The "Te Deum" was largely just a joyous and brilliant way to open the concert, but because of its novelty and lovely melody I found the "Chichester" psalms entrancing. It was hard to believe the same composer had written "West Side Story"! The Psalms ranged from extremely exciting at the beginning to ethereal delicacy at the end, an effect the chorus was adept at producing with long sustained, barely audible legato lines.

Very unusual were solo parts sung by a boy soprano from the San Francisco Boys' Chorus, whose name was not given in the program. His thin, sweet thread of tone added an unearthly quality. The Psalms may be simple music, according to Bernstein himself, but simplicity is often the most important element of true beauty.

The only part that seemed superfluous because their passages were so brief was a quartet composed of mezzo, soprano, tenor and bass voices, and they were not equally heard.

Ozawa's skill was most evident in the "Symphonie Fantastique". So sensitive was rapport between conductor and orchestra that there was almost a visible force in perfectly controlled tension between his fingertips and each musician. Conducting from memory, he was able to focus attention on the subtlest nuances as well as the thundering climax.

Bike Repair Center Is Stalled Again

Plans for a bicycle repair center at the Mill Valley Drop-In House, 550 Miller Avenue, are at a standstill, the Mill Valley Youth Commission was told last night.

Chairman David R. Abrahams reported that a work table, a toolbox and some tools are needed before the center can be opened. If these items are found, the facility may be opened within a month, he said.

There is no shortage, however, of volunteers to work at the center and teach youths how to fix their bicycles, Abrahams reported.

Commissioners voted unanimously to raise funds to build a storage area for small boats at the Mill Valley harbor. They will send representatives to the Monday meeting of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission to present plans for the facility.

Restoration Comedy Is Next For ACT

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The permissiveness of the 17 Century will arrive Tuesday night at San Francisco's Geary Theater as John Vanbrugh's "The Relapse" joins the American Conservatory Theater repertory.

Preview performances of the Restoration period comedy are being held tonight, Monday night and Saturday afternoon. It is being directed by Edward Hastings.

In connection with "The Relapse," ACT announced today that it will present the West Coast premiere of the award-winning rock musical, "The Last Sweet days of Isaac," at Marines' Memorial Theater on Dec. 28. Last season the Off-Broadway Show won the Obie Award and the Outer Circle Critics' Award as the best musical.

DANCE

The Martha Graham Dance Company will open a three-performance engagement tonight at Zellerbach Auditorium on the University of California campus in Berkeley. A matinee and evening performance are scheduled tomorrow.

MUSIC

Soprano Jane Marsh of Mill Valley, who appeared with the San Francisco Opera in its just recently closed season, will be guest soloist with Seiji Ozawa and the San Francisco Symphony in its concert series next week. Miss Marsh will be heard in Ginastera's "Milena Cantata for Soprano and Orchestra."

The orchestra will open with Corelli's "Concerto Grosso," (Christmas). The major symphonic work will be Tschaikowsky's "Symphony No. 1" (Winter Dreams).

Sunday's calendar will include appearances of Valimir Krainevy, prize-winning Soviet pianist in his Bay Area debut at San Francisco's Curran Theater in the afternoon, and an evening recital at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music by Ronald Elickson, violinist, and Sharon Polk, pianist who will perform sonatas by Bach, Beethoven and Prokofiev.

The first performances of Joaquin Nin-Culmell's "Dedication Mass," will be presented Sunday and Monday nights at U. C.'s Hertz Hall. The work was commissioned for the new St. Mary's Cathedral in San Francisco.

ART

The Oakland Museum's Art Special Gallery will feature works by 22 noted California artists in a show titled "More Than One," which opens Tuesday through Jan. 3. It will feature pieces the artists planned initially to make in quantity.

Currently at the San Francisco Museum of Art is a collection of 118 photographs by Eugen Atget on Paris and its environs from the turn of the century until his death in 1927. Also on exhibit are 14 new acquisitions, including a lithograph by Jasper Johns.

Pope, Suharto Hold Talks Prior To Mass For 50,000

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—Pope Paul VI conferred for 45 minutes with President Suharto tonight then celebrated a pontifical mass for 50,000 persons, many of them holding candles to light the vastness of Jakarta's Senajan Stadium.

The Pope, on the homeward leg of his 29,000-mile voyage, arrived from Australia in the midst of Indonesia's biggest Moslem holiday. He praised the government and the country for letting people of all races and religions live in harmony.

Paul, 73, looking suntanned and fit despite the rigors of his trip, traveled two miles from the airport to Jakarta Cathedral, a twin-spired Gothic stone church, in a black American limousine with a police escort.

He blessed a crowd of 400 outside the cathedral and then inside read a spiritual message to 1,200 Indonesian and foreign priests and nuns.

The Pope, who was paying a 16-hour visit to this predominantly Moslem nation, drove then to the stately white columned presidential palace to confer with Suharto. The Pope presented Suharto with an oil painting of the Vatican. Suharto gave him a carved wooden screen and an Indonesian painting on banana bark.

Paul drove into Senajan Stadium, built for the 1962 Asian Games, shortly before 8 p.m. preceded by soldiers mounted on horseback. His limousine slowly circled the area, bringing the throng to its feet with cries of "Viva Il Papa!" The chant swelled and roared for almost 10 minutes.

He crossed to a raised, candlelit altar in the center of the stadium and the assembled religious leaders from other faiths crossed the field and presented him with gifts.

The pontiff smiled, obviously happy with the reception. And then the voices of the 50,000 swelled into a beautiful hymn. They held aloft their candles as the Pope began the mass in Latin.

Pope Paul emphasized the ecumenical in his airport speech, the first official act of his 16-hour stopover here. Indonesia is the world's fifth most populous nation and 90 per cent of the 120 million people who live here are Moslem. There are about 2.5 million Roman Catholics.

Painting Of Depot Donated

A painting of the Novato train depot by Alphonse M. Napoletano of Novato was among the recent donations toward redecoration of Novato city hall, according to Mrs. William Carpenter, chairman of the community house restoration project.

There have been 10 contributions and donations and more are needed, Mrs. Carpenter reported.

The depot painting was contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farmer of Novato, and recent contributions have been made by the San Marin Improvement Association and the Novato Federated Republican Women's Club.

Financial contributions can be sent to the city manager's office at Novato City Hall and anyone wishing to donate historical photography may notify Mrs. Phillip Coady of 747 Bradley Avenue.

North Korea Pilot Flies MIG To Seoul

SEOUL (UPI)—A Communist North Korean Air Force pilot defected to South Korea today on board a Soviet-made MIG jet fighter, the South Korean Defense Ministry reported.

The defector was identified as North Korean air force Maj. Park Sung-ku, 33, who crossed the truce front between South and North Korea aboard his plane and landed at an airbase along South Korea's eastern coast at about 2:27 p.m. today.

An initial report by the ministry said the aircraft was a MIG21 jet fighter, but later officials said they had not yet determined whether the plane was a MIG 21 or a MIG 15.

LIEUTENANT RANK

The initial report also said the defector was a North Korean Air Force 2nd Lieutenant, but later a correction was made and Park's rank was given as an Air Force major.

Full details of Park's defection were not available immediately, but ministry officials said South Korean Air Force jets met the defector's aircraft in the air and guided him to an unidentified air base along the eastern coast.

Park was the third North Korean pilot to defect to the south aboard Soviet made MIG jet fighters.

PRIZE MONEY

On Sept. 21, 1953, shortly after the three-year Korean War was brought to an end, North Korean air force Capt. Ro Kum-suk defected to South Korea flying a MIG17 and won $100,000 in prize money from the United States.

Ro later went to the United States and was granted U.S. citizenship.

On Aug. 3, 1969, North Korean air force Lt. Chung Nak-hyon flew his MIG15 jet to freedom in South Korea. He later joined the South Korean air force.

Ovation, Baton For Seija Ozawa

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — An ovation at the Opera House opened and closed the program last night that marked the opening of the 59th season for the San Francisco Symphony and the first season for the dynamic young conductor Seiji Ozawa as its musical director.

In accordance with the tradition of Wednesdays as student nights, the house was packed with young people from 45 colleges and universities in the area — a fact I noted with satisfaction when Philip S. Boone, president of the San Francisco Symphony Association, mentioned it in his brief speech of welcome before presenting Ozawa his baton. Ozawa, admired by young and old, may indeed be one who can close the generation gap, musically at least.

The program was an extraordinary one. Who but Ozawa would think of balancing a first half consisting of two sacred vocal-orchestral works with a second half composed of a fantasmagoria of a young man's opium-induced dreams and nightmares ending in orgiastic revelry!

The choral works were the Haydn "Te Deum," written on commission from the Empress Marie Therese, and Leonard Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms," a setting he composed of the Biblical poems for the annual summer festival at the cathedral in Chichester, England.

The orchestral tour de force was Berlioz's "Symphonie Fantastique," an Ozawa specialty included in his debut in the United States as a guest conductor with the San Francisco Symphony. The Haydn and Berlioz numbers were the first in Ozawa's planned three-season survey of the works of these composers.

Once again Ozawa worked his magic, not only with the orchestra, as he always does, but with the splendid Stanford University chorus of nearly 200 voices. Of course, much of the credit went to its regular director, Harold Schmidt, for the excellent training that made them a beautifully balanced ensemble, technically proficient and expressive in all choral requirements. But the inspiration, I felt, that made them perform at peak capacity came from Ozawa.

The "Te Deum" was largely just a joyous and brilliant way to open the concert, but because of its novelty and lovely melody I found the "Chichester" psalms entrancing. It was hard to believe the same composer had written "West Side Story"! The Psalms ranged from extremely exciting at the beginning to ethereal delicacy at the end, an effect the chorus was adept at producing with long sustained, barely audible legato lines.

Very unusual were solo parts sung by a boy soprano from the San Francisco Boys' Chorus, whose name was not given in the program. His thin, sweet thread of tone added an unearthly quality. The Psalms may be simple music, according to Bernstein himself, but simplicity is often the most important element of true beauty.

The only part that seemed superfluous because their passages were so brief was a quartet composed of mezzo, soprano, tenor and bass voices, and they were not equally heard.

Ozawa's skill was most evident in the "Symphonie Fantastique". So sensitive was rapport between conductor and orchestra that there was almost a visible force in perfectly controlled tension between his fingertips and each musician. Conducting from memory, he was able to focus attention on the subtlest nuances as well as the thundering climax.

I was happy to see that Ozawa has brought the cello section to the front of the stage so that there is better balance of low strings with violins and richer total string sound.

Agency Works On Welfare Slashing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan's chief welfare administrator says he is searching for new areas to slash costs to help reduce the state's $150 million deficit.

Lucian B. Vandegrift, state human relations secretary, said Tuesday his staff is "carefully combing the regulations" to find the programs that can be cut without violating federal welfare laws.

He said the administration planned to cut programs to "desirable services," and also noted that proposals would be made to make all able-bodied recipients work—by relocation if necessary.

Vandegrift said his recommendations for welfare program reductions would follow on the heels of the administration's announced plan to trim services and doctor fees under the Medi-Cal program by $140 million, including $70 million of state money.

He noted that in many areas federal law forbids regulation revision to eliminate welfare recipients, but added that there were "areas within administrator's discretion" that could be "tightened up."

"We will concentrate on the areas of need that need tightening of the regulations," he said, but declined during an interview to say how much his proposals could save the state.

Vandegrift said the two programs his staff is zeroing in on are aid to families with dependent children and aid to the totally disabled.

"Aid to the totally disabled has grown at a fast pace as the program has been successively liberalized," he told 50 women members Tuesday attending a Sacramento Republican Women's Club luncheon.

Vandegrift said 182,000 persons are now receiving aid under this program, an increase of 15 per cent from a year ago. "But the biggest — and fastest growing program — is that for aid to families with dependent children," he said. "We now have 1,431,500 persons in this category, more than 1 million of them children.

Vandegift said the number of AFDC recipients have soared 37 per cent in a year. "It exceeds the individual total populations of 45 of the state's counties," he said.

Vandegrift also said the administration's welfare tightening proposals would include trimming available aid to "essential services," coupled with eventual total welfare reform by both federal and state governments.

"I think that it is essential that persons use their own reserves before they start using someone else's reserves," he said.

Vandegrift additionally proposed that the amount of income a recipient may earn annually be reduced from $1,200 to $600.

"We have got to remove from the welfare rolls those persons with high incomes," he said. "There must be some sensible limit — some point at which the —some point at which the person gets off the taxpayer's back and on his own feet."

The chief welfare administrator also urged a return to what he called the "work ethic" of seeking to perform physical labor "and contribute something to society."

Contractor Plea Given To Architect

Directors of the Strawberry Recreation District last night declined to grant the contractor building its $256,000 community center an extension of the completion date.

The board instead referred to its architect a request by Carl F. Hartman Construction Co. of San Francisco to delay the completion date from Dec. 17 to Jan. 29, according to clerk Jeanne Heick.

She said a special meeting probably will be called by directors before Dec. 17 to consider the request again. The firm cited rain woes as the reason, stating that it could not install windows in wet weather.

One extension, from Monday to Dec. 17, already has been granted by the board because of a strike by roofing material suppliers, she said.

In other business, the board purchased $3 million in liability insurance on the building, and voted to spend $3,200 on athletic supplies and tables and chairs for the recreation center.

Minuteman Fired Into South Atlantic

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A Minuteman 3 missile streaked 5,000 miles to a South Atlantic Ocean target area Wednesday to test the ICBM's new multipe warhead system.

It was the 16th test flight of the 60-foot missile from the Cape and the 31st over-all. The other missiles have been fired from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., into the Pacific Ocean.

Holiday Party For Children

The Fairfax Youth and the Parks and Recreation commissions will sponsor a Christmas party for children Dec. 19, according to youth commission chairman Judi Cummings.

She said most of the commission's meeting Tuesday night was occupeid with planning the event for children in the third grade and younger.

Star of the program at the Fairfax Pavilion from 6:30 to 8 p.m. will be Mayor Frank J. Egger, she said. He is to recite "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

The commission also recommended that the city council place signs on litter cans to accent the litter problem.

Ky Ready To Trade For American Pilots

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said Wednesday he was ready to release 35,000 North Vietnamese prisoners in exchange for the freedom of American prisoners held by the Communists.

"Personally, I'm ready to give them more than 35,000," Ky said. "Most of the Americans are fliers and to me fliers are something more than soldiers. They are brothers."

Ky, former commander of South Vietnam's air force, was expected to leave for Honolulu today.

Ky also told a news conference he believed if the United States continued to put pressure on Hanoi frob a "humanitarian" standpoint for better treatment or release of American prisoners, "I suspect they will do so."

Ky arrived here following a demonstration Tuesday by 3,500 persons in San Francisco during which 34 were arrested and three policemen injured.

The vice president said that he was not disturbed by demonstrations against him and indicated he would have liked to have met some of the protesters.

As he spoke, about 400 persons marched peacefully in the rain outside the hotel where the news conference and a luncheon were held.

Two young antiwar protestors were booked on suspicion of battery on a police officer after a brief confrontation in front of the hotel. There were no other incidents.

Asked if the demonstrations during his U.S. tour upset him, Ky replied, "No, I've seen demonstrations at home. What disturbed me was they did not give me a chance to meet them."

Asked if he feared for his safety, Ky replied, "During my 20 years of fighting, I never have felt safe.

"You know I'm an Asian. I believe in my destiny. If I have to die here or in the front lines, it will be as a sacrifice for my people."

Storm Hits Burma; Hundreds Homeless

BANGKOK (UPI)—Tropical Storm Ruth lashed Burma today, leaving hundreds of persons homeless and uncounted damage including a wrecked ship with an unknown number aboard.

A coastal freighter believed to be carrying more than 50 people was wrecked in Parucha Bay Tuesday. First reports said dozens were missing.

Judge Hits Teamsters; $50,000 Fine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Local 70 of the Teamsters Union was fined $50,000 Wednesday on a contempt citation by federal judge Alfonzo J. Zirpoli.

Zirpoli found the union in contempt of court for violating an order issued last June against picketing certain Oakland food processing plants.

The union resumed picketing this week despite the order, according to attorneys for the food firms.

Kenneth Silbert, attorney for the Teamsters, said the fine would be appealed. Zirpoli said he would increase the fine to $200,000 unless picketing is halted immediately.

The judge told the union that if it put up a $1 million bond to protect the firms against losses should they win the court battle he would suspend the picketing ban.

The picketing was over attempts by the union to force the food firms to sign new local agreements.

Heroism Rewards Sharply Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco Fire Commission voted Tuesday to sharply reduce the cash awards given fire fighters for bravery.

Until now, for example, the widow of a fireman who died trying to save a life was awarded one month's pay, around $1,000. Now the award is to be $200.

In 1969, there were 12 cash awards for meritorious service —for a total of $5,077.

$1,200 Fire Damage To Unoccupied House

Fire, thought to have been started by a candle on a bookcase, did $1,200 damage yesterday to the unoccupied house of Alice Gantzer on Portola Avenue, Inverness Park, Marin County Fire Department reported.

The fire was reported at 12:48 a.m., according to the fire department. Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom surmised that someone had broken into the house. Sheriff deputies are investigating, he reported.

Agency Works On Welfare Slashing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan's chief welfare administrator says he is searching for new areas to slash costs to help reduce the state's $150 million deficit.

Lucian B. Vandegrift, state human relations secretary, said Tuesday his staff is "carefully combing the regulations" to find the programs that can be cut without violating federal welfare laws.

He said the administration planned to cut programs to "desirable services," and also noted that proposals would be made to make all able-bodied recipients work—by relocation if necessary.

Vandegrift said his recommendations for welfare program reductions would follow on the heels of the administration's announced plan to trim services and doctor fees under the Medi-Cal program by $140 million, including $70 million of state money.

He noted that in many areas federal law forbids regulation revision to eliminate welfare recipients, but added that there were "areas within administrator's discretion" that could be "tightened up."

"We will concentrate on the areas of need that need tightening of the regulations," he said, but declined during an interview to say how much his proposals could save the state.

Vandegrift said the two programs his staff is zeroing in on are aid to families with dependent children and aid to the totally disabled.

"Aid to the totally disabled has grown at a fast pace as the program has been successively liberalized," he told 50 women members Tuesday attending a Sacramento Republican Women's Club luncheon.

Vandegrift said 182,000 persons are now receiving aid under this program, an increase of 15 per cent from a year ago. "But the biggest — and fastest growing program — is that for aid to families with dependent children," he said. "We now have 1,431,500 persons in this category, more than 1 million of them children.

Vandegift said the number of AFDC recipients have soared 37 per cent in a year. "It exceeds the individual total populations of 45 of the state's counties," he said.

Vandegrift also said the administration's welfare tightening proposals would include trimming available aid to "essential services," coupled with eventual total welfare reform by both federal and state governments.

"I think that it is essential that persons use their own reserves before they start using someone else's reserves," he said.

Vandegrift additionally proposed that the amount of income a recipient may earn annually be reduced from $1,200 to $600.

"We have got to remove from the welfare rolls those persons with high incomes," he said. "There must be some sensible limit — some point at which the —some point at which the person gets off the taxpayer's back and on his own feet."

The chief welfare administrator also urged a return to what he called the "work ethic" of seeking to perform physical labor "and contribute something to society."

8 DAYS OF INFAMY

DECEMBER 7-14, 1941

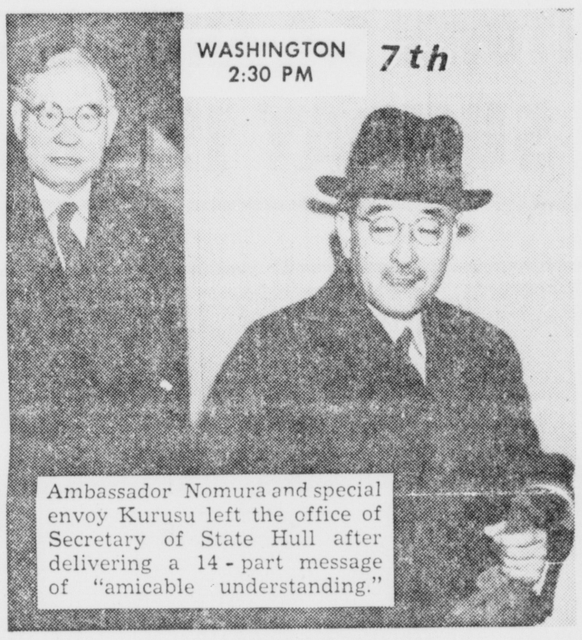
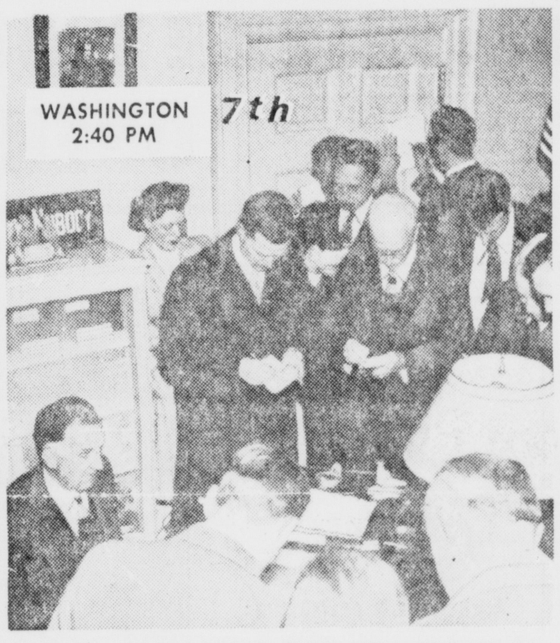
Inside the Japanese Embassy clerks were typing message to be delivered to the U.S. State Department as secret documents and codes were burned.

The battleship U.S.S. Arizona sank after taking two direct hits by Japanese torpedoes. More than 1,000 officers and men aboard lost their lives.

Rear Admiral Leigh Noyes, chief of Navy communications, received word of Ford Island message via Mare Island Navy radio, San Francisco. President Roosevelt then notified Cordell Hull.

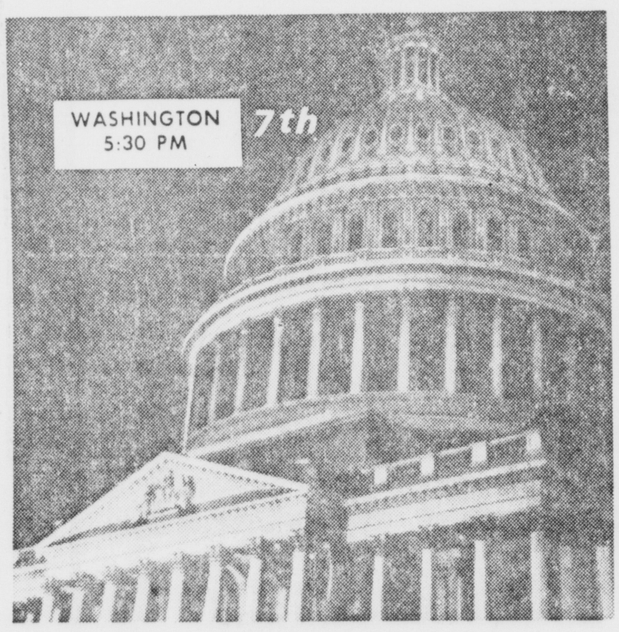


Ambassador Nomura and special envoy Kurusu left the office of Secretary of State Hull after delivering a 14-part message of "amicable understanding."

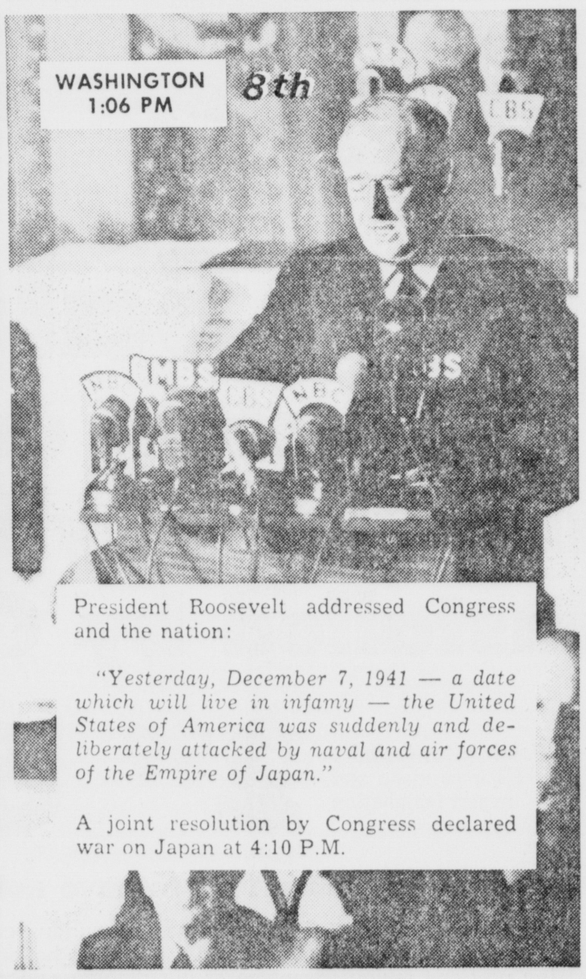


F.D.R.'s secretary, Steve Early, released first news of attack to radio and press reporters while a second wave of 183 planes struck Hickam Field.

Teletypes across the nation flashed the bulletin—newspapers dug out their biggest type and H. V. Kaltenborn broke in on the New York Philharmonic Sunday Symphony to report.



For the first time in history lights on the capitol dome were blacked-out, all buildings guarded.



President Roosevelt addressed Congress and the nation:

"Yesterday, December 7, 1941 — a date which will live in infamy — the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately attacked by naval and air forces of the Empire of Japan."

Pearl Harbor salvage and repair operations underway in drydock. Battleship U.S.S. Pennsylvania (rear) was ready for action in January, 1943. The Destroyer Cassin, (front) was completed and re-launched in February, 1944.

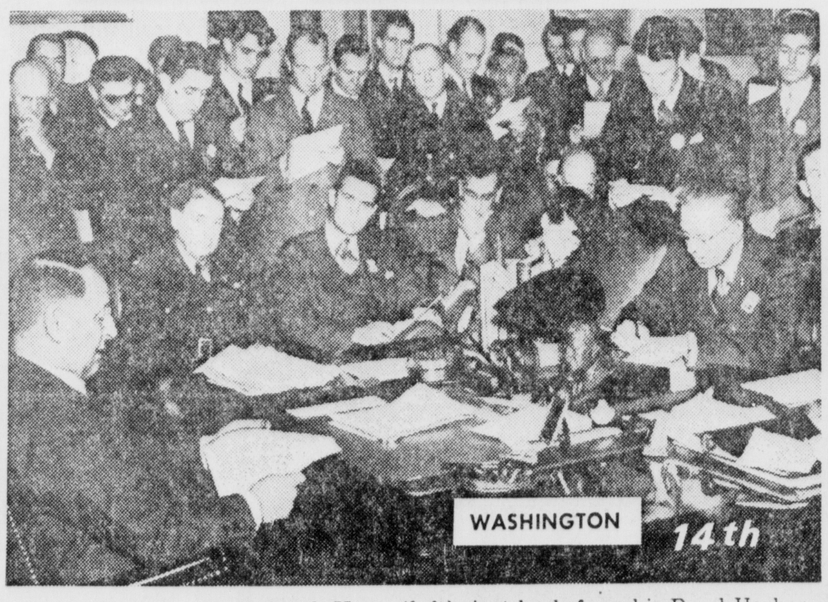
Honolulu residents waited to buy rationed food.

Selective Service Director General Lewis B. Hershey asked for an induction quota of 7.5 million men between ages of 19 and 44 to build an Army, Navy for world war



Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox (left), just back from his Pearl Harbor survey, reported to the press: 18 ships sunk, 188 planes destroyed on the ground, and 2,403 killed. Government investigations since fill 29 volumes.

Labels On Pesticides Still Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department, which recently launched a campaign to make pesticide labels more understandable to help avoid accidental poisonings, today released a study showing many current labels are "far from ideal."

The two-year study on the legibility and comprehensibility of labels was conducted for the department by scientists at the University of Illinois.

Researchers found, the report said, that many labels printed directions in "7 point" type or smaller, which is hard to read. The report said "8 point" type, the size used by many newspapers for standard body type, should be the smallest allowed on pesticide labels and a larger "11 point" side would be far better.

Also: the report added, the average pesticide label currently is written in language "fairly difficult" to read. Tests showed the average label was too complicated for most people with less than 10 years of formal education.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

From Plunkett To Reasoner On Tomorrow's Cavett Show

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

The Headliners: Bill Russell, ex-basketball great of the Boston Celtics, has a provocative group of guests when he fills in for vacationing Dick Cavett Friday as host of ABC-TV's late-night show . . . On hand will be Jim Plunkett, football's Heisman Trophy winner and quarterback of the Rose Bowl-bound Stanford team; Sen. George S. McGovern, S-S.D., sometimes mentioned as a presidential candidate, and Harry Reasoner, who takes over Monday as co-anchorman of ABC-TV's evening newscasts after leaving CBS-TV.

Marcello Mastroianni is a guest Tuesday when noted screenwriter Buck Henry begins four nights of substituting for Cavett . . . Henry, who wrote the scripts for "The Graduate," "Catch 22" and "The Owl and the Pussycat" (the film version), as well as teaming up with Mel Brooks to create television's "Get Smart," will be host Dec. 11, on the Cavett show to the executive director of the President's Commission on Obscenity and Pornography, Dr. William Cody Wilson.

Walter J. Hickel, recently fired as secretary of the interior, is interviewed Sunday on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" . . . Roman Gabriel, quarterback of the Los Angeles Rams, is featured as a police lieutenant on the Dec. 31 episode of NBC-TV's "Ironside," which concerns a power blackout that paralyzes a large part of San Francisco . . . Impresario Sol Hurok's latest classical music hour for CBS-TV, "S. Hurok Presents — Part IV," airs Christmas day with violinist David Oistrakh and pianist Sviatoslav Richter.

The Programs: "The American Adventure," a two-hour ABC-TV news special with commentator Frank Reynolds examining many of the nation's values as the country approaches its 200th anniversary, is set for Dec. 28, focusing on Columbus, Ohio, as a typical city. It also visits Los Angeles, San Francisco, Boston, St. Louis and Washington . . . CBS-TV's "60 Minutes" on Tuesday will offer a report on "Rising black militancy and black-white tensions and violence in the United States army in Germany."

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 7:30 p.m. — Flip Wilson welcomes Connie Stevens, John Byner, Johnny Brown and Stevie Wonder to his show.

Drug Abuse Chief Resigns To Teach

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Arthur Suddjian has quit as director of the new state Office of Narcotics and Drug Abuse Coordination to return to his position with the Fresno Unified School District.

Suddjian took a leave of absence from his school post in March to take the reins of the agency. He received a monthly salary here of $1,800.

The resignation announcement by the state human relations agency said Wednesday that Suddjian felt his education job provided "more opportunities to work directly with youth than his present position."

Steel Firm Fined For Pollution

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. was fined $1,000 by a federal judge after the company pleaded guilty to violating a 71-year-old law against water pollution.

J & L was believed the first major company to be charged under the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1899.

The corporation's attorneys told U.S. District Judge Edward Dumbauld the discharge of oil, grease and metallic particles into the Ohio River May 20 was accidental and would not be repeated.

Labels On Pesticides Still Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department, which recently launched a campaign to make pesticide labels more understandable to help avoid accidental poisonings, today released a study showing many current labels are "far from ideal."

The two-year study on the legibility and comprehensibility of labels was conducted for the department by scientists at the University of Illinois.

Researchers found, the report said, that many labels printed directions in "7 point" type or smaller, which is hard to read. The report said "8 point" type, the size used by many newspapers for standard body type, should be the smallest allowed on pesticide labels and a larger "11 point" side would be far better.

Also: the report added, the average pesticide label currently is written in language "fairly difficult" to read. Tests showed the average label was too complicated for most people with less than 10 years of formal education.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

The Headliners: Bill Russell, ex-basketball great of the Boston Celtics, has a provocative group of guests when he fills in for vacationing Dick Cavett Friday as host of ABC-TV's late-night show . . . On hand will be Jim Plunkett, football's Heisman Trophy winner and quarterback of the Rose Bowl-bound Stanford team; Sen. George S. McGovern, S-S.D., sometimes mentioned as a presidential candidate, and Harry Reasoner, who takes over Monday as co-anchorman of ABC-TV's evening newscasts after leaving CBS-TV.

Marcello Mastroianni is a guest Tuesday when noted screenwriter Buck Henry begins four nights of substituting for Cavett . . . Henry, who wrote the scripts for "The Graduate," "Catch 22" and "The Owl and the Pussycat" (the film version), as well as teaming up with Mel Brooks to create television's "Get Smart," will be host Dec. 11, on the Cavett show to the executive director of the President's Commission on Obscenity and Pornography, Dr. William Cody Wilson.

Walter J. Hickel, recently fired as secretary of the interior, is interviewed Sunday on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" . . . Roman Gabriel, quarterback of the Los Angeles Rams, is featured as a police lieutenant on the Dec. 31 episode of NBC-TV's "Ironside," which concerns a power blackout that paralyzes a large part of San Francisco . . . Impresario Sol Hurok's latest classical music hour for CBS-TV, "S. Hurok Presents — Part IV," airs Christmas day with violinist David Oistrakh and pianist Sviatoslav Richter.

The Programs: "The American Adventure," a two-hour ABC-TV news special with commentator Frank Reynolds examining many of the nation's values as the country approaches its 200th anniversary, is set for Dec. 28, focusing on Columbus, Ohio, as a typical city. It also visits Los Angeles, San Francisco, Boston, St. Louis and Washington . . . CBS-TV's "60 Minutes" on Tuesday will offer a report on "Rising black militancy and black-white tensions and violence in the United States army in Germany."

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 7:30 p.m. — Flip Wilson welcomes Connie Stevens, John Byner, Johnny Brown and Stevie Wonder to his show.

Steel Firm Fined For Pollution

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. was fined $1,000 by a federal judge after the company pleaded guilty to violating a 71-year-old law against water pollution.

J & L was believed the first major company to be charged under the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1899.

The corporation's attorneys told U.S. District Judge Edward Dumbauld the discharge of oil, grease and metallic particles into the Ohio River May 20 was accidental and would not be repeated.

Drug Abuse Chief Resigns To Teach

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Arthur Suddjian has quit as director of the new state Office of Narcotics and Drug Abuse Coordination to return to his position with the Fresno Unified School District.

Suddjian took a leave of absence from his school post in March to take the reins of the agency. He received a monthly salary here of $1,800.

The resignation announcement by the state human relations agency said Wednesday that Suddjian felt his education job provided "more opportunities to work directly with youth than his present position."

WINTER RAINS TURN CREEK INTO SHIMMERING LAKES

Heavy rains flooded the lowlands near the estuary of Gallinas Creek yesterday, patterning the land with ponds. The usually dry land below Professional Parkway and Santa Venetia was transformed into an inviting home for ducks and other waterfowl. Between showers, the water glistened and shimmered. The crek empties in to San Pablo Bay on the left. The houses of Santa Venetia are across the creek.

Larkspur Nod To Manager's Pay Raise

Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst last night received a 7.5 per cent raise from the city council which unanimously approved the action.

Bathurst will now receive $20,000 per year, an increase of $1,400 per year.

He has been employed by the city since 1966 when he quit his job as assistant city manager for Santa Rosa.

The Larkspur City Council also:

TWON MEETING — Set Dec. 10 at 8 p.m. at city hall for a joint session with the town meeting committee, the council, planning commission and parks and recreation commission, to discuss recommendations drafted at last month's town meeting.

SIGN — Approved a letter to Coldwell Banker and Co. asking cooperation in changing the appearance of their sign at the entrance to Greenbrae.

BIDS — Approved calling for bids for repairs to the Bon Air Bridge damaged during the dredging of Corte Madera Creek.

MAINTENANCE — Accepted Skylark Drive into the city's maintenance system.

CONSULTANT — Approved the hiring of Wilbur Smith to draft a traffic stury for the proposed ferry terminal system at a cost to the city of $750.

TENNIS COURTS — Authorized expending $2,900 for resurfacing of tennis courts at Larkspur-Corte Madera School in a joint recreation agreement between the school district and city.

MARSH — Approved a resolution of intent to preserve existing marshlands at Piper Park pending development of precise plan for the park.

PARK PLANNER — Approved the retention of Arbegast and Newton, park planners, to provide a precise plan for Piper park. Also approved was a $10,000 ceiling for the plan.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed Phillip Abrams of Larkspur to the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

COMMITTEE — Authorized, on a six-month trial base, formation of a plan review committee to review all architectural supervision applications and recommend action to the planning commission. The committee will be made up of professional architects and planners.

POLICE REPORTS — Was told by Police Chief Howard C. Clark — in reply to a query from Mayor Benton A. Sifford about a reference in the Independent-Journal to "unreported crimes" — that the I-J was welcome to view his department's reports. "We don't care if the I-J "missed the boat" twice last week by failing to visit the police station (once on Thanksgiving Day, once when the station was closed and locked).

Last Two Billboards In Larkspur Get Ax

Larkspur's last two billboards will be abated.

That was the decision last night of the Larkspur City Council which voted 3 to 1 and 5 to 0 for rejection of appeals for time extensions from developer Neil Schultz Jr. (Another Larkspur Council story, page 1.)

During the two hours of hearings on the appeals, one for the Greenbrae sign located east of Highway 101 near the Greenbrae interchange and the other for the sign located on the hill overlooking the interchange, Schultz, with the demeanor of an experienced attorney, unsuccessfully presented his case.

The question of whether time extensions should be granted for the signs, which have been illegal since 1969, centered on whether Schultz has received adequate financial benefit of the signs.

"The benefit to the community (in having the signs removed) is aesthetic," Schultz told the council. "The loss to the owner is very real."

Claiming the signs help support the city, he said the cost of removal would be substantial.

The appeals came before the council after the city's planning commission unanimously rejected variance requests earlier this month.

As the hearing opened, Howard M. Oser, president of the Greenbrae Property Owners asked that Councilman Neil R. Brixon withdraw from the discussion charging a possible conflict of interest. Brixon refused.

Oser contended that since Brixon owned an apartment complex in the Greenbrae vicinity, he was benefiting from the signs.

"My apartments are filled and I do my own advertising," Brixon retorted.

However, later in the hearing, Brixon said his rug cleaning business benefited greatly from the sign east of Highway 101 because it is used for direction.

"I use it every day in my business," he said. "I don't rent apartments by it but I clean rugs by it. If that's a conflict of interest, I'll live to see it."

Brixon — after the vote on the appeal, in which he cast the lone vote for retention of the sign east of Highway 101 — said that in order for an issue to be considered a conflict of interest, 15 per cent of one's income had to be derived from that source.

Schultz told the council one sign cost $1,800 and the other $7,780 to construct during the 1950's. He estimated to rent such signs would have cost him $60 and $100 a month.

Councilman Alfred J. Malvino said those figures indicated that Schultz had been adequately repaid on his investment. "It would have cost you $13,200 to rent one sign at $100 per month," he told Schultz.

Councilman William G. Fleckles, an attorney, told Schultz he had failed to "present his case," failed to show continued financial need for the signs and recommended they be rejected.

The council agreed unanimously on the sign overlooking the interchange, but split on the other. (Councilman Earl J. O'Grady abstained from voting on the latter.)

The signs were both given a six-year extension in 1963 when the city's sign ordinance made them non-conforming.

Bedroom Fire Does $2,300 Damage

Flames from a short-circuited electric blanket today did $800 damage to a bedroom and another $1,500 in smoke damage to the rest of the Joseph D'Amato home at 712 Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael.

School Entry Is Admitted

Just as he was set to go to jury trial yesterday in Marin Superior Court, Craig James Gomez, 20, former volunteer fireman, admitted that he entered Central School in Sausalito on Jan. 5, 1969, with the intent to start a fire.

In exchange for the no contest plea to this charge, the district attorney's office agreed to dismiss an arson count.

Gomez, a former member of the Sausalito Volunteer Firemen's Association, was arrested after witnesses reported seeing him near the school at the time a fire broke out at 2:44 a.m. in a supply room.

Judge E. Warren McGuire yesterday set sentencing for Gomez for Jan. 15.

WINTER RAINS TURN CREEK INTO SHIMMERING LAKES

Heavy rains flooded the lowlands near the estuary of Gallinas Creek yesterday, patterning the land with ponds. The usually dry land below Professional Parkway and Santa Venetia was transformed into an inviting home for ducks and other waterfowl. Between showers, the water glistened and shimmered. The crek empties in to San Pablo Bay on the left. The houses of Santa Venetia are across the creek.

Last Two Billboards In Larkspur Get Ax

Larkspur's last two billboards will be abated.

That was the decision last night of the Larkspur City Council which voted 3 to 1 and 5 to 0 for rejection of appeals for time extensions from developer Neil Schultz Jr. (Another Larkspur Council story, page 1.)

During the two hours of hearings on the appeals, one for the Greenbrae sign located east of Highway 101 near the Greenbrae interchange and the other for the sign located on the hill overlooking the interchange, Schultz, with the demeanor of an experienced attorney, unsuccessfully presented his case.

The question of whether time extensions should be granted for the signs, which have been illegal since 1969, centered on whether Schultz has received adequate financial benefit of the signs.

"The benefit to the community (in having the signs removed) is aesthetic," Schultz told the council. "The loss to the owner is very real."

Claiming the signs help support the city, he said the cost of removal would be substantial.

The appeals came before the council after the city's planning commission unanimously rejected variance requests earlier this month.

As the hearing opened, Howard M. Oser, president of the Greenbrae Property Owners asked that Councilman Neil R. Brixon withdraw from the discussion charging a possible conflict of interest. Brixon refused.

Oser contended that since Brixon owned an apartment complex in the Greenbrae vicinity, he was benefiting from the signs.

"My apartments are filled and I do my own advertising," Brixon retorted.

However, later in the hearing, Brixon said his rug cleaning business benefited greatly from the sign east of Highway 101 because it is used for direction.

"I use it every day in my business," he said. "I don't rent apartments by it but I clean rugs by it. If that's a conflict of interest, I'll live to see it."

Brixon — after the vote on the appeal, in which he cast the lone vote for retention of the sign east of Highway 101 — said that in order for an issue to be considered a conflict of interest, 15 per cent of one's income had to be derived from that source.

Schultz told the council one sign cost $1,800 and the other $7,780 to construct during the 1950's. He estimated to rent such signs would have cost him $60 and $100 a month.

Councilman Alfred J. Malvino said those figures indicated that Schultz had been adequately repaid on his investment. "It would have cost you $13,200 to rent one sign at $100 per month," he told Schultz.

Councilman William G. Fleckles, an attorney, told Schultz he had failed to "present his case," failed to show continued financial need for the signs and recommended they be rejected.

The council agreed unanimously on the sign overlooking the interchange, but split on the other. (Councilman Earl J. O'Grady abstained from voting on the latter.)

The signs were both given a six-year extension in 1963 when the city's sign ordinance made them non-conforming.

School Entry Is Admitted

Just as he was set to go to jury trial yesterday in Marin Superior Court, Craig James Gomez, 20, former volunteer fireman, admitted that he entered Central School in Sausalito on Jan. 5, 1969, with the intent to start a fire.

In exchange for the no contest plea to this charge, the district attorney's office agreed to dismiss an arson count.

Gomez, a former member of the Sausalito Volunteer Firemen's Association, was arrested after witnesses reported seeing him near the school at the time a fire broke out at 2:44 a.m. in a supply room.

Judge E. Warren McGuire yesterday set sentencing for Gomez for Jan. 15.

Bedroom Fire Does $2,300 Damage

Flames from a short-circuited electric blanket today did $800 damage to a bedroom and another $1,500 in smoke damage to the rest of the Joseph D'Amato home at 712 Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael.

WOULD-BE LIAR PICKETS

Shanna Gray, secretary for a San Rafael firm, is spending her lunch hours picketing Pete's Pier 15 restaurant in San Rafael. She's miffed, she says, because restaurant owner Henry Landaker won't let her participate in his patrons' liar's dice tournament. "I'm a good liar; I parctice all the time and I win" non-tournament games in the restaurant, Mrs. Gray declared yesterday. She began her picketing Tuesday to open up the contest to women dice-players.

Loan Rates May Get Trimmed Soon

A general lowering of consumer loan rates by major banks in the West was expected today following announcements Wednesday by Wells Fargo Bank and Bank of America of immediate across-the-board reductions averaging one-half of 1 per cent.

Chase Manhattan Bank of New York announced a similar reduction this morning, catching other eastern banks by surprise as they had not been expected to follow the lead of the two California banks. Mortgage and consumer loan interest rates traditionally are higher on the West Coast than east of the Mississippi, except for automobile financing loans which are almost uniform throughout the country.

Reductions by Wells Fargo aBnk and Bank of America brought automobile loans down to 5.25 per cent, below the 5.75 per cent presently prevailing in New York. Personal installment loans are now down to 7.75 per cent from 8 per cent.

Smaller local banks may not show any immediate change in their commercial loan structures, since they are generally more flexible than the larger banks in their guidelines and are already in competitive brackets.

Real estate loans are now averaging 8 and 8.25 per cent, compared with 9.25 per cent a few months ago.

If the recent drop in rates spurs sufficient interest in loans they are expected to remain at approximately the present level. If more loan activity does not develop, local bankers look for further rate reductions.

Landscaping At Enchanted Knolls Set

Landscaping and planting around the Lomita Drive entrance to Enchanted Knolls will be undertaken by the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association, directors decided last night.

President Robert B. Rankin said some planting already has been done by Mill Valley crews in connection with the installation of signs there, and directors will ask residents to donate their time to the completion of the project.

The board also decided to ask Mill Valley to install a marker along Roque Moraes Drive warning of an abrupt dropoff at the edge of the road.

Weeds which used to grow along the roadside and warn motorists of the edge have been cleared away, Rankin said, and motorists using the road at night may not be able to see where the pavement ends.

Legal Crunch Seen Over Jets' Smog

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Bay Area smog officials and airlines headed for a legal dispute yesterday over a new law controlling jet exhaust smoke.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors warned airlines using airports in the region that it will enforce the new law strictly, a law the airlines claim they cannot now comply with.

The dispute theoretically could ground airliners failing to meet the new standard, but a district spokesman predicted it will be fought out in court. The airlines, he said, probably will get a temporary injunction on Dec. 31 barring the district from enforcing the new law when it takes effect on Jan. 1.

The law was passed by the 1969 Legislature, but the airlines claim they still are not ready to comply with it. The law set a new standard of Ringelmann 2 for 10 seconds. The old standard was for three minutes.

Ringelmann 2 is a measurement of the density of smoke, and bars jets from emissions blocking more than 40 per cent of the light passing through the smoke plume.

Pacific Southwest Airlines has asked the district's hearing board for a variance until next October. The board has the variance application under submission.

The district's staff has urged the hearing board to reject the application on the ground that the airline had started needed engine conversions too late to meet the Jan. 1 deadline, relying on a 1970 bill in the Legislature to postpone the deadline by two years.

The bill, however, SB 904 by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan at the urging of the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District.

A district spokesman said that the gossip in the airline industry was that the new standard will be challenged in court by the Air Transport Association, the airline industry organization.

District directors, after meeting behind closed doors yesterday to discuss legal tactics in the expected court challenge, agreed to formally notify all airlines by letter of the district's determination to enforce the new standard.

Enforcement of the new standard by the district would require it to obtain cease and desist orders through the courts.

Deputy Saw Struggle Involving DeMartini

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — A Marin deputy sheriff testified yesterday he helped arrest union official John J. DeMartini after he saw DeMartini grappling for the baton of another law officer during the Valentine's Day riot outside the Independent-Journal.

DeMartini, 44, of Mill Valley, is vice president of San Francisco Typographical Union 21 and one of seven persons on trial in Solano County Superior Court on charges arising from the Feb. 14 melee.

The violence, which left three police officers and 14 others injured, erupted during a day-long rally called in support of DeMartini's union, which has been on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7.

Taking the stand before Judge William E. Jensen, deputy sheriff William Brown testified he saw DeMartini struggling with San Rafael patrolman Harold Pennington for control of the officer's baton during a confrontation between pickets and police on Julia Street the afternoon of Feb. 14.

Brown, one of more than 125 Marin law officers who had assembled for the demonstration, said he went to Pennington's aid and the two officers wrestled DeMartini to the ground. The union official, a former employee of the I-J, struggled to break free from their grasp and shouted obscenities such as "bastards and pigs" at him and Pennington, Brown said.

At this point, Marin Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas also sought to introduce antipolice remarks made by DeMartini as the union official was being led away from the scene, but Judge Jensen ruled the statements were irrelevant.

Outside the presence of the jury, Brown said DeMartini wanted to know if he, Brown, were "proud of myself for beating up on a citizen . . . and he made a statement that he was going to have my job and that he wasn't doing anything wrong."

Brown, who said he was stationed with a squad of officers alongside the I-J moments prior to the altercation with DeMartini, testified, as have other officers, that he heard several police loudspeaker admonitions to the chanting crowd on Julia Street to disperse.

The defense contends the commands could not be heard because of crowd noise.

Among the charges against the seven are failure to disperse, participating in a riot and unlawful assembly. Six, including DeMartini, also are accused of felony assault on a police officer.

The confrontation between pickets and police began shortly after a car entered and left the I-J loading dock on Julia Street. Brown testified he saw "picket signs flying through the air and people going down."

Under cross-examination by defense attorney Carl B. Shapiro, representing DeMartini, Brown said the union official uttered the obscenities while Pennington kneeled on top of the prone DeMartini to handcuff him.

Brown admitted he had not included reference to the obscenities in his police report of the incident because he didn't consider them significant enough at the time.

The prosecution will attempt to show later through the testimony of officer Pennington that DeMartini struck him while grappling for the truncheon.

The testimony of Brown came out of order in the trial as the prosecution's scheduled witness yesterday, officer Timothy O'Donnell of the San Rafael police, suffered an attack of laryngitis.

O'Donnell is expected to buttress the testimony of officer Ronald Averiette, also of the San Rafael police, that another of the defendants, Charles P. Vance, 56, of San Francisco, struck O'Donnell with a picket sign.

Loch Lomond Vote On Land Offer

Loch Lomond Homeowners Association members voted enthusiastic support last night of a proposal for the City of San Rafael to acquire a 539-acre piece of property in the Black Canyon area.

Association president Donald B. Edmondo said the 20 members present at the meeting instructed the association's board to send a representative to the San Rafael City Council to indicate the association's support of the land acquisition plan and the group's desire that the land be maintained as a recreational greenbelt area.

The property, valued at about $1.5 million, has been offered to San Rafael by owners Frank Sinatra and associates, for about $170,000.

To Lead Firemen

Richard Wagner last night was elected president of the Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Association and Charles Locati was chosen vice president. Other new officers are James Mantegani, secretary; Fred Hannahs, treasurer; Gene Erickson, sergeant-at-arms, and Lawrence Bogel, Raymond Coombs and Aldo de Tomasi, directors.

Bridge Jumper Is Reported

A 57-year-old Petaluma man is believed to have jumped off Golden Gate Bridge but his body has not been recovered, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

A witness told the patrol he saw Robert J. Bourgerie, of 36 Fairview Terrace, stop his car and leap over the railing Tuesday at 4:37 p.m. after first dropping a paper bag into the water.

Bourgerie appeared to be in a drugged or dazed condition just before he jumped, officers quoted the witness as saying.

Coastline Solution: Buy Now For Future

SAN FRANCISCO — California's coastline can be saved from destruction by development, but only if its citizens foot the bill to buy it.

This was the proposal yesterday of Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles, coauthor of one of four bills defeated this year that would have regulated coastline development.

He did not put a price tag on the coastline, but said that "whatever price needed to pay will be a bargain in 100 years." And he stressed the purchase must be made promptly, warning "we just cannot continue to delay."

Sieroty compared the purchase to "Seward's Folly" in 1867, when Alaska was bought from Russia for $7.2 million.

He said a statewide bond measure would have to be voted to make the purchase, and noted that growing public interest in the environment should assure its passage.

Sieroty made his proposal in a hearing by the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee, which is drafting legislation for the 1971 session in Sacramento to regulate coastline development. The past session's bills all would have required development permits from a statewide coastline commission while it drafted a general plans, but were silent on what could be done after the general plan was completed.

Sieroty's proposal was his idea on what would have to follow completion of the general plan, which presumably would designate remaining open areas to be purchased by the state or other public agencies.

His proposal was echoed by Don Benninghoven, assistant director of the League of California Cities. He defended local governments from conservationists' criticism that they had failed to prevent coastline development

Benninghoven said money, not zoning, was needed to control development. Zoning controls simply cannot do the job, he said, because they do not empower cities to stop development.

Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Vallejo, said that city officials inevitably tend to be in the "development direction" because their revenues depend largely on property taxes. To this extent, Dunlap said, local government officials "do not entirely represent the public."

Opposition to some of the defeated bills on coastline regulation came during the past legislative session from loval government officials, who want to maintain their control over shoreline in their areas. Conservationists, however, want the dominant controls in a statewide commission that they say would be more free of pressure from developers.

Field Cut To 12 For School Boss

A committee established by the Reed School District board to screen applicants for district superintendent has narrowed the field from 130 candidates to 12, according to Interim Supt. Stanley H. Friese.

Trustees, meeting Tuesday, heard a report from Dr. Charles Epstein, chairman of the screening committee, that the group will invite the finalists to Marin Dec. 11 and 12 for personal interviews.

The committee then will make its recommendation to the board, which will make the final choice, Friese said. The post pays between $23,000 and $26,000 a year.

In other business, the board applied for a $63,579 federal grant to purchase books, periodicals and electronic equipment such as projectors and listening stations for the multi-media center at the new Reedland Woods School.

After the open meeting, the board held a two-hour-and-15-minute closed session to instruct its negotiating committee to offer a counter-proposal to the Reed District Teachers Association in contract discussions.

Friese said points at issue are 1970-71 salaries and details of an employer-employee relations agreement.

The Reed School District board also:

LEAVE — Granted sick leave without pay to Gloria Artegiani, teacher aide at Granada School, for six months.

BID — Approved a $3,189 contract with Ireland and Robinson Co. of Belvedere to paint two buildings at district headquarters. The bid was the lowest of three received.

AUDIT — Accepted an audit of the building fund account.

Union Men Appear But Forget Data

SAN FRANCISCO — Officials of four Bay Area labor unions appeared in U.S. District Court yesterday, but failed to bring subpoenaed union records and documents.

The National Labor Relations Board wants the records in court to prove its contention that the unions were in civil and criminal contempt of court orders when they allegedly engaged in secondary boycott activity against Independent-Journal advertisers.

Judge William T. Sweigert yesterday ordered the unions to produce the records in court at 10 a.m. Monday. Union attorneys said they would challenge the order in the U.S. Court of Appeals.

They said the order was a violation of constitutional protection against self-incrimination and that it impairs union members' rights of free association, free press for house organs and bulletins and privileged communications between unions and attorneys.

The labor relations board is seeking contempt action against San Francisco Typographical Union 21 — which has been on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7 — and teamsters locals 85 of San Francisco and 70 of Oakland and longshoremen's local 10.

The contempt action was begun after picketing began in October at Marin supermarkets and other stores advertising in the I-J. Truck drivers reported being turned back while attempting deliveries in Marin, and there were reports of tire slashing and other vandalism to delivery trucks.

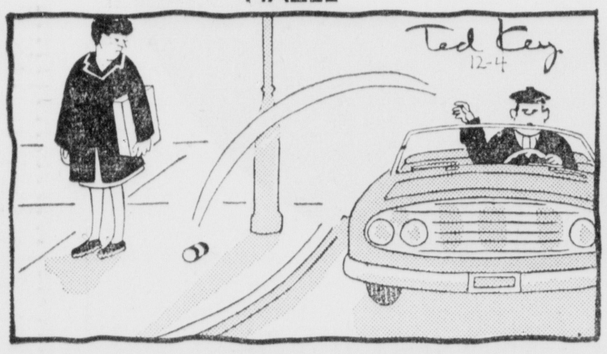
Innocent Plea To Pot Charge

Frank S. Lynn III, 23, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana at his home Nov. 20.

A preliminary hearing was set for Jan. 14.

Lynn was arrested after officers saw him through a window smoking a cigarette that appeared to be pot. They said they found additional bags of suspected marijuana in the house as well as suspected hashish.

HAZEL



Mysterious Shot Fired Into Room

A .30-caliber bullet was fired sometime between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. yesterday into a bedroom at the apartment of Wayne Knowles, 28 Mariner Green, Corte Madera, police said today.

According to officers, the bullet which was recovered entered the room through the wall of an adjoining apartment.

No one was at the Knowles apartment at the time of the mysterious shooting, police said.

Officers said they had not been able to reach the occupant of the apartment next door, Sheila Luchessi, for an explanation.

Camera Gear Reported Stolen

Police said a camera valued at $35 was taken from Phillips and Finisy Architects between 8 a.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Camera equipment worth $360 was taken from the office of William L. Capranos between 6 and 10 p.m. Monday, police said.

Mysterious Shot Fired Into Room

A .30-caliber bullet was fired sometime between 6 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. yesterday into a bedroom at the apartment of Wayne Knowles, 28 Mariner Green, Corte Madera, police said today.

According to officers, the bullet which was recovered entered the room through the wall of an adjoining apartment.

No one was at the Knowles apartment at the time of the mysterious shooting, police said.

Officers said they had not been able to reach the occupant of the apartment next door, Sheila Luchessi, for an explanation.

Union Men Appear But Forget Data

SAN FRANCISCO — Officials of four Bay Area labor unions appeared in U.S. District Court yesterday, but failed to bring subpoenaed union records and documents.

The National Labor Relations Board wants the records in court to prove its contention that the unions were in civil and criminal contempt of court orders when they allegedly engaged in secondary boycott activity against Independent-Journal advertisers.

Judge William T. Sweigert yesterday ordered the unions to produce the records in court at 10 a.m. Monday. Union attorneys said they would challenge the order in the U.S. Court of Appeals.

They said the order was a violation of constitutional protection against self-incrimination and that it impairs union members' rights of free association, free press for house organs and bulletins and privileged communications between unions and attorneys.

The labor relations board is seeking contempt action against San Francisco Typographical Union 21 — which has been on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7 — and teamsters locals 85 of San Francisco and 70 of Oakland and longshoremen's local 10.

The contempt action was begun after picketing began in October at Marin supermarkets and other stores advertising in the I-J. Truck drivers reported being turned back while attempting deliveries in Marin, and there were reports of tire slashing and other vandalism to delivery trucks.

Camera Gear Reported Stolen

San Rafael police reported yesterday that burglars took camera equipment valued at $415 from two adjoining offices of landscape architects at 503 D Street.

Police said a camera valued at $35 was taken from Phillips and Finisy Architects between 8 a.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Medalist Takes Nixon To Task

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A 19-year-old girl surprised President Nixon at a White House ceremony Thursday by accepting a medal for service to her fellow man and then questioning his sincerity because of continued U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Deborah Jean Sweet of Madison, Wis., whose sandy hair fell to her shoulders and who wore a ankle-length calico dress, was the last of four young persons to receive a Young American Medal from the President. She accepted it,

"I find it very hard to believe in your sincerity in giving an award for service until you get us out of the war."

Nixon seemed taken aback momentarily. "Well," he replied, "we're doing the best we can."

The President, who had posed separately with each winner and his family and congressman, declined a photographers' request that he pose for a group picture at the end of the ceremony. He said he was late for another appointment.

Miss Sweet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Caruso and a student at Valparaiso University, Indiana, was honored for her work in race relations and for organizing a 30-mile march by 3,000 high school students to raise money to feed poor children.

The medal, awarded annually for bravery and service, was established by Congress 20 years ago. Winners nominated by state governors were chosen this year by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, Solicitor General Erwin Griswold and Jack C. Landau, former information director of the Justice Department.

Nixon praised the four winners as examples of the majority of young people whose selfless service to country and fellow man receives little attention these days.

One medal was awarded posthumously to John N. Caruso Jr. of John's Island, S.C., a 12-year-old who drowned June 26, 1968, while saving the life of a neighbor, Carl Chavis, 10. The medal was accepted by John's parents.

Thomas Dvorscek of Oaklawn, Ill., was honored for rescuing a 10-year-old girl who had fallen through ice in a small pond. He was nearly 16 at the time.

An award for service went to Maxine Susan Lazovick, 20, of Bridgeport, Conn., a student at Lesley College in Cambridge, Mass., for her volunteer work with mentally retarded children.

Youths Use Guise To Sell Mints

Two youths were reported selling mints under false pretenses in San Rafael Tuesday, according to police.

The two who claimed they were selling the candy to benefit the Marin City Boys Club, were selling about 3 p.m. on Mitchell Boulevard, it was reported to police.

The boys club stated the two were not selling for the club, according to police.

Veterinary Group To Seat Officers

The Marin County Veterinary Medical Association will hold its annual installation dinner Dec. 11 at 7 p.m. at the San Geronimo Country Club.

According to Dr. Charles W. Owens, out-going president, new officers to be installed are: Robert M. Bramman, president; John Zimmerman, vice president; Donald C. Innes, secretary; Michael Kluse, treasurer; Raymon R. Rediske, delegate and Owens, alternate delegate.

Defense For Angela Hits Proceedings

NEW YORK (UPI) — The defense for Angela Y. Davis, the 26-year-old black militant and self described Communist, argued at her extradition hearing today that her constitutional rights had been violated by the State of California.

Attorney John J. Abt told the crowded hearing room that if Miss Davis is returned to California to face a murder charge it would be a "patent violation of her constitutional rights and utterly unconscionable."

Abt argued that there is "not the slightest evidence" that Miss Davis was involved in the Marin County Hall of Justice courtroom shoot-out on Aug. 7 in which Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons were slain.

California is seeking to have Miss Davis, a former philosophy instructor at UCLA returned to Marin County to face charges of murder, kidnaping and conspiracy to commit various crimes.

Miss Davis was arrested in New York City Oct. 13 on a federal warrant charging her with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. She is not accused of being at the scene of the killings but of aiding and abetting the crime.

Tentative Approval On Building Plans

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night tentatively approved plans for an 18-unit planned development near Santa Rosa Avenue and Glen Drive, Robert L. Nissen, commission chairman, reported today.

But planners asked developer David Hunter to present final detailed plans for the development, which will include single-family homes and duplexes, at a special meeting next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Nissen said the commission wants another look at Hunter's specific proposals for the buildings and their placement and at his plans for access to the property, drainage and roads. "Once a plan is approved, it must be followed exactly," he explained, adding the commission will also impose certain conditions on the development at the meeting.

Several months ago Hunter was granted a variance to allow construction of a planned unit development in a residential area. Currently the city council is considering an amendment to the city's zoning ordinance to permit cluster housing in single family residential zones as an allowed use, one which does not require a variance.

The council is asking that cluster developments be limited to single, detached dwellings, but Nissen said any final council ruling will not affect Hunter's development, which will include some units with common walls and a common roof, since the development has already been approved by the commission.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

LOT SPLIT — Approved a request from A.A. Raymond to permit a lot at 625 Locust Road to be subdivided into two parcels.

REPAIRS — Granted a conditional use permit to Don Olson to remodel and repair a nonconforming dwelling at 222 Fourth Street. Cost of repairs and remodeling will be more than 50 per cent of the structure's appraised value.

POSTPONEMENT — Postponed action on a request by the Project Development Corp., asking permission to change the Marina Vista subdivision at the head of Nevada Street from a planned unit development to a condominium.

Sierra Snowpack Seeking Is Snagged

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Efforts to create snow through cloud seeding in order to stabilize the Sierra snowpack have run into a snag.

Patrick Squires, director of atmospheric physics at the desert Research Institute, said Wednesday there's too much snow in the mountains of western Nevada and repairmen have been unable to make repairs on the idle cloud seding generators.

Two Hurt In Rear-End Accidents

Two persons said they would see their own doctors yesterday after they were injured in separate rear-end auto accidents on Marin County highways, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Gerard M. Gmeiner, 19, of 293 Ellen Drive, Marinwood, received a bloody nose when his car struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Michael J. Dito, 18, of 809 Rosal Way, Marinwood, which had stopped in traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near La Cuesta Drive in Greenbrae at 11:10 a.m.

Dito's car was pushed into a third vehicle driven by Anthony P. Day, 36, of Redwood City, the patrol said.

In the second mishap, Sterling W. Hanks, 31, of Santa Rosa, received minor unspecified injuries when his car, stopped in heavy commute traffic on southbound Highway 101 at the Waldo Tunnel at 8:50 a.m., was struck from behind.

Officers said the other driver, Vincent J. Cass, 53, of 22 Terra Linda Drive, was uninjured.

Billionaire Hughes Reported In Bahamas

LAS VEGAS, NEV. (UPI)—Howard Hughes, the billionaire who arrived here in 1966 and hasn't been seen in public since, is in the Bahama Islands on a "business trip."

A spokesman for Hughes acknowledged the state's largest gambling casino owner left this resort spa on business but said he "is retaining his living quarters at the Desert Inn."

When asked if the business trip included the possibility of Hughes buying an island, a source said, "He's already owned an island in the West Indies for years."

"He's been interested in going there for years (to the Bahamas, but he doesn't intend to give up his Las Vegas residence," the source added.

It was believed Hughes left Wednesday, Thanksgiving eve, because the vehicles registered to his Hollywood headquarters were not at the hotel as usual.

"We had anticipated questions from the business community about Mr. Hughes' absence from Nevada," an official spokesman said, "and Hughes employes and other interested parties can feel assured that his current trip in no way should be taken to indicate a diminishing concern for his Nevada enterprises."

Hughes has invested an estimated $250 million to acquire hotels and casinos, prime land and mining properties in Nevada.

Woman Claims Harassment Over House's EOC Use

San Rafael apartment owner Elizabeth R. Huff complained to the Economic Opportunity Council last night that Corte Madera city officials had harassed and cited her for allowing her property on Willow Avenue to be used as an EOC food distribution center.

She said her former home at 122 Willow Avenue was once used as a food distribution center, but is no longer used for that purpose. Nevertheless, she said Corte Madera police accosted her on Thanksgiving morning and cited her for allowing a food distribution center.

W. Robert Lomax Jr., executive director of EOC, backed up Mrs. Huff. He said the food distribution center is not operating at that address and has not been operating there for some time.

"I think a terrible injustice was done to Mrs. Huff by the government of Corte Madera. As a result of the harrassment, she spent two days in the hospital."

He asked the Economic Opportunity Council to take some action. "I think somebody should apologize to somebody."

On a motion by Timothy Kelly, the council asked Lomax to get the facts and report back at the next meeting.

The EOC, headed by Chairman Eloise T. Brown, met before a packed house last night in the Tiburon Council Chambers and seated nine new members elected on Nov. 19 from four supervisorial districts.

The new members are Dulce Urias, Mario Tapia, and Jeanne Vesper from district 1; Valise Mills, Vernon Cox, and Joyce Shank from district 2; June Tolbert from district 4; and Joe Homen and Kay Hill from district 5.

In District 3, South Marin, the four representatives were to be pared to three, but this was not done because the District 3 area board lacked a quorum at last week's meeting, Lomax explained.

Since this leaves the countywide Economic Opportunity Council with one more than the 36 allowed, one person must be unseated, Lomax explained. He suggested that Frank Phillips of District 3 be deleted.

"We can't unseat anyone until the area board acts," declared Mrs. Brown, the chairman, but she was overruled.

On a motion by Father John J. O'Connor, EOC members unseated Phillips of Marin City, to bring the total council members to 36.

The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council also:

REPLACEMENTS — Seated the following new members to fill vacancies: George Ortman, representing the City of Mill Valley; Robert C. Beebe, Human Resources Development; Edward Parnell, City of Tiburon; Dennis Kitterman, Head Start policy advisory committee and Phillip Abrams, City of Larkspur.

PRIORITIES — Approved the following priority of activities for the new program year from April 1, 1971, through March 31, 1972: Manpower and employment, housing, education, nutrition and health, and transportation.

STAFF CAR — Approved the expenditure of $105 per month by the Southern Marin Target Area Board to rent a car for the target area staff use for the remaining four months of this program year.

NEW OFFICERS — Put off election of new officers until next month when a nominating committee will be elected to come up with a slate of officers.

MEMBERSHIP — Heard from Lomax that the current countywide membership drive is expected to bring in about $25,000 in new membership fees.

I-J — Was told by Lomax that the Independent-Journal had erred in reporting that the City of San Anselmo had declined to support the EOC's current membership drive and refused to designate December as Equal Opportunity Month. (A correction appears elsewhere in today's I-J.)

Petaluma Valley Canvas Planned

The membership committee of the newly formed Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association will contact residents of Avondale Subdivision Number Four this week to seek prospective members.

All residents will be personally invited to attend the group's organizational meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at La Tercera School multi-use room. Proposed bylaws will be discussed and voted upon.

Committee members who will be calling on residents include chairman Janet Fountain, Muriel Birkland, Dinah McGovern, Lois Frees, Rosemarie Thornia, Ronald Chesterton and president Richard Courier.

Market Burgled

Liquor, cigarettes and salami, valued at about $60, were stolen sometime Nov. 27 or 28 during a burglary of the Rainbow Market, 4345 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, police have reported.

A Solution To Meetings: One A Week

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)— The board of education here decided to meet only once a week instead of twice after staff members complained the meetings were taking too much of their time.

But, apparently unwilling to take a $50 a week pay cut for dropping one meeting, the board came up with a plan that allows it to meet only one day a week, yet collect full pay for two meetings.

Each Tuesday at 2 p.m. the first meeting starts with a pledge of allegiance and a prayer. When that meeting is over, it is only minutes before the gavel sounds and the board conducts a second session, complete with another pledge of allegiance.

The procedure was criticized Tuesday by board observers who said what happens at the two meetings is no different than what used to happen where there was only one.

However, board president Richard L. Johnston defended the practice Wednesday, saying the board meets numerous times in addition to the eight meetings a month for which it can be paid under state law.

Pollution Fine

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Fred M. Schilwachter and Sons, Inc., was fined $1,000 Monday on two counts of polluting creek water in the first trial held under the new Federal Refuse Act.

Conservancy Bidding For Redwoods

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Nature Conservancy, a private conservation organization, negotiated today for low-cost leases on two redwood groves valued at $6 million and given to the group by the Georgia Pacific Corp., on the understanding they would become part of the state park system.

The two groves are on the Van Duzen River. The conservation group now is attempting leases with Humboldt County and the University of California.

The state failed to get the groves because it couldn't raise a needed $8,000. Then the conservation group stepped in to complete the transfer transaction at a claimed cost of $18,000. Nature Conservancy wants this investment back.

Huey Johnson, head of the regional office of Nature Conservancy, said he understood the problem faced by State Parks Director William Penn Mott Jr., whose department always has been beset by budgetary difficulties.

"He's utterly hampered by budget cuts," Johnson said, adding his group would hold out for its full $18,000 investment because "we're a private organization. We depend on contributions. We have to recover every cent we can."

Both Mott and Johnson agreed the groves will be open to public recreation under terms of an eventual agreement.

Johnson said the negotiations were for a five-year, renewable, $1-a-year lease with Humboldt County for the 210-acre Robert B. Jamplin Grove and the same terms with UC for the 180-acre Owen R. Cheatham Grove. Both leases have restrictive clauses to insure public access.

Conditional Approval To Funds For Senior Catering Business

Marin Senior Coordinating Council, which wants to set up 11 senior citizens in the catering business, won conditional approval of a $2,000 loan from the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council last night.

On a motion by Father John J. O'Conner, the EOC board asked its budget and finance committee to scrounge the funds to buy equipment such as coffee makers and other utensils to put the senior citizens in business by January. Council members decided that this funding would get number two priority, right behind another outlay to provide a second bus to transport children to the Head Start center in Marin City.

The $2,000 loan to the senior group will be at no interest and for a period of about two years, during which the senior citizens can repay the loan.

Edward T. Ryken, executive director of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council, asked for an outright grant of $2,000, but settled for the long-term loan.

He said the loan will put 11 senior citizens in the catering business. "The potential is unlimited," said Ryken. "If all goes well, we may have 50 senior citizens employed in the business by next March."

Ryken announced that a catering firm in Novato is willing to guarantee the senior citizens a one-year contract if the seniors can come up with the necessary equipment. Eleven senior citizens, mostly from the Mill Valley and Santa Venetia, have been experimenting with catering during the past 10 months.

During November the senior citizens catered four major Thanksgiving dinners for about 150 persons per dinner, said Ryken. He said the seniors have received other catering requests such as to provide the lunch program for the Head Start children at 185 Washington Street in Novato.

Ryken said the senior citizens are also exploring the possibility of taking over the Civic Center cafeteria service when the cafeteria closes down on Dec. 18. The Civic Center will be without cafeteria service when the State Department of Rehabilitation moves out on Dec. 18 and until the county contracts with a private firm to resume the service next year.

SST Ban Sought At S.F. International

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Conservation groups today called for a ban on supersonic transport (SST) landings and takeoffs at San Francisco International Airport.

John H. Sutter, an Oakland attorney and chairman of BANG, Bay Anti-Noise Group, said such a ban by major airports might convince Congress and the Nixon administration to abandon "this foolish project."

Changing Attitude

SHAWNEE, Okla. (UPI) — Barbers in Oklahoma are becoming more tolerant of shaggy haired people who come into their shops these days. The subject of how to cut longer hair was the chief topic in a weekend seminar on hair styling. "Barbers have fought long hair for a long time," said Gene Beavers of Oklahoma City. "But when they start starving they look at it a different way."

HOLLYWOOD'S SPACE TRAVELERS

MGM wanted a space capsule for a prop in the movie "Earth II" it is making for ABC-TV. NASA wouldn't let them use the real thing so they went to North American Aviation and used one of the Apollo 14 training capsules at Downey, Ca. Tom Gries is directing the action while Scott Hylands (left), Gary Lockwood and Hari Rhodes are strapped in the seats.

Woman Claims Harassment Over House's EOC Use

San Rafael apartment owner Elizabeth R. Huff complained to the Economic Opportunity Council last night that Corte Madera city officials had harassed and cited her for allowing her property on Willow Avenue to be used as an EOC food distribution center.

She said her former home at 122 Willow Avenue was once used as a food distribution center, but is no longer used for that purpose. Nevertheless, she said Corte Madera police accosted her on Thanksgiving morning and cited her for allowing a food distribution center.

W. Robert Lomax Jr., executive director of EOC, backed up Mrs. Huff. He said the food distribution center is not operating at that address and has not been operating there for some time.

"I think a terrible injustice was done to Mrs. Huff by the government of Corte Madera. As a result of the harrassment, she spent two days in the hospital."

He asked the Economic Opportunity Council to take some action. "I think somebody should apologize to somebody."

On a motion by Timothy Kelly, the council asked Lomax to get the facts and report back at the next meeting.

The EOC, headed by Chairman Eloise T. Brown, met before a packed house last night in the Tiburon Council Chambers and seated nine new members elected on Nov. 19 from four supervisorial districts.

The new members are Dulce Urias, Mario Tapia, and Jeanne Vesper from district 1; Valise Mills, Vernon Cox, and Joyce Shank from district 2; June Tolbert from district 4; and Joe Homen and Kay Hill from district 5.

In District 3, South Marin, the four representatives were to be pared to three, but this was not done because the District 3 area board lacked a quorum at last week's meeting, Lomax explained.

Since this leaves the countywide Economic Opportunity Council with one more than the 36 allowed, one person must be unseated, Lomax explained. He suggested that Frank Phillips of District 3 be deleted.

"We can't unseat anyone until the area board acts," declared Mrs. Brown, the chairman, but she was overruled.

On a motion by Father John J. O'Connor, EOC members unseated Phillips of Marin City, to bring the total council members to 36.

The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council also:

REPLACEMENTS — Seated the following new members to fill vacancies: George Ortman, representing the City of Mill Valley; Robert C. Beebe, Human Resources Development; Edward Parnell, City of Tiburon; Dennis Kitterman, Head Start policy advisory committee and Phillip Abrams, City of Larkspur.

PRIORITIES — Approved the following priority of activities for the new program year from April 1, 1971, through March 31, 1972: Manpower and employment, housing, education, nutrition and health, and transportation.

STAFF CAR — Approved the expenditure of $105 per month by the Southern Marin Target Area Board to rent a car for the target area staff use for the remaining four months of this program year.

NEW OFFICERS — Put off election of new officers until next month when a nominating committee will be elected to come up with a slate of officers.

MEMBERSHIP — Heard from Lomax that the current countywide membership drive is expected to bring in about $25,000 in new membership fees.

I-J — Was told by Lomax that the Independent-Journal had erred in reporting that the City of San Anselmo had declined to support the EOC's current membership drive and refused to designate December as Equal Opportunity Month. (A correction appears elsewhere in today's I-J.)

Petaluma Valley Canvas Planned

The membership committee of the newly formed Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association will contact residents of Avondale Subdivision Number Four this week to seek prospective members.

All residents will be personally invited to attend the group's organizational meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at La Tercera School multi-use room. Proposed bylaws will be discussed and voted upon.

Committee members who will be calling on residents include chairman Janet Fountain, Muriel Birkland, Dinah McGovern, Lois Frees, Rosemarie Thornia, Ronald Chesterton and president Richard Courier.

Market Burgled

Liquor, cigarettes and salami, valued at about $60, were stolen sometime Nov. 27 or 28 during a burglary of the Rainbow Market, 4345 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, police have reported.

A Solution To Meetings: One A Week

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)— The board of education here decided to meet only once a week instead of twice after staff members complained the meetings were taking too much of their time.

But, apparently unwilling to take a $50 a week pay cut for dropping one meeting, the board came up with a plan that allows it to meet only one day a week, yet collect full pay for two meetings.

Each Tuesday at 2 p.m. the first meeting starts with a pledge of allegiance and a prayer. When that meeting is over, it is only minutes before the gavel sounds and the board conducts a second session, complete with another pledge of allegiance.

The procedure was criticized Tuesday by board observers who said what happens at the two meetings is no different than what used to happen where there was only one.

However, board president Richard L. Johnston defended the practice Wednesday, saying the board meets numerous times in addition to the eight meetings a month for which it can be paid under state law.

Pollution Fine

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Fred M. Schilwachter and Sons, Inc., was fined $1,000 Monday on two counts of polluting creek water in the first trial held under the new Federal Refuse Act.

Conservancy Bidding For Redwoods

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Nature Conservancy, a private conservation organization, negotiated today for low-cost leases on two redwood groves valued at $6 million and given to the group by the Georgia Pacific Corp., on the understanding they would become part of the state park system.

The two groves are on the Van Duzen River. The conservation group now is attempting leases with Humboldt County and the University of California.

The state failed to get the groves because it couldn't raise a needed $8,000. Then the conservation group stepped in to complete the transfer transaction at a claimed cost of $18,000. Nature Conservancy wants this investment back.

Huey Johnson, head of the regional office of Nature Conservancy, said he understood the problem faced by State Parks Director William Penn Mott Jr., whose department always has been beset by budgetary difficulties.

"He's utterly hampered by budget cuts," Johnson said, adding his group would hold out for its full $18,000 investment because "we're a private organization. We depend on contributions. We have to recover every cent we can."

Both Mott and Johnson agreed the groves will be open to public recreation under terms of an eventual agreement.

Johnson said the negotiations were for a five-year, renewable, $1-a-year lease with Humboldt County for the 210-acre Robert B. Jamplin Grove and the same terms with UC for the 180-acre Owen R. Cheatham Grove. Both leases have restrictive clauses to insure public access.

Conditional Approval To Funds For Senior Catering Business

Marin Senior Coordinating Council, which wants to set up 11 senior citizens in the catering business, won conditional approval of a $2,000 loan from the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council last night.

On a motion by Father John J. O'Conner, the EOC board asked its budget and finance committee to scrounge the funds to buy equipment such as coffee makers and other utensils to put the senior citizens in business by January. Council members decided that this funding would get number two priority, right behind another outlay to provide a second bus to transport children to the Head Start center in Marin City.

The $2,000 loan to the senior group will be at no interest and for a period of about two years, during which the senior citizens can repay the loan.

Edward T. Ryken, executive director of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council, asked for an outright grant of $2,000, but settled for the long-term loan.

He said the loan will put 11 senior citizens in the catering business. "The potential is unlimited," said Ryken. "If all goes well, we may have 50 senior citizens employed in the business by next March."

Ryken announced that a catering firm in Novato is willing to guarantee the senior citizens a one-year contract if the seniors can come up with the necessary equipment. Eleven senior citizens, mostly from the Mill Valley and Santa Venetia, have been experimenting with catering during the past 10 months.

During November the senior citizens catered four major Thanksgiving dinners for about 150 persons per dinner, said Ryken. He said the seniors have received other catering requests such as to provide the lunch program for the Head Start children at 185 Washington Street in Novato.

Ryken said the senior citizens are also exploring the possibility of taking over the Civic Center cafeteria service when the cafeteria closes down on Dec. 18. The Civic Center will be without cafeteria service when the State Department of Rehabilitation moves out on Dec. 18 and until the county contracts with a private firm to resume the service next year.

SST Ban Sought At S.F. International

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Conservation groups today called for a ban on supersonic transport (SST) landings and takeoffs at San Francisco International Airport.

John H. Sutter, an Oakland attorney and chairman of BANG, Bay Anti-Noise Group, said such a ban by major airports might convince Congress and the Nixon administration to abandon "this foolish project."

Pneumonia No Longer The Killer It Once Was; Thanks To Penicillin

Pneumonia, no longer one of the world's greatest killers, still is especially dangerous to the oldster. Fortunately, most of the victims are spared via one of the antibiotics. The disease often follows an attack of bronchitis.

Pneumonia usually involves the substances of the lungs, rather than the passageways. Bronchonpneumonia is, perhaps, an exception, in that the infection starts in the bronchi and extends into the tiny air sacs (alveoli). Lobar pneumonia is confined to one section or lobe of the lung, (in the tissues surrounding thousands of alveoli).

LOBAR PNEUMONIA is less common than it was before World War II. The condition begins suddenly with a marked chill, high fever, and a pleuritic-type chest pain. Breathing is rapid and jerky; the sufferer may grunt with each breath. There is coughing and the sputum usually is flecked with blood.

Without antibiotics, pneumonia lasts from 7 to 10 days. During this period those who survive undergo a crisis with a dramatic loss of fever and toxicity. When penicillin or other antibiotics are given, the chest condition subsides within a few days. Convalescence is shortened because the individual does not spend a week or more at death's door followed by extreme weakness, weight loss and lethargy.

BBRONCHOPNEUMONIA starts more slowly with increasing fatigue, irregular fever, and breathlessness. A nasty cough develops, but there is little or no chest pain. The illness continues for two to five weeks and gradually subsides without a crisis. Antibiotics shorten the duration of the disease, but take longer to work than with lobar pneumonia.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

NEW MOM IS TIRED

Mrs. T. D. writes: My 27-year-old daughter had a baby about a year ago and she has been irritable and tired ever since. The doctor checked her over and found her blood pressure was 102. Could this be the reason why she feels so worn out?

REPLY

I doubt it. However, whatever is causing her low blood pressure may also be causing the fatigue. Housewife's fatigue is understandable but it is difficult to convince most hardworking and conscientious mothers that they are doing too much. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on fatigue.

TOXIC GOITER

D. S. writes: My doctor said I have a toxic goiter. What does he mean?

REPLY

He means that an overactive thyroid gland is poisoning your body because it is producing too much thyroxine. The powerful thyroid hormone increases the body's metabolism and steps up the activities of the heart and all the tissues. The result is weight loss, nervousness, tremor, increased or an irregular pulse rate, and a ravenous appetite.

A 'WORDY' PROBLEM

Mrs. P. R. writes: My 6-year-old son can't pronounce words that begin with the letter R. For instance, ring comes out wing and red sounds like wed. Do you think I should take him to a speech clinic?

REPLY

If you can't help the boy by patient example, professional speech therapy may be necessary. Inarticulate speech is prolonged when parents use "baby talk" to communicate with their children.

SELF-IMPOSED DIET

K. A. writes: Since my husband recovered from a heart attack he refuses to eat butter, bacon or other fats. He also won't let me serve these items to our young son. Are these foods harmful to a young boy?

REPLY

Not in moderation. Children need fat to balance their diet. When your son reaches adulthood, he can reduce his intake of fats if his blood cholesterol becomes elevated. By that time, scientists may have other ways to protect against hardening of the arteries. It could be that other foods, such as carboyhdrates, will be blamed.

BEETS ARE SAFE

REPLY

No. However, don't panic if the color of the urine changes to red after you eat too many beets. Studies have shown that approximately 14 per cent of the population passes pink to deep red urine after beets are eaten. The majority do not because the pigment responsible for the reddish hue in the urine is not absorbed by the intestine. Under these circumstances, it may resemle blood in the stoil.

RAW SPUDS

A reader writes: Is a person geting too much starch if he eats two raw potatoes a day?

REPLY

No, because raw potatoes are low in calories. This does not apply after they have been cooked and smothered in butter, or margarine and gravy. Add a few chives, bacon crumbs, and sour cream and is it good!

Today's Health Hint— Bad habits are the worst of masters.

COLDS EVERY WINTER

R.C.T. writes: Every winter I get a respiratory infection that is worse than a cold but less severe than the flu. My nose and throat also are involved. Can anything be done to prevent these inefctions?

REPLY

Flu vaccine offers the best prophylaxis as it protects against at least five of the viruses responsible for nose, throat and bronchial symptoms. Try to avoid crowds and anyone who has a cold. When n in tion lowers your resistance get plenty of sleep and keep the hands clean.

ARTERY HARDENING

REPLY

Yes, and we suspect that female sex hormones protect the ladies. After the menopause, however, women no longer have this protection. But since the arteriosclerotic process has not proceeded thru the years at the same rate as in males, women'a arteries are in better shape than those of men in a comparable age group. Exceptions occur among women who have diabetes or high bloodpressure.

PILES AND ANEMIA

C.B. writes: Can bleeding piles cause anemia?

REPLY

Yes. Bleeding may be profuse or imperceptible. In most anemias traced to bleeding hemorrhoids, there is constant seepage of blood over a long period. The red blood count and hemoglobin fall when the body is unable to make up the deficit.

BLOODSHOT EYES

D.E. writes: What should be done about bloodshot eyes?

REPLY

Nothing, unless there is an obvious cause. Congestion is associated with infection, allergy, irritation of the eyes, or dissipation.

An Extra $500

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has voted to give itself an extra $500 stationery allowance for the rest of this year, bringing the total for such expenditures to $3,500 per member. The money can be used to buy office supplies and related material.

Innocent Pleas To Drug Counts

John W. Arroyo, 20, and Michael J. Ragar, 25, both of Petaluma, pleaded innocent to drug charges yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set a preliminary hearing for Dec. 11 at 9:30 a.m. and denied their request to be released on their own recognizance.

Bail for Arroyo, who is charged with possession of marijuana and marijuana for sale, was set at $2,500 on the basis of a report by the Sonoma County Probation Department. Ragar has been held in lieu of $6,000 bail set on Monday.

They were arrested Saturday by Petaluma police after they had reportedly been causing a disturbance at Denny's Restaurant, 4986 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Automatic Machines Confuse Motorists

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—An interim report Wednesday disclosed about 10 per cent of the motorists who cross the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge can't get used to the three new automatic toll collecting machines.

Standby toll collectors had to remain in the lanes to help pick up dropped coins, collect commute tickets or make change.

Pneumonia No Longer The Killer It Once Was; Thanks To Penicillin

Pneumonia, no longer one of the world's greatest killers, still is especially dangerous to the oldster. Fortunately, most of the victims are spared via one of the antibiotics. The disease often follows an attack of bronchitis.

Pneumonia usually involves the substances of the lungs, rather than the passageways. Bronchonpneumonia is, perhaps, an exception, in that the infection starts in the bronchi and extends into the tiny air sacs (alveoli). Lobar pneumonia is confined to one section or lobe of the lung, (in the tissues surrounding thousands of alveoli).

LOBAR PNEUMONIA is less common than it was before World War II. The condition begins suddenly with a marked chill, high fever, and a pleuritic-type chest pain. Breathing is rapid and jerky; the sufferer may grunt with each breath. There is coughing and the sputum usually is flecked with blood.

Without antibiotics, pneumonia lasts from 7 to 10 days. During this period those who survive undergo a crisis with a dramatic loss of fever and toxicity. When penicillin or other antibiotics are given, the chest condition subsides within a few days. Convalescence is shortened because the individual does not spend a week or more at death's door followed by extreme weakness, weight loss and lethargy.

BBRONCHOPNEUMONIA starts more slowly with increasing fatigue, irregular fever, and breathlessness. A nasty cough develops, but there is little or no chest pain. The illness continues for two to five weeks and gradually subsides without a crisis. Antibiotics shorten the duration of the disease, but take longer to work than with lobar pneumonia.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

NEW MOM IS TIRED

Mrs. T. D. writes: My 27-year-old daughter had a baby about a year ago and she has been irritable and tired ever since. The doctor checked her over and found her blood pressure was 102. Could this be the reason why she feels so worn out?

REPLY

I doubt it. However, whatever is causing her low blood pressure may also be causing the fatigue. Housewife's fatigue is understandable but it is difficult to convince most hardworking and conscientious mothers that they are doing too much. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on fatigue.

TOXIC GOITER

D. S. writes: My doctor said I have a toxic goiter. What does he mean?

REPLY

He means that an overactive thyroid gland is poisoning your body because it is producing too much thyroxine. The powerful thyroid hormone increases the body's metabolism and steps up the activities of the heart and all the tissues. The result is weight loss, nervousness, tremor, increased or an irregular pulse rate, and a ravenous appetite.

A 'WORDY' PROBLEM

Mrs. P. R. writes: My 6-year-old son can't pronounce words that begin with the letter R. For instance, ring comes out wing and red sounds like wed. Do you think I should take him to a speech clinic?

REPLY

If you can't help the boy by patient example, professional speech therapy may be necessary. Inarticulate speech is prolonged when parents use "baby talk" to communicate with their children.

SELF-IMPOSED DIET

K. A. writes: Since my husband recovered from a heart attack he refuses to eat butter, bacon or other fats. He also won't let me serve these items to our young son. Are these foods harmful to a young boy?

REPLY

Not in moderation. Children need fat to balance their diet. When your son reaches adulthood, he can reduce his intake of fats if his blood cholesterol becomes elevated. By that time, scientists may have other ways to protect against hardening of the arteries. It could be that other foods, such as carboyhdrates, will be blamed.

BEETS ARE SAFE

REPLY

No. However, don't panic if the color of the urine changes to red after you eat too many beets. Studies have shown that approximately 14 per cent of the population passes pink to deep red urine after beets are eaten. The majority do not because the pigment responsible for the reddish hue in the urine is not absorbed by the intestine. Under these circumstances, it may resemle blood in the stoil.

RAW SPUDS

A reader writes: Is a person geting too much starch if he eats two raw potatoes a day?

REPLY

No, because raw potatoes are low in calories. This does not apply after they have been cooked and smothered in butter, or margarine and gravy. Add a few chives, bacon crumbs, and sour cream and is it good!

Today's Health Hint— Bad habits are the worst of masters.

COLDS EVERY WINTER

R.C.T. writes: Every winter I get a respiratory infection that is worse than a cold but less severe than the flu. My nose and throat also are involved. Can anything be done to prevent these inefctions?

REPLY

Flu vaccine offers the best prophylaxis as it protects against at least five of the viruses responsible for nose, throat and bronchial symptoms. Try to avoid crowds and anyone who has a cold. When n in tion lowers your resistance get plenty of sleep and keep the hands clean.

ARTERY HARDENING

REPLY

Yes, and we suspect that female sex hormones protect the ladies. After the menopause, however, women no longer have this protection. But since the arteriosclerotic process has not proceeded thru the years at the same rate as in males, women'a arteries are in better shape than those of men in a comparable age group. Exceptions occur among women who have diabetes or high bloodpressure.

PILES AND ANEMIA

C.B. writes: Can bleeding piles cause anemia?

REPLY

Yes. Bleeding may be profuse or imperceptible. In most anemias traced to bleeding hemorrhoids, there is constant seepage of blood over a long period. The red blood count and hemoglobin fall when the body is unable to make up the deficit.

BLOODSHOT EYES

D.E. writes: What should be done about bloodshot eyes?

REPLY

Nothing, unless there is an obvious cause. Congestion is associated with infection, allergy, irritation of the eyes, or dissipation.

An Extra $500

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has voted to give itself an extra $500 stationery allowance for the rest of this year, bringing the total for such expenditures to $3,500 per member. The money can be used to buy office supplies and related material.

Innocent Pleas To Drug Counts

John W. Arroyo, 20, and Michael J. Ragar, 25, both of Petaluma, pleaded innocent to drug charges yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set a preliminary hearing for Dec. 11 at 9:30 a.m. and denied their request to be released on their own recognizance.

Bail for Arroyo, who is charged with possession of marijuana and marijuana for sale, was set at $2,500 on the basis of a report by the Sonoma County Probation Department. Ragar has been held in lieu of $6,000 bail set on Monday.

They were arrested Saturday by Petaluma police after they had reportedly been causing a disturbance at Denny's Restaurant, 4986 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Automatic Machines Confuse Motorists

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—An interim report Wednesday disclosed about 10 per cent of the motorists who cross the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge can't get used to the three new automatic toll collecting machines.

Standby toll collectors had to remain in the lanes to help pick up dropped coins, collect commute tickets or make change.

Coast Guard Faulted In Report To Nixon

BOSTON (UPI)—A full report to President Nixon on the refusal to grant political asylum to a Lithuanian seaman blames the coast guard, not the state department, the Boston Globe reported today.

The report, prepared in the offices of Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe and Undersecretary of State U. Alexis Johnson, was given to Nixon shortly after 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, the newspaper said, quoting "administration sources."

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there would be no immediate comment on the report ordered by the President Monday night.

A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee was to begin hearings today in Washington on the Nov. 23 incident off the Massachusetts coast.

Ziegler told newsmen Wednesday a new policy promising a "clear policy on political refugees" would be outlined by Nixon after the President has studied the formal report.

On the basis of initial reports, the President described "the whole matter as 'outrageous'." Ziegler said. These preliminary reports, he said, indicated that "procedures followed were inadequate and the action taken inadequate and the judgments used were bad."

The White House spokesman said he did not know what has happened to the seaman who leaped aboard the Coast Guard cutter Vigilant while the two were tied together in U.S. territorial waters about one mile off Martha's Vineyard for a conference on fishing rights.

Ziegler said he didn't know if any protest had been made to the Soviet Union over the incident.

The State Department has maintained it was informed of the incident but its advice was not sought. The Coast Guard says it had no guidelines for such situations.

Transport Plane Down; 44 Missing

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command said today a U.S. transport plane with 32 American servicemen and 12 Vietnamese aboard was missing and presumed down over central South Vietnam. It was the second such plane missing in the same area in a week.

Military spokesmen said the twin-engine C123 Provider transport had been missing since Sunday.

Another C123 carrying six Americans and 73 South Vietnamese has been missing since Friday in the same general region.

Military spokesmen said the men aboard both planes officially have been listed as missing. Military sources said both planes apparently went down shortly after takeoff from areas near the South China Sea coast.

C123s have been the workhorse aircraft of the Vietnam War.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said the Cambodian military command had acknowledged today for the first time that as many as 2,000 Rouge guerrillas are operating in the Kirirom Mountains southwest of the capital.

Lt. Col. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman, said he had no details of the fighting or casualty reports but said he estimated the number of Khmer Rouge in the area at from 1,000 to 2,000.

The Kirirom Pass area along Highway 4 linking Phnom Penh with Cambodia's sepaort of Kompong Som has been occupied by the Communists since Nov. 21.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Comman said today 32 Americans were killed in the Vietnam War last week, less than half the death toll the previous week. Another 178 GIs were wounded.

U.S. spokesmen said the number of Americans killed in action was the same as the toll from illness, accidents and other nonhostile causes.

Another 32 died of noncombatant causes.

It was the 22nd consecutive week U.S. war deaths stayed below 100. The toll was 33 fewer than the previous week.

South Vietnamese combat deaths hit their highest point in 12 weeks with 430 government troops killed and 934 wounded.

The latest figures raised the toll of Americans killed in action in the war since Jan. 1, 1961 to 44,083. The total wounded for the war reached 292,345 with the total noncombantant deaths 8,881.

The Command said Allied forces killed 1,300 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese last week, pushing the total Communist dead for the war to 684,848.

Home Decoration Contest Announced

The Marin Highlands Homeowners Association in novato will sponsor a Christmas home decoration contest in its neighborhood with judging Dec. 21, according to Maureen Whittman, association secretary.

There will be prizes of $25, $15, and $5, she said. The association also will conduct Christmas caroling at 8 p.m. Dec. 20.

Auto Stereo Unit Stolen From Boat

An auto stereo unit valued at $135 was stolen between Sunday and Tuesday from the boat of Brad W. Smith, 48 Longwood Drive, San Rafael police said.

The boat was moored at the San Rafael Yacht Harbor when the tape unit was taken between 5 p.m. Sunday and 2:30 p.m. yesterday, police said.

Sailor Who Tried Escape Said 'Criminal' By Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union today branded as a "criminal" a sailor who sought asylum aboard a U. S. Coast Guard cutter only to be returned by a Russian crew that was allowed to go aboard the cutter and search him out.

The Soviet Embassy issued a statement denouncing what it said was an attempt "to present as a martyr the criminal who tried to escape responsibility" for stealing money from the captain's safe on a Russian fishing vessel.

President Nixon was quoted as describing as outrageous the U. S. handling of the affair, and said a repetition would not be tolerated.

The Russian statement was issued prior to a scheduled hearing this afternoon by a House subcommittee on the episode. The rejection of the attempted defector's asylum request and the action allowing a group of Russians to come aboard the cutter to forcibly capture the man, identified as Simas Kudirka, about 35, has been strongly criticized inside and outside Congress.

Civilian witnesses to the incident said Coast Guard crewmen were told not to interfere as the Russian party was allowed aboard the cutter Vigilant to capture Kudirka. The witnesses said Kudirka, who they said had pleaded for asylum, fought his captors and at one time broke away. They said the Russians were permitted to search the ship and said he was beaten into submission after he was found.

The Coast Guard said the captain of the Russian ship, where Kudirka was reported to be a radioman, alleged that the man had stolen $2,000.

The Soviet Embassy statement said, "Sailor Kudirka had committed a criminal act — he had stolen a large sum of money from the captain's safe. After that, he deserted 'to seek freedom.'"

The statement was volunteered to news media by the Embassy.

Nixon Reads Report On Campus Unrest

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House says President Nixon now has read the controversial report of his commission on campus unrest, but still has no public comment on it.

The report by the commission chaired by former Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton was attacked by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew during the recent election campaign. It called on the President to exercise moral leadership to restore the confidence of the nation's alienated youth.

Man To Appear In Burglary Try At Anderson Home

A man suspected of attempting to burglarize the home of Bryce W. Anderson at 304 H Street on Nov. 13, was arrested yesterday by San Rafael police on a warrant.

Henry Jackson Jr., 21, of 1836 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary, attempt to commit a burglary and unauthorized entry of a dwelling. He was held in lieu of $6,250 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

A witness saw a young man, thought to be Jackson, enter the Anderson home while Mrs. Anderson was in the back yard raking leaves. When confronted by Mrs. Anderson, he fled north on H Street and west on Forbes, making his escape.

HAIL, HAIL, THE GANG'S ALL HERE

Free-for-all fight broke out in the first period of the National Hockey League game between the Boston Bruins and Black Hawks at Chicago last night. With almost every player from both teams getting into the action, the brawl resulted in six major penalties, three on each team. The Black Hawks won the game, 4-3, but the fighting was called a draw. AAU Takes Giant Stride Toward 20th Century

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—In a rapid reply to demands of dissident track stars, he governing body of amateur athletics in the United States has taken a giant step towards entering the 20th century.

The Track and Field Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union moved Wednesday to liberalize several stringent regulations restricting athletes.

APPROVAL

Recommendations approved included permission for athletes to use their photographs and signatures in their daily occupations, allowing pros in one sport to compete as non-Olympic amateurs in track and field, simplifying travel permits to foreign nations and banning foreign athletes from championship track meets in the United States unless the foreign countries reciprocate.

All four points were part of a list of seven demands presented only Tuesday to the Track and Field Committee by a group of world-class track stars headed by four-time Olympic hammer thrower Hal Connolly and John Pennel, former world record holder in the pole vault.

All four points also were supported by AAU vice president Jack Kelly, expected to be named president on Saturday, final day of the organization's 83rd annual convention.

GOVERNORS

However, the four recommendations must be approved by the AAU's 400-member board of governors before they can be forwarded to the International Amateur Athletic Federation (IAAF), governing body of worldwide amateur sports.

"The IAAF gives the power to act to individual countries," said Connolly. "And we keep living in 1875. We know as athletes that the IAAF won't flip over athletes being paid."

Connolly has charged that the U.S. restrictions on amateur athletes were "hypocritical and unrealistic" compared to rules governing athletics in other nations.

Spearheading the drive to have Stanley Wright's committee approve the four recommendations was the powerful Southern Pacific Association. The recommendation to permit athletes certain uses of their pictures and signatures was considered a breakthrough in the history of amateur athletics.

FINANCIAL GAIN

Presumably, the action would permit such as Olympic gold medalist Randy Matson, who runs a health spa, and Pennel, a male model, greater latitude in the use of their photos and names to promote their businesses for financial gain.

The Southern Pacific AAU also recommended a "modern day version of the term amateur be developed and forwarded."

"We must take into consideration life as it is today," said Trueman R. Betts, president of the Southern Pacific AAU, and registration committee head Warren Emery in a joint statement.

JIM GILMARTIN

Congrats Go Out To Brink, Sherbert

Congrats to Barry Brink of Mill Valley and Jim Sherbert of Terra Linda for their great football triumps in the National Collegiate Athletic Association this season.

As noted elsewhere on these pages in recent editions, Brink was a defensive line standout on Dartmouth's undefeated team and was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game while Sherbert was winning All-Coast honors as defensive end at Oregon State.

Too bad we couldn't land both of these defensive stars in the Shrine game but Sherbert doesn't qualify for the seniors-only classic because he's only a junior.

Anyway, here are two Marin County Athletic League products who indeed have discovered that the grass is always greener on the other side of defense.

Bruce Kilby In Peach Bowl

ALSO, GOOD NEWS on another Terra Linda High grad, Bruce Kilby, comes from Arizona State College.

Only a sophomore, Kilby appeared in all ASU games and started two at defensive end. He will play with the undefeated and No. 9 ranked Sun Devils against North Carolina in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta Dec. 30.

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL wirephotos carried a four-panel sequence of Redwood High coach Dick Hart in canine action last month.

One of the top collegiate football officials on the coast, Hart was pictured tangling with a doggie as he reffed the Cal-Oregon State game at OSU. The pooch wandered out onto the field and Hart was nomintaed to escort it away from the action. "I feel like I'm going to the dogs," said Mr. Hart, rather hartlessly.

Scholar-Athletes Honored

LARRY KERR, Terra Linda quarterback-linebacker, and Dan Furlong, the great tackle from Tomales, will be among the 22 Northern California athletes who will be honored tonight at the 11th annual awards banquet sponsored by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Good to see little old Tomales get some publicity.

The honorees are selected for their scholastic and athletic abilities.

The 7 p.m. dinner will be at the Jack Tar Hotel with the Presbyterian minister Rev. Donn Moomaw, former UCLA All-American, handling the main speaking chores.

AS LONG as I'm on this football kick, I might as well add that there is the possibility of a Brother Vs. Brother Act in the upcoming National Football League Playoffs. That is if San Francisco and St. Louis win their divisions, the 49ers will battle the Cardinals at St. Louis in the semi-finals.

And, in that event, opposing tackles on the field would be Charley Krueger, No. 70 for the 49ers, against his brudder Rolf, No. 70 for the Cards.

Tempting Football Special

FOR THOSE of you who will not be able to get tickets to the locally "blacked out" 49er-Raiders biggie in Oakland on Dec. 20, Harold's Club of Reno has designed a tempting "Football Special" tour package at low prices.

The Reno gaming house will have several giant color television screens beaming the game throughout the building. The prices for the trip to Nevada, as low as $13.50, will include hic-inducing liquid refreshment and food. Transportation is not included.

As the game has long been sold out and Raider boss Al Davis refuses to lift the local television blackout, I imagine there'll be a great exodus of the Bay Area on Dec. 20.

Shelley Hamlin Tries For Fourth Straight

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI) — Stanford coed Shelley Hamlin opened her campaign for a fourth straight California Amateur golf title by breezing to a 6-5 win over Mardel Wilkins of Bell in first round action.

Tourney medalist Joan Damon of Honolulu decisioned Mrs. Ellen Bowering of San Diego 4-3.

The eight survivors battled today.

Things Go Sour For Seals

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) —Things have soured for the California Golden Seals in the Twin Cities.

The Seals' good fortune against the Minnesota North Stars came to an end Wednesday night, 3-2, on a power play goal by Bill Goldsworthy.

Going into the National Hockey League matchup, the Seals had compiled a 3-0-1 record on recent visits to Minnesota. In their series last year, the Seals had a 5-1-2 advantage.

The latest defeat dropped California's record to 6-15-2 and three points behind sixth place Los Angeles.

Goldsworthy's winning goal came in the second period on a follow-up shot. Just two minutes earlier, Gary Jarrett had pulled the Seals even, 2-2, on a power play light-flasher.

Jarrett's goal touched off a wild argument by the North Stars, who claimed Bill Hicke, who got an assist on the play, had obstructed goalie Cesare Maniago.

The Seals, who had scored only one point against opponents from their division this year, drew first blood on Dennis Hextall's goal 7:26 into the game. Bobby Rousseau tied it at 10:19 and then at 19:56, Danny Grant scored to give Minnesota a 2-1 lead.

A wild melee interrupted the game for more than five minutes in the final period and when order was restored, referee Ron Wicks assessed 32 minutes in penalties and two game misconducts.

Score by periods
California	1	1	0	—2
Minnesota	2	1	0	—3

First period—1. California, Hextall 9 (Hampson, Ingarfield) 7:26; 2. Minnesota, Rousseau 2 (Drouin) 10:19; 3. Minnesota, Grant 11 (Drouin, Goldsworthy) 19:56. Penalties—Gibbs 2:54, Hextall 5:08, Muloin 19:16.

Second period—4. California, Jarrett 7 (B. Hicke, Vadnais) 2:46; 5. Minnesota, Goldsworthy 2 (Grant, Drouin) 4:31. Penalties—Harris 1:24, Vadnais 3:39, Harvey 11:58.

Third period—No scoring. Penalties—Hextall 7:23; Grant 15:15; Goldsworthy (major and game misconduct) 16:47; Reid (major) 16:47; Grant (minor) 16:47; Hextall (major, game misconduct) 16:47; Featherstone (major) 16:47; Barrett 20:00.

S.F. Start For Ladies Tennis Tour

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Ladies Professional Tennis tour, the first of its kind, will kick off in San Francisco next January and make its way across the country in six other events.

Announcement of the tour was made Wednesday by Northern California sportsman Kjell Qvale, who is putting up a $15,000 purse for the San Francisco tourney.

The tour starts on Jan. 6 and runs for four days in San Francisco before moving on to Long Beach, Calif., Towson, Md., Oklahoma City, Chattanooga, Ft. Lauderdale and Boston.

A total of 16 women pros will compete for purses of more than $100,000 for the seven events.

DECEMBER TOUGH MONTH FOR WARRIORS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — December will be the make-or-break month for the San Francisco Warriors.

Over their next 17 National Basketball Association games, the Warriors, who lead the Pacific Division by a half-game over Los Angeles, will barnstorm all over the countryside, meeting foes on foreign courts in 13 games.

One out-of-the-way place includes Omaha, whose mayor recently made a pitch for the club.

The trip proper starts Friday night in Los Angeles against the Lakers and after a Saturday home contest against Phoenix, the Warriors won't see their home court again until Dec. 16.

During one period, San Francisco will play seven games in nine nights and none of them will be in the same city.

Although they sport only a 15-10 record, the Warriors are one of the hottest items in the NBA, having won 12 of their last 16 games.

Clay Worried About Being 'Too Ready'

NEW YORK (UPI) —Cassius Clay was worried if he could get into shape quickly enough for his comeback bout against Jerry Quarry on Oct. 26. But in his first bout since 1967, he stopped Quarry in three rounds.

Now he's worried about getting into shape too quickly for the second bout of his comeback against Oscar Bonavena on Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

"I feel good," the 28-year-old Clay said. "Now I'm gonna take it easy."

Clay called off his sparring on Thursday and limited himself to light bag work and running. However, Bonavena continued his grind at Grossinger, N.Y., by sparring several rounds.

Clay's manager, Angelo Dundee, said he will decide on Thursday night whether to have the deposed heavyweight champion resume sparring on Friday.

"I'm continually amazed by this man," he said. "He's unreal. I've never seen an athlete who could get in shape like he does. It shows up when he's working in the gym and the way he's working himself up mentally with all that talk."

Clay continued his talk on Wednesday, predicting that "I will whup him in nine rounds."

However, he found one dissenter in the crowd, former lightweight champion Ike Williams. Clay asked Williams if he could knock out Bonavena in nine rounds.

"No," Williams said bluntly, "I don't think you can knock him out at all. I saw Joe Frazier try to do that in two fights, and he couldn't. But if you can do it in nine I'd say you're the greatest."

Baseball Officials Looking Into Players Popping Pills

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Baseball today became the first major professional sport to organize its team physicians to study whether "pep-pills" and the so-called "ethical" drugs are being widely used by players—and what should be done if they are.

"The concern is with the so-called ethical drugs rather than with narcotics," commented baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn after the announcement that the sport's new Physicians Association will look into "the use and absue of drugs."

'UNDRAMATIC'

Kuhn insisted that the doctors' reports made at the baseball meetings here were "undramatic rather than dramatic" concerning the current usage of drugs by athletes, but he added that "the concern is whether these ethical drugs are being over used."

One team doctor, Dr. Joseph Finegold of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said the pep pills are being used by many athletes and that he expects some players soon will begin having heart attacks while they are playing because pep pills speed up heart action at a time when sport is putting a strain on the heart.

Another team physician said use of such pills by baseball players now is "rather wide spread." He said the general feeling was that it is impossible to control their use by veteran players and that the effort in this direction should be in the area of educating rookies and young players on the dangers of pills by movie films, etc.

The question of drugs was not pinpointed as the reason for the formation of the Physicians Association at the current meetings. The purpose, according to Kuhn, was to "correlate medical information and assist the teams in the treatment of players." But the question of pep pills came quickly to the front in discussions.

The formation of the Physicians Association came as the minor leagues concluded three days of sessions and the major leagues began their three days meeting.

The trading pace slowed and the 12th and 13th deals of the meetings were minor ones—the Atlanta Braves trading catcher Bob Tillman to the Milwaukee Brewers for three players, including outfielder Hank Allen, younger brother of the Dodgers' Richie Allen, all three of them ticketed for the minors; and the Boston Red Sox purchasing utility infielder Phil Gagliano from the Chicago Cubs.

WILHELM

Commissioner Kuhn said he was going to "look with some interest" into one deal consummated at these meetings—the one that brought 47-year-old knuckleball pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm back to the Atlanta Braves from the Cubs along with cash for minor league first baseman Hal Breeden.

It was only back in September that Wilhelm went from the Braves to the Cubs at a time when the Braves had lost any chance at the title in the National League West and the Cubs were battling—in vain, it turned out—for the title in the NL East. Wilhelm made three appearances for the Cubs.

The major leagues had a banquet scheduled tonight at which the winners of new awards were to be announced—Player of the Year, Pitcher of the Year, Defensive Player of the Year, Manager of the Year, and the Player who best typifies the game on and off the field.

Athletic Referendum: Its Role On Campus

BERKELEY (UPI) —University of California students are voting on a referendum which asks if they want to continue allotting part of their registration fees to the athletic budget.

The three-day voting through Friday will only be an advisory for school officials, but still will give an indication as to how students see the role of athletics on campus.

Astro Turf Workout For 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—There should be good footing for the San Francisco 49ers for their games in Candlestick Park next season.

Rained out of their Redwood City practice field Wednesday, the Prospectors worked out at Candlestick Park and found the Astro Turf there still in solid shape.

The Prospectors meet Atlanta in their final Kezar Stadium appearance ever Sunday and though they'll probably be favored, Atlanta has won three of its last four games with San Francisco.

Coach Dick Nolan said that Atlanta has a great defense, five good running backs and a good passer in Bob Berry.

"I think their problem has been turnovers," said Nolan, "and that's also been our problem in the last two games.

"If you're going to win in this league, you must get more turnovers — interceptions and fumbles — than you give up."

Bruins Again Favored To Win NCAA Crown

NEW YORK (UPI) — UCLA should win the national basketball title this season.

The United Press International Board of Coaches made that clear today when it overwhelmingly voted the Uclans the nation's No. 1 favorite for National honors.

UCLA, which won the NCAA title for the fourth straight year last season received 23 of the 26 first place ballots cast by members of the 35-man UPI Coaches Board. The Bruins finished with 25 points to easily outdistance second place South Carolina, which was awarded the remaining three first place ballots.

Jacksonville was third in the tabulation, followed by Kentucky, the defending regular-season national titlist, and Marquette. Notre Dame was sixth, with Pennsylvania, Western Kentucky, Utah State and Southern California completing the top 10.

Slugfest Expected In N.Y. When Raiders Take On Jets

OAKLAND (UPI) — When the Oakland Raiders come to Shea Stadium Sunday to battle New York, it should be another slugfest.

The 1967 meeting, in which Joe Namath's cheekbone was broken, set the pattern and the Raiders-Jets battles since have maintained the lack of decorum.

It was after the 1967 game that offensive tackle Winston Hill proclaimed the Raiders' defensive end, Ben Davidson, football's dirtiest player.

Hill, who takes on Davidson, Wednesday blamed that long ago quote on emotion and called Davidson "a fine competitor and athlete."

Davidson said "offensive linemen usually try to keep you happy. It doesn't pay for them to get you mad."

Davidson said that the Jets line holds worse than any others in the league.

Meanwhile, defense tackle Tom Keating, who missed the game against Detroit last week, is working out with the Raiders again and should be ready for the Jets.

AAU Takes Giant Stride Toward 20th Century

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—In a rapid reply to demands of dissident track stars, he governing body of amateur athletics in the United States has taken a giant step towards entering the 20th century.

The Track and Field Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union moved Wednesday to liberalize several stringent regulations restricting athletes.

Although they sport only a 15-10 record, the Warriors are one of the hottest items in the NBA, having won 12 of their last 16 games.

Clay Worried About Being 'Too Ready'

NEW YORK (UPI) —Cassius Clay was worried if he could get into shape quickly enough for his comeback bout against Jerry Quarry on Oct. 26. But in his first bout since 1967, he stopped Quarry in three rounds.

Now he's worried about getting into shape too quickly for the second bout of his comeback against Oscar Bonavena on Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

"I feel good," the 28-year-old Clay said. "Now I'm gonna take it easy."

Clay called off his sparring on Thursday and limited himself to light bag work and running. However, Bonavena continued his grind at Grossinger, N.Y., by sparring several rounds.

Clay's manager, Angelo Dundee, said he will decide on Thursday night whether to have the deposed heavyweight champion resume sparring on Friday.

"I'm continually amazed by this man," he said. "He's unreal. I've never seen an athlete who could get in shape like he does. It shows up when he's working in the gym and the way he's working himself up mentally with all that talk."

Clay continued his talk on Wednesday, predicting that "I will whup him in nine rounds."

However, he found one dissenter in the crowd, former lightweight champion Ike Williams. Clay asked Williams if he could knock out Bonavena in nine rounds.

"No," Williams said bluntly, "I don't think you can knock him out at all. I saw Joe Frazier try to do that in two fights, and he couldn't. But if you can do it in nine I'd say you're the greatest."

Baseball Officials Looking Into Players Popping Pills

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Baseball today became the first major professional sport to organize its team physicians to study whether "pep-pills" and the so-called "ethical" drugs are being widely used by players—and what should be done if they are.

"The concern is with the so-called ethical drugs rather than with narcotics," commented baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn after the announcement that the sport's new Physicians Association will look into "the use and absue of drugs."

'UNDRAMATIC'

Kuhn insisted that the doctors' reports made at the baseball meetings here were "undramatic rather than dramatic" concerning the current usage of drugs by athletes, but he added that "the concern is whether these ethical drugs are being over used."

One team doctor, Dr. Joseph Finegold of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said the pep pills are being used by many athletes and that he expects some players soon will begin having heart attacks while they are playing because pep pills speed up heart action at a time when sport is putting a strain on the heart.

Another team physician said use of such pills by baseball players now is "rather wide spread." He said the general feeling was that it is impossible to control their use by veteran players and that the effort in this direction should be in the area of educating rookies and young players on the dangers of pills by movie films, etc.

The question of drugs was not pinpointed as the reason for the formation of the Physicians Association at the current meetings. The purpose, according to Kuhn, was to "correlate medical information and assist the teams in the treatment of players." But the question of pep pills came quickly to the front in discussions.

The formation of the Physicians Association came as the minor leagues concluded three days of sessions and the major leagues began their three days meeting.

The trading pace slowed and the 12th and 13th deals of the meetings were minor ones—the Atlanta Braves trading catcher Bob Tillman to the Milwaukee Brewers for three players, including outfielder Hank Allen, younger brother of the Dodgers' Richie Allen, all three of them ticketed for the minors; and the Boston Red Sox purchasing utility infielder Phil Gagliano from the Chicago Cubs.

WILHELM

Commissioner Kuhn said he was going to "look with some interest" into one deal consummated at these meetings—the one that brought 47-year-old knuckleball pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm back to the Atlanta Braves from the Cubs along with cash for minor league first baseman Hal Breeden.

It was only back in September that Wilhelm went from the Braves to the Cubs at a time when the Braves had lost any chance at the title in the National League West and the Cubs were battling—in vain, it turned out—for the title in the NL East. Wilhelm made three appearances for the Cubs.

The major leagues had a banquet scheduled tonight at which the winners of new awards were to be announced—Player of the Year, Pitcher of the Year, Defensive Player of the Year, Manager of the Year, and the Player who best typifies the game on and off the field.

Athletic Referendum: Its Role On Campus

BERKELEY (UPI) —University of California students are voting on a referendum which asks if they want to continue allotting part of their registration fees to the athletic budget.

The three-day voting through Friday will only be an advisory for school officials, but still will give an indication as to how students see the role of athletics on campus.

Astro Turf Workout For 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—There should be good footing for the San Francisco 49ers for their games in Candlestick Park next season.

Rained out of their Redwood City practice field Wednesday, the Prospectors worked out at Candlestick Park and found the Astro Turf there still in solid shape.

The Prospectors meet Atlanta in their final Kezar Stadium appearance ever Sunday and though they'll probably be favored, Atlanta has won three of its last four games with San Francisco.

Coach Dick Nolan said that Atlanta has a great defense, five good running backs and a good passer in Bob Berry.

"I think their problem has been turnovers," said Nolan, "and that's also been our problem in the last two games.

"If you're going to win in this league, you must get more turnovers — interceptions and fumbles — than you give up."

Bruins Again Favored To Win NCAA Crown

NEW YORK (UPI) — UCLA should win the national basketball title this season.

The United Press International Board of Coaches made that clear today when it overwhelmingly voted the Uclans the nation's No. 1 favorite for National honors.

UCLA, which won the NCAA title for the fourth straight year last season received 23 of the 26 first place ballots cast by members of the 35-man UPI Coaches Board. The Bruins finished with 25 points to easily outdistance second place South Carolina, which was awarded the remaining three first place ballots.

Jacksonville was third in the tabulation, followed by Kentucky, the defending regular-season national titlist, and Marquette. Notre Dame was sixth, with Pennsylvania, Western Kentucky, Utah State and Southern California completing the top 10.

Slugfest Expected In N.Y. When Raiders Take On Jets

OAKLAND (UPI) — When the Oakland Raiders come to Shea Stadium Sunday to battle New York, it should be another slugfest.

The 1967 meeting, in which Joe Namath's cheekbone was broken, set the pattern and the Raiders-Jets battles since have maintained the lack of decorum.

It was after the 1967 game that offensive tackle Winston Hill proclaimed the Raiders' defensive end, Ben Davidson, football's dirtiest player.

Hill, who takes on Davidson, Wednesday blamed that long ago quote on emotion and called Davidson "a fine competitor and athlete."

Davidson said "offensive linemen usually try to keep you happy. It doesn't pay for them to get you mad."

Davidson said that the Jets line holds worse than any others in the league.

Meanwhile, defense tackle Tom Keating, who missed the game against Detroit last week, is working out with the Raiders again and should be ready for the Jets.

Shelley Hamlin Tries For Fourth Straight

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI) — Stanford coed Shelley Hamlin opened her campaign for a fourth straight California Amateur golf title by breezing to a 6-5 win over Mardel Wilkins of Bell in first round action.

Tourney medalist Joan Damon of Honolulu decisioned Mrs. Ellen Bowering of San Diego 4-3.

The eight survivors battled today.

Palmer Headlines Coral Golf Field

CORAL SPRINGS, Fla. (UPI)—A relaxed and confident Arnold Palmer, still looking for his first win of 1970, headed a field of 144 to tee off today in the $125,000 Coral Springs Open.

Palmer, who finished in a tie for third in the Heritage Classic at Hilton Head, S.C. last week, has not had a winless season since 1955. He said he has no intention of being blanked this year.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Hope was on hand to help launch golf's Tribute to Ike, a $25 million fund-raising campaign to help finance the completion of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Desert, Calif., and Eisenhower College in Seneca Falls, N.Y. Both projects were begun before the death of President Eisenhower in 1969.

The project, intended to reach the nation's 10 million golfers, is under the cosporship of the United States Golf Association and the Professional Golfers Association.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers successfully underwent surgery for a torn achilles tendon Wednesday, leaving only the waiting to see if his professional carees has come to an end.

Bruce Taylor Is No. 1 Punt Return Man

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rookies are making their mark in the National Football Conference this season, according to the latest statistics released Wednesday by the NFL.

The most impressive of the first year men has been Bruce Taylor, a starting cornerback for the San Francisco 49ers who doubles as the NFC's punt return leader. Taylor has returned 34 punts for 445 yards and a 13.1 yard average.

The Philadelphia Eagles' Billy Walik, a rookie from Villanova, ranks 10th in punt returns with a 4.8 yard average but has shown better form on kick off returns where he is fourth in the conference with a 25.4 yard average.

Jets' Woodall Shows Much Improvement

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Jets have the fifth-ranked passer in the American Football Conference, and it's not Joe Namath.

It's Al Woodall, the former Duke star who has been filling in at quarterback for Namath the past six weeks since Broadway Joe broke his right wrist.

Woodall started out slowly, impressing no one with his style, but over the last four weeks he has shown 100 per cent improvement and has become a very capable pro quarterback.

The rangy quarterback played his fourth solid game in a row last Sunday against the Minnesota Vikings, and this week's AFC statistics released Wednesday finds him with the fifth best passing statistic in the conference.

Daryle Lamonica of Oakland continues to lead the quarterbacks with 16 points and rookie Dennis Shaw of Buffalo ranks second with 19½.

Celtics Are Rebuilding Faster Than Expected

By United Press International

The Boston Celtics, may have rebuilt a lot quicker than most people expected.

The Celtics, who finished out of the National Basketball Association playoffs last season for the first time in over a decade, went heavily to youth this season in an effort to rebuild their collapsed dynasty.

Boston seems to have put together a firm foundation. The Celtics capitalized on free throws in the last 10 seconds by John Havlicek and Don Chaney to beat the Los Angeles Lakers 114-111 for their sixth consecutive victory. The triumph left the Celtics with a 15-10 mark this season in second place in the NBA East, four games behind New York.

In the only other NBA action Wednesday night, Detroit romped past New York, 101-82, Phoenix ripped Atlanta 126-102 and Seattle downed Cincinnati 119-111.

Boston led 111-109 when Havlicek was intentionally fouled and converted a free throw. Jerry West's basket cut the Celtics' lead to 121-111 and Chaney tossed in a pair of foul shots after being fouled with three seconds remaining.

Havlicek had 26 points to lead Boston and rookie Dave Cowens had 24. Wilt Chamberlain's 29 points were high for Los Angeles.

REALIST CHARLIE FOX

Giants' Skipper Has Been In Baseball Quite A Spell

By MILTON RICHMAN

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Willie Mays turned up here in the lobby of the hotel where most of the major league baseball people are staying and his mere appearance moved a few of them to say there goes the next manager of the San Francisco Giants.

Charlie Fox, the present one, doesn't lose any sleep over that kind of talk, first of all because there really isn't anything he can do about it and secondly because he's a complete realist.

"I know someone's going to replace me some day," he says. "If it's Willie, great. Whoever the boss picks is okay with me. For the present I'm still manager of the club."

He figures to be for a long time, if you can use this past season as any yardstick. Charlie Fox took over the Giants last May 24th and nobody in the league played better ball than they did after the All-Star break. They won 65 and lost only 27 which is traveling at a .650 clip, or fast enough to win your division except when you happen to get stuck with being in the same one as the Cincinnati Reds.

When Fox was introduced at a luncheon for all the managers Tuesday, Dave Grote, the National League's PR man, said "and here's the manager who had the best record for the last half of the season."

". . . But they don't pay off on that," commented another manager in the audience to a guy sitting alongside him at the table.

Charlie Fox knows they don't.

He wasn't vaccinated yesterday. Thirty of his 49 years on this year have been spent in professional baseball and he has served in practically every capacity from player, scout, business manager, general manager and field manager.

"Sure they don't pay off on half a season but that kind of performance is encouraging because it shows we're starting to jell," he says. "You have to bear in mind that I took the job in late May and we didn't start together. Next season the players and I will and if we can do over a full season what we did over the last half of this past season we can win. I see no reason why we can't."

The two things the Giants can use most are more pitching and a stronger defense. They tried helping themselves in one of those departments by making a bid for veteran shortstop Lou Aparacio but he wound up with the Red Sox when the White Sox asked too much.

"We talked to them but they were outlandish," Fox says.

"You mean they asked for somebody like Bobby Bonds?" a newsman asked the San Francisco manager.

"Plus a coupla guys with him," Fox said. "We would've liked having Aparicio but we didn't push for him. We've got a fine young prospect coming up from Amarillo. His name is Chris Speier. He hit .290 and was the Texas league all-star shortstop this year, and he's only 21. This was only his first year out also."

Charlie Fox spent 12 years managing in the minors at such places as Bristol, Tenn., St. Cloud, Minn., Sunbury, Pa., Tacoma, Wash., and Phoenix, Ariz., but says he learned as much by working four years as a coach under Herman Franks with the Giants.

Fox was named manager of the Giants on a Sunday and when he called his mother in the Bronx she told him she already had heard the news and had just come from mass.

"I hope you said a prayer for me," Charlie said to his mother.

"I've been on my knees for you all my life," she answered him.

Charlie Fox gets a kick telling that little story.

He doesn't look worried at all about his job.

For 38 years our customers have demanded a small economy car with all the luxury and performance of a big expensive car. That taught us a thing or two.

How to build our cars from the inside out, for instance. And not to start big and think down.

How to incorporate expensive engineering features. Like overhead cam engines that give great mileage, quick acceleration and long-term reliability. Exotic 4-wheel fully independent suspensions, because they're the best way to a smooth, road-sticking ride.

And solid unibody construction. Fade-resistant front disc brakes. A lot of things big expensive cars still don't have. Not to mention a lot of small cars.

We learned how to build a complete car for very little money. A car you don't have to jazz up. Or beef up.

Our customers stimulated our determined attention to detail, craftsmanship. They literally drove us into a new dimension of small car quality.

That's why with all seven Datsun models we can lay it on the line and say: Drive a Datsun...then decide.

Palmer Headlines Coral Golf Field

CORAL SPRINGS, Fla. (UPI)—A relaxed and confident Arnold Palmer, still looking for his first win of 1970, headed a field of 144 to tee off today in the $125,000 Coral Springs Open.

Palmer, who finished in a tie for third in the Heritage Classic at Hilton Head, S.C. last week, has not had a winless season since 1955. He said he has no intention of being blanked this year.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Hope was on hand to help launch golf's Tribute to Ike, a $25 million fund-raising campaign to help finance the completion of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Desert, Calif., and Eisenhower College in Seneca Falls, N.Y. Both projects were begun before the death of President Eisenhower in 1969.

The project, intended to reach the nation's 10 million golfers, is under the cosporship of the United States Golf Association and the Professional Golfers Association.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — University of Texas Coach Darrell Royal said Wednesday All-America fullback Steve Worster was "improved," but still listed Worster as doubtful for Saturday's showdown game with Arkansas that will decide the Southwest Conference title and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

Basketball

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers successfully underwent surgery for a torn achilles tendon Wednesday, leaving only the waiting to see if his professional carees has come to an end.

Bruce Taylor Is No. 1 Punt Return Man

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rookies are making their mark in the National Football Conference this season, according to the latest statistics released Wednesday by the NFL.

The most impressive of the first year men has been Bruce Taylor, a starting cornerback for the San Francisco 49ers who doubles as the NFC's punt return leader. Taylor has returned 34 punts for 445 yards and a 13.1 yard average.

The Philadelphia Eagles' Billy Walik, a rookie from Villanova, ranks 10th in punt returns with a 4.8 yard average but has shown better form on kick off returns where he is fourth in the conference with a 25.4 yard average.

Jets' Woodall Shows Much Improvement

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Jets have the fifth-ranked passer in the American Football Conference, and it's not Joe Namath.

It's Al Woodall, the former Duke star who has been filling in at quarterback for Namath the past six weeks since Broadway Joe broke his right wrist.

Woodall started out slowly, impressing no one with his style, but over the last four weeks he has shown 100 per cent improvement and has become a very capable pro quarterback.

The rangy quarterback played his fourth solid game in a row last Sunday against the Minnesota Vikings, and this week's AFC statistics released Wednesday finds him with the fifth best passing statistic in the conference.

Daryle Lamonica of Oakland continues to lead the quarterbacks with 16 points and rookie Dennis Shaw of Buffalo ranks second with 19½.

Celtics Are Rebuilding Faster Than Expected

By United Press International

The Boston Celtics, may have rebuilt a lot quicker than most people expected.

The Celtics, who finished out of the National Basketball Association playoffs last season for the first time in over a decade, went heavily to youth this season in an effort to rebuild their collapsed dynasty.

Boston seems to have put together a firm foundation. The Celtics capitalized on free throws in the last 10 seconds by John Havlicek and Don Chaney to beat the Los Angeles Lakers 114-111 for their sixth consecutive victory. The triumph left the Celtics with a 15-10 mark this season in second place in the NBA East, four games behind New York.

In the only other NBA action Wednesday night, Detroit romped past New York, 101-82, Phoenix ripped Atlanta 126-102 and Seattle downed Cincinnati 119-111.

Boston led 111-109 when Havlicek was intentionally fouled and converted a free throw. Jerry West's basket cut the Celtics' lead to 121-111 and Chaney tossed in a pair of foul shots after being fouled with three seconds remaining.

Havlicek had 26 points to lead Boston and rookie Dave Cowens had 24. Wilt Chamberlain's 29 points were high for Los Angeles.

REALIST CHARLIE FOX

Giants' Skipper Has Been In Baseball Quite A Spell

By MILTON RICHMAN

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Willie Mays turned up here in the lobby of the hotel where most of the major league baseball people are staying and his mere appearance moved a few of them to say there goes the next manager of the San Francisco Giants.

Charlie Fox, the present one, doesn't lose any sleep over that kind of talk, first of all because there really isn't anything he can do about it and secondly because he's a complete realist.

"I know someone's going to replace me some day," he says. "If it's Willie, great. Whoever the boss picks is okay with me. For the present I'm still manager of the club."

He figures to be for a long time, if you can use this past season as any yardstick. Charlie Fox took over the Giants last May 24th and nobody in the league played better ball than they did after the All-Star break. They won 65 and lost only 27 which is traveling at a .650 clip, or fast enough to win your division except when you happen to get stuck with being in the same one as the Cincinnati Reds.

When Fox was introduced at a luncheon for all the managers Tuesday, Dave Grote, the National League's PR man, said "and here's the manager who had the best record for the last half of the season."

". . . But they don't pay off on that," commented another manager in the audience to a guy sitting alongside him at the table.

Charlie Fox knows they don't.

He wasn't vaccinated yesterday. Thirty of his 49 years on this year have been spent in professional baseball and he has served in practically every capacity from player, scout, business manager, general manager and field manager.

"Sure they don't pay off on half a season but that kind of performance is encouraging because it shows we're starting to jell," he says. "You have to bear in mind that I took the job in late May and we didn't start together. Next season the players and I will and if we can do over a full season what we did over the last half of this past season we can win. I see no reason why we can't."

The two things the Giants can use most are more pitching and a stronger defense. They tried helping themselves in one of those departments by making a bid for veteran shortstop Lou Aparacio but he wound up with the Red Sox when the White Sox asked too much.

"We talked to them but they were outlandish," Fox says.

"You mean they asked for somebody like Bobby Bonds?" a newsman asked the San Francisco manager.

"Plus a coupla guys with him," Fox said. "We would've liked having Aparicio but we didn't push for him. We've got a fine young prospect coming up from Amarillo. His name is Chris Speier. He hit .290 and was the Texas league all-star shortstop this year, and he's only 21. This was only his first year out also."

Charlie Fox spent 12 years managing in the minors at such places as Bristol, Tenn., St. Cloud, Minn., Sunbury, Pa., Tacoma, Wash., and Phoenix, Ariz., but says he learned as much by working four years as a coach under Herman Franks with the Giants.

Fox was named manager of the Giants on a Sunday and when he called his mother in the Bronx she told him she already had heard the news and had just come from mass.

"I hope you said a prayer for me," Charlie said to his mother.

"I've been on my knees for you all my life," she answered him.

Charlie Fox gets a kick telling that little story.

He doesn't look worried at all about his job.

Drive a Datsun then decide

For 38 years our customers have demanded a small economy car with all the luxury and performance of a big expensive car. That taught us a thing or two.
How to build our cars from the inside out, for instance. And not to start big and think down.
How to incorporate expensive engineering features. Like overhead cam engines that give great mileage, quick acceleration and long-term reliability. Exotic 4-wheel fully independent suspensions, because they're the best way to a smooth, road-sticking ride.
And solid unibody construction. Fade-resistant front disc brakes. A lot of things big expensive cars still don't have. Not to mention a lot of small cars.
We learned how to build a complete car for very little money. A car you don't have to jazz up. Or beef up.
Our customers stimulated our determined attention to detail, craftsmanship. They literally drove us into a new dimension of small car quality.
That's why with all seven Datsun models we can lay it on the line and say: Drive a Datsun...then decide.

Seven ways to go!

Lighthearted Brodie Holding Four Aces

SAN FRANCISCO — In the tacky, steamy dressing room at Kezar Stadium that looks like something out of the moleskin era that Knute Rockne just left, John Riley Brodie, the quarterback, sat naked and started to sidestep a room full of blitzing reporters' questions.

In the other dressing room, the Rams were audibly awarding game balls by the box to various individuals, and their organized cheering could be thinly heard through the cracking plaster walls. The scoreboard lights outside read: "Rams 30, 49ers 13." Outside in the runway, a fan bounced a bottle off a bald-headed cop's head. The 49er fans, who had hurried through the rain a few hours before toting their thermos' full of martinis and six packs, and signs which read "Gabriel Go Ram Your Horn," and "A Ram Is Just a Big Goat," and "They're Not Men, They're From Los Angeles," were going home once more with a sour taste of frustration and defeat.

LOSING quarterbacks are supposed to sit in the corner and sob, or have to be restrained from cutting their wrists, or announcing their retirement. But John Riley Brodie, vanquished, does not behave any differently from John Riley Brodie, victor. Brodie always looks as if he is holding four aces, anyway. It is an attitude which has baffled some coaches, infuriated others, and, in the sometimes sophomoric world of football journalism, tends to obscure the fact that John Brodie is as good as or better than any quarterback in the National Football League — even if he doesn't smash lockers in defeat.

John R. Brodie is as lighthearted as the gambler who entered the game with 20 borrowed dollars, ran it up to $200,000 then quietly tapped out, and, when someone said, "How did it go?" answered, "I just lost 20 bucks."

"WAS THAT ball slippery out there today?" Someone wanted to know. Brodie smiled. "No, it just looked that way the way I was throwing." Did the fact the Rams kept him bottled in his own 10-yard line most of the second half take away the "bomb," the midfield pass to a sprinting flanker? "Midfield?" asked Brodie. "What was the weather like up there?"

John Brodie completed 20 passes out of 36. One was for a touchdown, but the two key completions were to a pesky, undersized player, aptly named "Nettles." Jimmy Nettles must hold the league record for interceptions by a 5-10 cornerback. Only three 49er receivers caught more of Brodie's passes than Jimmy Nettles.

"WHAT KIND of a pass was it Nettles intercepted?" a guy with a notebook wanted to know. "A spiral," answered Brodie. "Was he open?" somebody cracked. "No," said Brodie, "he caught it in a crowd. Sometimes you have to give a receiver credit." "He hasn't been in the league very long. Didn't you recognize him?" Someone else wanted to know. "The second time I did. The face was familiar. So was the football. Of course, I've been intercepted by so many. It's not exactly a key club."

John Brodie has been intercepted 181 times. But John Brodie has thrown 178 touchdowns and has completed 2,051 passes in his 14 years in the NFL.

HE DOESN'T need the money. He once signed with the Houston Oilers of the old AFL for three-quarters of a million dollars and, when the merger was effected, Brodie sent the league into a prevent defense. Constitutionally, he fell someplace between Dred Scott and Uncle Tom's Cabin, and he's the only guy in the game who is paid by the 49ers to play, and the disbanded AFL not to play (they share in paying off his promised money on a yearly basis). He's the athletic equivalent of the farmer who gets paid not to plant.

NFL quarterbacks are supposed to come from Texas Tech or Ole Miss or someplace where they learn to throw hitting squirrels with boulders. Brodie came from Stanford, which is the next worst thing to coming from Harvard. The writer, Arnold Hano, once described John as being a "graduate of the school of soft knocks." Daddy, for example, was a stockbroker.

EVEN AT Stanford, where he went without a scholarship, the coach used to have to go down and get John out of the poker or bridge games or the penny-pitching in the Quad. In another era, John probably would have played the riverboats instead of the Packers.

When John Brodie first came up to the 49ers, he was good enough to alternate with Y. A. Tittle, no less, and in fact, to take his job away. Joe Perry was still in the backfield, so was Hugh McElhenny, Billy Wilson, and R.C. Owens.

"Are the linebackers any different now," John was asked. "How do you tell one line from another?" he answered. "Do you run any faster now?" "No, but I'm not any slower." An onlooker whispered: "John says they put him on instant replay in a first-half run once, and, by the time they got back to live action, the post-game show was on."

AND JOHN BRODIE, professional quarterback, amateur golfer, bridge player, Stanford man, San Franciscan, a relic of the days when the game was played by gentlemen and scholars on their days off, picked up a towel and sauntered to the shower. And "to do a Brodie" still means to take a big chance, and, if it fails, shrug it off and call for a new deck.

Lions, Raiders 49ers Favored

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI) — Nevada oddsmakers have listed the Detroit Lions as five-point favorites over the St. Louis Cards in the upcoming battle of divisional powerhouses.

Harrah's Tahoe Racebook also and San Francisco 49ers should win their next games. The Raiders were one touchdown favorites over the revitalized New York Jets while San Francisco was given an eight-point edge over Atlanta.

Other pro odds:

Green Bay over Pittsburgh by 1; San Diego over Cincinnati by 3 1-2; Cleveland over Houston by 3 1-2; Baltimore over Philadelphia by 7; Dallas over Washington by 7; Kansas City over Denver by 9; Miami over Boston by 12; New York Giants over Buffalo by 13 and Los Angeles over New Orleans by 15.

THE SKI SCENE

From Gambling To Skiing Runs

By Charlie Coane

At the doorstep of a flock of gambling establishments at South Lake Tahoe lies Heavenly Valley — a vast complex of skiing runs that spills into both California and Nevada. It offers the unique opportunity of winning back the entire cost of your skiing weekend, or — depending upon the crank of a handle, the turn of a card or the roll of the dice — blowing a month's salary! And it's right there, almost within walking distance of the lodge.

As you pull into the Heavenly Valley parking lot for the first time, the mountain presents an imposing figure. Staring you right in the face is the Gunbarrel Run — something more than a novice playhill. But the area is not all that way. In fact, beginner, intermediate and expert runs abound.

Most of the development this season at Heavenly Valley has been on the Nevada side of the mountain. An Olympic Downhill Run is about three-fourths complete and is now three miles long. One mile in addition will be cleared by next season, completing the run.

Other activities for this season include the clearing of many new trails on the Nevada side and the operating of the ski school under the direction of veteran Pepi Greimeister on both the California and Nevada sides. Food, ski rentals and ticket sales are also available this season on the Nevada side. For those concerned about the financial situation (and who isn't) when you step up to the ticket booth, $8 again will be the rate for the daily adult ticket. Most areas have upped their rates 50 cents this season. But at Heavenly, boss Hugh Killebrew held the line. If you're really the hearty, outdoor type and would like to stroll through the snow-filled peaks on skis, Heavenly offers ski touring, too. And for racing fans, check the FIS World Cup races Feb. 25-28.

PERCHED AT Donner Summit on Interstate 80 is a relatively new area, Boreal Ridge. The area does not attempt to compete with giants like Squaw and Heavenly for the expert skiers, but rather aims primarily for families, and intermediate and beginning skiers. And Boreal has advantages. First, the Boreal lift rate is $6.50 weekends and $5 weekdays for an adult, all-day ticket. The area is as easy to drive to as any — only three hours from downtown San Francisco.

Boreal has added a fourth chairlift this season, and the lift is right in front of the lodge. The new Brown chair parallels the Blue chair and runs 1,300 feet to the top of a gentle slope. This enables beginners to use a chair instead of a poma lift and pomas can be tiring and discouraging to first time skiers. Night skiing began a few years ago at Boreal, and that unusual aspect of skiing takes place Thursday through Sunday, 4:30 - 10 p.m. Of course there are lights! And manager Jay Price has cleared the meadow at the bottom of the hill for non-skiing snow players to bounce around on innertubes and saucers.

Water Polo Win For Tamalpais

It took overtimes but Tamalpais High School finally prevailed over Drake, 5-4, Tuesday in Marin County Athletic League water polo action.

Hugh Cruickshank scored tieing and winning goals for Tam.

THE SKI SCENE

From Gambling To Skiing Runs

By Charlie Coane

At the doorstep of a flock of gambling establishments at South Lake Tahoe lies Heavenly Valley — a vast complex of skiing runs that spills into both California and Nevada. It offers the unique opportunity of winning back the entire cost of your skiing weekend, or — depending upon the crank of a handle, the turn of a card or the roll of the dice — blowing a month's salary! And it's right there, almost within walking distance of the lodge.

As you pull into the Heavenly Valley parking lot for the first time, the mountain presents an imposing figure. Staring you right in the face is the Gunbarrel Run — something more than a novice playhill. But the area is not all that way. In fact, beginner, intermediate and expert runs abound.

Most of the development this season at Heavenly Valley has been on the Nevada side of the mountain. An Olympic Downhill Run is about three-fourths complete and is now three miles long. One mile in addition will be cleared by next season, completing the run.

Other activities for this season include the clearing of many new trails on the Nevada side and the operating of the ski school under the direction of veteran Pepi Greimeister on both the California and Nevada sides. Food, ski rentals and ticket sales are also available this season on the Nevada side. For those concerned about the financial situation (and who isn't) when you step up to the ticket booth, $8 again will be the rate for the daily adult ticket. Most areas have upped their rates 50 cents this season. But at Heavenly, boss Hugh Killebrew held the line. If you're really the hearty, outdoor type and would like to stroll through the snow-filled peaks on skis, Heavenly offers ski touring, too. And for racing fans, check the FIS World Cup races Feb. 25-28.

PERCHED AT Donner Summit on Interstate 80 is a relatively new area, Boreal Ridge. The area does not attempt to compete with giants like Squaw and Heavenly for the expert skiers, but rather aims primarily for families, and intermediate and beginning skiers. And Boreal has advantages. First, the Boreal lift rate is $6.50 weekends and $5 weekdays for an adult, all-day ticket. The area is as easy to drive to as any — only three hours from downtown San Francisco.

Boreal has added a fourth chairlift this season, and the lift is right in front of the lodge. The new Brown chair parallels the Blue chair and runs 1,300 feet to the top of a gentle slope. This enables beginners to use a chair instead of a poma lift and pomas can be tiring and discouraging to first time skiers. Night skiing began a few years ago at Boreal, and that unusual aspect of skiing takes place Thursday through Sunday, 4:30 - 10 p.m. Of course there are lights! And manager Jay Price has cleared the meadow at the bottom of the hill for non-skiing snow players to bounce around on innertubes and saucers.

Water Polo Win For Tamalpais

It took overtimes but Tamalpais High School finally prevailed over Drake, 5-4, Tuesday in Marin County Athletic League water polo action.

Hugh Cruickshank scored tieing and winning goals for Tam.

'Erotic Film Festival' Picked Right Location

As the "First International Erotic Film Festival" opened at the Presidio Theater in San Francisco this week, two trials were under way in San Francisco City Hall of persons accused of outraging public decency by showing pornographic films.

Police Sgt. Sol Weiner, who has spent four of his 20 years on the San Francisco force in anti-smut investigation, testified as an expert witness at one of the trials.

HIS TESTIMONY, as reported in the San Francisco daily which calls itself the "Voice of the West," was that " 'adult' movies have become at least a $5 million a year business in California in less than two years."

It further reported the sergeant's testimony:

"As recently as 1968, he said, there were no theaters openly showing hard-core sex films in California.

"Now there are at least 125, including 22 to 24 in San Francisco. And the annual take is at least $5 million, perhaps as much as $10 million."

NONE OF THIS could have been surprising to the "Voice of the West." Fifteen of those 22 to 24 San Francisco pornography theaters had display advertisements in its same editions which carried Weiner's testimony. Some samples of their messages:

"See why the Screening Room enjoys the reputation as the undisputed leader of quality erotica in the United States."

"Showing everything claimed by all the others! Unrestrained graphic sexual expression."

"The degree of explicitness and freedom exercised in 'Mona' is unprecedented. It makes the so-called stag movies passe."

"The stag master scores again!"

One out-of-town "stag house" was also represented: "In San Mateo we don't mess around! Live and on-screen adult fun."

THE "VOICE OF THE WEST" is not the only newspaper benefitting from the $5 million (or $10 million) California pornographic film business. The leading newspaper in Sacramento on the same day carried a half dozen "hard core" movie advertisements, with messages such as "Film to stagger the imagination! 'Four Women in Trouble' " and, "This picture is only for the super sizzling hard core adult film buff of Sacramento."

There is little discernable difference between such advertising and that which appears in the so-called "underground press."

In this atmosphere of what appears to be public approval, the "First International Erotic Film Festival" would seem likely to be a huge success in San Francisco. And perhaps Sacramento, striving for a greater share of the smut market, may be able to capture the "Second International Erotic Film Festival."

Governors 'Freeze' Orders Can Only Put Dent In Deficit

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — After hearing Gov. Ronald Reagan lay out the fiscal situation to his department heads today, we are more than ever glad we did not decide to run for governor of California.

An economy governor, Reagan is faced with a deficit that more operating economies in government admittedly can only dent.

An opponent of increased taxation, he is faced with dwindling receipts under the present tax structure because of the continuing business and industrial slump.

THE IMPENDING deficit, estimated at about $300 million, is mostly made up of a combination of those decreasing tax receipts and large increases in the costs of welfare and medi-Cal.

Reductions in welfare and medi-Cal costs are in order as the governor sees it, and has seen it for some time. His targets are what he considers to be excessive costs in these two items.

At the same time, and also because of the economic slump, the welfare caseload is increasing and those on welfare are eligible for medi-Cal benefits.

Finance Director Verne Orr told the department heads and assembled reporters that 18,000 to 20,000 people a month are being added to the welfare rolls in Los Angeles County alone.

We suspect that the determination to "do something about welfare" increases in direct proportion to the remoteness with which one regards his own chances of losing his paycheck.

And so public support for cutting the fat out of welfare and medi-Cal may depend on a showing that it is really only fat that is being trimmed and that welfare and medi-Cal will still be able to furnish an economic cushion for those who up until the time of their unemployment have paid in their tax money to support them.

ORR ANNOUNCED a freeze in state hiring and freezes on contracts and other items supported by the general fund. He announced also a freeze on purchase of equipment, including new cars, typewriters and other equipment.

He said no layoffs in state jobs were expected, but that the job freeze would cut the work force through the normal attrition of retirements and resignations.

To capitol observers, this is a replay of 1967, when the same kind of orders went into effect. Even though they entail the risk of reducing the efficiency of state operations, such reductions can only make up about $50 million at best of the projected deficit.

Which would appear to leave the solution somewhere between increased taxes and welfare and medi-Cal cuts.

As we said, we are glad we don't have to walk that tightrope.

City Should Buy Courthouse Square

I see by your newspaper that the old county courthouse is up for sale again. I think that San Rafael City should purchase it from the county, and keep the park and the buildings for use by the citizens. This square gives the otherwise nondescript city a center, a heart, a personality.

The buliding could be used for civic purposes: reaction, senior citizen activities, youth programs, gymnasium, and meeting hall by clubs, etc. The $700,000 purchase price is not prohibitive for a city the size of San Rafael.

Or, why don't you or the chamber of commerce — or a group of citizens — initiate a fund for the purchase, and call on all citizens to contribute to it? Alternatively, why not appeal to the county to sell it to the city for $1?

It would be a loss to the citizens to have this oasis in a desert of dull business buildings disappear, to be replaced by just a few mose buildings dedicated to the profit of a handful of businessmen.

Need Understanding In Zoning Fuss

Your editorial of Nov. 30 indicates a possible misunderstanding of the actions taken by the City of San Anselmo, relating to zoning and building violations on the properties of Mrs. Gay Kagy and Mr. William D. Howey.

The city's actions are not, in any way, a commencement of a drive to eliminate legal non-conforming multiple dwelling uses in single-family zones. they are simply the continuation of enforcement policies which have been followed by the city since the inception of our zoning ordinance. . .

As you point out, the property which has received the greatest attention is that of Mrs. Kagy. The facts of this case should be clarified. Prior to the construction of her second unit, Mrs. Kagy asked whether such a unit could be constructed on her property. She was informed that under the present zoning, an additional living unit could not be built. Subsequently, the unit was added with full knowledge that it was illegal and without benefit of a building permit, hence, without inspection to ascertain compliance with health and safety provisions of our building code.

While the city has, for a number of years, been aware of the developing problem of inadequate housing, particularly for low-income people, the city does not feel that it is prudent to resolve such a complex problem by the simplistic solution of discontinuing enforcement of our zoning law.

The realization of this problem was a major reason for our request for federal funds to assist us in a new and expanded planning program including a housing element. We are proceeding to the best of our ability to obtain solutions in a proper and prudent way, and changes to our zoning ordinance may well be a product of this study. . .

The list of 150 or 200 homes mentioned in your editorial, and over and over again in the press, was prepared in 1959 under the direction of the city council as part of a land use survey. It included known legal non-conforming uses (uses predating the zoning ordinance) as well as uses which were considered questionable. It was not then, and it is not now, used as a tool for abatement . . . It is not known by the city what number of illegal uses do exist. . .

It is my hope that through the steps we are taking and with the help of our citizens, solutions can be found which will provide a wide range of housing in San Anselmo.

Teacher Salary Figured By Hour

This letter is not a direct reply to the person from Novato who recently complained in the Independent-Journal about exorbitant teacher salaries, for it would be quite futile to discuss the matter with one so obviously lacking in objectivity. I do think, however, that the oft-repeated statement and widely held view that school teachers are greedy, overpaid, underworked sappers of the public treasury should be balanced by the facts which pertain to this situation.

Now at first glance, $14,000 for 9½ months' work seems like quite a high salary. But when we get down to the actual pay per hour worked an entirely different picture emerges. Teachers are required to give their districts at least 180 days of service per year. The typical day consists of 7½ hours (8:15 a.m.—3:45 p.m.) of school attendance. It is no exaggeration to maintain, however, that before school, lunch, after school duties, meetings, papers taken home for grading conferences, counseling, etc., that the actual working day is at least nine hours. Nine X 180 equals 1620 hours; $14,000 ÷ 1620 equals $8.64 per hour.

But wait. This is what a teacher grosses when he is at the top of his profession, after 12 to 14 years of service to a district and enough graduate study to earn a master's degree twice over. When he begins, he will receive less than $7,000, or less than $4.32 per hour. (The county pays road maintenance personnel $3.84)!

These rates are like nothing compared to the $10-18 per hour the teacher pays the carpenter, plumber, electrician, car mechanic, or TV repair man. As for the other learned professions, medicine, law, engineering — I will refrain from quoting comparison figures out of compassion for the teacher. Please keep in mind that these are gross figures. Withholding retirement, hospitalization, insurances, professional society dues and assessments, and other incidentals concerned with a profession reduce a teacher's take home pay accordingly.

As for fringe benefits I cannot speak for other districts; my district pays up to $240 per year —less than $5 per week.

Permissiveness Helps Britain Control Marginal Drug Culture

LONDON — Thanks to Spiro Agnew, permissiveness is a dirty word. Yet the permissive approach to the drug problem in Britain is one reason it is divorced in large measure from criminality .

Heroin addicts go once a week to a health clinic where they are registered. They are given a card which they take each day to a pharmacy to receive their daily fix. In this way the standard of the drug is insured and the possibility of death from an overdose greatly reduced.

With only about 3,000 addicts, the scope of the problem is nothing like that in the United States, where in New York alone there are estimated to be 100,000 heroin users.

If the fix is free and available, there is no need to rob and mug for the $60 or $70 a day that the American addict pays. Britain has no built-in ghettos from which the drug culutre can spread. Nor, although Scotland Yard has crossed fingers, is there a Mafia to carry an illegal wholesale traffic.

THE USE of marijuana is spreading rapidly and Parliament is moving to reduce the penalties for possession and use. Penalties under the present law are stiff, with jail sentences up to five and 10 years. But in 1969, of the 4,683 convictions under the drug act, 85 per cent got six months in jail or fines and then the sentence was suspended.

One guess is 300,000 pot smokers, a number varying as users go on and off the stuff. The concentrated resin of the canabis plant used here is far more powerful than the marijuana widely used in the United States. Pakistan, Lebanon and Cyprus are the chief sources of supply, with an organized traffic smuggling it through the ports.

While pamphlets pour out of one commission or another, just as in America, very little research has been done on the effects of the prolonged use of marijuana.

A lobby has grown up here advocating legalizing the sale and use of marijuana. With little effect on public opinion, it is fading away. Others believe stern penalties should be applied. They speak for the stiffening attitude that coincides with the advent of the Conservative government. It is reflected in the outcries against the spread of pornography and nudity on the stage. The revolt is against a swinging Britain and the excesses of Carnaby Street, of which the drug bit is a part.

SCOTLAND YARD suspects that LSD and amphetamines are coming in from the United States. This may represent a form of barter for the hashish that appears to be cheap and relatively plentiful here.

A serious concern is over pill popping in the schools. Teachers know so little about the problem that they resort to expulsion of a student caught exchanging any kind of pill on the playground. This drastic punishment is, in effect, a life sentence, since further education becomes all but impossible in a crowded land where competition is intense and the individual is fitted into a frame of meticulous record-keeping.

Authorities concerned with the drug culture see motives as mixed. One, as with alcohol, is the desire for relaxation and the illusion of ease and well-being. Escape is less common than in the United States where the ghetto dweller flees the intolerable conditions of his life. Most users in Britain are middle or upper-middle class.

THE DRUG CULTURE here can be said to be still marginal. How far it will go no one can say. Looking across the Atlantic, observers here see drugs as a monster threatening the future of America. An article in the New Statesman reports that legalization of marijuana is so likely a prospect that American tobacco companies have bought up great tracts of land in Mexico where the stuff grows like grass. They are copyrighting trade names such as "Mexican Gold." This, if true, is permissiveness, American private-enterprise style.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Stalin, Molotov Memoirs May Hold Real Secrets

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—If the alleged memoirs of former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev being published abroad have generated a global sensation, other memoirs exist which someday will prove infinitely more interesting.

Among them are the reminiscences of Josef V. Stalin himself and those of his right-hand man, the 80 year-old Vyacheslav M. Molotov, onetime premier, foreign minister and one of the few surviving old Bolsheviks whose career spanned more than half a century.

NO OFFICIAL information can be obtained about Stalin's memoirs. But in the past few years there have been intimations that the man who for 30 years was the absolute ruler of his country put down at least part of his extraordinary experience on paper.

In complete retirement since 1961, Molotov, who early in his political life was described by Vladimir I. Lenin as the "best filing clerk in Russia," has an elephantine memory and has been walking the corridors of supreme Soviet power since the 1917 revolution.

He was reported reliably to have completed his menoirs about two years ago.

The tales he could tell would dwarf everything Khrushchev said into relative insignificance.

CURIOUSLY ENOUGH there probably would have been no memoirs at all if there had been no Khrushchev. Memoirs in Stalin's lifetime were inconceivable.

In his devastating indictment of Stalin at the 20th and 22nd Communist party congresses of 1956 and 1961, Khrushchev requested and encouraged old Bolsheviks and military leaders who had been victimized by Stalin to share their experiences with the people.

The first to appear in print were memoirs of Lenin's close co-workers who attempted to rectify the record since Stalin had minimized the founding father's role in history and inflated his own.

There were also a series of grim realistic descriptions of the Stalin era terror exemplified by the memoirs of Gen. Alexander Gorbatov and journalist Yevgenia Ginzburg.

THEN CAME the memoirs of the generals, best known of which were those of Russia's most eminent soldier, onetime Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

The early memoirs of the generals tended to be critical of Stalin's failure to prepare the country for war, but the later ones did not go much into this subject. They tended to emphasize Stalin's competent conduct of the war effort—on which subject Khrushchev was highly emotional and prejudiced. But Stalin was not otherwise rehabilitated.

IT IS AN interesting paradox that a contraband account of what is presented as Khrushchev's memoirs first has been published abroad.

Observers here generally assume that whatever reminiscences Khrushchev may have written, he did not intend to publish them abroad first and had no hand in their transmission to foreign publishers.

Reductions in welfare and medi-Cal costs are in order as the governor sees it, and has seen it for some time. His targets are what he considers to be excessive costs in these two items.

At the same time, and also because of the economic slump, the welfare caseload is increasing and those on welfare are eligible for medi-Cal benefits.

Finance Director Verne Orr told the department heads and assembled reporters that 18,000 to 20,000 people a month are being added to the welfare rolls in Los Angeles County alone.

We suspect that the determination to "do something about welfare" increases in direct proportion to the remoteness with which one regards his own chances of losing his paycheck.

And so public support for cutting the fat out of welfare and medi-Cal may depend on a showing that it is really only fat that is being trimmed and that welfare and medi-Cal will still be able to furnish an economic cushion for those who up until the time of their unemployment have paid in their tax money to support them.

ORR ANNOUNCED a freeze in state hiring and freezes on contracts and other items supported by the general fund. He announced also a freeze on purchase of equipment, including new cars, typewriters and other equipment.

He said no layoffs in state jobs were expected, but that the job freeze would cut the work force through the normal attrition of retirements and resignations.

To capitol observers, this is a replay of 1967, when the same kind of orders went into effect. Even though they entail the risk of reducing the efficiency of state operations, such reductions can only make up about $50 million at best of the projected deficit.

Which would appear to leave the solution somewhere between increased taxes and welfare and medi-Cal cuts.

As we said, we are glad we don't have to walk that tightrope.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

City Should Buy Courthouse Square

I see by your newspaper that the old county courthouse is up for sale again. I think that San Rafael City should purchase it from the county, and keep the park and the buildings for use by the citizens. This square gives the otherwise nondescript city a center, a heart, a personality.

The buliding could be used for civic purposes: reaction, senior citizen activities, youth programs, gymnasium, and meeting hall by clubs, etc. The $700,000 purchase price is not prohibitive for a city the size of San Rafael.

Or, why don't you or the chamber of commerce — or a group of citizens — initiate a fund for the purchase, and call on all citizens to contribute to it? Alternatively, why not appeal to the county to sell it to the city for $1?

It would be a loss to the citizens to have this oasis in a desert of dull business buildings disappear, to be replaced by just a few mose buildings dedicated to the profit of a handful of businessmen.

Need Understanding In Zoning Fuss

Your editorial of Nov. 30 indicates a possible misunderstanding of the actions taken by the City of San Anselmo, relating to zoning and building violations on the properties of Mrs. Gay Kagy and Mr. William D. Howey.

The city's actions are not, in any way, a commencement of a drive to eliminate legal non-conforming multiple dwelling uses in single-family zones. they are simply the continuation of enforcement policies which have been followed by the city since the inception of our zoning ordinance. . .

As you point out, the property which has received the greatest attention is that of Mrs. Kagy. The facts of this case should be clarified. Prior to the construction of her second unit, Mrs. Kagy asked whether such a unit could be constructed on her property. She was informed that under the present zoning, an additional living unit could not be built. Subsequently, the unit was added with full knowledge that it was illegal and without benefit of a building permit, hence, without inspection to ascertain compliance with health and safety provisions of our building code.

While the city has, for a number of years, been aware of the developing problem of inadequate housing, particularly for low-income people, the city does not feel that it is prudent to resolve such a complex problem by the simplistic solution of discontinuing enforcement of our zoning law.

The realization of this problem was a major reason for our request for federal funds to assist us in a new and expanded planning program including a housing element. We are proceeding to the best of our ability to obtain solutions in a proper and prudent way, and changes to our zoning ordinance may well be a product of this study. . .

The list of 150 or 200 homes mentioned in your editorial, and over and over again in the press, was prepared in 1959 under the direction of the city council as part of a land use survey. It included known legal non-conforming uses (uses predating the zoning ordinance) as well as uses which were considered questionable. It was not then, and it is not now, used as a tool for abatement . . . It is not known by the city what number of illegal uses do exist. . .

It is my hope that through the steps we are taking and with the help of our citizens, solutions can be found which will provide a wide range of housing in San Anselmo.

Teacher Salary Figured By Hour

This letter is not a direct reply to the person from Novato who recently complained in the Independent-Journal about exorbitant teacher salaries, for it would be quite futile to discuss the matter with one so obviously lacking in objectivity. I do think, however, that the oft-repeated statement and widely held view that school teachers are greedy, overpaid, underworked sappers of the public treasury should be balanced by the facts which pertain to this situation.

Now at first glance, $14,000 for 9½ months' work seems like quite a high salary. But when we get down to the actual pay per hour worked an entirely different picture emerges. Teachers are required to give their districts at least 180 days of service per year. The typical day consists of 7½ hours (8:15 a.m.—3:45 p.m.) of school attendance. It is no exaggeration to maintain, however, that before school, lunch, after school duties, meetings, papers taken home for grading conferences, counseling, etc., that the actual working day is at least nine hours. Nine X 180 equals 1620 hours; $14,000 ÷ 1620 equals $8.64 per hour.

But wait. This is what a teacher grosses when he is at the top of his profession, after 12 to 14 years of service to a district and enough graduate study to earn a master's degree twice over. When he begins, he will receive less than $7,000, or less than $4.32 per hour. (The county pays road maintenance personnel $3.84)!

These rates are like nothing compared to the $10-18 per hour the teacher pays the carpenter, plumber, electrician, car mechanic, or TV repair man. As for the other learned professions, medicine, law, engineering — I will refrain from quoting comparison figures out of compassion for the teacher. Please keep in mind that these are gross figures. Withholding retirement, hospitalization, insurances, professional society dues and assessments, and other incidentals concerned with a profession reduce a teacher's take home pay accordingly.

As for fringe benefits I cannot speak for other districts; my district pays up to $240 per year —less than $5 per week.

Permissiveness Helps Britain Control Marginal Drug Culture

LONDON — Thanks to Spiro Agnew, permissiveness is a dirty word. Yet the permissive approach to the drug problem in Britain is one reason it is divorced in large measure from criminality .

Heroin addicts go once a week to a health clinic where they are registered. They are given a card which they take each day to a pharmacy to receive their daily fix. In this way the standard of the drug is insured and the possibility of death from an overdose greatly reduced.

With only about 3,000 addicts, the scope of the problem is nothing like that in the United States, where in New York alone there are estimated to be 100,000 heroin users.

If the fix is free and available, there is no need to rob and mug for the $60 or $70 a day that the American addict pays. Britain has no built-in ghettos from which the drug culutre can spread. Nor, although Scotland Yard has crossed fingers, is there a Mafia to carry an illegal wholesale traffic.

THE USE of marijuana is spreading rapidly and Parliament is moving to reduce the penalties for possession and use. Penalties under the present law are stiff, with jail sentences up to five and 10 years. But in 1969, of the 4,683 convictions under the drug act, 85 per cent got six months in jail or fines and then the sentence was suspended.

One guess is 300,000 pot smokers, a number varying as users go on and off the stuff. The concentrated resin of the canabis plant used here is far more powerful than the marijuana widely used in the United States. Pakistan, Lebanon and Cyprus are the chief sources of supply, with an organized traffic smuggling it through the ports.

While pamphlets pour out of one commission or another, just as in America, very little research has been done on the effects of the prolonged use of marijuana.

A lobby has grown up here advocating legalizing the sale and use of marijuana. With little effect on public opinion, it is fading away. Others believe stern penalties should be applied. They speak for the stiffening attitude that coincides with the advent of the Conservative government. It is reflected in the outcries against the spread of pornography and nudity on the stage. The revolt is against a swinging Britain and the excesses of Carnaby Street, of which the drug bit is a part.

SCOTLAND YARD suspects that LSD and amphetamines are coming in from the United States. This may represent a form of barter for the hashish that appears to be cheap and relatively plentiful here.

A serious concern is over pill popping in the schools. Teachers know so little about the problem that they resort to expulsion of a student caught exchanging any kind of pill on the playground. This drastic punishment is, in effect, a life sentence, since further education becomes all but impossible in a crowded land where competition is intense and the individual is fitted into a frame of meticulous record-keeping.

Authorities concerned with the drug culture see motives as mixed. One, as with alcohol, is the desire for relaxation and the illusion of ease and well-being. Escape is less common than in the United States where the ghetto dweller flees the intolerable conditions of his life. Most users in Britain are middle or upper-middle class.

THE DRUG CULTURE here can be said to be still marginal. How far it will go no one can say. Looking across the Atlantic, observers here see drugs as a monster threatening the future of America. An article in the New Statesman reports that legalization of marijuana is so likely a prospect that American tobacco companies have bought up great tracts of land in Mexico where the stuff grows like grass. They are copyrighting trade names such as "Mexican Gold." This, if true, is permissiveness, American private-enterprise style.

Stalin, Molotov Memoirs May Hold Real Secrets

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—If the alleged memoirs of former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev being published abroad have generated a global sensation, other memoirs exist which someday will prove infinitely more interesting.

Among them are the reminiscences of Josef V. Stalin himself and those of his right-hand man, the 80 year-old Vyacheslav M. Molotov, onetime premier, foreign minister and one of the few surviving old Bolsheviks whose career spanned more than half a century.

NO OFFICIAL information can be obtained about Stalin's memoirs. But in the past few years there have been intimations that the man who for 30 years was the absolute ruler of his country put down at least part of his extraordinary experience on paper.

In complete retirement since 1961, Molotov, who early in his political life was described by Vladimir I. Lenin as the "best filing clerk in Russia," has an elephantine memory and has been walking the corridors of supreme Soviet power since the 1917 revolution.

He was reported reliably to have completed his menoirs about two years ago.

The tales he could tell would dwarf everything Khrushchev said into relative insignificance.

CURIOUSLY ENOUGH there probably would have been no memoirs at all if there had been no Khrushchev. Memoirs in Stalin's lifetime were inconceivable.

In his devastating indictment of Stalin at the 20th and 22nd Communist party congresses of 1956 and 1961, Khrushchev requested and encouraged old Bolsheviks and military leaders who had been victimized by Stalin to share their experiences with the people.

The first to appear in print were memoirs of Lenin's close co-workers who attempted to rectify the record since Stalin had minimized the founding father's role in history and inflated his own.

There were also a series of grim realistic descriptions of the Stalin era terror exemplified by the memoirs of Gen. Alexander Gorbatov and journalist Yevgenia Ginzburg.

THEN CAME the memoirs of the generals, best known of which were those of Russia's most eminent soldier, onetime Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

The early memoirs of the generals tended to be critical of Stalin's failure to prepare the country for war, but the later ones did not go much into this subject. They tended to emphasize Stalin's competent conduct of the war effort—on which subject Khrushchev was highly emotional and prejudiced. But Stalin was not otherwise rehabilitated.

IT IS AN interesting paradox that a contraband account of what is presented as Khrushchev's memoirs first has been published abroad.

Observers here generally assume that whatever reminiscences Khrushchev may have written, he did not intend to publish them abroad first and had no hand in their transmission to foreign publishers.

Almost-Forgotten One-Way Street Plan May Be Due For Revival

In June, 1969, D. Jackson Faustman, a Sacramento traffic consultant, submitted to the San Rafael City Council a plan to speed the flow of downtown traffic. After a public hearing at which the proposal was greeted with mixed reaction from merchants, the plan was shelved.

And despite worsening traffic, that's where the plan remains 18 months later, although there's a hint relief for the motorist may be in sight.

FAUSTMAN'S PLAN called for making several downtown streets, including Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue, one-way, as well as constructing an underground parking garage at the courthouse square.

The proposal was greeted enthusiastically by several downtown merchants, but opposed by West End businessmen who feared economic ruin or outright elimination because Faustman envisioned cutting a new street in the G Street area to link Fifth and Fourth. The concerns were voiced at a public hearing before the city council on July 22, 1969 — and that was the last time the council formally discussed the Faustman plan.

But Norris M. Rawles, director of public works and chairman of the council's traffic advisory committee, says harried motorists have not been forgotten. "You happened to call at a timely moment," he said. "I've asked members of the traffic committee to make some recommendations on one-way streets for the next meeting Dec. 14."

Rawles generally endorses the Faustman plan, including conversion of Fifth Avenue to one-way, but said public hearings should be held before two-way traffic on Fourth Street was halted.

Fourth Street merchants, he said, "bring in a lot of sales taxes to the city" and should be consulted.

COUNCILMAN FRED E. Jensen opposes making Fourth Street one-way because he believes merchants "would crowd the council chambers against it," despite the traffic snarls.

As one city official put it, "Motorists zipping along a one-way street don't notice the shopping bargains in store windows."

Larry P. Biancalana, president of the chamber of commerce, said he hoped eventually to see Fourth Street closed between D Street and Lincoln Avenue for a mall, but that would depend on provision for added off street parking, as would adoption of any one-way street plan.

And that, Rawles readily concedes, is another problem.

Real Reason For Economic Slump: Nobody–But Nobody!–Pays Bills

WASHINGTON — Everyone has his own theory as to why the economy is in such trouble. In spite of all the gobbledygook the administration is putting out, the real reason the economy has gone to pot is that nobody is paying his bills.

My father, who is president, vice president, treasurer and sole full-time employee of the Aetna Curtain Co. in New York City, called me in Washington to tell me what was going on in the business world.

"If that President of yours really wants to get the economy moving again," he said, "you can tell him to get people to start paying their bills."

"You mean people aren't paying their bills?" I said, astonished.

"NO ONE is paying bills. People, companies, corporations, banks, insurance companies. Everyone is holding up on the money."

"It's hard to believe."

"Believe it," my father said. "I made curtains for a toy company's showroom on Fifth Avenue three months ago. They still haven't paid me. I went over the other day and said, 'Look, you're a big toy company; I'm a small manufacturer. Why don't you pay me for the curtains?' They said, 'We'd love to pay you for the curtains but Krum's Department Store hasn't paid us for our toys.'

"So," my father continued, "I went over to Krum's Department Store and said to them, 'Why don't you pay the Thumbsucker Toy Co. for their toys so they can pay me for my curtains?' The people at Krum's Department Store said, 'We'd love to pay the Thumbsucker company for their toys, but none of our charge accounts has paid us. Here is a customer, Arthur Gordon. He bought $100 worth of toys and he hasn't paid for them.' "

MY FATHER went to see Arthur Gordon and said, "Mr. Gordon, I don't know you, but you owe the Krum Department Store $100."

"What business is it of yours?" Mr. Gordon wanted to know.

"Because if you don't pay your bill, the Krum people won't pay the Thumbsucker Toy Co., and if they don't get paid, they won't pay me for my curtains."

"Well," said Gordon. "If you must know, I'm a lawyer, and I won't pay Krum's until Harold Jaffe, who is in the lumber business, pays me."

My father went to see Jaffe, who said, "The reason I haven't paid Gordon is that the Man Mountain Construction Co. owes me $5,000 for lumber. You get my $5,000 from Man Mountain and I'll pay my lawyer's bill."

SINCE BUSINESS was slow, my father went to see the Man Mountain Construction Co. They admitted owing Jaffe the money, but said the reason they couldn't pay him was that the Third National Bank of Queen's Village had refused to give Man Mountain a loan to finish a housing project they were building in Happy Valley, N.Y.

My father went to see Mr. Michael Kahme, president of the Third National Bank of Queen's Village, and he said the reason they couldn't lend Man Mountain any money was because a dentist named Dr. Hiram Torem hadn't paid back a loan he made to furnish his office with all-new dental equipment.

Dr. Torem told my father he couldn't pay the loan for his equipment because Mr. Robert Cantor hadn't paid him for a very expensive set of false teeth.

MY FATHER told me: "I knew it was hopeless to look up Mr. Cantor, so I went back to the shop where I found Mr. Sam Plotnik, who sold me the fabric for the curtains I made for the Thumbsucker Toy Co. He said, 'When am I going to get the money for my curtain material?' I said to him, 'What's the hurry?' And he said, 'The hurry is that I've had to lay off people because you haven't paid your bill.' "

And my father said, "One of those people wouldn't be named Robert Cantor, would he?"

"No," said Plotnik. "Why do you ask?"

My father replied, "It was just a hunch."

EOC Month Is Backed By Panel

December is Equal Opportunity Month in San Anselmo. The Independent-Journal erred last week in reporting that the city council on Nov. 24 had voted against so designating the month.

The council approved the designation, thus joining other city councils and the county government, but voted not to put such matters on future agendas.

Mayor James F. Reed Tuesday night took issue with another I-J report of the Nov. 24 meeting in which he was said to have informed the city council that the state Council on Intergovernmental Relations had made a firm commitment of planning funds to San Anselmo.

Not so so, said Reed; he had not meant to imply a promise from the state, but merely to state that funding seemed promising.

Hearing Set In Drug Case

A preliminary hearing has been set for Jan. 5 in Marin Municipal Court for Robert Earl Marriott, 23, who was arrested after a drug raid on a San Geronimo residence Friday.

Drug agents said they confiscated almost 1,200 grams of suspected hashish, about 150 grams of suspected marijuana as well as small quantities of suspected cocaine and LSD at the house at 27 Sunshine Drive.

A woman present at the house was not booked after Marriott said she had just arrived there from Seattle.

Mariott, now free on bail, is also wanted by Missouri authorities. He is charged in Marin with possessing marijuana.

Bond Proposal Wins Support

The North Marin County Water District board has endorsed the Novato Sanitary District's $5.5 million bond proposal which will be before the voters Tuesday.

Director George A. Amaroli, who opposes the amount of the bond measure, dissented and chairman Arnold E. Heise abstained for a vote of 3-1-1, according to Dist. Mgr. Eugene Churchill.

Directors also set 8 p.m. Dec. 15 for a public hearing on a proposal to form an improvement district to finance sewage facilities at Oceana Marin Unit No. 1, near Dillon's Beach.

Churchill said the proposed district would include 57 lots and estimated the cost to property owners would be $1,577 per lot.

While collecting on his paper route Mark noticed smoke coming from a residence, ran up the stairs, grabbed the edge of the roof and, hanging by his hands, made his way to a window. Seeing flames inside, Mark ran to the fire station enabling firemen under Chief Buscher to put the fire out with minor damage.

I-J Carrier averts serious fire, wins Community Award

If young Mark Bramman, I-J carrier of Tiburon, had not been "alert and inquisitive we would have had a very serious fire." The quote is from Tiburon Fire Chief Franklin J. Buscher, commenting on Mark's recent exploit in saving a home from serious damage.

While collecting on his paper route Mark noticed smoke coming from a residence, ran up the stairs, grabbed the edge of the roof and, hanging by his hands, made his way to a window. Seeing flames inside, Mark ran to the fire station enabling firemen under Chief Buscher to put the fire out with minor damage.

For keeping his "cool" in a hot situation and taking immediate action, Mark is the winner of the Community Service Award of the California Newspaperboy Foundation.

Deeds like this are not at all uncommon among I-J newspaperboys. Because they are intimately aware of the community. They know virtually every house on their routes. And being trained to be responsible, these youngsters seem to respond to situations requiring decision. Mark Bramman is a pretty outstanding example.

Today is Thursday, Dec. 3, the 337th day of 1970.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

On this day in history:

In 1818 Illinois entered the union as the 21st state.

In 1833 Oberlin College in Ohio, the first truly coeducational school in the United States, opened with an enrollment of 29 men and 15 women.

In 1929 the Ford Motor Co. raised daily wages from $6 to $7 despite the collapse of the stock market.

In 1948 the nation learned that microfilm of secret American documents had been found in a pumpkin on the farm of Whittaker Chambers.

A thought for today: Jane Austen said, "It is a truth universally acknowledged that a single man in possession of a good fortune must be in want of a wife."

$500 In Wigs Said Embezzled

More than $500 worth of wigs were embezzled from a San Rafael store in the two weeks prior to Nov. 23, San Rafael police said yesterday.

The manager of the House of Elegance, 639 Fourth Street, told police he suspects a wig salesman who worked for him for the two-week period. The suspect is also wanted by Daly City police for embezzlement, police said.

Fifteen wigs were discovered missing, police said.

West Should Have Been Idealist Instead Of Such An Activist

We all know people who love to keep busy. "Satan finds work for idle hands to do," they say, and they dart off to avoid such a fate. They are the salt of the earth, and I am not criticizing them. It's just that sometimes Satan could teach them a thing or two about defending a bridge hand.

Mind you, I'm not saying that Satan is a top-flight bridge player. But the old boy could probably teach us a thing or two — and we should be willing to learn.

AN ACTIVIST

When today's hand was played, West was a determined activist. He decided to lead one of his long suits against the no-trump game contract, and chose clubs since the hearts looked pretty dangerous.

The heart lead would have been dangerous, in fact fatal, but the club lead was no better. Declarer won with the ten of clubs, led a club to dummy's ace and tried a finesse with the queen of diamonds.

West took the king of diamonds and shifted to a spade, but the damage had already been done. South took the ace of spades, cashed the ace of diamonds and led a diamond toward dummy's ten.

SECOND DIAMOND

The jack of diamonds showed up, and declarer was sure of a second diamond trick. He held up the king of spades, won he third round of spades with dummy's king, cashed the ten of diamonds and entered his hand with the king of clubs to cash the queen of clubs and then lead a heart. The ace of hearts turned up in favorable position and South brought home a very lucky game contract — no without a grateful bow to West.

WRONG TITLE

West should have chosen to be an idler rather than an activist. With no really good suit of his own to develop, and with strength in three suits, West should have made a waiting lead in the fourth suit, spades. South would have had to do all of his own work and would almost surely have gone down.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Adverse Trend But Promising Outlook

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would appreciate your opinion of Kawecki Berylco Industries which I have held since 1966. Shares have traded between 55 and 12½ in that time and are now close to the low. Should I hold or has the stock seen its day of glory? — P.S.

A. In your place, I would continue to sit tight in spite of the discouraging price action of these shares. Reduced third-quarter sales reflected the disposal last year of a marginally profitable facility and a strike at the Reading, Pa., plant this year.

As a result of the 32 per cent drop in sales, company reported a 6 cents a share deficit in the September quarter. The initial appearance of Kawecki shares in several mutual fund portfolios in the third quarter has bullish implications.

Also favoring recovery are the completion by year-end of a more efficient plant and the anticipated above-average demand for Kawecki's alloy and specialty metals. Net working capital and current asset ratio both broadened in the 12 months ended December, 1969, while long term debt was reduced 20 per cent; 14 per cent of the common stocks held by two major metal and mining companies.

Q. I am interested in American Maize-Products. Would you please give me what information you have concerning this issue? — G.K.

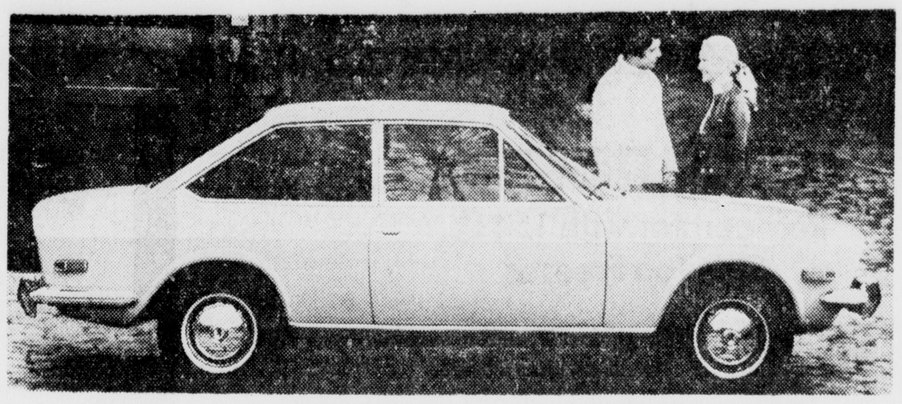
A. Until 1966, American Maize was engaged solely in corn refining. Since 1966, however, the firm has diversified by acquiring companies which manufacture and distribute cigars and candy.

Through the wholly-owned Jno. H. Swisher & Son subsidiary company manufactures cigars, 85 per cent of which are sold under the "King Edward" brand name. Candy products are manufactured through the Boyer Bros. subsidiary. Although sales have enjoyed a long uptrend, earnings are tied to fluctuations in commodity prices. Hence, AZE's past earnings pattern has been rather erratic.

Results for the first nine months of 1970 were above year-earlier levels, with net income up 19.4 per cent and sales advancing 8.8 per cent. Because shares have limited market following, better investment opportunities exist elsewhere.

Automatic Stores

NEW YORK (UPI) — Packers Products Distributing Co., a subsidiary of Bauer International, has bought American rights to Otto-Matic Store Units, a European developed automatic vending system for convenience food stores capable of stocking 280 items and making change for either coins or paper currency.



FIAT 124 COUPE HAS LARGER ENGINE

An 11.9-per cent increase in engine capacity gives this Fiat Sport Coupe higher top speed, better ability to pass quickly and improved anti-pollution performance. A 1,608 cubic-centimeter double overhead camshaft engine and five-speed transmission are standard equipment. Fiats are on sale in Marin at the Doug Dicker Sports Car Center, San Rafael.

$41.5 Million Deal

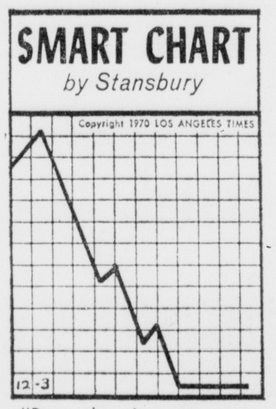
BETHPAGE, N.Y. (UPI) — — Grumman Corp. has obtained a $41.5 million Navy contract to provide EA-6 electronic warfare aircraft.

Industrial Noise Blamed On Design

NEW YORK (UPI) — Industrial noises not only can have devastating effects on people, they are symptoms of costly design shortcomings in machinery, a symposium of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers has been told.

A. C. Underwood, Houston metallurgical consultant, and W. J. Graff, professor of civil engineering at the University of Houston, presented a paper showing that energy expanded by a piece of machinery in creating noise reduces the useful work of the machine and creates severe and probably unnecessary dynamic stresses.

The two engineers studied noise produced by gears, pneumatic drills, diesel enginees and electric motors and compared noise levels with efficiency output and came to the conclusion that machinery designers in general should devote attention to noise output as a symptom of failure to approach optimum design levels.



"Remember just one year ago when all the analysts said that our impressive performance could not be passed off as illusory?"

Steel Production Slips 3.1 Pct.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel production slipped 3.1 per cent to 2,289,000 tons last week from 2,363,000 tons the week before, the American Iron & Steel Institute has reported.

Production from the start of the year through Nov. 28 totaled 120,512,000 tons, down 6.1 per cent from the 128,480,000 tons produced in the comparable 1969 period.

Production last week was equal to 122.9 on the Institute's index (average weekly production 1957-59 equals 100, or 1,862,933 tons) compared with 126.8 for the previous week.

Market Hits 20 Million Share Mark

NEW YORK (UPI) — Volume soared today to more than 20-million shares as enthusiastic traders pushed prices higher for the ninth consecutive session.

Shortly before the close the Dow Jones industrial average stood at 808.53, up 5.89. The blue chip barometer had been up more than 10 earlier in the day. The 1970 high is 811.13, set Jan. 5.

Turnover, up from Wednesday's 17,960,000 shares, assured that the week would be one of the busiest in stock market history. Advances outpaced declines, 956 to 488, among the 1,682 traded.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 48 1-8 up 1-8; Beth St. 21 1-4 up 3-8; Chrysler 29 1-4 off 1-4; Ford 52 7-8 off 1-2; Gen. Motors 77 5-8 up 1-4; So Pac 33 1-2 up 1; US Steel 29 1-2 up 1-4.

"There is a great belief that the government is going to do everything possible to sitmulate the economy," one analyst said. He also noted that buying interest, previously confined to blue chips and glamors, had spread to secondary and speculative issues.

The reduction in the consumer loan rate by the Chase Manhattan Bank and other leading banks added to investor enthusiasm.

"Wall Street regards it as another step in the trend toward easier money," one analyst remarked.

Also stimulating the market was a prediction by an economist for Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of another drop in both the Federal Reserve discount rate and the prime bank interest rate.

City Investing, Fannie Mae, Chrysler, Scott Paper, Newmont Mining and American Telephone were active issues.

Rails, airlines, aircrafts nd electronics were mixed.

Prices advanced in ! trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Stanford Plans New Budget Cuts

STANFORD (BW) — Stanford University has revised the goal of its budget adjustment program to nearly $6 million, President Richard W. Lyman has announced.

Most of this goal, about $5 million, will come from cuts in operating expenditures over a five-year period. Most of the remainder comes from changes in financial treatment of land development income.

The university expects to use about $3 million from its general reserves, set aside in earlier years for this contingency, before achieving its objective of a balanced budget by September 1975.

Favorite Holiday Store Gone From San Rafael In Cutback

Does there seem to be something missing from the Christmas shopping scene along downtown Fourth Street in San Rafael?

There is — the perennial Mission Pak store.

This is the first December in recent years I can remember the street being without one — or at least one just around some corner. Right after Thanksgiving you have been able to count on the dried and glazed fruit shop suddenly appearing in a previously vacant store somewhere between Lincoln Avenue and C Street.

This time the likely place for it to settle seemed to be Ed Cechettini's former Luana's quarters at 915 Fourth before he moved across the street to the Mission Arcade Building. It would have been the ideal location.

But this year the company has cut back its operations extensively. Actually the only store open in the entire Northern California area is the one at 3430 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco, about nine blocks west of the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store. Mail orders are being serviced from there.

AT IGNACIO'S Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center, Kay Robinson and Ruth Caso have moved their KT's women's ready to wear store to larger quarters.

They opened at 434 in the center last April and now have gone to 464, with about one-third more space which will be used for additional merchandise. Featured are both ready to wear and custom made and specially designed wear.

Regular hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays, but during the holiday season are extended to 9 p.m. and from 10 to 6 on Sundays.

A grand opening will be held Friday, Dec. 11, from 5 to 9 p.m. with live models showing off the merchandise.

THERE HAS BEEN a change of name for Pioneer Garage which opened at 48 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael about six months ago.

Owner Michael Farrell felt that it did nothing to indicate the specialty nature of his service — and the new name, Vanguard Volkswagen Repair, does. A survey among some of his acquaintances turned up four to one agreeing with him.

KENNETH BECHTEL of Kent Woodlands has stepped out as board chairman of Industrial Indemnity Co., San Francisco, but will stay active in the business as chairman of the executive committee and senior director.

Fred Drexler of Mill Valley has moved from the presidency to board director. New president is Robert Derr.

DAVID N. LYTLE of Tiburon has been appointed to the newly created position of marketing manager of Zehntel, Inc., Berkeley, designer of control equipment and electronic testing, calibrating and diagnosing systems. A co-founder of the firm, he was formerly project manager. Before the formation of Zehntel in 1966 he was chief applications engineer at Beckman Instruments' Berkeley division.

Lytle

Dunn

DAVID J. DUNN of San Rafael, insurance, securities and financial planning specialist, has been named Northern California regional manager of Benevest, Inc., and will be headquartered at the San Rafael office. He was formerly a representative of Mitchell Curtis.

DONALD B. KROSCH of Tiburon has resigned as vice president and manager of the investment division of Frank Howard Allen and Co. to take on a consulting assignment involving travel in the Pacific area. Present plans are to continue living in Marin County.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Adverse Trend But Promising Outlook

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would appreciate your opinion of Kawecki Berylco Industries which I have held since 1966. Shares have traded between 55 and 12½ in that time and are now close to the low. Should I hold or has the stock seen its day of glory? — P.S.

A. In your place, I would continue to sit tight in spite of the discouraging price action of these shares. Reduced third-quarter sales reflected the disposal last year of a marginally profitable facility and a strike at the Reading, Pa., plant this year.

As a result of the 32 per cent drop in sales, company reported a 6 cents a share deficit in the September quarter. The initial appearance of Kawecki shares in several mutual fund portfolios in the third quarter has bullish implications.

Also favoring recovery are the completion by year-end of a more efficient plant and the anticipated above-average demand for Kawecki's alloy and specialty metals. Net working capital and current asset ratio both broadened in the 12 months ended December, 1969, while long term debt was reduced 20 per cent; 14 per cent of the common stocks held by two major metal and mining companies.

Q. I am interested in American Maize-Products. Would you please give me what information you have concerning this issue? — G.K.

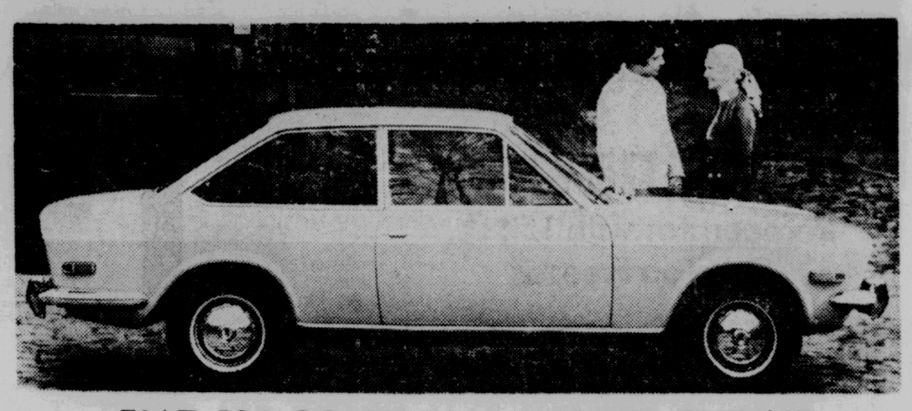
A. Until 1966, American Maize was engaged solely in corn refining. Since 1966, however, the firm has diversified by acquiring companies which manufacture and distribute cigars and candy.

Through the wholly-owned Jno. H. Swisher & Son subsidiary company manufactures cigars, 85 per cent of which are sold under the "King Edward" brand name. Candy products are manufactured through the Boyer Bros. subsidiary. Although sales have enjoyed a long uptrend, earnings are tied to fluctuations in commodity prices. Hence, AZE's past earnings pattern has been rather erratic.

Results for the first nine months of 1970 were above year-earlier levels, with net income up 19.4 per cent and sales advancing 8.8 per cent. Because shares have limited market following, better investment opportunities exist elsewhere.

Automatic Stores

NEW YORK (UPI) — Packers Products Distributing Co., a subsidiary of Bauer International, has bought American rights to Otto-Matic Store Units, a European developed automatic vending system for convenience food stores capable of stocking 280 items and making change for either coins or paper currency.



FIAT 124 COUPE HAS LARGER ENGINE

An 11.9-per cent increase in engine capacity gives this Fiat Sport Coupe higher top speed, better ability to pass quickly and improved anti-pollution performance. A 1,608 cubic-centimeter double overhead camshaft engine and five-speed transmission are standard equipment. Fiats are on sale in Marin at the Doug Dicker Sports Car Center, San Rafael.

$41.5 Million Deal

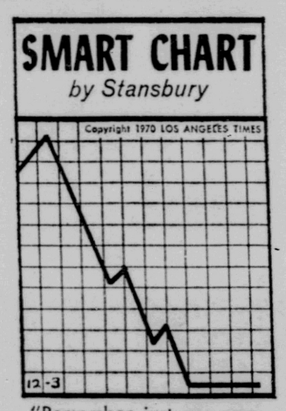
BETHPAGE, N.Y. (UPI) — — Grumman Corp. has obtained a $41.5 million Navy contract to provide EA-6 electronic warfare aircraft.

Industrial Noise Blamed On Design

NEW YORK (UPI) — Industrial noises not only can have devastating effects on people, they are symptoms of costly design shortcomings in machinery, a symposium of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers has been told.

A. C. Underwood, Houston metallurgical consultant, and W. J. Graff, professor of civil engineering at the University of Houston, presented a paper showing that energy expanded by a piece of machinery in creating noise reduces the useful work of the machine and creates severe and probably unnecessary dynamic stresses.

The two engineers studied noise produced by gears, pneumatic drills, diesel enginees and electric motors and compared noise levels with efficiency output and came to the conclusion that machinery designers in general should devote attention to noise output as a symptom of failure to approach optimum design levels.



"Remember just one year ago when all the analysts said that our impressive performance could not be passed off as illusory?"

Steel Production Slips 3.1 Pct.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel production slipped 3.1 per cent to 2,289,000 tons last week from 2,363,000 tons the week before, the American Iron & Steel Institute has reported.

Production from the start of the year through Nov. 28 totaled 120,512,000 tons, down 6.1 per cent from the 128,480,000 tons produced in the comparable 1969 period.

Production last week was equal to 122.9 on the Institute's index (average weekly production 1957-59 equals 100, or 1,862,933 tons) compared with 126.8 for the previous week.

Market Hits 20 Million Share Mark

NEW YORK (UPI) — Volume soared today to more than 20-million shares as enthusiastic traders pushed prices higher for the ninth consecutive session.

Shortly before the close the Dow Jones industrial average stood at 808.53, up 5.89. The blue chip barometer had been up more than 10 earlier in the day. The 1970 high is 811.13, set Jan. 5.

Turnover, up from Wednesday's 17,960,000 shares, assured that the week would be one of the busiest in stock market history. Advances outpaced declines, 956 to 488, among the 1,682 traded.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 48 1-8 up 1-8; Beth St. 21 1-4 up 3-8; Chrysler 29 1-4 off 1-4; Ford 52 7-8 off 1-2; Gen. Motors 77 5-8 up 1-4; So Pac 33 1-2 up 1; US Steel 29 1-2 up 1-4.

"There is a great belief that the government is going to do everything possible to sitmulate the economy," one analyst said. He also noted that buying interest, previously confined to blue chips and glamors, had spread to secondary and speculative issues.

The reduction in the consumer loan rate by the Chase Manhattan Bank and other leading banks added to investor enthusiasm.

"Wall Street regards it as another step in the trend toward easier money," one analyst remarked.

Also stimulating the market was a prediction by an economist for Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of another drop in both the Federal Reserve discount rate and the prime bank interest rate.

City Investing, Fannie Mae, Chrysler, Scott Paper, Newmont Mining and American Telephone were active issues.

Rails, airlines, aircrafts and electronics were mixed.

Prices advanced in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Stanford Plans New Budget Cuts

STANFORD (BW) — Stanford University has revised the goal of its budget adjustment program to nearly $6 million, President Richard W. Lyman has announced.

Most of this goal, about $5 million, will come from cuts in operating expenditures over a five-year period. Most of the remainder comes from changes in financial treatment of land development income.

The university expects to use about $3 million from its general reserves, set aside in earlier years for this contingency, before achieving its objective of a balanced budget by September 1975.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Favorite Holiday Store Gone From San Rafael In Cutback

Does there seem to be something missing from the Christmas shopping scene along downtown Fourth Street in San Rafael?

There is — the perennial Mission Pak store.

This is the first December in recent years I can remember the street being without one — or at least one just around some corner. Right after Thanksgiving you have been able to count on the dried and glazed fruit shop suddenly appearing in a previously vacant store somewhere between Lincoln Avenue and C Street.

This time the likely place for it to settle seemed to be Ed Cechettini's former Luana's quarters at 915 Fourth before he moved across the street to the Mission Arcade Building. It would have been the ideal location.

But this year the company has cut back its operations extensively. Actually the only store open in the entire Northern California area is the one at 3430 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco, about nine blocks west of the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store. Mail orders are being serviced from there.

AT IGNACIO'S Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center, Kay Robinson and Ruth Caso have moved their KT's women's ready to wear store to larger quarters.

They opened at 434 in the center last April and now have gone to 464, with about one-third more space which will be used for additional merchandise. Featured are both ready to wear and custom made and specially designed wear.

Regular hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays, but during the holiday season are extended to 9 p.m. and from 10 to 6 on Sundays.

A grand opening will be held Friday, Dec. 11, from 5 to 9 p.m. with live models showing off the merchandise.

THERE HAS BEEN a change of name for Pioneer Garage which opened at 48 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael about six months ago.

Owner Michael Farrell felt that it did nothing to indicate the specialty nature of his service — and the new name, Vanguard Volkswagen Repair, does. A survey among some of his acquaintances turned up four to one agreeing with him.

KENNETH BECHTEL of Kent Woodlands has stepped out as board chairman of Industrial Indemnity Co., San Francisco, but will stay active in the business as chairman of the executive committee and senior director.

Fred Drexler of Mill Valley has moved from the presidency to board director. New president is Robert Derr.

DAVID N. LYTLE of Tiburon has been appointed to the newly created position of marketing manager of Zehntel, Inc., Berkeley, designer of control equipment and electronic testing, calibrating and diagnosing systems. A co-founder of the firm, he was formerly project manager. Before the formation of Zehntel in 1966 he was chief applications engineer at Beckman Instruments' Berkeley division.

Lytle Dunn

DAVID J. DUNN of San Rafael, insurance, securities and financial planning specialist, has been named Northern California regional manager of Benevest, Inc., and will be headquartered at the San Rafael office. He was formerly a representative of Mitchell Curtis.

DONALD B. KROSCH of Tiburon has resigned as vice president and manager of the investment division of Frank Howard Allen and Co. to take on a consulting assignment involving travel in the Pacific area. Present plans are to continue living in Marin County.

NON-CONFORMING — Dr. Robert G. Ceniceros of Larkspur last night waged a moving but futile fight to preserve this illegal fence at his rustic home at 10 Hazel Avenue. Claiming no one objects to the fence, the dentist said it was to blend in with the woodsy atmosphere of the area. The city council rejected his appeal however, claiming it could not make an exception to the city's ordinance governing height.

Pledge To NATO: No Troop Cuts

BRUSSELS (UPI) — President Nixon, in his most sweeping commitment yet to America's European allies pledged today there will be no U.S. troop cutbacks in Europe without reciprocal military reductions by the Communist "adversaries."

On the contrary, he said, "given a similar approach by our allies," the United States will improve its forces in Europe.

Nixon's statement was contained in a message read by Secretary of State William P. Rogers to the foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). U.S. officials said it was the most open-ended commitment of this sort Nixon has made since becoming President. They said it goes beyond fiscal year 1972 and is valid for the full period of Nixon's current term.

SECOND DAY

The foreign ministers met for the second day of the annual three-day stocktaking session of the alliance's foreign, defense and finance ministers.

The defense ministers met on Wednesday. The Soviet news agency Tass called their decisions "dangerous for the cause of peace."

Nixon, in his message to the foreign ministers, said:

"Given a similar approach by our allies, the United States will maintain and improve its own forces in Europe and will not reduce them unless there is reciprocal action from our adversaries. We will continue to talk with our NATO allies with regard to how we can meet our responsibilities together."

THE CONCLUSIONS

Nixon said the United States and its allies, "after the most searching consultations," have reached several fundamental conclusions:

—They have reaffirmed a flexible response is the proper strategy for the alliance "confronted by a formidable mix of a potentially hostile force which is constantly improving."

—They have agreed NATO's conventional forces must not only be maintained but strengthened in certain key areas.

—They have agreed to move to transform these recommendations into fact. This should provide NATO with "an enhanced capability sufficient to make the strategy of flexible response a more credible factor in the equation of deterrence."

Rogers, in a review of the international situation later,

TRUCE IN TOMALES BAY LAND DISPUTE

Solution To Tidelands For Wildlife Reached By Rancher, Conservationists

By WAT TAKESHITA

Giacomini, who wanted to dike off 132 acres of marshland to graze cattle, signed an option to sell all 367 acres of his undiked tidelands to Conservation Associates, headed by George L. Collins of Ross. The option will run to Aug. 31, 1971,which will give conservationists almost nine months in which to drum up funds for the purchase.

The option averts a heated confrontation between the rancher and conservation forces at a hearing scheduled by the Marin County Board of Supervisors for next Tuesday.

County Supervisor Louis H. Baar, who announced the option agreement, said Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, engineered the truce.

Assemblyman Bagley, who is well acquainted with Collins and the conservation associates, arranged a meeting between Collins and Giacomini to bring about the truce.

"If we had gone ahead with the hearing before the county Supervisors, chances were 50-50 that the vote could have gone either way," said Bagley. "Rather than run that risk, we got Mr. Giacomini to agree to the option."

"I would have preferred to reclaim it because it makes wonderful pastureland," said Giacomini this morning. "But rather than argue and fight about it, I thought this would be best for everyone."

Giacomini has 700 acres already behind dikes, with the present levee running across the marshland about a mile north of White House pool.

His agreement to sell to Conservation Associates is the undiked portion north of the existing dike to about Willow Point. Giacomini declined to speculate on the fair market value of the property. He said he will appoint an appraiser and Conservation Associates will name its appraiser. If the two appraisers cannot agree, they will name a third appraiser to reach the fair market value.

Collins said he has talked to officials of the state Department of Fish and Game, and they expressed interest in making a state wildlife refuge of the Giacomini marshlands.

During hearings held in October and November before the Marin County Planning Commission, an array of experts testified that the dikes would destroy wildlife habitat in Tomales Bay and increase flooding along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between the Point Reyes Station Bridge and White House pool.

Baar noted that the Marin County Parks and Recreation master plan also describes the marshlands as wildlife preserve. "The federal government might have some interest, the state does have interest, and the county has potential interest in those tidelands," said Baar. "I hope this will lead to the culmination of an acceptable settlement between the landowner and the conservation groups."

If the option is not picked up by August of next year, Giacomini said he will re-apply for the diking. If he does so, he will face a new board of supervisors, with Arnold M. Baptiste in the place of Supervisor William A. Gnoss.

Law Overrides Council Sympathy

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A young Larkspur dentist last night lost an emotional appeal to the city council and was told his artistically created fence — built from old lumber found on his property — could not be allowed to stand as is.

Sticking to the letter of the law, the council gave Dr. Robert C. Ceniceros until next August to bring his fence at 10 Hazel Avenue into conformity with the city's six-foot height limitation.

After the decision, Ceniceros told neighbors who had attended to lend vocal and moral support, that he was considering moving from Larkspur because of the action.

"It would be criminal to tear it (the fence) down . . . I can't do it," he said in a choked voice.

Ceniceros's appeal stemmed from planning commission rejection of a variance application considered in October. His quiet charm, which won over the planning commission audience but not the commission, worked the same way last night.

Presenting a slide show of the fence, Ceniceros explained how he had rescued the ancient home at 10 Hazel Avenue from near condemnation four years ago. The fence, which he said is an art object, was built from "magnificent old pieces of lumber" found scattered about his acre of property.

"It is nonconforming (by the law)," he told the council flicking through the slides, "but then again it is very conforming in that it doesn't look like it is there."

The fence, or structure as Ceniceros referred to it, is a series of weather beaten slates of varying height enclosing the old home's back yard and sides. It was constructed in such a manner that it blends into the area's lush growth despite its height which sometimes reaches 10 feet.

"When I bought the house four years ago," he told the council, "it was rescued from being divided into four lots."

He said he has been refurbishing the home and property ever since, removing 50 truckloads of junk from the back yard.

"I can't think of another person in Larkspur who has seen the fence that hasn't liked it . . . thought it should remain," he said patting the back of John Appleton, city planner. "Its a three-

Storm Is Heavier In Other Areas

Marin and Southern Sonoma were unscathed today by stormy weather that brought heavy rain throughout Northern California and deep snow to the mountains.

Rainfall tapered off but continued. In the 24 hours ending at noon today, San Rafael recorded .86 of an inch. Woodacre, in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m., had .72. Comparable 24-hour readings yesterday were 1.98 for San Rafael and 2.82 in Woodacre.

A potentially troublesome mud slide on Bolinas Road west of Fairfax, and a blackout caused by a bird in Sausalito were the worst problems reported by Marin's public works and utility officials.

The Bolinas Road slide sent a 30-foot-wide swath of mud oozing onto the pavement shortly before 10 a.m. today.

Parts of the Marinship area were blacked out because a great blue heron flew into high voltage lines at 10 p.m. yesterday, killing itself and burning out a wire. About 250 customers in the Gate Five Road area were affected for an hour, according to Leonard A. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. superintendent for Marin.

Norris Rawles, San Rafael director of public works, said his crews still were toiling to keep catch basins cleared of accumulating leaves. He said a few sewers had spilled onto streets,

U.S. Will Continue Flights Over North

PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce today defied Communist threats of retaliation and served notice on Hanoi the United States would continue to fly reconnaissance missions over North Vietnam and do "everything in our power" to free captive U.S. pilots.

Yater Bruce proposed international control of all prisoners of war camps in both North and South iVetnamese. He told newsmen after the close of today's Paris talks that the Communists were "surprised" by the offer and that they did not respond immediately.

In a bitter verbal exchange with North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy, Bruce denied Hanoi claims that six U.S. aircraft had been shot down in the Nov. 21-22 raids during which Special Forces commandos made an unsuccessful attempt to rescue captive pilots from the Son Tay camp west of Hanoi.

Bruce said no U.S. plane was shot down in the action and that the commando unit, while failing to find any prisoners in the camp, "returned safely without incurring a single serious casualty."

Bruce spoke after Thuy warned that if the United States carried out further commando raids it would have to assume "full responsibility" for the consequences. He did not spell this out. Bruce rejected the statement as "polemics, propaganda and distortions of fact."

Bruce said the Communists were fully aware that the United States was determined to fly reconnaissance missions over the North after halting all bombing raids on Nov. 1, 1968.

"Let me state once again today that we will continue to undertake these reconnaissance missions to help assure the safety of our forces in the Republic of (South) Vietnam, and that we will continue to take the necessary measures to protect our pilots and aircraft," Bruce said.

Bruce again accused the Communists of ill-treating U.S. prisoners which, he said, had prompted the Son Tay raid.

"It is only understandable to

Jury Seeking Verdict In Daly Murder Case

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The jury in the murder trial of Frank J. Thurber resumed deliberations at 10 a.m. today after failing to reach a verdict in nearly eight hours of deliberation yesterday.

Jurors spent the night at a San Francisco hotel after they told visiting Superior Judge Edmund M. Moor of Alpine County they had not reached a decision at 7:15 p.m.

The case of Thurber — charged with murder, conspiracy, robbery and burglary in connection with the fatal shooting of Independent-Journal employee Allan W. Daly July 4 — went to the jury at 11:20 a.m. yesterday.

Daly died 12 days after he was shot when two youths invaded his San Francisco home demanding money. Two 17-year-old San Bruno youths, Larry G. Rutherford and Richard A. Wamsley, are serving long terms with the California Youth Authority for their self-confessed roles in the murder.

Thurber, 45, also of San Bruno, is a member of San Francisco-Oakland Mailers Union 18, an affiliate of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7.

He is accused of recruiting the two youths to attack Daly, providing the .45 caliber murder weapon and taking the youths to and from Daly's home the night of the shooting.

The jurors returned to the court room twice yesterday. At about 3:30 p.m. they asked portions of testimony of two witnesses be read to them and for Thurber's payroll record for July 4.

At about 5 p.m., they questioned Judge Moor on a point of law.

If Thurber is found guilty of conspiracy, they asked, must he be found guilty of the three other charges?

Judge Moor said he could not do their work for them, but read them a section of law indicating that a coconspirator, whether or not he is present at the commis-

Angela Davis Extradicted

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Black revolutionary Angela Y. Davis was ordered extradited to California today by the State Supreme Court to face charges of murder and kidnap in a courthouse shootout last August. (Earlier story page 22.)

Supreme Court Justice Thomas Dickens granted a five day stay of extradition, however, to give the 26-year-old defendants' attorneys time to appeal to the state court's Appellate Division. Miss Davis took her extradition to the Supreme Court after it was ordered last month by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Miss Davis is charged in California with buying weapons for a San Rafael shootout in which Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons were killed.

SOUGHT FOR MURDER

Ulysses S. Grant, a New Mexico hippie commune leader who claims he is the reincarnation of the 18th U.S. president and who campaigned on this white horse for governor last year as a write-in candidate, is being sought by Sandoval County authorities on murder charges. He was charged yesterday in killing two commune residents, whose bodies were found Tuesday near his home. His whereabouts is unknown, officers say. (UPI Telephoto)

UAW Firm: No Extension Of Ford Pact Past Monday

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers will not extend its contract with Ford Motor Co. past the midnight Monday strike deadline, heightening the threat of another nationwide strike unless a new three-year contract agreement is reached.

Emerging from Wednesday's bargaining session, Ken Bannon, director of the union's Ford Department, said the strike deadline is "very real."

"There are no thoughts of extending anything," he said. "We're working against that deadline."

The union and Ford agreed on Nov. 23, when negotiations were resumed following the conclusion of the union's 67-day strike against General Motors, to reinstate the old, three-year contract which expired Sept. 15. This gave the union the benefit of having Ford collect union dues while assuring the company there would be no wildcat strikes while talks continued.

While both sides are basically agreed on a wage and fringe benefit package similar to the one obtained at GM, they are stalled on when the wage hikes will become effective. The differential will cost the company $42 million—or an average of $250 in back pay for each worker.

Bannon said he wants the back pay for the union's 150,000 members at Ford before Christmas.

Sweeping Plans Loom In Portugal

LISBON (UPI) — Premier Marcello Caetano has proposed to parliament the most sweeping conctitutional changes in Portuguese history, including the granting of self-government for the nation's embattled African colonies.

The laws would also increase individual constitutional rights for the citizens of Portugal who lived under a virtual dictatorship and police state under the 36-year regime of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Even Caetano himself acknowledged the changes he seeks are "profound."

Caetano said racial segregation would be abolisned in the colonies.

The legislation which Caetano proposed and which the parliament seemed certain to pass was a huge stride in the administration's policy to turn Portugal into a modern, democratic nation. Caetano began the process almost as soon as he became premier in 1968 following a stroke suffered by Salazar, who died earlier this year.

Manila Tremor

MANILA (UPI)—An earthquake shook tall buildings in downtown Manila briefly today.

The geophysical division of the Philippine Weather Bureau said the quake was of low yield, registering only an intensity of one on the adjusted Rossi-Feral scale of nine.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Feminists Picket

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women's liberationists demonstrated for the second consecutive day Wednesday against Cosmopolitan magazine in demands for $15,000 in "reparations" and a monthly feminist column.

Two members of the Women's Strike Coalition on Cosmopolitan magazine met briefly with editor Helen Gurley Brown, author of "Sex and the Single Girl," to press their demands. Another meeting was set for Friday.

The feminists picketed the building housing the magazine's offices for two days and the meeting came a short time after a miniature liquor bottle and a stone were thrown from a window of the building.

Attacker's Trial

MANILA (UPI) — A religion-hating Bolivian painter goes on trial before a Philippine court Friday for the attempted murder of Pope Paul VI exactly a week after he tried to stab the pontiff at Manila International Airport.

In the background of the trial of Benjamin Mendoza, 35, was a controversy on who frustrated his dagger attack and saved the life of the 73-year-old pontiff. It was the first serious assassination attempt on a Pope in modern history.

Mendoza, who paints with both hands, has signed a confession admitting he tried to kill the Pope while dressed in priest's attire as he mingled with the airport crowd.

Offshore Fines

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The government has fined three more oil companies $566,000 for operating offshore wells without storm chokes. And Shell Oil Co. faces a month-long fight to douse a flaming wild well lacking one of them.

U.S. District Judge Fred J. Cassibry fined Humble Oil and Refining Co., Continental Oil Co. and Union Oil of California the total $566,000 during their arraignment Wednesday for federal offshore drilling regulation violations.

Humble, accused of 150 violations, was fined $300,000; Continental was fined $242,000 on 121 violations, and Union $24,000 on 12 counts.

Milk Date Order

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A superior court judge ordered eight dairies Wednesday to show cause why they should not clearly date their milk cartons.

Judge Carl H. Allen, who set Jan. 6 for a hearing, acted on a suit brought by five elderly San Franciscans, a nurse and three associations who asked a court order prohibiting "deceptively coded" expiration dates on cartons.

The suit estimated that milk has a "shelf life of between seven and 10 days" and said that "as milk ages, its bacteria count increases and its nutritional value decreases."

Upholds Posters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A city probation officer has the constitutional right to decorate his office with a poster of Negro militants, an arbitor ruled Wednesday.

Attorney William Eaton, chairman of the city's arbitration grievance committee, also decided that probation officer Nelson Phillips, 30, should be reimbursed for the five days he was suspended by Warren Jenkins, acting chief adult probation officer who objected to the poster.

Jenkins has five days to decide whether to appeal to the Civil Service Commission.

New Harlow Job?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon wants Bryce Harlow, one of his top aides, to become new Republican National Chairman, White House sources have reported, but Harlow apparently does not want the job.

Harlow, chief of congressional liaison for the White House, is on an extended leave of absence from his job as chief Washington lobbyist for Procter & Gamble. He has indicated he wants to return to that lucrative job.

Harlow stands to suffer a substantial financial loss if he stays in government.

Too Much Snow

CRYSTAL BAY, Nev. (UPI) —Scheduled presentation of a progress report on a transportation study of the Lake Tahoe basin was canceled Wednesday because the roads were blocked by snow.

Consumer Bill Gets Death Blow In House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Advocates of new consumer protection laws admitted today they had struck out in the 91st Congress.

The last prospect for final action on a major consumer bill collopsed Wednesday when the Hous eRules Committee on a 7 to 7 vote refused to clear for House action a Senate-passed bill creating a Consumer Protection Agency.

As passed by the Senate on a 74 to 4 vote, the bill would have set up an independent agency to represent consumer interests as well as a council of consumer advisers to report to the president. The rejected House version was somewhat different, but opponents said the effect was the same —to add new layers to existing overlapping bureaucracies concerned with consumer affairs.

Earlier, a committee-approved bill to let aggrieved consumers initiate class action suits against manufacturers was sidetracked in the Senate, while a comparable bill in the House was turned down in committee.

A third major consumer bill, setting up minimum standards for warranties, also yas consigned to a House committee pigeonhole.

The Consumer Federation of America, a coalition of 180 consumer or consumer-oriented groups, said it was "angered and distressed," not only at Wednesday's rules action but also at the fact that so little consumer legislation of any kind had emerged from the 91st Congress.

Bond Sales Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sales of Series E savings bonds, the kind most people buy, totaled $362 million last month, the highest November figure since 1945, the Treasury Department announced today.

Atrocities Described At Antiwar Inquiry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of Vietnam war veterans have told an unofficial inquiry that American soldiers torture and murder Viet Cong prisoners to gain intelligence information.

They said prisoners were thrown from helicopters, tortured with electrical shocks to genitals and breasts, and six-inch pegs were driven into their ears.

The veterans commented at the National Veterans Inquiry into U.S. War Crimes Policy, sponsored by antiwar groups.

Dr. Gordon Livingston, a former Army surgeon in Vietnam and now a resident in psychiatry at Johns Hopkins University, said American soldiers go through a "whole process of dehumanization" that starts with referring to Vietnamese as "gooks" and "slants."

"The acceptance of the inferiority of the Vietnamese is so broad, so pervasive that there is practically nobody not involved," he said. "In that context, it is not surprising that individual soldiers will kill innocent Vietnamese."

Livingston said that when a helicopter pilot temporarily was grounded for flying so low he killed two Vietnamese women on bicycles, he said, "It's ridiculous. Why should I be grounded for killing a couple of gooks?"

Kenneth B. Osborne of Washington, a former intelligence specialist, said he was along on two helicopter flights when American officers ordered Viet Cong prisoners thrown out to force other prisoners to talk.

Osborne quoted a lieutenant as saying that method was used "whenever we can't get information by other means."

Osborne also said American soldiers put six-inch pegs in prisoners' ears and kept tapping them inward in an effort to make them talk.

Former Sgts. Edward Murphy of Philadelphia and Stephen S. Noetzel of Long Island said American servicemen hooked the wires of battery-operated field telephones to the genitals of men and the breasts of women to give them electrical shocks to prod them into talking.

Delay Seen In Jet Fuel Dumping

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Air Pollution Control Administration says half the 50 airlines it questioned three weeks ago reported it would be 1972 before they can find a safe, cheap alternative to dumping residual jet fuel into the skies shortly after takeoffs from major airports.

A spokesman for the airlines estimated it would be next spring before manufacturers could devise an alternative to dumping and another year or more before any such device could be ready for installation.

After a jet plane lands, unused fuel from the engines and fuel lines is partially emptied minutes after the next takeoff.

Reverse Boot Camp Eyed For Violent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Harvard Research Psychiatrist, who spent two years working with returning Vietnam veterans, said today a "boot camp in reverse" should be created to make returning combat troops less violent before they re-enter civilian life.

Dr. Charles J. Levy, in testimony prepared for the Senate Veterans Affairs subcommittee, said men returning from Vietnam suffered profound disorientation and some were unable to distinguish between Vietnam and the community to which they return.

Lefy gave the subcommittee what he said were tape recorded transcripts of conversations he had with some Veterans.

"Like when I got back from Vietnam my sister yelled at me," he quoted one enlisted man. "I split her leg open with a lamp ... it makes you an animal. Like you can't reason."

"You see guys with legs blown off," another was quoted. "Gooks with their heads blown off and their legs off and their chests wide open. You say 'man, is that all there is to it.' Just you're dead. And no more. You get that attitude that people are just matter . . ."

Recreation Plan Held To Hub City's Usage

The proposed recreation greement between the San Anelmo School District and the ity will limit involvement in oint recreation programs to an Anselmo residents, the chool board has been told.

Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry said esterday the limitation was vritten into the proposed conract by Trustee Franklin C. Latcham and has been forwarded for approval to the city counil. Latcham is a member of a oint committee charged with evising the agreement.

By limiting joint recreation rograms to city residents, Lowry said, the two bodies will void the question of unequal axation between city property wners and those in the unincorporated areas of the school district.

The recreation agreement has been proposed as a means of utilizing the school district's community service tax without duplicating recreation activities offered by the city.

In related action Tuesday the board rescinded its action of Nov. 3 which authorized the use of the service tax funds to provide after-school drama classes at Red Hill and Hidden Valley schools.

Lowry said both schools requested the programs start during school hours and continue to 4 p.m.

He said the $1,000 appropriation to run the classes was approved last night from the district's general fund, since the programs will become part of the schools' elective courses.

The San Anselmo School board also:

FUNDS — Approved submitting application for state funds totaling $2,314 for the purchase of library materials.

INTERDISTRICT AGREEMENT — Approved a request for interdistrict attendance agreement for Robert James to attend school in the Dixie School District.

LANDSCAPE FEES — Delayed until the Dec. 15 meeting payment of $1,000 to Henry Cole, landscape architect of San Rafael for drawings, specifications and details for Wade Thomas School's tot-lot.

POLICY — Tabled discussion on district policies concerning inter-district agreements and travel until the Dec. 15 meeting.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to a special meeting Saturday at 9 a.m. at Isabell Cook School for cfupection of that school and later RedHill School.

'Voice' Of Pilot Beams Yule Plea

SAIGON (UPI) — A voice dentified today by Hanoi Radio as that of an American pilot shot down over North Vietnam more than two years ago asked for "less sweets and more durable, useful or tasty articles" in a Christmas package.

An American-accented voice the broadcast said was that of Navy Lt. Junior Grade Karkham Ligon Gartley, sent the short message addressed to Gartley's parents in Dunedin, Fla.

"I am in good health and am receiving good treatment during my detention here," the voice said. Several messages from Gartley also were monitored last Christmas.

Portrait Plan For Kennedys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A portrait of the late President John F. Kennedy will be unveiled at the White House in January along with a painting of his widow, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, it was learned today.

The oil portraits of Kennedy and the former first lady were painted by a New York artist, Aaron Shickler. Both have approval of Mrs. Onassis.

The portraits also must be accepted formally by the White House Historical Association which will pay for them.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS UP IN NOVATO

Christmas decorations have gone up in downtown Novato, but the lighting is yet to come.

Twenty-five wreaths, greenery encircling red Christmas bells, have been placed on light standards along the south side of Grant Avenue and at Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard.

There are two "Noel" signs along highway 101 Gronberg said.

City decorations will include a nativity scene at Highway 101 and Vallejo Avenue, with live animals provided by the Novato Valley 4-H Club.

Plane Carrying Supplies Crashes

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) — A four-engined cargo plane carrying relief supplies for survivors of East Pakistan's cyclone-tidal wave disaster, crashed tonight while coming in for a landing at the Dacca airport, the air traffic officer reported.

"As far as we can tell it was a Belgian plane," the officer said. "It was carrying relief supplies."

He said all four crewmen were killed.

Auto Is Stolen

A 1966 Volkswagen owned by Thomas Brunelle of 23 Onyx Avenue, Larkspur, was stolen sometime between 9:15 and 10:30 p.m. Monday from the Brunelle residence, Larkspur police reported. The auto has license TKL-347.

Nursing Mothers Breaking The Law?

A couple of loopholes have been exposed in Marin's brand new anti-nudity ordinance, which went into effect just 12 days ago.

A sharp-eyed critic from Berkeley complained yesterday to the Marin County Board of Supervisors that the new law prohibits mothers from nursing their infants.

"Having read your anti-nudity ordinance," wrote Rev. Jefferson F. Poland of Sather Gate Station, Berkeley, "I conclude that it outlaws nursing mothers."

Poland complained that Marin's ordinance does not make lewd intent an element of the offense, and mere exposure of the female breast is deemed a misdemeanor.

"I assume this is mere error in drafting," chided Poland. "Surely you did not consciously intend to deprive babies of their mother's milk . . . lactating females have fed their babies since long before the county of Marin existed as a governmental unit. Should you somehow neglect to repair your error of legislative draftsmanship, mothers may be forced to seek injunctive relief from the courts."

The anti-nudity ordinance, drafted by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, was approved by the supervisors on Oct. 20 and went into effect on Nov. 20.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney conceded that Poland "seems to have a point." He suggested that the county administrator send an amendment to the supervisors to exempt nursing mothers. Maloney also suggested that an exception be granted to youngsters "up to age 3, 4, 6 or whatever the age of decency is."

300 Expected At Scout Reunion

The San Anselmo Ascenders, Explorer Scout Post 15, will have a reunion dinner at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the gymnasium of St. Anselm's School.

Post member Terry Halbert of 157 Oak Springs Drive, San Anselmo, is taking reservations for all present and past members and sponsors of the post. He said 300 persons are expected to attend the dinner.

Bike Path Organizers Plan Parade

About 700 bicyclists are expected to take part in a "festival for peddlers" Sunday to dramatize the need for safe bicycle paths in Marin County and especially in Tiburon.

The festival is an outgrowth of Mrs. Bonnie Raisin's efforts to persuade the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to sell its right-of-way to Tiburon for a bicycle and pedestrian pathway.

The cyclists will gather at the Safeway Market on Tiburon Boulevard at 12:30 p.m. and ride to Richardson Bay Park behind a sheriff's department escort. Participants should bring a picnic lunch, Mrs. Raisin said, and plan to stay for a program of music, speeches and prizes for the oldest and youngest participants.

Warning Reminder Issued On Christmas Hazards

Christmas trees, both fresh and artificial, are potential fire traps, Marin County's chief building inspector warned today.

Herbert F. Wimmer issued the following reminders to reduce hazards in homes, offices and institutions:

The larger the tree, the greater the potential hazard. Select a tree carefully, making sure it is not dry. Branches should bend without breaking, and needles should not fall when branches are shaken.

Locate the tree away from television sets, radiators, heaters and especially the fireplace. Set it well away from stairways, curtains or drapes where it may be overturned. Do not use cotton, paper, angel hair or snow spray on a tree which has lights strung on the boughs. Lighted wax candles should never be used on a tree.

Discard all frayed cords. Keep light bulbs away from tree needles, drapes and other combustible materials. Use a step ladder or chair when decorating a tall tree.

Artificial trees can be as hazardous as live trees. Plastic trees burn and trees made of metal or metallic materials are potential electrical shock hazards. Lighting should never be strung on metal trees.

Take care to avoid too many lights on one cord or circuit. Overloaded wiring will feel warm when it is touched. Never install larger fuses to carry the load. This can cause failure of the house wiring and cause a fire. Never run wiring under a rug where it may be subject to undetected but hazardous damage.

Be particularly careful when handling exterior wiring, especially when in contact with wet surfaces. Wait until it is dry outside before changing bulbs. Metal gutters and downspouts are good electrical conductors and should never be used to support wiring. The same is true of metal siding. Lights strung on these metal surgaces can become charged, and result in electrocution.

Disconnect Christmas lighting before retiring or when leaving the home, particularly if for an extended time.

"Please be careful so that we may all have a Merry Christmas season," said Wimmer.

A $1 gold piece was coined in 1849 but proved to be too small and was discontinued.

Authorization On Cleaner Is Sought

District Mgr. Charles A. Joseph was to seek authorization to proceed with a digester cleaning project at the Novato treatment plant at an adjourned meeting of the Novato Sanitary district board at 6 p.m. today at the office of the North Marin County Water District, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

Joseph estimated the cleaning project would cost $7,500.

emainder of Hazardous et Pills Off Shelves

ASHINGTON (UPI) —The f the thyroid-amphetamine ills, once used by millions, been removed from the et two years after govern- scientists declared them rdous and ineffective.

e Food and Drug Adminis- on (FDA), armed with a rable court decision, an- ced Wednesday it had led 3.3 million tablets and ules made by Lemmon macal Co., Sellersville, Pa. e FDA said it originally d 112 companies manufac- g, repacking or distribut- he thyroid-amphetamines, asked them early this year to remove all stocks from the market. Thirteen refused.

Seven of the balky companies eventually stopped marketing the drugs, and the FDA seized the stocks of the other six. The seizure of the Lemmon Pharmacal Co. stocks came after a court order that supported the FDA.

The final action came two years after the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council (NAS-NRC) declared the drugs ineffective for weight control and hazardous because of the increased risk of heart failure.

Many doctors began prescribing amphetamines alone for weight control following the NAS-NRC report.

Thyroid alone is sometimes prescribed for patients with a thyroid deficiency, one symptom of which is sluggishness.

Amphetamines — sometimes called pep pills or uppers — affect the body's metabolic processes.

The FDA said amphetamines are becoming so plentiful they are finding their way into "improper channels of trade" in large numbers. The FDA said they should be used only for "short term treatment of obesity" and for two relatively rare ailments — uncontrollable sleepiness (narcolepsy) and hyperkinetic behavior disorders in children.

Israel In Denial To Train Bomb

By United Press International

Palestinian guerrillas said today they blew up an Israeli train in the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River Monday night in an attack that killed and wounded a number of passengers.

Israel said a Jerusalem-Haifa train had struck a bread truck, injuring three passengers and the truck drivers, all Arabs. They denied any bombing.

A spokesman in Beirut for the Command of the Palestinian Revolution said the commandos attacked the train near Beit Hafafa as the train was en route from Jerusalem to Haifa.

TRAIN COACHES

The guerrillas said the explosions destroyed several coaches of the train and "our fighters returned safely to their bases."

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said today the United States has turned from U2 spy planes to artificial satellites to carry out "espionage operations" along the Suez Canal front.

The United States announced earlier this week that U2 plane surveillance of the Suez Canal had been stopped three weeks ago. Al Ahram said the American satellites have been sending data about the Egyptian front to an American relay station in West Germany for retransmission to Washington.

King Hussein of Jordan wound up his reconciliation talks in Egypt today and flew to London on the third leg of his six-nation tour.

The king conferred twice with President Anwar Sadat on the Jordanian situation and official sources said Hussein emphasized his government's desire to honor the peace pacts that ended the September fighting in Jordan and aims of his trip, which also takes him to Washington, Paris and Bonn.

ARREST TOLD

A Beirut newspaper said today Syria has arrested an Israeli Jew who worked his way into the highest ranks of the Syrian Baath party and spied on one regime after another for seven years.

The newspaper, the French-language L'Orient, attributed its report to "well-informed Syrian sources." The newspaper identified the Israeli as Ahmed Rabah.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli military correspondents reported today the Soviet Union is building up its military command structure in Egypt and that there are now perhaps 100 of Soviet generals in Egypt.

Once Mighty Grizzly Is Becoming A Scarce Species

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The grizzly bear, old Ursus arctos horribilis, is a truly awesome beast.

He can outrun the fastest human being, and he can punch, bite and rip better than the toughest of the legendary prizefighters who sore spurs in the ring.

But from the grizzly's viewpoint, there is a vastly more dangerous beast — gun-toting man, or, to take a liberty with scientific classification, Homo sapiens horribilis.

Time was, according to biologist Stephen Herrero, when the grizzly was the dominant animal from the West Coast to the Mississippi, south into Mexico, and north to the Arctic Circle.

Some authorities say that before the Spaniards came the grizzly and certain Indian tribes in California competed for such foods as acorns.

"The bear fed as he pleased; the Indians took what was left," says Herrero.

European man with his firearms changed that situation. Now both the numbers and range of the grizzly have dwindled. But the big bears still exist in mountainous parts of Montana, Idaho, and Wyoming, including Glacier National Park and Yellowstone National Park and in areas of Canada and Alaska.

Writing in a recent issue of the magazine Science, Herrero said:

"As man disperses into these northern areas, further encroachments on grizzly habitat and numbers will occur. The last home for this one-time monarch of North America will soon be in game refuges and park sanctuaries."

Man, said Herrero, "must learn to coexist with the bear, or its total extinction in wild population is certain."

Herrero, a research biologist at the University of Calgary in Alberta, Canada, takes the affirmative in the debate over whether grizzlies should be permitted to go on dwelling in national parks frequented by human beings.

There are those who feel it's a case of grizzlies or people and that, therefore, the giant bears must be chased or otherwise removed from the parks.

It is true grizzlies occasionally have inflicted violence on people. But Herrero argues these incidents were frequently the fault of the victims, some of whom met disaster from mother bears while pursuing grizzly cubs to take pictures.

In the 100-year history of North American national parks, which have been visited by at least 150 million humans, only 77 persons have been hurt by grizzly bears.

This is an injury rate of about one per two million visitors. The death rate has been one per 30 million visitors.

Herrero said improved park management and wiser behavior by people (who should stay out of prime grizzly habitats) would reduce even these "negligible" figures.

He proposed that man should accept the small probability of being hurt by grizzlies in order to experience the thrill of becoming "a part of nature."

"This," he said, "is the highest purpose our parks can serve."

Student Struck On The Head

Police reported yesterday that a 17-year-old San Rafael High School student was struck on the head in a bathroom at the school Tuesday.

Laura C. Sabuco of 689 Ridgewood Drive told police she was hit from behind at 10:15 a.m., but did not see her assailant as she made her way to the school nurse's office.

The nurse, police said, sent her to Marin General Hospital by ambulance. She was treated for a bump on the head and a neck bruise.

Fencing Wound

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Italo Maroni, 17, was seriously injured during training at a Milan fencing club Monday when his opponent's foil lost its tip and pierced Maroni's right lung.

EOC's HELP Asks Christmas Gifts

Marin County Economic Opportunity Council's Project HELP is seeking donations of canned foods, clothing, toys and cash as part of a "Christmas for All Marin" program.

The donated goods will provide dinner, new toys and clothing to Marin families who can not afford them for Christmas.

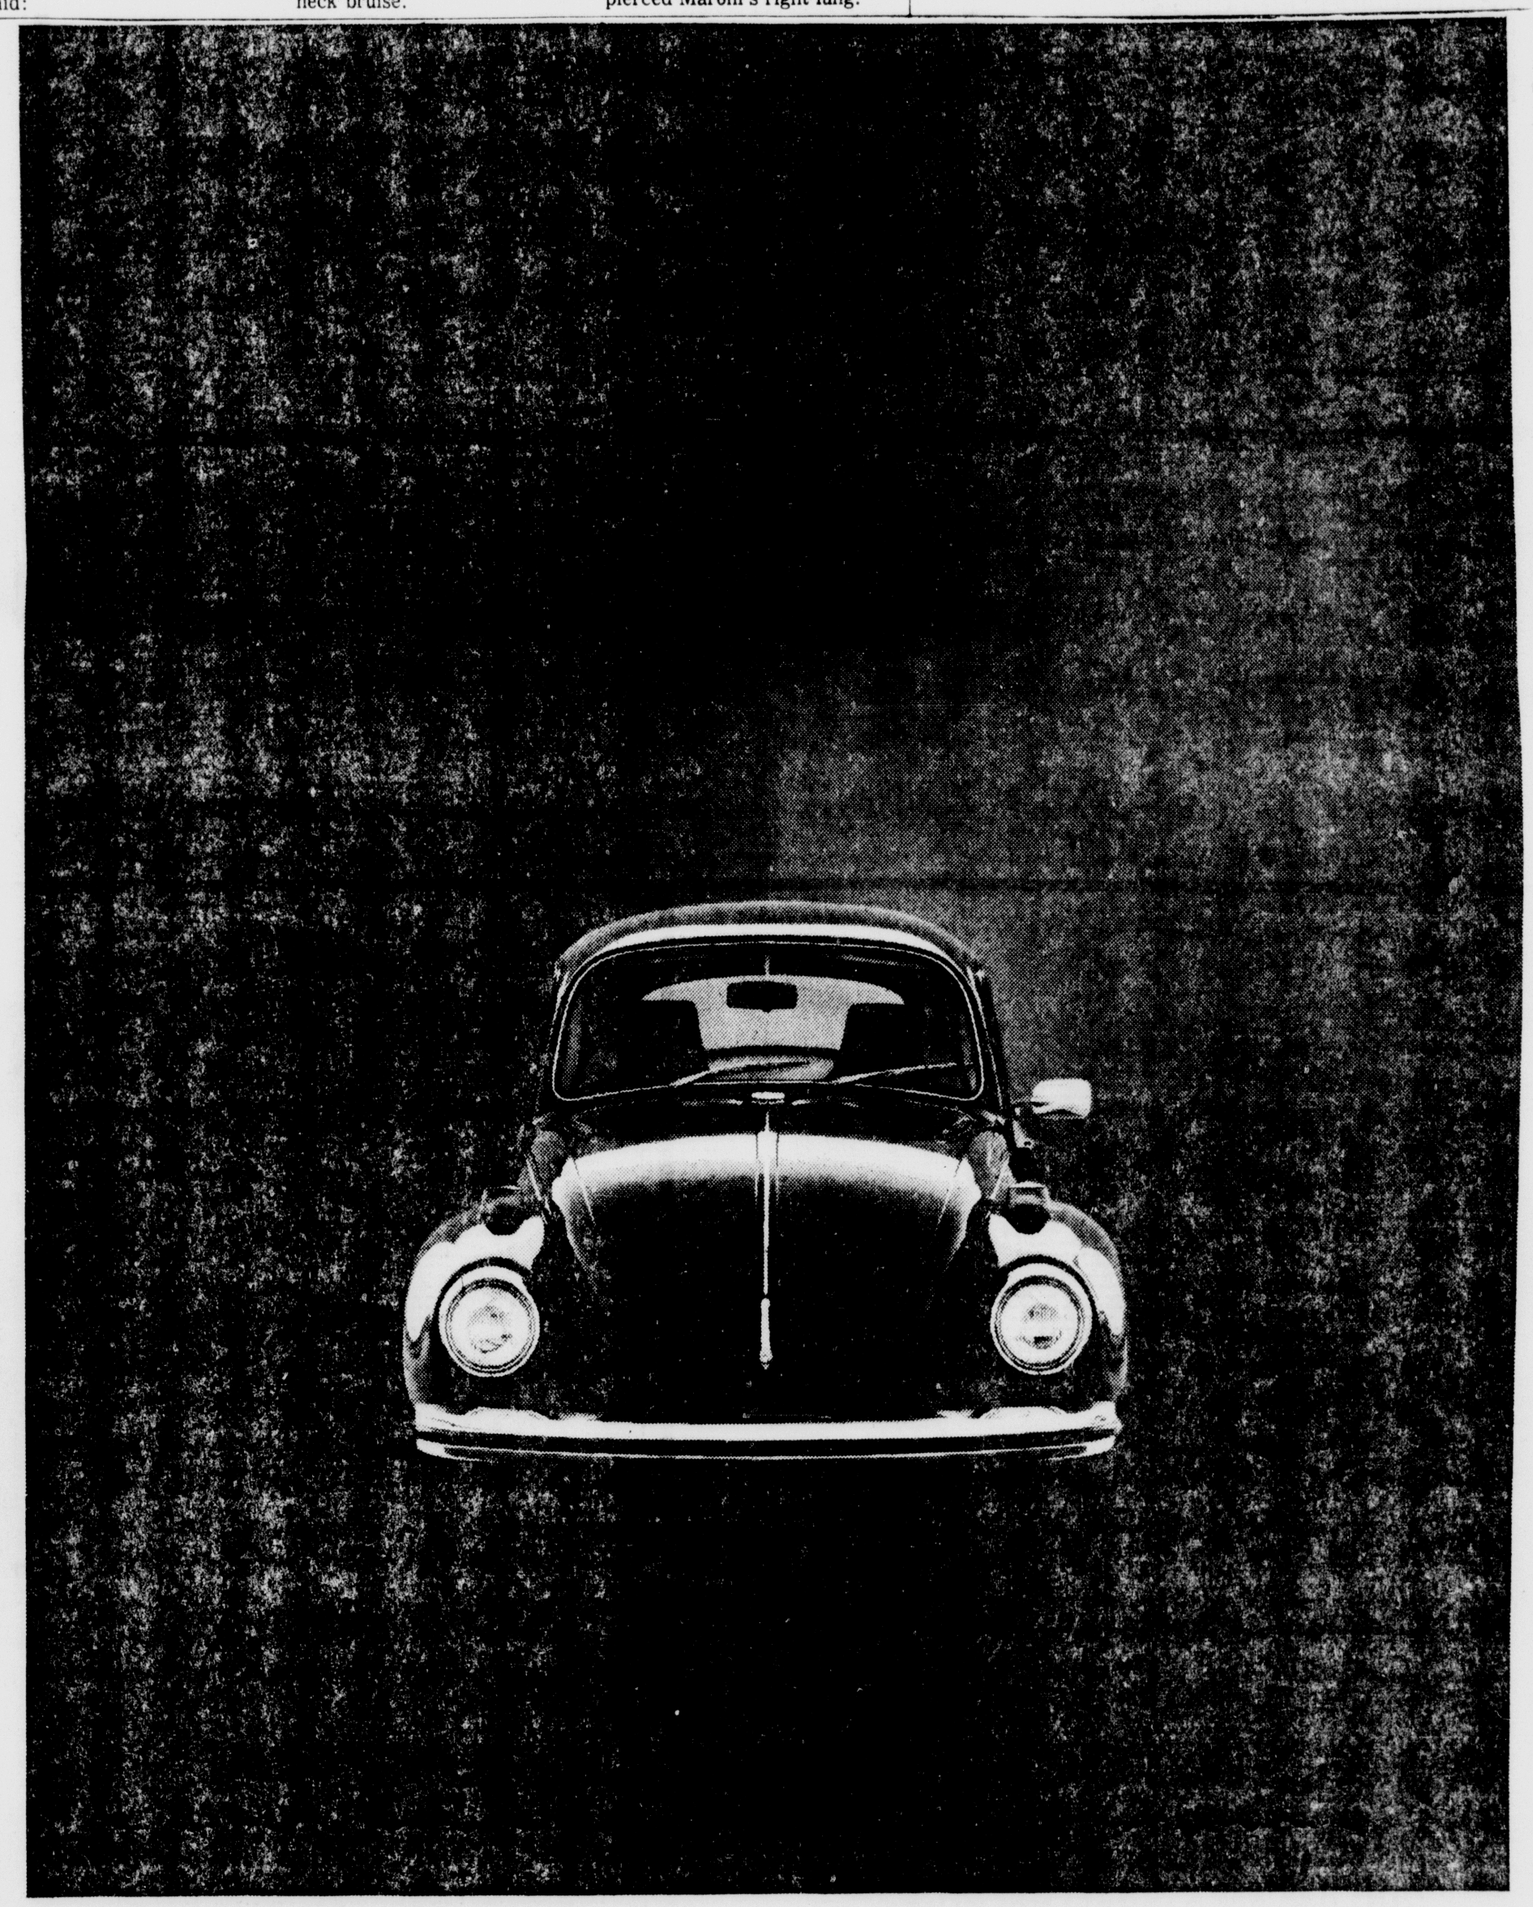
Further information is available from Richard Nielsen at EOC's multi-service center, 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Curbing Of Troops Seen By Europeans

LONDON (UPI) — Despite repeated U.S. denials, diplomats say America's European allies are convinced President Nixon soon will order a withdrawal home of much of the American military force in Europe.

The diplomats say the Europeans are discussing quietly what to do in such a case but, so far, have shied from committing themselves to the costly defense buildup needed to fill up whatever gap a partial U.S. withdrawal would leave.

IT'S NOT A MAZE.



This new car is the best reason not to buy a Volkswagen Beetle.

In a year when every car maker seems to be giving you one reason or another not to buy a Volkswagen Beetle, it might be a good idea to listen to the best reason:

Volkswagen's Super Beetle.

It has almost twice the luggage space as the Beetle of yesteryear.

It has a longer-lasting, more powerful engine.

It has a new suspension system for a smoother ride.

It has a flow-through ventilation system to bring in fresh air when the windows are closed.

The interior is, to be honest, much nicer.

The floor, for example, is fully carpeted.

In all, it has 89 things you could never find on a Beetle.

So of all the claims you'll hear this year by car makers that their cars are "better than a Beetle," there's only one car maker with 25 years experience in small cars to back it up.

Volkswagen.

Dixie Pay Hike Seen Unlikely

Dixie School District teachers seeking an 11.8 per cent hike in their salary schedule for 1970-71 last night faced a school board that apparently isn't going to grant any raise.

Although the board didn't take any action, there was clear indication from individual comment of trustees that teachers will have to wait until next year for any possible pay hikes.

What could have been a heated confrontation evolved into a calm, orderly two-hour discussion of district finances before an audience of about 60 persons, teachers and residents.

Lone spokesman for the teachers was Clark Matthiessen, chairman of the Certificated Employees Council, formerly known as the teachers negotiating council.

Matthiessen probed to determine if the board would grant something less than requested, but to no avail.

At the close of the session, Matthiessen said he would get the teachers' reaction to the turn of events and present it at the board's regular session next Wednesday.

Teachers, who were granted a 2 per cent increase in fringe benefits, but no increase in the salary schedule, were asking a 6.3 per cent cost of living boost and a 5.5 per cent hike needed, they said, to move district pay toward the Bay Area median as of 1969-70.

As trustees questioned the cost of living percentage, Matthiessen commented: "I think 11.8 per cent was to serve notice that teachers feel they are underpaid."

Teachers felt that state funds placed in the budget reserve should have gone to pay raises.

Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff estimated that the proposed pay hike would cost about $300,000 to cover "teachers, principals and librarians."

Board President John A. Starkweather said the district was holding close to the budget it "sold" to the voters in April when seeking a 50-cent increase in the general purpose operating tax rate.

"We're still trying to run the district the way we said we were going to run it this year," Starkweather commented.

It is too late to go back on past decisions, and "I don't like the idea of making changes in midstream," Starkweather said.

Matthiessen said teachers were under the assumption last spring that if additional state funds were forthcoming, there would be a hike in the salary schedule.

Starkweather said the district was in a financial bind when the board decided against any raises except the automatic step increases.

Trustee Earl H. Koehler said the cost of the proposed raises would just about wipe out the district's reserve, estimated at $379,000, leaving the district in poor shape for the 1971-72 school year.

"Would the board be amenable to discuss a smaller amount?" asked Matthiessen.

If salary is the primary consideration of a teacher, "he shouldn't work for a district that has less than average gross wealth behind the pupils," Starkweather said. "You ought to pick a district that is a little wealthier."

He said teachers apparently are interested in the total program "or they wouldn't stay in this impoverished school district."

The board adjourned until 8 p.m. Wednesday at the district office, 35 Trellis Drive.

Youth Fined $50 For Gas Weapon

Terrence D. Maguire, 24, of San Francisco, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of having a tear gas weapon.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. fined him $50 Tuesday for the offense.

Maguire had earlier been charged with a felony count of having the illegal weapon when arrested by the California Highway Patrol Oct. 23.

Inspection Meeting

A special meeting of the San Anselmo School District board will be held Saturday to inspect the buildings and sites of Isabel Cook and Red Hill Schools. The board will meet at Isabell Cook at 9 a.m. and at Red Hill at 10:45 a.m.

Suit To Open Oceana Road Is Abandoned

Harold E. Gregg, executive director of the Marin Conservation League, has abandoned an attempt to prevent blocking public use of a road in the Oceana Marin Development at Dillon Beach.

Gregg had claimed in a suit filed in Marin Superior Court in September that he had used a road at Estero de San Antonio for more than five years.

He said this usage under a California Supreme Court decision meant the road had been dedicated to the public.

Albert Bianchi, attorney for Highway Properties Inc. and Bodega Bay Lands Inc., developers of Oceana Marin, said yesterday that residents of the area verified that the road has been blocked for years with a locked gate.

Furthermore, Bianchi said that Gregg's claims had also been presented earlier this year to county officials by the Sierra Club and that they had been deemed false.

Bianchi added that his clients had threatened Gregg with a countersuit demanding damages for delaying the development if the suit were not dropped.

After conferences between attorneys, the suit was dismissed last week.

A 70 per cent reduction in the number of cases of small pox in the world has been achieved, says the National Center for Disease Control.

Conservatives Lose AMA Abortion Test

BOSTON (UPI) — The American Medical Association AMA has closed out its second convention of the year, reaffirming a liberalized stand on abortions and opposition to any check on medical fee and services not under doctor control.

Doctors opposed to the new AMA position on abortions adopted in Chicago in June unsuccessfully fought to get the 224-member House of Delegates to return to the AMA's previous stance.

The House, with little debate, turned down two resolutions dealing with the abortion issue with a simple reaffirmation of its new liberal policy.

This policy applies to abortions only the ethical restrictions which govern any other medical procedures, making the operation a private matter between the woman and her physician.

However, the House ordered the AMA to seek disciplinary action against doctors in states where the operation is legal who solicit patients from states where the operation is illegal. Under medical ethics, the solicitation of patients for any medical service is prohibited.

The move was seen as being directed against New York.

The antiabortion forces apparently ran out of steam following a reference committee hearing which they dominated in urging a clarification of the new policy that would have, in effect, brought back the old stance. That position allowed "therapeutic abortions" when the health or life of the mother was threatened with the birth or if there was a good chance the infant would be born deformed or mentally retarded.

In several related actions, the delegates approved an expansion of "peer review" of medical fees and services, review by doctors only. A bill pending in Congress would give the federal government a voice in checking the reasonableness of fees and other medical costs covered by Medicare and Medicaid.

Military Offers Reimbursements

Information regarding reimbursement for memorial service expenses for military personnel whose remains are not recovered is available from the Marine Corps Reserve in Marin.

Under new federal law, memorial services for military personnel who died after Jan. 1, 1961, are reimbursable.

The reserve office is located at 153 Madison Avenue, San Rafael.

Bonds Sales Go Down In October

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds in Marin County during October totaled $118,393, bringing the 1970 total in the county to $1,285,857, according to Marin volunteer chairman William P. Murray Jr.

The figures are down, Murray said, from October and 10-month totals last year of $149,279 and $1,486,969.

Second Bus To Be Added

A second school bus will be added to transport 58 children who attend Marin's Head Start facility at Manzanita Center in Marin City.

The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council members last night approved the rental of a second bus so that commute time for children can be cut from 90 minutes to about 50 minutes.

Joseph H. Denhart, director of the children's center and the pre-school program, said that one bus now picks up 58 children from San Rafael, San Anselmo, Fairfax and Mill Valley areas, making 25 stops on the way. He said some of the children are on the bus for three hours each day, coming and going.

A delegation of parents jammed the EOC meeting at Tiburon council chambers to back up Denhart's request.

Denhart reported that the Marin County Superintendent of Schools can provide a minibus for the Marin City facility starting Jan. 4, and the cost through June would be about $2,500.

On a motion by Robert P Simmons and a second by Lottie Hall, the EOC members authorized the budget and finance committee and the EOC staff to work with Denhart to arrange for sharing of the $2,500 cost and start the second bus moving Jan. 4.

The EOC members needed little urging from the audience to declare that the new bus for the Head Start facility was the number one priority. Aside from Denhart, only one parent, Dennis Ketterman, spoke in support of the second bus.

Las Gallinas Council Votes For Mulryan

San Rafael Planning Commissioner Lawrence F. Mulryan won the endorsement last night of the Las Gallinas Village Council in his bid for appointment to the San Rafael City Council.

Mulryan — one of eight announced aspirants for the vacancy on the city council — was the only candidate invited to attend the village council meeting. Following some discussion, he was endorsed by a 6-0 vote with three abstentions.

The village council is made up of representatives of 15 special districts, homeowners and improvement associations in an area from Puerto Suello Hill to Lucas Valley.

The vacant seat on the San Rafael council is that of Fred C. Robbins Jr. who resigned to accept appointment to the post of San Rafael City Attorney, succeeding David Menary Jr. who has been named a Marin Municipal Court judge.

Village council president Richard L. Less of the Terra Linda Community Services District introduced the subject of a possible council endorsement by noting that 40 per cent of the population represented on the council lived within the city limits of San Rafael. The other 60 per cent lives right outside the city, he said.

"We are affected just as much by decisions in San Rafael as we are by decisions that we make," he said.

But Frank Solomon Jr., representing Marinwood Community Services District, said he didn't think it right for members of the council like himself, who neither work nor live in San Rafael, to endorse a candidate for San Rafael city government.

The proposed endorsement was compared by James L. McNulty as similar to the United Nations endorsing a candidate for the presidency of the United States. "And yet the United States affects every country in the world," added McNulty who represented Gallinas Village Improvement Association.

After informally agreeing to endorse a candidate, the council turned to the question of which candidate.

Less explained that he had invited only one candidate, Mulryan, to the meeting because, he said, he didn't know if the council would agree to any endorsement.

Less said he had a great deal of faith in Mulryan and Lyle G. Martin of Lucas Valley Homeowners Association said Mulryan was the choice of his organization.

Less twice called to no avail for a motion to endorse Mulryan before Lewis Pollock of Los Ranchitos Improvement Association suggested that perhaps some members of the council did not want to vote in the presence of the candidate.

Less and Martin both praised Mulryan's qualifications for the city council and Alfred M. Petrofsky of Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District made the motion to endorse.

McNulty and Pollock joined Solomon in abstaining, and Mulryan received the votes of Less, Petrofsky, Martin, Herbert C. Belben Jr. of Gallinas Village Community Services District, James Blum of San Rafael Meadows Flood Control Zone board and Robert S. Lansche of Rafael Meadows Improvement Association.

Las Gallinas Valley Council Also:

COMMISSION — Agreed to call a meeting of every special district in the county to see if the majority would favor petitioning the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission to increase its membership by the appointment of two representatives of special districts. The meeting will be held sometime in January at the Marinwood Community Center.

RECONSTRUCTION — Thanked the San Rafael City Council, and especially Councilman John A. Miskimen who was present last night, for the installation of traffic signals at Northgate Drive and Las Gallinas Avenue and the reconstruction of the intersection at Las Gallinas Avenue and Freitas Parkway.

BLACK CANYON — Went on record in favor of a proposal for the City of San Rafael to pay $170,000 for a 539-acre parcel of land in the Black Canyon area being offered to the city by Frank Sinatra and associates. The land is valued at about $1.5 million.

ROAD — Voted to write the county public works department to urge northern extension of Merrydale Road in fiscal 1971-72 and 1972-73.

MEETING — Put over until its next meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 6 discussion of fire protection and a proposal for a full time referee at Marin County Juvenile Hall. The council will meet in the Bank of Marin's Community Room in Northgate Industrial Park.

Chief Would Make Drugs Non-Penal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police Chief Alfred Nelder thinks the problems of drug abuse and drunkeness should be lifted from the Police Department.

If there is one crisis in America today, it's the drug problem," he told a panel discussion Tuesday at the University of San Francisco. "But I don't think arrest is the answer to it, any more than it's the answer to intoxication."

"I think some sort of detoxification center might be the answer, but I'm not a medical person, I'm a policeman."

Ministers To Study Immigration Policy

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Edward Heath will unveil Britain's new policy on commonwealth immigration before January's Commonwealth Prime Minister's meeting in Singapore, diplomats say.

If he follows promises made in the June elections, Heath's policy will put commonwealth immigrants on the same basis as other aliens. He also would end the right of future commonwealth immigrants to settle here permanently once they have been admitted into Britain.

Daredevil Aviatrix Succumbs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Funeral services will be held Saturday for Ruth Law Oliver, a lady daredevil during aviation's early days.

Miss Law, the first woman to loop the loop and one-time holder of the Chicago-New York aerial speed record, died Tuesday. She was 79.

She was 25 years old when she set the speed standard in six hours and seven minutes in 1916.

Miss Law said she was inspired in her exploits by her brother, Rodman Law, the "human fly" who won fame when he climbed the outside of the Flatiron Building in New York. Rodman Law then was fired to earth from a cannon while wearing a parachute—a device his sister eschewed.

"It would have been considered a mark of cowardice," she said.

Miss Law, who bought her first plane from Orville Wright in 1912, served in the first World War but was denied permission to fly in combat.

She flew an old Curtiss biplane after the war in Ruth Law's Flying Circus which barnstormed across the country, appearing at state and county fairs.

In 1922, Miss Law announced she was retiring to a life of quiet domesticity.

"After all, nothing else counts with a woman," she said.

She leaves three nieces.

Police Praised For Conduct During Riot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Mayor Joseph L. Alioto Wednesday praised the San Francisco Police Department for its conduct during the demonstrations against South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

In a letter to Chief Al Nelder, the mayor said the "San Francisco police demonstrated once more they are without question the very best professionals in the country."

Alioto said the "usual policy" of no amnesty will be in force against the 29 demonstrators who were arrested for violence or refusing to obey police orders at the Nob Hill scene Tuesday.

"If convicted," the mayor wrote, "I trust the courts will deal sternly with the defendants."

Out of some 3,500 anti-war demonstrators, only a group of about 200 broke away and participated in violence and property damage.

Three policemen were injured in the fracas, two of them hospitalized overnight and then released.

Twelve persons charged with felonies will appear before Municipal Court Judge Joseph Kennedy Thursday.

Seven others were freed on bail, but one, Eric Joyce, was immediately rebooked on charges of unlawful assembly and refusing to disperse.

Those charged with misdemeanors will appear before Municipal Judges Janet Aitken and John O'Kane.

Damage estimates to property in the Nob Hill area was running into thousands of dollars.

MARSHLANDS SAVED FOR WILDLIFE

These 132 acres (dotted line) of marshland at the head of Tomales Bay may have been saved today for a wildlife preserve. Point Reyes rancher Waldo Giacomini, who wanted to dike them for pasture, signed an option to sell all of his undiked tidelands to Conservation Associates. (See story page 1.) This large area on the west side of the upper bay will become a wildlife sanctuary connecting the bay itself with the woodlands to the west, if terms of the agreement are met.

Juvenile Hall Water Flow To Be Fixed

Marin County will improve the water distribution to Juvenile Hall sometime this spring and then offer the Marinwood Community Services District a contract for furnishing fire protection to the county buildings, according to Marinwood Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield.

John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator; Donald A. Duerr, chairman of the services district, and Bonfield met yesterday to attempt to solve fire protection needs of Juvenile Hall.

Barrows promised that the county would spend the $44,000 budgeted this year on improving the mains and installing fire hydrants, Bonfield reported. The county will furnish the services district with plans of these hydrants and a map of all access roads, Bonfield said.

After the work is done, the county will offer a contract to the CSD board to furnish fire protection to the hall.

A $200 radio was stolen Monday or Tuesday from the display window of Melody TV, 1446 Fourth Street, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Alternative Asked To Low-Cost Housing

The Corte Madera Planning Commission made it clear last night that it opposes any low-cost housing project in the town and recommended appointment of a citizen's committee to seek an alternative to such subsidized housing.

The commission directed Arthur N. Morrison, town planning director, to approach community groups for names of potential members.

Morrison said today the commission's action followed a two-hour presentation by Werner Von Gundell, county planning director, on the proposed inclusion of a housing element in the town's general plan.

Morrison said there was a general concensus at the meeting, attended by representatives from homeowners' associations, parent-teacher associations and the chamber of commerce, that the city should look to methods other than low-cost housing developments.

He said alternatives ranged from permitting "mother-in-law apartments" in single-family residential zones to town subsidized leased housing.

He said subsidizing the leased housing program would involve adding town tax dollars to federal dollars to lease available rental units for low income families.

Morrison said the meeting's discussions primarily concerned the need to provide housing for fixed-income groups such as senior citizens. However, he reminded the group that 36 city employees and many other Marinites have incomes in the $8,000 to $10,000 range and should also be considered.

Man Hurt, Cited In Larkspur Crash

Thomas Leech, 15, of 84 Polhemus Way, Larkspur, was treated Tuesday at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip sustained when the car in which he was riding collided with a parked vehicle at 233 Madrone Avenue, Larkspur.

The driver of the vehicle, Clifford Yates, 16, of 347 Wilson Way, Larkspur, was cited for traveling at an unsafe speed and no drivers license in possession, police said.

According to officers, Yates was northbound at 7:45 p.m. when he hit the parked car owned by Donald A. Denton of 233 Madrone.

Man Hospitalized In Three-Car Crash

Thomas A. Loebsack, 54, of 7903 Burton Avenue, Rohnert Park, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital yesterday for a head cut suffered in a three-car accident at 5:20 p.m. on Highway 101 at Petaluma Boulevard South.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred when a southbound car driven by Ricardo Sosa, 28, of San Francisco, struck a car driven by Roland Hellman, 50, of 32 Manderly Road, San Rafael, and then veered across the divider strip striking the northbound car driven by Loebsack.

IT'S NOT A RACETRACK.

Bigger Field Staffs Will Aid Job-Hunting Veterans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal government's top manpower official said today he is beefing up field staffs around the country to provide better employment service to returning veterans who, a study shows, are having difficulty finding civilian jobs.

The order by Malcolm R. Lovell Jr., assistant secretary of labor for manpower, is part of the "Jobs for Veterans" program launched last week by President Nixon to help returning servicemen.

A recent Bureau of Labor Statistics study showed that the unemployment rate for returning veterans is higher than the overall jobless rate, which was 5.6 per cent in October.

"We have directed our regional manpower administrators to allocate an additional 335 positions to the states," Lovell said in testimony prepared for the Senate Veterans Affairs subcommittee. "This additional staff will be utilized only for 'beefing up' services to veterans, including adequate response to the 'Job for Veterans' program."

He said this was the first time the states have been given specific staff allocations for the sole purpose of improving services to veterans.

Lovell also said the Veterans Employment Service is arranging with the Defense Department to send three representatives to Vietnam, Okinawa and Germany to help counsel servicemen about to be released.

He said the Veterans Employment Service was producing a 12-minute color film to be shown to servicemen in Vietnam, to domestic military bases and to local public employment offices providing information on job seeking for veterans.

The Spanish colonizers introduced cattle, horses, sheep, oranges, lemons and olives into California.

Soldiers Saw Others Talk To Calley, Shoot

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Two former members of 1st Lt. William L. Calley's platoon testified today they had watched men under his command, after he had talked with them, shoot into a ditch into which men, women, and babies had been herded.

Both, however, told a six-officer general court-martial jury they never saw Calley fire his weapon during an American infantry sweep through the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

One of them, Allen Boyce, 22, an apprentice carpenter of Bradley Beach, N. J., testified only after he had been given a written assurance of immunity from criminal prosecution by the commander of Ft. Benning. Prior to that, he had declined to tell of his My Lai experience, pleading the 5th Amendment.

The other witness was Gregory T. Olsen, of Portland, Ore. He testified here substantially as he did last month at a court-martial at Fort Hood, Texas, in which Sgt. David Mitchell was acquitted on charges of assault with intent to murder villagers in My Lai.

Calley, 27, is charged with murdering 102 civilians at My Lai, either by his own rifle fire or that of his men at his direction.

Boyce testified he had observed Calley and Pfc. Paul D. Meadlo "speaking to each other." After that, he said, "Meadlo went over and fired into the ditch."

Boyce said he had seen the group of women, children and old men put into the drainage ditch.

"When he started firing, I turned around," Boyce said. "I just didn't want to look at it. It bothered me. I went back into the village."

He said he saw the ditch again later at the same place as Meadlo had been firing. "People were lying down dead," he said. "Blood was all over them and they were not moving. I looked at them just a few seconds. You don't look at that too long, do you."

On cross-examination, he was asked if an Army criminal investigator who had questioned him after the My Lai case first broke had told him he need have no fear of prosecution.

Boyce said he had, and added: "I asked him, 'Who are you trying to get on this?' and he told me, 'Lt. Calley.'"

In a related development, Paul Narkin, a Hong Kong attorney who said he was representing 59 survivors of the alleged My Lai massacre, filed a $400 million suit Wednesday against Calley and the U.S. government.

And Narkin said he would seek a 10-day delay today in the court-martial of Calley so he can bring some of the survivors from Vietnam in hopes they could identify Calley.

Narkin filed his suit in U.S. District Court at nearby Columbus, Ga., and announced the filing through a telephone call to the press room at Ft. Benning.

The suit names as defendants Calley, Army Secretary Stanley Resor and Defense Secretary Melvin Laird. It seeks $200 million in compensatory damages and $200 million in punitive damages.

TALKS

conclude that you indeed have something to hide (and) your claims of humanitarian treatment are open to the most serious question," he said in criticizing Hanoi's refusal to discuss the prisoners' condition, or exchange.

Thuy and the chief Viet Cong negotiator, Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, returned to the talks today after boycotting them a week to protest the recent U.S. raids. Both said the Communists would fight on to "total victory" if the United States did not accept their peace plans.

Thuy said the Dec. 1 warning by U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird that the United States might carry out new commando raids to save captive American pilots was a threat to carry out "pirate acts."

"We wish to state that the American pilots captured while committing crimes in North Vietnam come under the sole jurisdiction of the North Vietnamese government and that the latter has applied to them a humane policy and that it will take measures likely to assure their security," Thuy said.

"The U.S. government will have to assume full responsibility for the adventurous acts it plans to carry out in this field."

He did not spell out what steps Hanoi would take if U.S. commandos carried out new raids against the POW camps.

Thuy said the only way to insure the safety of American troops in South Vietnam is to remove them from South Vietnam.

The wiry, tough-speaking Hanoi diplomat said, "If the Nixon administration truly is preoccupied about the fate of American pilots then it must respect the sovereignty and security of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam."

Thuy's statement was in reply to a plea by U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce on Tuesday to exchange 36,000 Communist prisoners for 5,000 Allied captives.

said there had been considerable progress in both Indochina and the Middle East since the council last met in May, but prospects for peace in both areas remained unclear.

He said the climate for a peaceful settlement in the Middle East never had been better, however. But he described the Vietnam War talks in Paris as sterile and without any progress.

Rogers said the United States is conducting an intensive study of future policy on Communist China but would not consider withdrawing support for Nationalist China's continued membership in the United Nations.

He said the United States is cautiously optimistic about the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks with the Soviet Union, describing meetings as businesslike and the soviet negotiators as serious.

But he said the United States does not believe sufficient progress has been made to warrant further movement at this time toward a European security conference, as the Soviet Union has proposed.

FENCE

dimensional structure. Each piece was placed with a lot of thought."

Ceniceros told the council he would move the fence if someone objected to it. "But there hasn't been a single complaint."

Appleton corrected Ceniceros explaining it was a complaint that brought the illegally constructed fence to his attention.

The complainant was "over 80 and senile," Kay Richards, a neighbor and supporter of Ceniceros, told the council. "And he has since moved."

Mrs. Richards told the council the fence has brought compliments from 15 people interested in buying an adjacent home.

Richards said it's not a question of whether it's aesthetically pleasing or not, but rather whether the dentist has the right to use his property the way he wants to.

"If he enjoys it, I say give him a chance," he said. "I've seen him (Ceniceros) walking around the hillside picking up beer cans . . . he's a good neighbor, a few more in the county like him wouldn't hurt much."

Only one councilman, Neil R. Bixon, said he did not like the appearance of the structure.

"It's an irregular height," he said. "and it might appeal to some but not to me." Brixon said he preferred the standard, plain fence.

Other councilmen, however, indicated a likeness for the fence but said its nonconformity could not be allowed for fear of setting a precedent.

Councilman William G. Fleckles told Ceniceros he appreciated what he had done, but couldn't grant the appeal because no unusual circumstance was involved and suggested the fence be cut (from the bottom) to the six-foot limit. Thus preserving the appearance.

The council agreed and gave the dentist until August to bring the fence into conformity or abate it.

Ceniceros said later any cutting of the fence would ruin it. "I think it's beautiful as is. I can't cut it."

Man's Gear Found In Bay, Hope Fades

I-J Special Report

OROVILLE — Hope has faded for the life ofr a 36-year-old Novato man with the finding of a hat, life jacket, duck decoy and paddle at Thermalito Afterbay in Butte County where he disappeared Saturday.

Sheriff's deputies are searching for the body of Ben C. Andrews of 703 Lamont Avenue following the discovery of the items in the Afterbay where waters are about 100 feet deep.

Butte County undersheriff Richard Stenberg said if searchers can locate Andrews' boat, they have a good chance of finding his body.

Andrews set out on a duck hunting trip at the Afterbay, near the Oroville Dam Project in an eight-foot boat Saturday morning shortly before the area was swept by storms creating four-foot swells.

Youth Recovering In Sonoma Case

A 16-year-old Petaluma boy was reported in satisfactory condition today at Community Hospital of Sonoma County suffering from a possible overdose of drugs.

Sheriff's inspector Raymond Nunnely withheld the youth's name, but said two young men said they found him at 11 p.m. yesterday sprawled on the ground at Magnolia and Gossage avenues.

The youths took the unconscious boy to Petaluma General Hospital where he was treated and transferred to the Santa Rosa Hospital for intensive care. Nunnely said the boy's condition may have been caused by a combination of drugs and wine.

FTC Slaps Kava Television Ad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) accused Bordon, Inc., today of false advertising in television commercials promoting "Kava Instant Coffee."

In the commercials, a meter measures the comparative acidity of Kava and other brands. The needle swings to the extreme right with Kava, to the extreme left with other brands.

Really, the FTC said, the meter used has only 2 units expanded to cover a 14 unit scale. Hence a one unit swing of the needle looks like seven units, and "exaggerates or misrepresents the disparity between the acidity of Kava Instant Coffee and the acidity of competing unnamed brands."

Birthday Surprise For Frank Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Nancy Sinatra and producer-choreographer Hugh Lambert will be married Dec. 12 —her father Frank's 55th birthday.

"We decided since daddy likes to give things away on his birthday he ought to give me away," said Miss Sinatra.

It will be the second marriage for both. Miss Sinatra divorced singer Tommy Sands in 1965. The wedding will be in Cathedral City, Calif., a few miles from Sinatra's Palm Springs home.

Burglary Reported

Novato police reported today that someone broke into Cain's Tires at 7090 Redwood Highway and took $20 in cash and four tires valued at $162. The burglary occurred between 9:10 p.m. Tuesday and 7:30 a.m. yesterday, police said.

sion of the crime, is equally responsible for the crime.

The portions of testimony read yesterday were those of Daly's widow, Stephanie, who said she saw Thurber sitting in a parked car across the street from the Daly home sometime prior to July 4, and of Hoyt Henley, a neighbor of Thurber, who testified he saw Thurber, Thurber's son, Michael, and Wamsley and Rutherford get into Thurber's car about 6 p.m. the day of the shooting.

The payroll records were presented during the trial by defense attorney Nathan Cohn to indicate that Thurber worked at his San Francisco Newspaper Co. job until 5:15 p.m. the day of the shooting.

But the company's payroll accountant who testified admitted the records were filled in by another member of the Mailers Union and that he could not be certain that Thurber did indeed work until 5:15 p.m.

The records were not available when the jury requested them yesterday because Cohn had not entered them as evidence.

STORM

but there was no major problem.

Rainfall reported for 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today included .45 in San Anselmo, .40 at the Fairfax fire station, .40 in the Marin Civic Center-Santa Venetia area, .39 in Bolinas, .36 in Point Reyes Station, .32 at Novato, .31 in Tiburon, .30 in the Chevy Chase area of Larkspur, .25 in Belvedere, .22 in Mill Valley, .17 in Tamalpais Valley and only .10 in Susalito.

U.S. weather forecasters said the Bay Area's outlook was for 60 per cent chance of showers tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow, with westerly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Skies cleared for several hours late yesterday, but the new storm front today brought renewed warnings of snow in the Sierra, down to 3,000-foot elevation.

Trans-Sierra highways 50 and 80 were reopened last night to light vehicles with chains, after both major roads were closed for hours yesterday by blinding blizzards.

Manson Fugitive Turns Himself In

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The bizarre Tate murder trial took another strange twist yesterday when another of the "Manson Family," Brice Davis, surrendered to deputies on a street corner outside the courthouse.

Davis had been sought for another slaying in which Charles Manson is accused — that of musician Gary Hinman.

Meanwhile, prospects for a mistrial for one of the female defendants in the Tate case grew stronger as police sought defense lawyer Ronald Hughes, who has been missing since last weekend. The state prosecutor has expressed concern for his safety.

Craft Fair To Benefit School

A dinner and craft fair to benefit Shasta School will be held from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Community Congregational Church, 145 Rockhill Drive, Tiburon.

Crafts, including candles, Christmas cards and leatherwork will be available for sale.

Funds raised will help support faculty and purchase supplies for the free, experimental school for high school age young people at 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

IT'S NOT A FREEWAY.

Bayside Acres Annexation Plan Moving Ahead

The San Rafael Sanitation District board yesterday agreed it will approve annexation of the Bayside Acres area to the district if and when an assessment district is formed to finance sewer construction in the area.

District engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. said the board's action was agreeable to Clinton Lewis, president of the Bayside Acres Property Owners Association, who attended the board's meeting.

The board yesterday called for bids on pumps and mechanical equipment for the planned Francisco Boulevard Pumping Station and on the construction of a small building at the district's main treatment plant on Irene Street. Bids for both contracts will be opened at 5 p.m. Dec. 23, Caillouette said.

The board's next meeting will be at 5 p.m. Dec. 16.

Radio Station Work Approved

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved Western California Telephone Co.'s plans for fencing and landscaping at its base radio station, east of San Andreas Drive and northeast of Andreas Court.

The committee called for vertical redwood slat fencing at the site.

Committee members also agreed to protest to the Marin County Board of Supervisors that the enclosure for mechanical equipment at the Novato branch of the county library under construction off Novato Boulevard, near Seventh Street, does not conform to approved plans.

Union Leader Loses Election

NEW YORK (UPI)—The head of the New York postal union local which spearheaded the nation's first mail strike was defeated narrowly Wednesday night in his bid for re-election.

Gus Johnson, president of the Manhattan and Bronx letter carrier's union representing 7,300 mailmen, lost by about 700 votes to Vincent Sombrotto who accused him of trying to "keep on with the system, the system . . . that wasn't applicable to the times."

About 4,000 ballots were cast.

Earlier in the week, a group of letter carriers vowed to oust Johnson because of his "complacency" and "do-nothing replacency" and "do-nithing records."

Truck Driver Hurt When Rig Flips Over

A truck driver from Ceres, Stanislaus County ,was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with multiple injuries suffered when his rig overturned at 8:20 a.m. yesterday on Lakeville Highway off-ramp from Highway 101, Petaluma.

The hospital reported that Raymond Sanchez, 37, suffered a broken left arm, shoulder and pelvis. The California Highway Patrol said the tractor trailer rig carrying plywood overturned on a sharp curve pinning him inside.

OBITUARIES

Margaret Clowers Dies At 53

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Margaret Ellen Clowers, 53, wife of Dr. Walter Clowers, Sonoma County public health director, was found dead at their Santa Rosa home Tuesday night.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said death was apparently due to natural causes. Her body was discovered on the bathroom floor when Dr. Clowers returned home from work at 5:20 p.m.

She is also survived by a daughter, Linda of Santa Rosa.

ALFRED McVICAR

Private family funeral was held yesterday for Alfred McVicar, 73, of San Rafael.

McVicar, who for many years was assistant manager of the Commercial Club of San Francisco, retired before coming to San Rafael two years ago. He died Tuesday in a local hospital following a long illness.

He was a native Californian. He is survived by a sister, Christina A. Thomas of San Rafael, and a brother, George A. McVicar of San Francisco.

Private inurnment in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma, followed the funeral.

MALCOM CRAFT

Funeral for Malcolm O. Craft, of 32 Andrew Drive, Tiburon, will be held in Woodward, Iowa, his home town.

Craft died Monday at home of an apparent heart attack, according to his doctor. He was 64.

Craft had been a resident of California 12 years and Marin County three years. He was a retired Veteran's Administration employee, having worked in Berkeley and San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Violet, of the home address.

Burial will be in Woodward, Iowa.

RUBY PERESADA

Ruby Peresada, 75, of Petaluma, died today at a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of London, England, Mrs. Peresada moved to San Francisco 52 years ago and to Petaluma 12 years ago. Her hsuband, Wesley, is a retired cemetery caretaker.

She is also survived by three daughter,s Daisy Benito of Petaluma, Ruby Meier of Cloverdale and Mary Kuah of Minnesota; three sons, John Lyle of Cloverdale, Billy Lyle of Montana and Albert Millerwize of Hayward; 22 grandchildren, and 21 great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Intombment will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

BURNETT CANNON

Burnett J. Cannon, 53, a retired livestock inspector, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

A native of Two Rock, he had lived in the Petaluma area all of his life. Cannon was employed by the state Department of Agriculture as a livestock inspector, retiring in 1964 due to ill health. He lived at 20 West Street.

He is survived by his mother, Marie Cannon of Petaluma; two sons, Calvin J. and Gregory of Petaluma; two daughters, Patricia of Petaluma and Sherry Long of San Diego; a brother, Leslie of Petaluma; a sister, Evelyn Brodersen of Garberville, and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma. Private burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Mrs. Melbostad Seeks Dissolution

Gloria W. Melbostad, former Tamalpais High School Board president, has filed a petition in Marin Superior Court asking dissolution of her marriage to J. Richard Melbostad.

According to the petition, the couple was married in June 1954 in San Francisco. They separated Oct. 21 of this year. There are three sons of the marriage, whose ages range from 10 to 15 years.

Mrs. Melbostad asked division of community property, including the family home at 355 Vista Linda, Mill Valley, as well as support for herself and the children.

Mrs. Melbostad, now a history instructor at College of Marin, resigned from the board last June after serving almost six years. Her husband is a manufacturer's representative in the lumber industry.

Stanford Pot Use Seen Up Sharply

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Of Stanford University's 5,700 students, 69 per cent have smoked marijuana at least once, a research study shows.

A similar study in 1966-67 showed 21 per cent experimented with pot.

Mrs. Emile Garfield, who headed the latest study for the Institute of Public Policy analysis, said only 11 per cent reported using marijuana twice weekly or more and that there is "very, very little" abuse of so-called hard drugs.

CHP Recruits Getting Younger

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The average age of the California Highway Patrol recruit has dropped from 26.6 to 25 the past five years, according to CHP Commissioner H.W. Sullivan.

The commissioner also said Wednesday that almost 80 per cent of the new officers were married with an average of slightly more than one child.

Pot Charge Dropped On Analysis Problem

A marijuana possession charge against Karen Scott and Gary Haggett of 320 Glen Park Avenue, San Rafael, was dismissed Tuesday by Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney's office was not ready to proceed.

It was reported that the contraband seized when the couple was arrested on Sept. 15 had not been analyzed yet because the district attorney's office is having problems making arrangements for chemists.

LITTLE KIDS VISIT BIG KIDS SCHOOL

Forty three moppets from the Montessori School, Inc., in Corte Madera visited Tamalpais High School yesterday morning with their teachers and three mothers to see how different another school can be from theirs. All went well despite one nosebleed and much splashing thruogh puddles. The latter, says school directress Mrs. Margaret Sheeny, was probably one of the most enjoyable parts of the trip for the rain-clad little people. Tamalpais student Alice Jacobs conducted the tour, assisted by Sandy Behnken and Tamalpais activities director Joe Petterle. "Wouldn't that be fun?" one of the tots shouted as they watched Vicki von Lackum performing on the trampoline, right.

(I-J photos by Jim Kean)

IN THE WOOD shop the nursery school students are fascinated as they watch high school student Jim Oliveira's hands using a stapler on the kayak he is making. The field trip also included visits to a sculpture class, photography class, art metal class, the band room and the home economics department where they were served juice and cookies.

Kathleen Richards Recites Vows With James Morgan In San Rafael

Kathleen Virginia Richards and James Morgan were married Saturday at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in San Rafael. A reception at the Robson House in San Anselmo followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell S. Richards of San Anselmo are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of Atkinson, Neb.

Cathy Lavaroni of San Anselmo was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mary Lou Sauber of San Rafael and the bridegroom's sister Patricia Morgan of Atkinson.

Bill Sauber of Fairfax was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bridegroom's brother John Morgan of Chicago and the bride's brother Gary Richards of San Anselmo.

Following a wedding trip to Southern California the couple will live in Albuquerque, N.M.

Kathleen was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin. She is also the sister of Steve Richards, who is with the Navy in Puerto Rico; Mary Elaine Richards of Moffet Field; and Gordon Richards of San Anselmo. Mrs. May Griffin of San Francisco is her grandmother. Prior to her marriage the bride was employed by Industrial Indemnity in San Francisco.

James was graduated from high school in Atkinson and attended the University of Nebraska. Harold Richards of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. LaVerne Krieger, Pete, Michael and Maureen Richards of Atkinson are also his brothers and sisters. He is employed by Sutter Aircraft Co. in Albuquerque.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Gemini Boyfriend Isn't An Easy Person To Get To Know

DEAR HELEN:

"Teeny Bopper Who Knows" (who put you down for publishing the "What Is A?s" that come from your readers) don't know nuthin'! All in favor of those clever descriptions say "Aye!!!"

I doubt that any girl in the know would ever sign herself "teeny bopper." She's unreal. — FOR THE "WHAT IS A?" SERIES

DEAR FOR:

Thanks, friend. Here's one with a new twist:

What Is A Gemini Boy Friend?

He has a smile like a Cheshire cat and eyes that light up the sky.

He's a great one for throwing you into the swimming pool with your clothes on.

He's either an hour early or an hour late for a date.

He's a barrel of surprises.

He gets upset sometimes, but a smile always seems to calm him down a little.

He's always there when someone needs a friend.

He has a love of life.

He'll call you at 4:00 a.m. to say "Hi," and reverse the charges.

He wears sunglasses at night, and drives a foreign car that always manages to snag your nylons.

He could charm your grandmother into wearing a mini skirt.

He may forget your birthday, but he'll bring a bottle of champagne on your six-month "first-date" anniversary.

He's the only person you know who actually enjoys hamburgers and beer by candlelight.

He'll take you for a romantic evening walk on the beach and lose the car in the fog.

He has travel in his soul, but he'll always think of you as home. Don't be too hurt if he rarely writes; he's dreaming of you (constantly).

He's a man, and he's a little boy.

He isn't an easy person to get to know; but to know him is to love him.

There's more, much more, but that all comes with the barrel of surprises. — DAISY

DEAR HELEN:

Either "Fasting Against My Will" is dating my boy friend, or there are two stingy guys running around here.

This fella I was going with is good looking, has a real good job (an engineer) — and our first date was spent feeding the ducks in the nearby park. In the month I dated him, he blew a grand total of $2.50 for a movie (second run). The other times we rode around (not far), sat in front of our television or in the park. Once he ordered a pizza, but forgot to pick it up.

As for his car, he has a '70 sports job with air conditioning, stereo, vinyl roof — the works — and he treats it like a baby. He was a great conversationalist too. It was always "my job," "my apartment," "my car . . . camera, stereo . . . etc."

Thanks, Helen, for your advice to famw. You killed two going-nowhere romances with one shiv. — FASTING NO MORE

DEAR FNM:

Always happy to help. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Jeff Rawles Claims Bride

Married in the chambers of Judge David Menary Monday at the Marin County Hall of Justice were Jeffrey Rawles of San Rafael and Mary Catherine Shelton of Southfield, Mich.

Judge Menary, longtime friend of the Rawles family, performed the 12:30 p.m. ceremony.

Following the exchange of vows a family reception was held at the Spinnaker restaurant in Sausalito.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Rawles of San Rafael and the brother of Norris Rawles Jr. He was graduated from San Rafael High School and will be graduated next month from San Jose State College.

Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shelton of Southfield, Mich. and the sister of William Shelton of Huntington, Mich.

Mary is a graduate of Western Michigan University and has been a teacher in Michigan.

The couple plan to visit her parents in Michigan during the Christmas holidays. They are living in Kentfield.

JUST BACK from a lengthy audition tour of German opera houses, Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo advises American singers to "forget it!" "There are too many Americans over there with the same idea, and the Germans are tired of us."

Soprano Finds No Jobs In Tour Of German Houses

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin soprano Gwen Curatilo has some advice for young singers planning to gain experience in German opera houses. Forget it! — unless you are a heldentenor or dramatic soprano, or have time and money to spend.

Gwen, who recently returned from a seven weeks' audition tour of these opera houses arranged by a top New York agent, says this has been the procedure followed by almost all young American singers because there are so many opera houses in Germany and only a few big ones in this country.

"I DID come back with a contract for guest appearances next summer with the Munich Chamber Opera under composer-conductor Eberhardt Schoerner, who also directs the Munich Summer Festival," she says.

"My husband (Joseph Curatilo, head of the Dixie School District music department) and children (Jan, 15, and Christopher, 8,) will go with me. I have given up my original ambition of a two-year contract with one of the year-round opera houses."

There are many reasons, Gwen explains, the main one being the price to be paid to be a "jet set singer," always traveling while at the same time trying to fulfill family responsibilities.

"I was offered a contract immediately with the Chamber Opera, but it would have meant staying in Europe three months," she says, "and I would have had to cancel my present concert engagements in this country. Also I had not planned to leave my family since I considered this just an audition tour."

WHY SHE abandoned the idea of a two-year contract after visiting, in addition to Munich, Duesseldorf, Hamburg, Frankfort, Vienna, Weisbaden and Cologne is an interesting story.

"There are too many Americans over there with the same idea," Gwen says, "and the Germans are tired of us. Ninety per cent of the people waiting to audition were Americans, and there were many Germans who could not get jobs. There may be many opera houses, but there are few jobs. I saw many people on their last money who were desperate for a job.

"If you are an American, you are told you have to start at the bottom in a small house with few chances of anybody important hearing you, no matter what experience you have. It could take five years to get where you already are in this country. The pay is small, not enough for a family to live on, and hours are long. The only advantage would be a chance to become fluent in the language," says Gwen.

"Another surprise was that I was amazed to find that Germans are extremely conscious of vocal categories determined by type of voice and roles sung. They will let you audition only in the category in which they have classified your voice, and you do not audition unless there is an opening in your category.

"They said I was a coloratura soubrette, but I don't think I am one exclusively, and I don't as a rule do this type of role. My voice is heavier than that. But that is what I was hired as, and I couldn't fight it. Fortunately my contract allows me to be more versatile.

"I CAN DO lyric coloratura roles because they have a little more meat in them, and you don't have to sing in the stratosphere. They thought it funny that I had sung Butterfly in "Madam Butterfly" and Mimi in "La Boheme" because they think these roles should be sung by a big dramatic voice. I have built a career on Butterfly, and I don't intend to give her up.

"I auditioned for many German agents and got another big surprise. They are public servants hired by the government and anybody can audition for them."

Incidentally, Gwen sang in German the entire recital she sang last summer on a Marin Music Chest concert.

"I was ill advised to go on this tour," she noted, "especially during the Octoberfest when there are no hotel accommodations available and everything is overcrowded."

Nevertheless, Gwen says she is satisfied because she now knows the answer is guest appearances abroad.

"MUNICH IS one of Europe's most important cities musically, where being heard can lead to further engagements. I will get my European credits and reviews without having to be buried for years."

Further advice Gwen offers to singers contemplating auditions in Germany is not to go without fluency in the language. She could speak some German through having learned it from Sabine Schmidt of Mappen-am Ems, an exchange student who lived with the Curatilo family in Terra Linda. She says her visit with Sabine in her home town was the only truly happy experience she had in Germany.

"Really incredible language difficulties are caused by the telephone," she recalls, shuddering at the thought of the experiences she endured.

"Most of what I had to do involved using the telephone. Apparently there are not enough phones — people stand in long lines to use them. It can take three hours just to get information. I could get along speaking face to face because you get clues from people's expressions and gestures — but on the phone? Utter confusion. Added to that are problems of dialects and idiomatic expressions.

Getting help from people who speak English is not so easy as it sounds," she points out. "If you have plenty of time, you can always find someone, but if you are in a hurry, you can never find anyone."

TRYING TO decipher train and plane schedules was a pure horror, she says, because they are not only in German but abbreviated. Adding to the misery was the absence of anyone to handle baggage.

"My hands blistered and finally bled from dragging my luggage," she said, showing callouses as the final result.

En route home the young singer discovered that New York is not the answer to promoting a career either.

"I sang for Menotti and Julius Rudel, director of the New York City Opera, and several other managers, but learned that if you don't live in New York or near there, your chances of getting engagements are almost non-existent. Unless you are in New York you are not available for auditions where it counts. Most singers around the country are booked out of New York, but they are standing in line for every job. We are cranking out people with degrees in the performing arts, and there are no jobs for them. Ironically, American agents are handling European artists.

"MARY COSTA tried to encourage me to continue my career on the West Coast, for I do have a career here and can continue to develop through guest appearances in Europe, and, of course, I want to continue teaching private pupils.

"I was never so happy to come home," Gwen finished. "California has got to be one of the world's most beautiful places. We have quite a country here. Going to Europe made me realize this. I would even like to become involved politically in order to preserve what we have.

"Also I can now understand why wars happen. People simply do not understand each other!"

Soap Opera Queen Has Written For Them All

CHICAGO (UPI) — The scene: near-North Side apartment of Irna Phillips, writer of soap operas.

The time: a sunny summer afternoon. A reporter enters.

MOTHER AND daughter are collaborating on a television series. It is Irna's 21st serial, Katharine's first.

Irna has been writing in the soap opera field 40 years. Katharine started a couple of years ago, typing her mother's scripts. Now she's creating and writing the series, Irna editing.

Irna describes her latest series —"A World Apart." She speaks softly, seriously. She talks as if the protagonist is real, describing him and the events which have transpired since the show began in late March.

"A World Apart," Irna says, is the "most provocative thing" she has done.

"It's young against old," she explains, "radicals against the establishment, black against white, rich against poor."

SHE STARTED with "Painted Dreams," the first daytime radio serial which went on the air in 1930. Serials were called "soap operas" because in those days the sponsors almost always were soap companies.

Then came "Today's Children," first network soaper.

Miss Phillips became the first daytime writer to make the transition to television when she personally made a television pilot of "Guiding Light."

She originated "As the World Turns," which has been the media leader 12 of its 14 years. It reaches an average of more than eight million viewers every day.

THE LIST goes on. Total: 21.

"A World Apart" is the first soaper to be set in Chicago, Miss Phillips' birthplace and home most of the time since. She is the only one of the original serial creators who did not leave the city.

Her list of firsts is impressive: First to use organ music in a program. First to use a minister, a doctor or a nurse as a protagonist. First to consult social agencies. First to use specialists as advisors for her programs.

"A World Apart" has the first mother-daughter team in the field. And Irna's son, Tom, 29, says he may join by doing research for the serial. Both Tom and Katherine were adopted by Irna.

The new program is a bit of a biography, although that may not be Katharine's —or Irna's —intent. The plot concerns a bachelor mother of two adopted children.

That's Irna and her family.

Prisoner Offers Sister His Kidney

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A convicted robber has been transferred from a prison in New York City to the Baltimore jail so he can donate a kidney to prolong his sister's life.

Mrs. Joan Washington, 33, will have a defective kidney removed today. Her brother, Donald Smith, 34, begins tissue tests in his city jail cell today. The transplant operation should take place in two to six weeks, when Mrs. Washington's system has stabilized. She will be kept alive by an artificial kidney machine until then.

White House Trees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several small Christmas trees have arrived at the White House, but the main tree, a 20-foot spruce cut in Marrillan, Wis., will not arrive until Dec. 9.

Nina Suntzeff Is A Bride

Nina Veronica Suntzeff and Michael Paul Zagaris were married Saturday at the Greek Orthodox Church of the Annunciation in Modesto. A reception in the church hall followed the ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Nicholas M. Suntzeff of Corte Madera, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zagaris of Modesto.

Mrs. Achie Williamson of Memphis, Tenn., was matron of honor. Michelle Markoff of Mill Valley and the bridegroom's sister, Paula L. Zagaris were the bridesmaids.

Mike August of Rock Springs, Wyo., was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bridegroom's brother Stephen Zagaris, a student at the University of California at Santa Barbara, and the bride's brother, Nick B. Suntzeff, a student at Stanford University.

Nina is a graduate of Redwood High School and U.C. at Santa Cruz. Her local grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Markoff of San Francisco.

Also a graduate of U.C. at Santa Cruz, Michael is employed by Xidex Corp. in Sunnyvale. John P. Zagaris is also his brother.

Restoration Comedy Is Next For ACT

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The permissiveness of the 17 Century will arrive Tuesday night at San Francisco's Geary Theater as John Vanbrugh's "The Relapse" joins the American Conservatory Theater repertory.

Preview performances of the Restoration period comedy are being held tonight, Monday night and Saturday afternoon. It is being directed by Edward Hastings.

In connection with "The Relapse," ACT announced today that it will present the West Coast premiere of the award-winning rock musical, "The Last Sweet days of Isaac," at Marines' Memorial Theater on Dec. 28. Last season the Off-Broadway Show won the Obie Award and the Outer Circle Critics' Award as the best musical.

DANCE

The Martha Graham Dance Company will open a three-performance engagement tonight at Zellerbach Auditorium on the University of California campus in Berkeley. A matinee and evening performance are scheduled tomorrow.

MUSIC

Soprano Jane Marsh of Mill Valley, who appeared with the San Francisco Opera in its just recently closed season, will be guest soloist with Seiji Ozawa and the San Francisco Symphony in its concert series next week. Miss Marsh will be heard in Ginastera's "Milena Cantata for Soprano and Orchestra."

The orchestra will open with Corelli's "Concerto Grosso," (Christmas). The major symphonic work will be Tschaikowsky's "Symphony No. 1" (Winter Dreams).

Sunday's calendar will include appearances of Valimir Krainevy, prize-winning Soviet pianist in his Bay Area debut at San Francisco's Curran Theater in the afternoon, and an evening recital at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music by Ronald Elickson, violinist, and Sharon Polk, pianist who will perform sonatas by Bach, Beethoven and Prokofiev.

The first performances of Joaquin Nin-Culmell's "Dedication Mass," will be presented Sunday and Monday nights at U. C.'s Hertz Hall. The work was commissioned for the new St. Mary's Cathedral in San Francisco.

ART

The Oakland Museum's Art Special Gallery will feature works by 22 noted California artists in a show titled "More Than One," which opens Tuesday through Jan. 3. It will feature pieces the artists planned initially to make in quantity.

Currently at the San Francisco Museum of Art is a collection of 118 photographs by Eugen Atget on Paris and its environs from the turn of the century until his death in 1927. Also on exhibit are 14 new acquisitions, including a lithograph by Jasper Johns.

Pope, Suharto Hold Talks Prior To Mass For 50,000

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)— Pope Paul VI conferred for 45 minutes with President Suharto tonight then celebrated a pontifical mass for 50,000 persons, many of them holding candles to light the vastness of Jakarta's Senajan Stadium.

The Pope, on the homeward leg of his 29,000-mile voyage, arrived from Australia in the midst of Indonesia's biggest Moslem holiday. He praised the government and the country for letting people of all races and religions live in harmony.

Paul, 73, looking suntanned and fit despite the rigors of his trip, traveled two miles from the airport to Jakarta Cathedral, a twin-spired Gothic stone church, in a black American limousine with a police escort.

He blessed a crowd of 400 outside the cathedral and then inside read a spiritual message to 1,200 Indonesian and foreign priests and nuns.

The Pope, who was paying a 16-hour visit to this predominantly Moslem nation, drove then to the stately white columned presidential palace to confer with Suharto. The Pope presented Suharto with an oil painting of the Vatican. Suharto gave him a carved wooden screen and an Indonesian painting on banana bark.

Paul drove into Senajan Stadium, built for the 1962 Asian Games, shortly before 8 p.m. preceded by soldiers mounted on horseback. His limousine slowly circled the area, bringing the throng to its feet with cries of "Viva Il Papa!" The chant swelled and roared for almost 10 minutes.

He crossed to a raised, candlelit altar in the center of the stadium and the assembled religious leaders from other faiths crossed the field and presented him with gifts.

The pontiff smiled, obviously happy with the reception. And then the voices of the 50,000 swelled into a beautiful hymn. They held aloft their candles as the Pope began the mass in Latin.

Pope Paul emphasized the ecumenical in his airport speech, the first official act of his 16-hour stopover here. Indonesia is the world's fifth most populous nation and 90 per cent of the 120 million people who live here are Moslem. There are about 2.5 million Roman Catholics.

BANGKOK (UPI)—Fire Wednesday destroyed the five-story building housing the U.S. diplomatic mission medical unit.

There were no injuries. A group of medical students attending a lecture, a number of Boy Scouts and some Red Cross traineesk all escaped.

Painting Of Depot Donated

A painting of the Novato train depot by Alphonse M. Napoletano of Novato was among the recent donations toward redecoration of Novato city hall, according to Mrs. William Carpenter, chairman of the community house restoration project.

There have been 10 contributions and donations and more are needed, Mrs. Carpenter reported.

The depot painting was contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farmer of Novato, and recent contributions have been made by the San Marin Improvement Association and the Novato Federated Republican Women's Club.

Financial contributions can be sent to the city manager's office at Novato City Hall and anyone wishing to donate historical photography may notify Mrs. Phillip Coady of 747 Bradley Avenue.

North Korea Pilot Flies MIG To Seoul

SEOUL (UPI)—A Communist North Korean Air Force pilot defected to South Korea today on board a Soviet-made MIG jet fighter, the South Korean Defense Ministry reported.

The defector was identified as North Korean air force Maj. Park Sung-ku, 33, who crossed the truce front between South and North Korea aboard his plane and landed at an airbase along South Korea's eastern coast at about 2:27 p.m. today.

An initial report by the ministry said the aircraft was a MIG21 jet fighter, but later officials said they had not yet determined whether the plane was a MIG 21 or a MIG 15.

LIEUTENANT RANK

The initial report also said the defector was a North Korean Air Force 2nd Lieutenant, but later a correction was made and Park's rank was given as an Air Force major.

Full details of Park's defection were not available immediately, but ministry officials said South Korean Air Force jets met the defector's aircraft in the air and guided him to an unidentified air base along the eastern coast.

Park was the third North Korean pilot to defect to the south aboard Soviet made MIG jet fighters.

PRIZE MONEY

On Sept. 21, 1953, shortly after the three-year Korean War was brought to an end, North Korean air force Capt. Ro Kum-suk defected to South Korea flying a MIG17 and won $100,000 in prize money from the United States.

Ro later went to the United States and was granted U.S. citizenship.

On Aug. 3, 1969, North Korean air force Lt. Chung Nak-hyon flew his MIG15 jet to freedom in South Korea. He later joined the South Korean air force.

MUSIC REVIEW

Ovation, Baton For Seija Ozawa

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — An ovation at the Opera House opened and closed the program last night that marked the opening of the 59th season for the San Francisco Symphony and the first season for the dynamic young conductor Seiji Ozawa as its musical director.

In accordance with the tradition of Wednesdays as student nights, the house was packed with young people from 45 colleges and universities in the area — a fact I noted with satisfaction when Philip S. Boone, president of the San Francisco Symphony Association, mentioned it in his brief speech of welcome before presenting Ozawa his baton. Ozawa, admired by young and old, may indeed be one who can close the generation gap, musically at least.

The program was an extraordinary one. Who but Ozawa would think of balancing a first half consisting of two sacred vocal-orchestral works with a second half composed of a fantasmagoria of a young man's pium-induced dreams and nightmares ending in orgiastic revelry!

The choral works were the Haydn "Te Deum," written on commission from the Empress Marie Therese, and Leonard Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms," a setting he composed of the Biblical poems for the annual summer festival at the cathedral in Chichester, England.

The orchestral tour de force was Berlioz's "Symphonie Fantastique," an Ozawa specialty included in his debut in the United States as a guest conductor with the San Francisco Symphony. The Haydn and Berlioz numbers were the first in Ozawa's planned three-season survey of the works of these composers.

Once again Ozawa worked his magic, not only with the orchestra, as he always does, but with the splendid Stanford University chorus of nearly 200 voices. Of course, much of the credit went to its regular director, Harold Schmidt, for the excellent training that made them a beautifully balanced ensemble, technically proficient and expressive in all choral requirements. But the inspiration, I felt, that made them perform at peak capacity came from Ozawa.

The "Te Deum" was largely just a joyous and brilliant way to open the concert, but because of its novelty and lovely melody I found the "Chichester" psalms entrancing. It was hard to believe the same composer had written "West Side Story"! The Psalms ranged from extremely exciting at the beginning to ethereal delicacy at the end, an effect the chorus was adept at producing with long sustained, barely audible legato lines.

Very unusual were solo parts sung by a boy soprano from the San Francisco Boys' Chorus, whose name was not given in the program. His thin, sweet thread of tone added an unearthly quality. The Psalms may be simple music, according to Bernstein himself, but simplicity is often the most important element of true beauty.

The only part that seemed superfluous because their passages were so brief was a quartet composed of mezzo, soprano, tenor and bass voices, and they were not equally heard.

Ozawa's skill was most evident in the "Symphonie Fantastique". So sensitive was rapport between conductor and orchestra that there was almost a visible force in perfectly controlled tension between his fingertips and each musician. Conducting from memory, he was able to focus attention on the subtlest nuances as well as the thundering climax.

I was happy to see that Ozawa has brought the cello section to the front of the stage so that there is better balance of low strings with violins and richer total string sound.

Bike Repair Center Is Stalled Again

Plans for a bicycle repair center at the Mill Valley Drop-In House, 550 Miller Avenue, are at a standstill, the Mill Valley Youth Commission was told last night.

Chairman David R. Abrahams reported that a work table, a toolbox and some tools are needed before the center can be opened. If these items are found, the facility may be opened within a month, he said.

There is no shortage, however, of volunteers to work at the center and teach youths how to fix their bicycles, Abrahams reported.

Commissioners voted unanimously to raise funds to build a storage area for small boats at the Mill Valley harbor. They will send representatives to the Monday meeting of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission to present plans for the facility.

IT'S NOT A ROAD SIGN.

Agency Works On Welfare Slashing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan's chief welfare administrator says he is searching for new areas to slash costs to help reduce the state's $150 million deficit.

Lucian B. Vandegrift, state human relations secretary, said Tuesday his staff is "carefully combing the regulations" to find the programs that can be cut without violating federal welfare laws.

He said the administration planned to cut programs to "desirable services," and also noted that proposals would be made to make all able-bodied recipients work—by relocation if necessary.

Vandegrift said his recommendations for welfare program reductions would follow on the heels of the administration's announced plan to trim services and doctor fees under the Medi-Cal program by $140 million, including $70 million of state money.

He noted that in many areas federal law forbids regulation revision to eliminate welfare recipients, but added that there were "areas within administrator's discretion" that could be "tightened up."

"We will concentrate on the areas of need that need tightening of the regulations," he said, but declined during an interview to say how much his proposals could save the state.

Vandegrift said the two programs his staff is zeroing in on are aid to families with dependent children and aid to the totally disabled.

"Aid to the totally disabled has grown at a fast pace as the program has been successively liberalized," he told 50 women members Tuesday attending a Sacramento Republican Women's Club luncheon.

Vandegrift said 182,000 persons are now receiving aid under this program, an increase of 15 per cent from a year ago. "But the biggest — and fastest growing program — is that for aid to families with dependent children," he said. "We now have 1,431,500 persons in this category, more than 1 million of them children.

Vandegift said the number of AFDC recipients have soared 37 per cent in a year. "It exceeds the individual total populations of 45 of the state's counties," he said.

Vandegrift also said the administration's welfare tightening proposals would include trimming available aid to "essential services," coupled with eventual total welfare reform by both federal and state governments.

"I think that it is essential that persons use their own reserves before they start using someone else's reserves," he said.

Vandegrift additionally proposed that the amount of income a recipient may earn annually be reduced from $1,200 to $600.

"We have got to remove from the welfare rolls those persons with high incomes," he said. "There must be some sensible limit — some point at which the —some point at which the person gets off the taxpayer's back and on his own feet."

The chief welfare administrator also urged a return to what he called the "work ethic" of seeking to perform physical labor "and contribute something to society."

Contractor Plea Given To Architect

Directors of the Strawberry Recreation District last night declined to grant the contractor building its $256,000 community center an extension of the completion date.

The board instead referred to its architect a request by Carl F. Hartman Construction Co. of San Francisco to delay the completion date from Dec. 17 to Jan. 29, according to clerk Jeanne Heick.

She said a special meeting probably will be called by directors before Dec. 17 to consider the request again. The firm cited rain woes as the reason, stating that it could not install windows in wet weather.

One extension, from Monday to Dec. 17, already has been granted by the board because of a strike by roofing material suppliers, she said.

In other business, the board purchased $3 million in liability insurance on the building, and voted to spend $3,200 on athletic supplies and tables and chairs for the recreation center.

Minuteman Fired Into South Atlantic

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A Minuteman 3 missile streaked 5,000 miles to a South Atlantic Ocean target area Wednesday to test the ICBM's new multipe warhead system.

It was the 16th test flight of the 60-foot missile from the Cape and the 31st over-all. The other missiles have been fired from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., into the Pacific Ocean.

Holiday Party For Children

The Fairfax Youth and the Parks and Recreation commissions will sponsor a Christmas party for children Dec. 19, according to youth commission chairman Judi Cummings.

She said most of the commission's meeting Tuesday night was occupeid with planning the event for children in the third grade and younger.

Star of the program at the Fairfax Pavilion from 6:30 to 8 p.m. will be Mayor Frank J. Egger, she said. He is to recite "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

The commission also recommended that the city council place signs on litter cans to accent the litter problem.

Ky Ready To Trade For American Pilots

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said Wednesday he was ready to release 35,000 North Vietnamese prisoners in exchange for the freedom of American prisoners held by the Communists.

"Personally, I'm ready to give them more than 35,000," Ky said. "Most of the Americans are fliers and to me fliers are something more than soldiers. They are brothers."

Ky, former commander of South Vietnam's air force, was expected to leave for Honolulu today.

Ky also told a news conference he believed if the United States continued to put pressure on Hanoi frob a "humanitarian" standpoint for better treatment or release of American prisoners, "I suspect they will do so."

Ky arrived here following a demonstration Tuesday by 3,500 persons in San Francisco during which 34 were arrested and three policemen injured.

The vice president said that he was not disturbed by demonstrations against him and indicated he would have liked to have met some of the protesters.

As he spoke, about 400 persons marched peacefully in the rain outside the hotel where the news conference and a luncheon were held.

Two young antiwar protestors were booked on suspicion of battery on a police officer after a brief confrontation in front of the hotel. There were no other incidents.

Asked if the demonstrations during his U.S. tour upset him, Ky replied, "No, I've seen demonstrations at home. What disturbed me was they did not give me a chance to meet them."

Asked if he feared for his safety, Ky replied, "During my 20 years of fighting, I never have felt safe.

"You know I'm an Asian. I believe in my destiny. If I have to die here or in the front lines, it will be as a sacrifice for my people."

A coastal freighter believed to be carrying more than 50 people was wrecked in Parucha Bay Tuesday. First reports said dozens were missing.

Judge Hits Teamsters; $50,000 Fine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Local 70 of the Teamsters Union was fined $50,000 Wednesday on a contempt citation by federal judge Alfonzo J. Zirpoli.

Zirpoli found the union in contempt of court for violating an order issued last June against picketing certain Oakland food processing plants.

The union resumed picketing this week despite the order, according to attorneys for the food firms.

Kenneth Silbert, attorney for the Teamsters, said the fine would be appealed. Zirpoli said he would increase the fine to $200,000 unless picketing is halted immediately.

The judge told the union that if it put up a $1 million bond to protect the firms against losses should they win the court battle he would suspend the picketing ban.

The picketing was over attempts by the union to force the food firms to sign new local agreements.

Heroism Rewards Sharply Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco Fire Commission voted Tuesday to sharply reduce the cash awards given fire fighters for bravery.

Until now, for example, the widow of a fireman who died trying to save a life was awarded one month's pay, around $1,000. Now the award is to be $200.

In 1969, there were 12 cash awards for meritorious service —for a total of $5,077.

$1,200 Fire Damage To Unoccupied House

Fire, thought to have been started by a candle on a bookcase, did $1,200 damage yesterday to the unoccupied house of Alice Gantzer on Portola Avenue, Inverness Park, Marin County Fire Department reported.

The fire was reported at 12:48 a.m., according to the fire department. Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom surmised that someone had broken into the house. Sheriff deputies are investigating, he reported.

8 DAYS OF INFAMY

DECEMBER 7-14, 1941

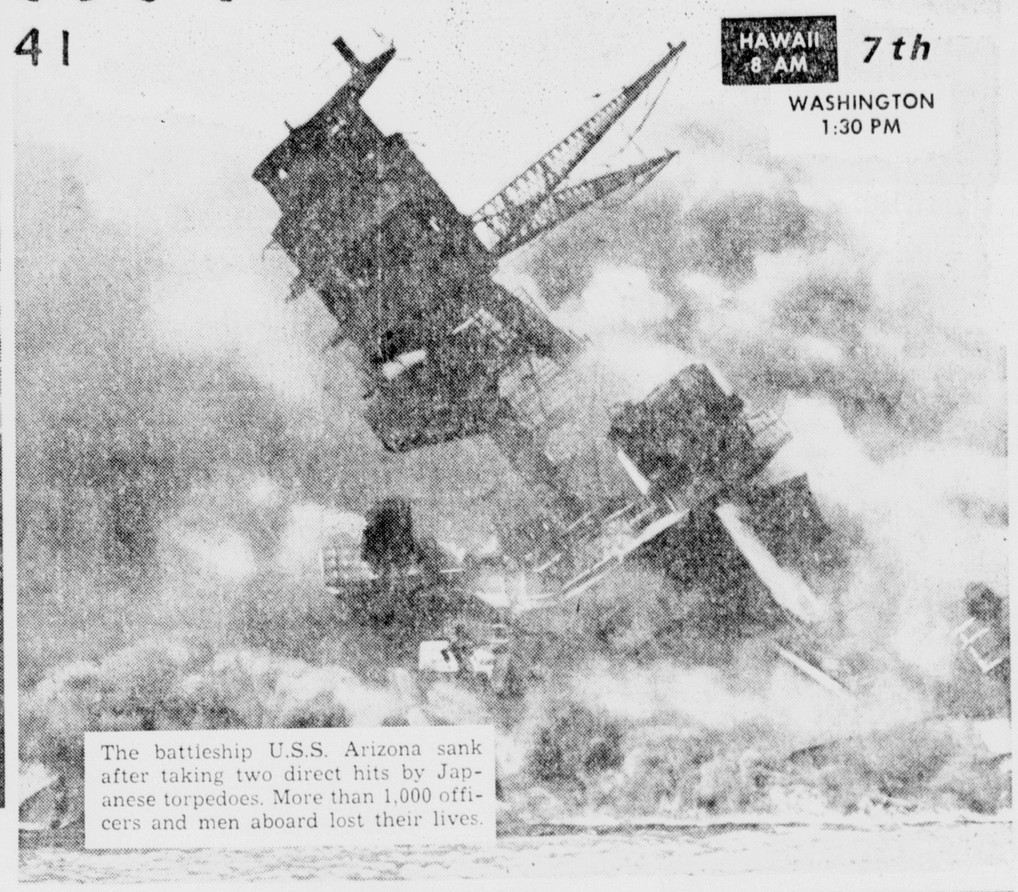
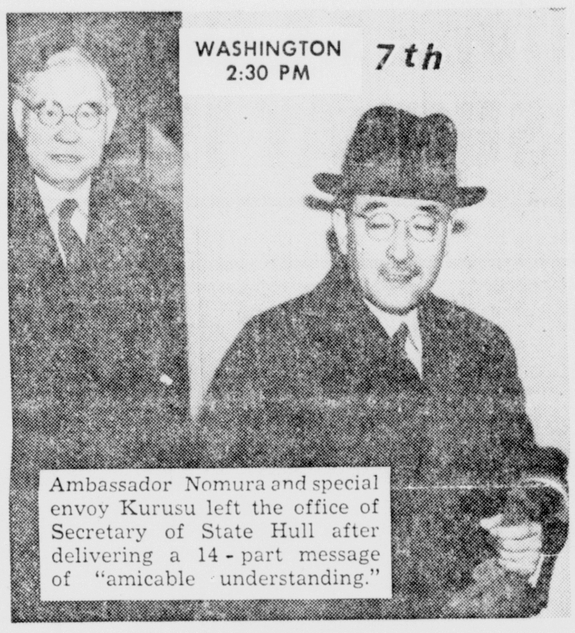
Inside the Japanese Embassy clerks were typing message to be delivered to the U.S. State Department as secret documents and codes were burned.



The battleship U.S.S. Arizona sank after taking two direct hits by Japanese torpedoes. More than 1,000 officers and men aboard lost their lives.

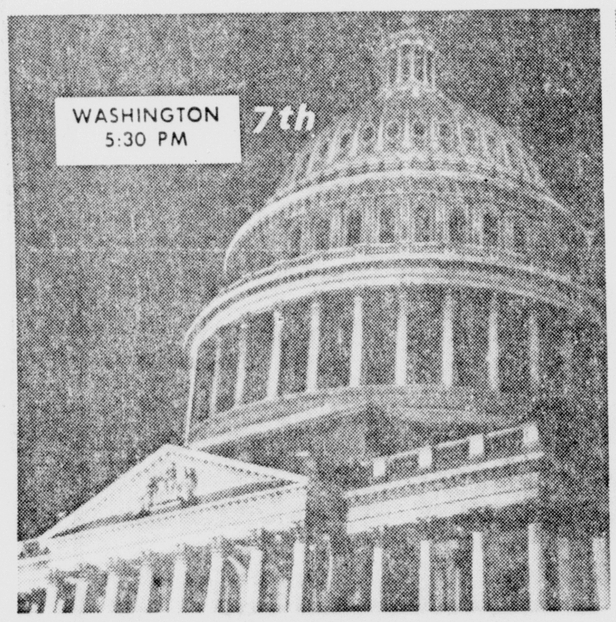
Rear Admiral Leigh Noyes, chief of Navy communications, received word of Ford Island message via Mare Island Navy radio, San Francisco. President Roosevelt then notified Cordell Hull.



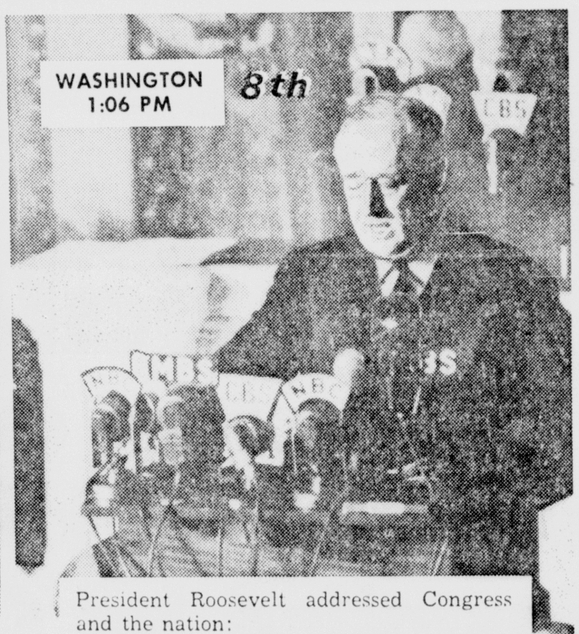
Ambassador Nomura and special envoy Kurusu left the office of Secretary of State Hull after delivering a 14-part message of "amicable understanding."

F.D.R.'s secretary, Steve Early, released first news of attack to radio and press reporters while a second wave of 183 planes struck Hickam Field.

Teletypes across the nation flashed the bulletin—newspapers dug out their biggest type and H. V. Kaltenborn broke in on the New York Philharmonic Sunday Symphony to report.



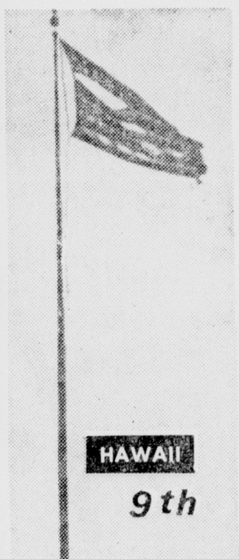
For the first time in history lights on the capitol dome were blacked-out, all buildings guarded.



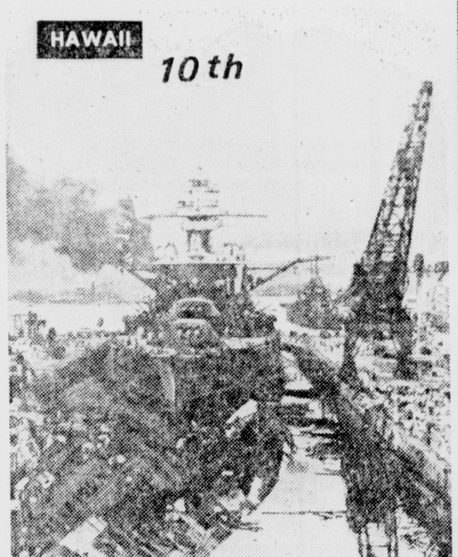
President Roosevelt addressed Congress and the nation:

"Yesterday, December 7, 1941 — a date which will live in infamy — the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately attacked by naval and air forces of the Empire of Japan."

A joint resolution by Congress declared war on Japan at 4:10 P.M.



Bullet-riddled flag still flew over Hickam Field barracks.



Pearl Harbor salvage and repair operations underway in drydock. Battleship U.S.S. Pennsylvania (rear) was ready for action in January, 1943. The Destroyer Cassin, (front) was completed and re-launched in February, 1944.

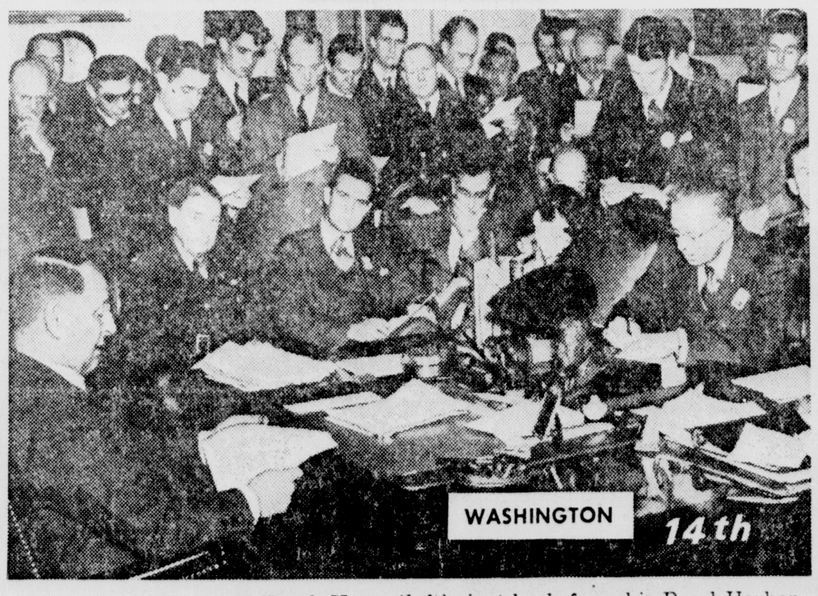
Honolulu residents waited to buy rationed food.

Selective Service Director General Lewis B. Hershey asked for an induction quota of 7.5 million men between ages of 19 and 44 to build an Army, Navy for world war



Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox (left), just back from his Pearl Harbor survey, reported to the press: 18 ships sunk, 188 planes destroyed on the ground, and 2,403 killed. Government investigations since fill 29 volumes.

Labels On Pesticides Still Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department, which recently launched a campaign to make pesticide labels more understandable to help avoid accidental poisonings, today released a study showing many current labels are "far from ideal."

The two-year study on the legibility and comprehensibility of labels was conducted for the department by scientists at the University of Illinois.

Researchers found, the report said, that many labels printed directions in "7 point" type or smaller, which is hard to read. The report said "8 point" type, the size used by many newspapers for standard body type, should be the smallest allowed on pesticide labels and a larger "11 point" side would be far better.

Also: the report added, the average pesticide label currently is written in language "fairly difficult" to read. Tests showed the average label was too complicated for most people with less than 10 years of formal education.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

The Headliners: Bill Russell, ex-basketball great of the Boston Celtics, has a provocative group of guests when he fills in for vacationing Dick Cavett Friday as host of ABC-TV's late-night show . . . On hand will be Jim Plunkett, football's Heisman Trophy winner and quarterback of the Rose Bowl-bound Stanford team; Sen. George S. McGovern, S-S.D., sometimes mentioned as a presidential candidate, and Harry Reasoner, who takes over Monday as co-anchorman of ABC-TV's evening newscasts after leaving CBS-TV.

Marcello Mastroianni is a guest Tuesday when noted screenwriter Buck Henry begins four nights of substituting for Cavett . . . Henry, who wrote the scripts for "The Graduate," "Catch 22" and "The Owl and the Pussycat" (the film version), as well as teaming up with Mel Brooks to create television's "Get Smart," will be host Dec. 11, on the Cavett show to the executive director of the President's Commission on Obscenity and Pornography, Dr. William Cody Wilson.

Walter J. Hickel, recently fired as secretary of the interior, is interviewed Sunday on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" . . . Roman Gabriel, quarterback of the Los Angeles Rams, is featured as a police lieutenant on the Dec. 31 episode of NBC-TV's "Ironside," which concerns a power blackout that paralyzes a large part of San Francisco . . . Impresario Sol Hurok's latest classical music hour for CBS-TV, "S. Hurok Presents — Part IV," airs Christmas day with violinist David Oistrakh and pianist Sviatoslav Richter.

The Programs: "The American Adventure," a two-hour ABC-TV news special with commentator Frank Reynolds examining many of the nation's values as the country approaches its 200th anniversary, is set for Dec. 28, focusing on Columbus, Ohio, as a typical city. It also visits Los Angeles, San Francisco, Boston, St. Louis and Washington . . . CBS-TV's "60 Minutes" on Tuesday will offer a report on "Rising black militancy and black-white tensions and violence in the United States army in Germany."

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 7:30 p.m. — Flip Wilson welcomes Connie Stevens, John Byner, Johnny Brown and Stevie Wonder to his show.

KQED (9), 8:30 p.m. — "NET Playhouse" presents "New York Television Theater: Tennessee Williams' Dragon Country," the world premiere of "I Can't Imagine Tomorrow," starring Kim Stanley and William Redfield, and "Talk to Me Like the Rain and Let Me Listen," with Lois Smith and Alan Mixon.

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 9 p.m. — Lana Turner and Hope Lange star in part I of the movie drama, "Peyton Place," based on Grace Metalious' best seller. Part II will be seen tomorrow at the same time.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 10 p.m. — Peter Graves, Jill St. John, Ronnie Barker, Ronnie Corbett and the Ding-A-Ling Sisters are the featured guests on "The Dean Martin Show."

KPIX (5), 11:30 p.m .— Author Dr. Robert Ettinger, futuristic designer Douglas Deeds, Dr. Robert Francoeur, Eddie Albert and Phyllis Diller discuss what life will be like in the future on "The Year 2000," a special 90-minute feature on "The Merv Griffin Show."

Steel Firm Fined For Pollution

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. was fined $1,000 by a federal judge after the company pleaded guilty to violating a 71-year-old law against water pollution.

J & L was believed the first major company to be charged under the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1899.

The corporation's attorneys told U.S. District Judge Edward Dumbauld the discharge of oil, grease and metallic particles into the Ohio River May 20 was accidental and would not be repeated.

Drug Abuse Chief Resigns To Teach

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Arthur Suddjian has quit as director of the new state Office of Narcotics and Drug Abuse Coordination to return to his position with the Fresno Unified School District.

Suddjian took a leave of absence from his school post in March to take the reins of the agency. He received a monthly salary here of $1,800.

The resignation announcement by the state human relations agency said Wednesday that Suddjian felt his education job provided "more opportunities to work directly with youth than his present position."

WINTER RAINS TURN CREEK INTO SHIMMERING LAKES

Heavy rains flooded the lowlands near the estuary of Gallinas Creek yesterday, patterning the land with ponds. The usually dry land below Professional Parkway and Santa Venetia was transformed into an inviting home for ducks and other waterfowl. Between showers, the water glistened and shimmered. The crek empties in to San Pablo Bay on the left. The houses of Santa Venetia are across the creek.

Larkspur Nod To Manager's Pay Raise

Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst last night received a 7.5 per cent raise from the city council which unanimously approved the action.

Bathurst will now receive $20,000 per year, an increase of $1,400 per year.

He has been employed by the city since 1966 when he quit his job as assistant city manager for Santa Rosa.

The Larkspur City Council also:

TWON MEETING — Set Dec. 10 at 8 p.m. at city hall for a joint session with the town meeting committee, the council, planning commission and parks and recreation commission, to discuss recommendations drafted at last month's town meeting.

SIGN — Approved a letter to Coldwell Banker and Co. asking cooperation in changing the appearance of their sign at the entrance to Greenbrae.

BIDS — Approved calling for bids for repairs to the Bon Air Bridge damaged during the dredging of Corte Madera Creek.

MAINTENANCE — Accepted Skylark Drive into the city's maintenance system.

CONSULTANT — Approved the hiring of Wilbur Smith to draft a traffic stury for the proposed ferry terminal system at a cost to the city of $750.

TENNIS COURTS — Authorized expending $2,900 for resurfacing of tennis courts at Larkspur-Corte Madera School in a joint recreation agreement between the school district and city.

MARSH — Approved a resolution of intent to preserve existing marshlands at Piper Park pending development of precise plan for the park.

PARK PLANNER — Approved the retention of Arbegast and Newton, park planners, to provide a precise plan for Piper park. Also approved was a $10,000 ceiling for the plan.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed Phillip Abrams of Larkspur to the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

COMMITTEE — Authorized, on a six-month trial base, formation of a plan review committee to review all architectural supervision applications and recommend action to the planning commission. The committee will be made up of professional architects and planners.

POLICE REPORTS — Was told by Police Chief Howard C. Clark — in reply to a query from Mayor Benton A. Sifford about a reference in the Independent-Journal to "unreported crimes" — that the I-J was welcome to view his department's reports. "We don't care if the I-J "missed the boat" twice last week by failing to visit the police station (once on Thanksgiving Day, once when the station was closed and locked).

Last Two Billboards In Larkspur Get Ax

Larkspur's last two billboards will be abated.

That was the decision last night of the Larkspur City Council which voted 3 to 1 and 5 to 0 for rejection of appeals for time extensions from developer Neil Schultz Jr. (Another Larkspur Council story, page 1.)

During the two hours of hearings on the appeals, one for the Greenbrae sign located east of Highway 101 near the Greenbrae interchange and the other for the sign located on the hill overlooking the interchange, Schultz, with the demeanor of an experienced attorney, unsuccessfully presented his case.

The question of whether time extensions should be granted for the signs, which have been illegal since 1969, centered on whether Schultz has received adequate financial benefit of the signs.

"The benefit to the community (in having the signs removed) is aesthetic," Schultz told the council. "The loss to the owner is very real."

Claiming the signs help support the city, he said the cost of removal would be substantial.

The appeals came before the council after the city's planning commission unanimously rejected variance requests earlier this month.

As the hearing opened, Howard M. Oser, president of the Greenbrae Property Owners asked that Councilman Neil R. Brixon withdraw from the discussion charging a possible conflict of interest. Brixon refused.

Oser contended that since Brixon owned an apartment complex in the Greenbrae vicinity, he was benefiting from the signs.

"My apartments are filled and I do my own advertising," Brixon retorted.

However, later in the hearing, Brixon said his rug cleaning business benefited greatly from the sign east of Highway 101 because it is used for direction.

"I use it every day in my business," he said. "I don't rent apartments by it but I clean rugs by it. If that's a conflict of interest, I'll live to see it."

Brixon — after the vote on the appeal, in which he cast the lone vote for retention of the sign east of Highway 101 — said that in order for an issue to be considered a conflict of interest, 15 per cent of one's income had to be derived from that source.

Schultz told the council one sign cost $1,800 and the other $7,780 to construct during the 1950's. He estimated to rent such signs would have cost him $60 and $100 a month.

Councilman Alfred J. Malvino said those figures indicated that Schultz had been adequately repaid on his investment. "It would have cost you $13,200 to rent one sign at $100 per month," he told Schultz.

Councilman William G. Fleckles, an attorney, told Schultz he had failed to "present his case," failed to show continued financial need for the signs and recommended they be rejected.

The council agreed unanimously on the sign overlooking the interchange, but split on the other. (Councilman Earl J. O'Grady abstained from voting on the latter.)

The signs were both given a six-year extension in 1963 when the city's sign ordinance made them non-conforming.

Bedroom Fire Does $2,300 Damage

Flames from a short-circuited electric blanket today did $800 damage to a bedroom and another $1,500 in smoke damage to the rest of the Joseph D'Amato home at 712 Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael.

School Entry Is Admitted

Just as he was set to go to jury trial yesterday in Marin Superior Court, Craig James Gomez, 20, former volunteer fireman, admitted that he entered Central School in Sausalito on Jan. 5, 1969, with the intent to start a fire.

In exchange for the no contest plea to this charge, the district attorney's office agreed to dismiss an arson count.

Gomez, a former member of the Sausalito Volunteer Firemen's Association, was arrested after witnesses reported seeing him near the school at the time a fire broke out at 2:44 a.m. in a supply room.

Other witnesses said Gomez was seen taking pictures of the activity after firemen arrived.

Judge E. Warren McGuire yesterday set sentencing for Gomez for Jan. 15.

WOULD-BE LIAR PICKETS

Shanna Gray, secretary for a San Rafael firm, is spending her lunch hours picketing Pete's Pier 15 restaurant in San Rafael. She's miffed, she says, because restaurant owner Henry Landaker won't let her participate in his patrons' liar's dice tournament. "I'm a good liar; I parctice all the time and I win" non-tournament games in the restaurant, Mrs. Gray declared yesterday. She began her picketing Tuesday to open up the contest to women dice-players.

Loan Rates May Get Trimmed Soon

A general lowering of consumer loan rates by major banks in the West was expected today following announcements Wednesday by Wells Fargo Bank and Bank of America of immediate across-the-board reductions averaging one-half of 1 per cent.

Chase Manhattan Bank of New York announced a similar reduction this morning, catching other eastern banks by surprise as they had not been expected to follow the lead of the two California banks. Mortgage and consumer loan interest rates traditionally are higher on the West Coast than east of the Mississippi, except for automobile financing loans which are almost uniform throughout the country.

Reductions by Wells Fargo aBnk and Bank of America brought automobile loans down to 5.25 per cent, below the 5.75 per cent presently prevailing in New York. Personal installment loans are now down to 7.75 per cent from 8 per cent.

Smaller local banks may not show any immediate change in their commercial loan structures, since they are generally more flexible than the larger banks in their guidelines and are already in competitive brackets.

Real estate loans are now averaging 8 and 8.25 per cent, compared with 9.25 per cent a few months ago.

If the recent drop in rates spurs sufficient interest in loans they are expected to remain at approximately the present level. If more loan activity does not develop, local bankers look for further rate reductions.

Landscaping At Enchanted Knolls Set

Landscaping and planting around the Lomita Drive entrance to Enchanted Knolls will be undertaken by the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association, directors decided last night.

President Robert B. Rankin said some planting already has been done by Mill Valley crews in connection with the installation of signs there, and directors will ask residents to donate their time to the completion of the project.

The board also decided to ask Mill Valley to install a marker along Roque Moraes Drive warning of an abrupt dropoff at the edge of the road.

Weeds which used to grow along the roadside and warn motorists of the edge have been cleared away, Rankin said, and motorists using the road at night may not be able to see where the pavement ends.

Legal Crunch Seen Over Jets' Smog

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Bay Area smog officials and airlines headed for a legal dispute yesterday over a new law controlling jet exhaust smoke.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors warned airlines using airports in the region that it will enforce the new law strictly, a law the airlines claim they cannot now comply with.

The dispute theoretically could ground airliners failing to meet the new standard, but a district spokesman predicted it will be fought out in court. The airlines, he said, probably will get a temporary injunction on Dec. 31 barring the district from enforcing the new law when it takes effect on Jan. 1.

The law was passed by the 1969 Legislature, but the airlines claim they still are not ready to comply with it. The law set a new standard of Ringelmann 2 for 10 seconds. The old standard was for three minutes.

Ringelmann 2 is a measurement of the density of smoke, and bars jets from emissions blocking more than 40 per cent of the light passing through the smoke plume.

Pacific Southwest Airlines has asked the district's hearing board for a variance until next October. The board has the variance application under submission.

The district's staff has urged the hearing board to reject the application on the ground that the airline had started needed engine conversions too late to meet the Jan. 1 deadline, relying on a 1970 bill in the Legislature to postpone the deadline by two years.

The bill, however, SB 904 by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan at the urging of the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District.

A district spokesman said that the gossip in the airline industry was that the new standard will be challenged in court by the Air Transport Association, the airline industry organization.

District directors, after meeting behind closed doors yesterday to discuss legal tactics in the expected court challenge, agreed to formally notify all airlines by letter of the district's determination to enforce the new standard.

Enforcement of the new standard by the district would require it to obtain cease and desist orders through the courts.

Deputy Saw Struggle Involving DeMartini

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — A Marin deputy sheriff testified yesterday he helped arrest union official John J. DeMartini after he saw DeMartini grappling for the baton of another law officer during the Valentine's Day riot outside the Independent-Journal.

DeMartini, 44, of Mill Valley, is vice president of San Francisco Typographical Union 21 and one of seven persons on trial in Solano County Superior Court on charges arising from the Feb. 14 melee.

The violence, which left three police officers and 14 others injured, erupted during a dav-long rally called in support of DeMartini's union, which has been on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7.

Taking the stand before Judge William E. Jensen, deputy sheriff William Brown testified he saw DeMartini struggling with San Rafael patrolman Harold Pennington for control of the officer's baton during a confrontation between pickets and police on Julia Street the afternoon of Feb. 14.

Brown, one of more than 125 Marin law officers who had assembled for the demonstration, said he went to Pennington's aid and the two officers wrestled DeMartini to the ground. The union official, a former employee of the I-J, struggled to break free from their grasp and shouted obscenities such as "bastards and pigs" at him and Pennington, Brown said.

At this point, Marin Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas also sought to introduce antipolice remarks made by DeMartini as the union official was being led away from the scene, but Judge Jensen ruled the statements were irrelevant.

Outside the presence of the jury, Brown said DeMartini wanted to know if he, Brown, were "proud of myself for beating up on a citizen . . . and he made a statement that he was going to have my job and that he wasn't doing anything wrong."

Brown, who said he was stationed with a squad of officers alongside the I-J moments prior to the altercation with DeMartini, testified, as have other officers, that he heard several police loudspeaker admonitions to the chanting crowd on Julia Street to disperse.

The defense contends the commands could not be heard because of crowd noise.

Among the charges against the seven are failure to disperse, participating in a riot and unlawful assembly. Six, including DeMartini, also are accused of felony assault on a police officer.

The confrontation between pickets and police began shortly after a car entered and left the I-J loading dock on Julia Street. Brown testified he saw "picket signs flying through the air and people going down."

Under cross-examination by defense attorney Carl B. Shapiro, representing DeMartini, Brown said the union official uttered the obscenities while Pennington kneeled on top of the prone DeMartini to handcuff him.

Brown admitted he had not included reference to the obscenities in his police report of the incident because he didn't consider them significant enough at the time.

The prosecution will attempt to show later through the testimony of officer Pennington that DeMartini struck him while grappling for the truncheon.

The testimony of Brown came out of order in the trial as the prosecution's scheduled witness yesterday, officer Timothy O'Donnell of the San Rafael police, suffered an attack of laryngitis.

O'Donnell is expected to buttress the testimony of officer Ronald Averiette, also of the San Rafael police, that another of the defendants, Charles P. Vance, 56, of San Francisco, struck O'Donnell with a picket sign.

Union Men Appear But Forget Data

SAN FRANCISCO — Officials of four Bay Area labor unions appeared in U.S. District Court yesterday, but failed to bring subpoenaed union records and documents.

The National Labor Relations Board wants the records in court to prove its contention that the unions were in civil and criminal contempt of court orders when they allegedly engaged in secondary boycott activity against Independent-Journal advertisers.

Judge William T. Sweigert yesterday ordered the unions to produce the records in court at 10 a.m. Monday. Union attorneys said they would challenge the order in the U.S. Court of Appeals.

They said the order was a violation of constitutional protection against self-incrimination and that it impairs union members' rights of free association, free press for house organs and bulletins and privileged communications between unions and attorneys.

The labor relations board is seeking contempt action against San Francisco Typographical Union 21 — which has been on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7 — and teamsters locals 85 of San Francisco and 70 of Oakland and longshoremen's local 10.

The contempt action was begun after picketing began in October at Marin supermarkets and other stores advertising in the I-J. Truck drivers reported being turned back while attempting deliveries in Marin, and there were reports of tire slashing and other vandalism to delivery trucks.

Loch Lomond Vote On Land Offer

Loch Lomond Homeowners Association members voted enthusiastic support last night of a proposal for the City of San Rafael to acquire a 539-acre piece of property in the Black Canyon area.

Association president Donald B. Edmondo said the 20 members present at the meeting instructed the association's board to send a representative to the San Rafael City Council to indicate the association's support of the land acquisition plan and the group's desire that the land be maintained as a recreational greenbelt area.

The property, valued at about $1.5 million, has been offered to San Rafael by owners Frank Sinatra and associates, for about $170,000.

To Lead Firemen

Richard Wagner last night was elected president of the Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Association and Charles Locati was chosen vice president. Other new officers are James Mantegani, secretary; Fred Hannahs, treasurer; Gene Erickson, sergeant-at-arms, and Lawrence Bogel, Raymond Coombs and Aldo de Tomasi, directors.

Bridge Jumper Is Reported

A 57-year-old Petaluma man is believed to have jumped off Golden Gate Bridge but his body has not been recovered, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

A witness told the patrol he saw Robert J. Bourgerie, of 36 Fairview Terrace, stop his car and leap over the railing Tuesday at 4:37 p.m. after first dropping a paper bag into the water.

Bourgerie appeared to be in a drugged or dazed condition just before he jumped, officers quoted the witness as saying.

Coastline Solution: Buy Now For Future

SAN FRANCISCO — California's coastline can be saved from destruction by development, but only if its citizens foot the bill to buy it.

This was the proposal yesterday of Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles, coauthor of one of four bills defeated this year that would have regulated coastline development.

He did not put a price tag on the coastline, but said that "whatever price needed to pay will be a bargain in 100 years." And he stressed the purchase must be made promptly, warning "we just cannot continue to delay."

Sieroty compared the purchase to "Seward's Folly" in 1867, when Alaska was bought from Russia for $7.2 million.

He said a statewide bond measure would have to be voted to make the purchase, and noted that growing public interest in the environment should assure its passage.

Sieroty made his proposal in a hearing by the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee, which is drafting legislation for the 1971 session in Sacramento to regulate coastline development. The past session's bills all would have required development permits from a statewide coastline commission while it drafted a general plans, but were silent on what could be done after the general plan was completed.

Sieroty's proposal was his idea on what would have to follow completion of the general plan, which presumably would designate remaining open areas to be purchased by the state or other public agencies.

His proposal was echoed by Don Benninghoven, assistant director of the League of California Cities. He defended local governments from conservationists' criticism that they had failed to prevent coastline development

Benninghoven said money, not zoning, was needed to control development. Zoning controls simply cannot do the job, he said, because they do not empower cities to stop development.

Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Vallejo, said that city officials inevitably tend to be in the "development direction" because their revenues depend largely on property taxes. To this extent, Dunlap said, local government officials "do not entirely represent the public."

Opposition to some of the defeated bills on coastline regulation came during the past legislative session from loval government officials, who want to maintain their control over shoreline in their areas. Conservationists, however, want the dominant controls in a statewide commission that they say would be more free of pressure from developers.

Innocent Plea To Pot Charge

Frank S. Lynn III, 23, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana at his home Nov. 20.

A preliminary hearing was set for Jan. 14.

Lynn was arrested after officers saw him through a window smoking a cigarette that appeared to be pot. They said they found additional bags of suspected marijuana in the house as well as suspected hashish.

Field Cut To 12 For School Boss

A committee established by the Reed School District board to screen applicants for district superintendent has narrowed the field from 130 candidates to 12, according to Interim Supt. Stanley H. Friese.

Trustees, meeting Tuesday, heard a report from Dr. Charles Epstein, chairman of the screening committee, that the group will invite the finalists to Marin Dec. 11 and 12 for personal interviews.

The committee then will make its recommendation to the board, which will make the final choice, Friese said. The post pays between $23,000 and $26,000 a year.

In other business, the board applied for a $63,579 federal grant to purchase books, periodicals and electronic equipment such as projectors and listening stations for the multi-media center at the new Reedland Woods School.

After the open meeting, the board held a two-hour-and-15-minute closed session to instruct its negotiating committee to offer a counter-proposal to the Reed District Teachers Association in contract discussions.

Friese said points at issue are 1970-71 salaries and details of an employer-employee relations agreement.

The Reed School District board also:

LEAVE — Granted sick leave without pay to Gloria Artegiani, teacher aide at Granada School, for six months.

BID — Approved a $3,189 contract with Ireland and Robinson Co. of Belvedere to paint two buildings at district headquarters. The bid was the lowest of three received.

AUDIT — Accepted an audit of the building fund account.

Mysterious Shot Fired Into Room

A .30-caliber bullet was fired sometime between 5 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. yesterday into a bedroom at the apartment of Wayne Knowles, 28 Mariner Green, Corte Madera, police said today.

According to officers, the bullet which was recovered entered the room through the wall of an adjoining apartment.

No one was at the Knowles apartment at the time of the mysterious shooting, police said.

Officers said they had not been able to reach the occupant of the apartment next door, Sheila Luchessi, for an explanation.

Camera Gear Reported Stolen

San Rafael police reported yesterday that burglars took camera equipment valued at $415 from two adjoining offices of landscape architects at 503 D Street.

Police said a camera valued at $35 was taken from Phillips and Finisy Architects between 8 a.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Camera equipment worth $360 was taken from the office of William L. Capranos between 6 and 10 p.m. Monday, police said.

Medalist Takes Nixon To Task

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A 19-year-old girl surprised President Nixon at a White House ceremony Thursday by accepting a medal for service to her fellow man and then questioning his sincerity because of continued U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Deborah Jean Sweet of Madison, Wis., whose sandy hair fell to her shoulders and who wore a ankle-length calico dress, was the last of four young persons to receive a Young American Medal from the President. She accepted it.

"I find it very hard to believe in your sincerity in giving an award for service until you get us out of the war."

Nixon seemed taken aback momentarily. "Well," he replied, "we're doing the best we can."

The President, who had posed separately with each winner and his family and congressman, declined a photographers' request that he pose for a group picture at the end of the ceremony. He said he was late for another appointment.

Miss Sweet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Caruso and a student at Valparaiso University, Indiana, was honored for her work in race relations and for organizing a 30-mile march by 3,000 high school students to raise money to feed poor children.

The medal, awarded annually for bravery and service, was established by Congress 20 years ago. Winners nominated by state governors were chosen this year by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, Solicitor General Erwin Griswold and Jack C. Landau, former information director of the Justice Department.

Nixon praised the four winners as examples of the majority of young people whose selfless service to country and fellow man receives little attention these days.

One medal was awarded posthumously to John N. Caruso Jr. of John's Island, S.C., a 12-year-old who drowned June 26, 1968, while saving the life of a neighbor, Carl Chavis, 10. The medal was accepted by John's parents.

Thomas Dvorscek of Oaklawn, Ill., was honored for rescuing a 10-year-old girl who had fallen through ice in a small pond. He was nearly 16 at the time.

An award for service went to Maxine Susan Lazovick, 20, of Bridgeport, Conn., a student at Lesley College in Cambridge, Mass., for her volunteer work with mentally retarded children.

Youths Use Guise To Sell Mints

Two youths were reported selling mints under false pretenses in San Rafael Tuesday, according to police.

The two who claimed they were selling the candy to benefit the Marin City Boys Club, were selling about 3 p.m. on Mitchell Boulevard, it was reported to police.

The boys club stated the two were not selling for the club, according to police.

Veterinary Group To Seat Officers

The Marin County Veterinary Medical Association will hold its annual installation dinner Dec. 11 at 7 p.m. at the San Geronimo Country Club.

According to Dr. Charles W. Owens, out-going president, new officers to be installed are: Robert M. Bramman, president; John Zimmerman, vice president; Donald C. Innes, secretary; Michael Kluse, treasurer; Raymon R. Rediske, delegate and Owens, alternate delegate.

Defense For Angela Hits Proceedings

NEW YORK (UPI) — The defense for Angela Y. Davis, the 26-year-old black militant and self described Communist, argued at her extradition hearing today that her constitutional rights had been violated by the State of California.

Attorney John J. Abt told the crowded hearing room that if Miss Davis is returned to California to face a murder charge it would be a "patent violation of her constitutional rights and utterly unconscionable."

Abt argued that there is "not the slightest evidence" that Miss Davis was involved in the Marin County Hall of Justice courtroom shoot-out on Aug. 7 in which Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons were slain.

California is seeking to have Miss Davis, a former philosophy instructor at UCLA returned to Marin County to face charges of murder, kidnaping and conspiracy to commit various crimes.

Miss Davis was arrested in New York City Oct. 13 on a federal warrant charging her with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. She is not accused of being at the scene of the killings but of aiding and abetting the crime.

Tentative Approval On Building Plans

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night tentatively approved plans for an 18-unit planned development near Santa Rosa Avenue and Glen Drive, Robert L. Nissen, commission chairman, reported today.

But planners asked developer David Hunter to present final detailed plans for the development, which will include single-family homes and duplexes, at a special meeting next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Nissen said the commission wants another look at Hunter's specific proposals for the buildings and their placement and at his plans for access to the property, drainage and roads. "Once a plan is approved, it must be followed exactly," he explained, adding the commission will also impose certain conditions on the development at the meeting.

Several months ago Hunter was granted a variance to allow construction of a planned unit development in a residential area. Currently the city council is considering an amendment to the city's zoning ordinance to permit cluster housing in single family residential zones as an allowed use, one which does not require a variance.

The council is asking that cluster developments be limited to single, detached dwellings, but Nissen said any final council ruling will not affect Hunter's development, which will include some units with common walls and a common roof, since the development has already been approved by the commission.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

LOT SPLIT — Approved a request from A.A. Raymond to permit a lot at 625 Locust Road to be subdivided into two parcels.

REPAIRS — Granted a conditional use permit to Don Olson to remodel and repair a nonconforming dwelling at 222 Fourth Street. Cost of repairs and remodeling will be more than 50 per cent of the structure's appraised value.

POSTPONEMENT — Postponed action on a request by the Project Development Corp., asking permission to change the Marina Vista subdivision at the head of Nevada Street from a planned unit development to a condominium.

Sierra Snowpack Seeking Is Snagged

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Efforts to create snow through cloud seeding in order to stabilize the Sierra snowpack have run into a snag.

Patrick Squires, director of atmospheric physics at the desert Research Institute, said Wednesday there's too much snow in the mountains of western Nevada and repairmen have been unable to make repairs on the idle cloud seding generators.

Two Hurt In Rear-End Accidents

Two persons said they would see their own doctors yesterday after they were injured in separate rear-end auto accidents on Marin County highways, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Gerard M. Gmeiner, 19, of 293 Ellen Drive, Marinwood, received a bloody nose when his car struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Michael J. Dito, 18, of 809 Rosal Way, Marinwood, which had stopped in traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near La Cuesta Drive in Greenbrae at 11:10 a.m.

Dito's car was pushed into a third vehicle driven by Anthony P. Day, 36, of Redwood City, the patrol said.

In the second mishap, Sterling W. Hanks, 31, of Santa Rosa, received minor unspecified injuries when his car, stopped in heavy commute traffic on southbound Highway 101 at the Waldo Tunnel at 8:50 a.m., was struck from behind.

Officers said the other driver, Vincent J. Cass, 53, of 22 Terra Linda Drive, was uninjured.

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. has obtained a $14.3 million addition to an Army contract for operations at the Huntsville, Ala., space center.

Billionaire Hughes Reported In Bahamas

LAS VEGAS, NEV. (UP)—Howard Hughes, the billionaire who arrived here in 1966 and hasn't been seen in public since, is in the Bahama Islands on a "business trip."

A spokesman for Hughes acknowledged the state's largest gambling casino owner left this resort spa on business but said he "is retaining his living quarters at the Desert Inn."

When asked if the business trip included the possibility of Hughes buying an island, a source said, "He's already owned an island in the West Indies for years."

"He's been interested in going there for years (to the Bahamas, but he doesn't intend to give up his Las Vegas residence," the source added.

It was believed Hughes left Wednesday, Thanksgiving eve, because the vehicles registered to his Hollywood headquarters were not at the hotel as usual.

"We had anticipated questions from the business community about Mr. Hughes' absence from Nevada," an official spokesman said, "and Hughes employes and other interested parties can feel assured that his current trip in no way should be taken to indicate a diminishing concern for his Nevada enterprises."

Hughes has invested an estimated $250 million to acquire hotels and casinos, prime land and mining properties in Nevada.

Offbeat Western Slated In Sausalito

Woman Claims Harassment Over House's EOC Use

San Rafael apartment owner Elizabeth R. Huff complained to the Economic Opportunity Council last night that Corte Madera city officials had harassed and cited her for allowing her property on Willow Avenue to be used as an EOC food distribution center.

She said her former home at 122 Willow Avenue was once used as a food distribution center, but is no longer used for that purpose. Nevertheless, she said Corte Madera police accosted her on Thanksgiving morning and cited her for allowing a food distribution center.

W. Robert Lomax Jr., executive director of EOC, backed up Mrs. Huff. He said the food distribution center is not operating at that address and has not been operating there for some time.

"I think a terrible injustice was done to Mrs. Huff by the government of Corte Madera. As a result of the harrassment, she spent two days in the hospital."

He asked the Economic Opportunity Council to take some action. "I think somebody should apologize to somebody."

On a motion by Timothy Kelly, the council asked Lomax to get the facts and report back at the next meeting.

The EOC, headed by Chairman Eloise T. Brown, met before a packed house last night in the Tiburon Council Chambers and seated nine new members elected on Nov. 19 from four supervisorial districts.

The new members are Dulce Urias, Mario Tapia, and Jeanne Vesper from district 1; Valise Mills, Vernon Cox, and Joyce Shank from district 2; June Tolbert from district 4; and Joe Homen and Kay Hill from district 5.

In District 3, South Marin, the four representatives were to be pared to three, but this was not done because the District 3 area board lacked a quorum at last week's meeting, Lomax explained.

Since this leaves the countywide Economic Opportunity Council with one more than the 36 allowed, one person must be unseated, Lomax explained. He suggested that Frank Phillips of District 3 be deleted.

"We can't unseat anyone until the area board acts," declared Mrs. Brown, the chairman, but she was overruled.

On a motion by Father John J. O'Connor, EOC members unseated Phillips of Marin City, to bring the total council members to 36.

The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council also:

REPLACEMENTS — Seated the following new members to fill vacancies: George Ortman, representing the City of Mill Valley; Robert C. Beebe, Human Resources Development; Edward Parnell, City of Tiburon; Dennis Kitterman, Head Start policy advisory committee and Phillip Abrams, City of Larkspur.

PRIORITIES — Approved the following priority of activities for the new program year from April 1, 1971, through March 31, 1972: Manpower and employment, housing, education, nutrition and health, and transportation.

STAFF CAR — Approved the expenditure of $105 per month by the Southern Marin Target Area Board to rent a car for the target area staff use for the remaining four months of this program year.

NEW OFFICERS — Put off election of new officers until next month when a nominating committee will be elected to come up with a slate of officers.

MEMBERSHIP — Heard from Lomax that the current countywide membership drive is expected to bring in about $25,000 in new membership fees.

I-J — Was told by Lomax that the Independent-Journal had erred in reporting that the City of San Anselmo had declined to support the EOC's current membership drive and refused to designate December as Equal Opportunity Month. (A correction appears elsewhere in today's I-J.)

Market Burgled

Liquor, cigarettes and salami, valued at about $60, were stolen sometime Nov. 27 or 28 during a burglary of the Rainbow Market, 4345 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, police have reported.

A Solution To Meetings: One A Week

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)— The board of education here decided to meet only once a week instead of twice after staff members complained the meetings were taking too much of their time.

But, apparently unwilling to take a $50 a week pay cut for dropping one meeting, the board came up with a plan that allows it to meet only one day a week, yet collect full pay for two meetings.

Each Tuesday at 2 p.m. the first meeting starts with a pledge of allegiance and a prayer. When that meeting is over, it is only minutes before the gavel sounds and the board conducts a second session, complete with another pledge of allegiance.

The procedure was criticized Tuesday by board observers who said what happens at the two meetings is no different than what used to happen where there was only one.

However, board president Richard L. Johnston defended the practice Wednesday, saying the board meets numerous times in addition to the eight meetings a month for which it can be paid under state law.

Petaluma Valley Canvas Planned

The membership committee of the newly formed Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association will contact residents of Avondale Subdivision Number Four this week to seek prospective members.

All residents will be personally invited to attend the group's organizational meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at La Tercera School multi-use room. Proposed bylaws will be discussed and voted upon.

Committee members who will be calling on residents include chairman Janet Fountain, Muriel Birkland, Dinah McGovern, Lois Frees, Rosemarie Thornia, Ronald Chesterton and president Richard Courier.

Pollution Fine

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Fred M. Schilwachter and Sons, Inc., was fined $1,000 Monday on two counts of polluting creek water in the first trial held under the new Federal Refuse Act.

Conservancy Bidding For Redwoods

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Nature Conservancy, a private conservation organization, negotiated today for low-cost leases on two redwood groves valued at $6 million and given to the group by the Georgia Pacific Corp., on the understanding they would become part of the state park system.

The two groves are on the Van Duzen River. The conservation group now is attempting leases with Humboldt County and the University of California.

The state failed to get the groves because it couldn't raise a needed $8,000. Then the conservation group stepped in to complete the transfer transaction at a claimed cost of $18,000. Nature Conservancy wants this investment back.

Huey Johnson, head of the regional office of Nature Conservancy, said he understood the problem faced by State Parks Director William Penn Mott Jr., whose department always has been beset by budgetary difficulties.

"He's utterly hampered by budget cuts," Johnson said, adding his group would hold out for its full $18,000 investment because "we're a private organization. We depend on contributions. We have to recover every cent we can."

Both Mott and Johnson agreed the groves will be open to public recreation under terms of an eventual agreement.

Johnson said the negotiations were for a five-year, renewable, $1-a-year lease with Humboldt County for the 210-acre Robert B. Jamplin Grove and the same terms with UC for the 180-acre Owen R. Cheatham Grove. Both leases have restrictive clauses to insure public access.

Conditional Approval To Funds For Senior Catering Business

Marin Senior Coordinating Council, which wants to set up 11 senior citizens in the catering business, won conditional approval of a $2,000 loan from the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council last night.

On a motion by Father John J. O'Conner, the EOC board asked its budget and finance committee to scrounge the funds to buy equipment such as coffee makers and other utensils to put the senior citizens in business by January. Council members decided that this funding would get number two priority, right behind another outlay to provide a second bus to transport children to the Head Start center in Marin City.

The $2,000 loan to the senior group will be at no interest and for a period of about two years, during which the senior citizens can repay the loan.

Edward T. Ryken, executive director of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council, asked for an outright grant of $2,000, but settled for the long-term loan.

He said the loan will put 11 senior citizens in the catering business. "The potential is unlimited," said Ryken. "If all goes well, we may have 50 senior citizens employed in the business by next March."

Ryken announced that a catering firm in Novato is willing to guarantee the senior citizens a one-year contract if the seniors can come up with the necessary equipment. Eleven senior citizens, mostly from the Mill Valley and Santa Venetia, have been experimenting with catering during the past 10 months.

During November the senior citizens catered four major Thanksgiving dinners for about 150 persons per dinner, said Ryken. He said the seniors have received other catering requests such as to provide the lunch program for the Head Start children at 185 Washington Street in Novato.

Ryken said the senior citizens are also exploring the possibility of taking over the Civic Center cafeteria service when the cafeteria closes down on Dec. 18. The Civic Center will be without cafeteria service when the State Department of Rehabilitation moves out on Dec. 18 and until the county contracts with a private firm to resume the service next year.

SST Ban Sought At S.F. International

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Conservation groups today called for a ban on supersonic transport (SST) landings and takeoffs at San Francisco International Airport.

John H. Sutter, an Oakland attorney and chairman of BANG, Bay Anti-Noise Group, said such a ban by major airports might convince Congress and the Nixon administration to abandon "this foolish project."

Changing Attitude

SHAWNEE, Okla. (UPI) — Barbers in Oklahoma are becoming more tolerant of shaggy haired people who come into their shops these days. The subject of how to cut longer hair was the chief topic in a weekend seminar on hair styling. "Barbers have fought long hair for a long time," said Gene Beavers of Oklahoma City. "But when they start starving they look at it a different way."

On Monday, the 14th day of December, 1970, at the hour of 10 o'clock A.M. of said day, at the office of the WESTERN TITLE GUARANTY COMPANY, MARIN COUNTY DIVISION at 801 "A" Street, San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, WESTERN TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY, Trustee, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, without warranty, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, the following described real property situate in the County of Marin, State of California, viz:

PARCEL ONE:

BEGINNING at a point in the line dividing the lands of Almy from the lands of Almy from the lands now owned by David Warden (formerly the Moore Tract) distant Southerly measure thereon 122.3 feet from the South line of First Street, running thence North 66° 10' West 43.6 feet to the Easterly line of an unnamed street, thence along said last mentioned line South 1° 20' East 87 feet; thence leaving said street line and running South 63° 50' East 9.5 feet, more or less, to the line of fence dividing said lands of Almy and Warden, and thence Northerly along said last mentioned line 79.3 feet to the point of beginning.

BEING a portion of Lot No. 6 in Block No. 10 in Short's Addition to the Town of San Rafael.

PARCEL TWO:

BEGINNING at a point in the line dividing the lands formerly belonging to Joseph Almy from the lands formerly belonging to David Warden, said point being the Southeast corner of the tract of land conveyed by David Warden and wife, to Marguerite Ormsby by Deed dated October 23, 1907 and recorded in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, in Volume 11 of Deeds, at page 340, thence along said dividing line South 21° 45' West 21.5 feet; thence North 1° 20' West 24.15 feet to the Southwest corner of the said lot conveyed to Marguerite Ormsby and thence South 63° 50' East 9.5 feet to the place of beginning.

PARCEL THREE:

COMMENCING at a point on the Easterly line of Lot described in the Order Assigning Estate made by the Petition of Mary E. Gulde, widow of Carl Verdi Gulde, deceased, entered into Court, and caused to be filed February 21, 1919, a certified copy of which order was recorded same day in Liber 201 of Deeds, page 357, Marin County Records; distant thereon 112.3 feet Southerly from the Northeast corner of said Lot, and running thence Southerly along said Easterly line 10 feet to Southeast corner of said Lot, and running thence North 66° 10' West 43.6 feet to the Easterly line of an unnamed street, and running thence Northerly along said Easterly line to a point which is North 66° 10' West, from the point of commencement, and running thence South 66° 10' East to the point of commencement.

BEING the Southerly 10 feet of the property described in the Order Assigning Estate above referred to.

PARCEL FOUR:

BEGININNG at a point on the Easterly line of the land described in the Order Assigning Estate made by the Petition of Mary E. Gulde, widow of Carl Verdi Gulde, deceased, entered into Court and caused to be filed February 21, 1919, a certified copy of which Order was recorded same day in Liber 201 of Deeds, page 357, Marin County Records, distant thereon 112.3 feet Southerly from the Northeast corner of said land, said point also being the Northeast corner of Parcel 3 as said Parcel 3 is described in that certain Deed from Clement J. Schantz, et ux, to Sadie J. Schantz, recorded December 17, 1952 in Book 780 of Official Records, at page 551, Marin County Records; running thence Northerly along Easterly line of said Gulde Land 10 feet, thence leaving the last mentioned line North 66° 10' West 52.23 feet to the Easterly line of Miramar Avenue; thence along said last mentioned line South 1° 20" East 11.035 feet to the Northwesterly corner of Parcel 3, referred to in the Deed to Sadie J. Schantz; thence along the Northerly line of said Parcel 3 South 66° 10' East 48 feet, more or less, to the point of beginning.

PARCEL FIVE:

BEGINNING at a point on the Westerly line of the property described in the Deed from Home Owner's Loan Corporation, a corporate instrumentality to Paul Brunchak, et ux, Deed dated December 27, 1939, recorded January 3, 1940 in Liber 392 of Official Records, at page 41, Marin County Records, distant thereon South 21° 45' West 102.3 feet from the most Northerly corner thereof; thence continuing along said Westerly line South 21° 45' West 112.20 feet to a point; thence leaving said Westerly line North 22° 46' 30" East 54.85 feet, North 23° 29' East 23.11 feet, North 22° 37' East 35.84 feet and thence Northwesterly 7.42 feet, more or less, to the point of beginning.

TOGETHER WITH all and singular the tenements, hereditaments, and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in any wise appertaining and the reversion and reversions, remainder and remainders, rents, issues, and profits thereof.

SAID Sale will be made to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in a certain Deed of Trust executed by DAVID R. GOTTLIEB and BARBARA L. GOTTLIEB, his wife, as Joint Tenants, As Trustor, to WESTERN TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY, a corporation, as Trustee for the benefit and security of CASCADE ACCEPTANCE CORPORATION, as Beneficiary, dated September 18, 1969 and recorded September 26, 1969 in Liber 2329 of Official Records, at page 108, Marin County Records.

NOTICE of Breach of said obligation and election to sell said real property was recorded August 17, 1970 in Liber 2395 of Official Records, at page 194, Marin County Records.

THIS NOTICE is given in compliance with the demand heretofore made by the Beneficiary, CASCADE ACCEPTANCE COPPORATION.

Pneumonia No Longer The Killer It Once Was; Thanks To Penicillin

Pneumonia, no longer one of the world's greatest killers, still is especially dangerous to the oldster. Fortunately, most of the victims are spared via one of the antibiotics. The disease often follows an attack of bronchitis.

Pneumonia usually involves the substances of the lungs, rather than the passageways. Bronchonpneumonia is, perhaps, an exception, in that the infection starts in the bronchi and extends into the tiny air sacs (alveoli). Lobar pneumonia is confined to one section or lobe of the lung, (in the tissues surrounding thousands of alveoli).

LOBAR PNEUMONIA is less common than it was before World War II. The condition begins suddenly with a marked chill, high fever, and a pleuritic-type chest pain. Breathing is rapid and jerky; the sufferer may grunt with each breath. There is coughing and the sputum usually is flecked with blood.

Without antibiotics, pneumonia lasts from 7 to 10 days. During this period those who survive undergo a crisis with a dramatic loss of fever and toxicity. When penicillin or other antibiotics are given, the chest condition subsides within a few days. Convalescence is shortened because the individual does not spend a week or more at death's door followed by extreme weakness, weight loss and lethargy.

BBRONCHOPNEUMONIA starts more slowly with increasing fatigue, irregular fever, and breathlessness. A nasty cough develops, but there is little or no chest pain. The illness continues for two to five weeks and gradually subsides without a crisis. Antibiotics shorten the duration of the disease, but take longer to work than with lobar pneumonia.

NEW MOM IS TIRED

Mrs. T. D. writes: My 27-year-old daughter had a baby about a year ago and she has been irritable and tired ever since. The doctor checked her over and found her blood pressure was 102. Could this be the reason why she feels so worn out?

REPLY

I doubt it. However, whatever is causing her low blood pressure may also be causing the fatigue. Housewife's fatigue is understandable but it is difficult to convince most hardworking and conscientious mothers that they are doing too much. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on fatigue.

TOXIC GOITER

D. S. writes: My doctor said I have a toxic goiter. What does he mean?

REPLY

He means that an overactive thyroid gland is poisoning your body because it is producing too much thyroxine. The powerful thyroid hormone increases the body's metabolism and steps up the activities of the heart and all the tissues. The result is weight loss, nervousness, tremor, increased or an irregular pulse rate, and a ravenous appetite.

A 'WORDY' PROBLEM

Mrs. P. R. writes: My 6-year-old son can't pronounce words that begin with the letter R. For instance, ring comes out wing and red sounds like wed. Do you think I should take him to a speech clinic?

REPLY

If you can't help the boy by patient example, professional speech therapy may be necessary. Inarticulate speech is prolonged when parents use "baby talk" to communicate with their children.

SELF-IMPOSED DIET

K. A. writes: Since my husband recovered from a heart attack he refuses to eat butter, bacon or other fats. He also won't let me serve these items to our young son. Are these foods harmful to a young boy?

REPLY

Not in moderation. Children need fat to balance their diet. When your son reaches adulthood, he can reduce his intake of fats if his blood cholesterol becomes elevated. By that time, scientists may have other ways to protect against hardening of the arteries. It could be that other foods, such as carboyhdrates, will be blamed.

BEETS ARE SAFE

T. R. writes: Are beets hard on the kidneys?

REPLY

No. However, don't panic if the color of the urine changes to red after you eat too many beets. Studies have shown that approximately 14 per cent of the population passes pink to deep red urine after beets are eaten. The majority do not because the pigment responsible for the reddish hue in the urine is not absorbed by the intestine. Under these circumstances, it may resemle blood in the stoil.

RAW SPUDS

A reader writes: Is a person geting too much starch if he eats two raw potatoes a day?

REPLY

No, because raw potatoes are low in calories. This does not apply after they have been cooked and smothered in butter, or margarine and gravy. Add a few chives, bacon crumbs, and sour cream and is it good!

Today's Health Hint— Bad habits are the worst of masters.

COLDS EVERY WINTER

R.C.T. writes: Every winter I get a respiratory infection that is worse than a cold but less severe than the flu. My nose and throat also are involved. Can anything be done to prevent these inefctions?

REPLY

Flu vaccine offers the best prophylaxis as it protects against at least five of the viruses responsible for nose, throat and bronchial symptoms. Try to avoid crowds and anyone who has a cold. When n in tion lowers your resistance get plenty of sleep and keep the hands clean.

ARTERY HARDENING

H.P. writes: Do men get hardening of the tirares earlier than women?

REPLY

Yes, and we suspect that female sex hormones protect the ladies. After the menopause, however, women no longer have this protection. But since the arteriosclerotic process has not proceeded thru the years at the same rate as in males, women'a arteries are in better shape than those of men in a comparable age group. Exceptions occur among women who have diabetes or high bloodpressure.

PILES AND ANEMIA

C.B. writes: Can bleeding piles cause anemia?

REPLY

Yes. Bleeding may be profuse or imperceptible. In most anemias traced to bleeding hemorrhoids, there is constant seepage of blood over a long period. The red blood count and hemoglobin fall when the body is unable to make up the deficit.

BLOODSHOT EYES

D.E. writes: What should be done about bloodshot eyes?

REPLY

Nothing, unless there is an obvious cause. Congestion is associated with infection, allergy, irritation of the eyes, or dissipation.

An Extra $500

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has voted to give itself an extra $500 stationery allowance for the rest of this year, bringing the total for such expenditures to $3,500 per member. The money can be used to buy office supplies and related material.

Innocent Pleas To Drug Counts

John W. Arroyo, 20, and Michael J. Ragar, 25, both of Petaluma, pleaded innocent to drug charges yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set a preliminary hearing for Dec. 11 at 9:30 a.m. and denied their request to be released on their own recognizance.

Bail for Arroyo, who is charged with possession of marijuana and marijuana for sale, was set at $2,500 on the basis of a report by the Sonoma County Probation Department. Ragar has been held in lieu of $6,000 bail set on Monday.

They were arrested Saturday by Petaluma police after they had reportedly been causing a disturbance at Denny's Restaurant, 4986 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Automatic Machines Confuse Motorists

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—An interim report Wednesday disclosed about 10 per cent of the motorists who cross the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge can't get used to the three new automatic toll collecting machines.

Standby toll collectors had to remain in the lanes to help pick up dropped coins, collect commute tickets or make change.

Coast Guard Faulted In Report To Nixon

BOSTON (UPI)—A full report to President Nixon on the refusal to grant political asylum to a Lithuanian seaman blames the coast guard, not the state department, the Boston Globe reported today.

The report, prepared in the offices of Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe and Undersecretary of State U. Alexis Johnson, was given to Nixon shortly after 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, the newspaper said, quoting "administration sources."

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there would be no immediate comment on the report ordered by the President Monday night.

A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee was to begin hearings today in Washington on the Nov. 23 incident off the Massachusetts coast.

Ziegler told newsmen Wednesday a new policy promising a "clear policy on political refugees" would be outlined by Nixon after the President has studied the formal report.

On the basis of initial reports, the President described "the whole matter as 'outrageous'." Ziegler said. These preliminary reports, he said, indicated that "procedures followed were inadequate and the action taken inadequate and the judgments used were bad."

The White House spokesman said he did not know what has happened to the seaman who leaped aboard the Coast Guard cutter Vigilant while the two were tied together in U.S. territorial waters about one mile off Martha's Vineyard for a conference on fishing rights.

Ziegler said he didn't know if any protest had been made to the Soviet Union over the incident.

The State Department has maintained it was informed of the incident but its advice was not sought. The Coast Guard says it had no guidelines for such situations.

Transport Plane Down; 44 Missing

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command said today a U.S. transport plane with 32 American servicemen and 12 Vietnamese aboard was missing and presumed down over central South Vietnam. It was the second such plane missing in the same area in a week.

Military spokesmen said the twin-engine C123 Provider transport had been missing since Sunday.

Another C123 carrying six Americans and 73 South Vietnamese has been missing since Friday in the same general region.

Military spokesmen said the men aboard both planes officially have been listed as missing. Military sources said both planes apparently went down shortly after takeoff from areas near the South China Sea coast.

C123s have been the workhorse aircraft of the Vietnam War.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said the Cambodian military command had acknowledged today for the first time that as many as 2,000 Rouge guerrillas are operating in the Kirirom Mountains southwest of the capital.

Lt. Col. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman, said he had no details of the fighting or casualty reports but said he estimated the number of Khmer Rouge in the area at from 1,000 to 2,000.

The Kirirom Pass area along Highway 4 linking Phnom Penh with Cambodia's sepaort of Kompong Som has been occupied by the Communists since Nov. 21.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Comman said today 32 Americans were killed in the Vietnam War last week, less than half the death toll the previous week. Another 178 GIs were wounded.

U.S. spokesmen said the number of Americans killed in action was the same as the toll from illness, accidents and other nonhostile causes.

Another 32 died of noncombatant causes.

It was the 22nd consecutive week U.S. war deaths stayed below 100. The toll was 33 fewer than the previous week.

South Vietnamese combat deaths hit their highest point in 12 weeks with 430 government troops killed and 934 wounded.

The latest figures raised the toll of Americans killed in action in the war since Jan. 1, 1961 to 44,083. The total wounded for the war reached 292,345 with the total noncombantant deaths 8,881.

The Command said Allied forces killed 1,300 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese last week, pushing the total Communist dead for the war to 684,848.

Home Decoration Contest Announced

The Marin Highlands Homeowners Association in novato will sponsor a Christmas home decoration contest in its neighborhood with judging Dec. 21, according to Maureen Whittman, association secretary.

There will be prizes of $25, $15, and $5, she said. The association also will conduct Christmas caroling at 8 p.m. Dec. 20.

Auto Stereo Unit Stolen From Boat

An auto stereo unit valued at $135 was stolen between Sunday and Tuesday from the boat of Brad W. Smith, 48 Longwood Drive, San Rafael police said.

The boat was moored at the San Rafael Yacht Harbor when the tape unit was taken between 5 p.m. Sunday and 2:30 p.m. yesterday, police said.

Sailor Who Tried Escape Said 'Criminal' By Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union today branded as a "criminal" a sailor who sought asylum aboard a U. S. Coast Guard cutter only to be returned by a Russian crew that was allowed to go aboard the cutter and search him out.

The Soviet Embassy issued a statement denouncing what it said was an attempt "to present as a martyr the criminal who tried to escape responsibility" for stealing money from the captain's safe on a Russian fishing vessel.

President Nixon was quoted as describing as outrageous the U. S. handling of the affair, and said a repetition would not be tolerated.

The Russian statement was issued prior to a scheduled hearing this afternoon by a House subcommittee on the episode. The rejection of the attempted defector's asylum request and the action allowing a group of Russians to come aboard the cutter to forcibly capture the man, identified as Simas Kudirka, about 35, has been strongly criticized inside and outside Congress.

Civilian witnesses to the incident said Coast Guard crewmen were told not to interfere as the Russian party was allowed aboard the cutter Vigilant to capture Kudirka. The witnesses said Kudirka, who they said had pleaded for asylum, fought his captors and at one time broke away. They said the Russians were permitted to search the ship and said he was beaten into submission after he was found.

The Coast Guard said the captain of the Russian ship, where Kudirka was reported to be a radioman, alleged that the man had stolen $2,000.

The Soviet Embassy statement said, "Sailor Kudirka had committed a criminal act — he had stolen a large sum of money from the captain's safe. After that, he deserted 'to seek freedom.'"

The statement was volunteered to news media by the Embassy.

Nixon Reads Report On Campus Unrest

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House says President Nixon now has read the controversial report of his commission on campus unrest, but still has no public comment on it.

The report by the commission chaired by former Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton was attacked by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew during the recent election campaign. It called on the President to exercise moral leadership to restore the confidence of the nation's alienated youth.

Man To Appear In Burglary Try At Anderson Home

A man suspected of attempting to burglarize the home of Bryce W. Anderson at 304 H Street on Nov. 13, was arrested yesterday by San Rafael police on a warrant.

Henry Jackson Jr., 21, of 1836 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary, attempt to commit a burglary and unauthorized entry of a dwelling. He was held in lieu of $6,250 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

A witness saw a young man, thought to be Jackson, enter the Anderson home while Mrs. Anderson was in the back yard raking leaves. When confronted by Mrs. Anderson, he fled north on H Street and west on Forbes, making his escape.

HAIL, HAIL, THE GANG'S ALL HERE

Free-for-all fight broke out in the first period of the National Hockey League game between the Boston Bruins and Black Hawks at Chicago last night. With almost every player from both teams getting into the action, the brawl resulted in six major penalties, three on each team. The Black Hawks won the game, 4-3, but the fighting was called a draw. AAU Takes Giant Stride Toward 20th Century

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—In a rapid reply to demands of dissident track stars, he governing body of amateur athletics in the United States has taken a giant step towards entering the 20th century.

The Track and Field Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union moved Wednesday to liberalize several stringent regulations restricting athletes.

APPROVAL

Recommendations approved included permission for athletes to use their photographs and signatures in their daily occupations, allowing pros in one sport to compete as non-Olympic amateurs in track and field, simplifying travel permits to foreign nations and banning foreign athletes from championship track meets in the United States unless the foreign countries reciprocate.

All four points were part of a list of seven demands presented only Tuesday to the Track and Field Committee by a group of world-class track stars headed by four-time Olympic hammer thrower Hal Connolly and John Pennel, former world record holder in the pole vault.

All four points also were supported by AAU vice president Jack Kelly, expected to be named president on Saturday, final day of the organization's 83rd annual convention.

GOVERNORS

However, the four recommendations must be approved by the AAU's 400-member board of governors before they can be forwarded to the International Amateur Athletic Federation (IAAF), governing body of worldwide amateur sports.

"The IAAF gives the power to act to individual countries," said Connolly. "And we keep living in 1875. We know as athletes that the IAAF won't flip over athletes being paid."

Connolly has charged that the U.S. restrictions on amateur athletes were "hypocritical and unrealistic" compared to rules governing athletics in other nations.

Spearheading the drive to have Stanley Wright's committee approve the four recommendations was the powerful Southern Pacific Association. The recommendation to permit athletes certain uses of their pictures and signatures was considered a breakthrough in the history of amateur athletics.

FINANCIAL GAIN

Presumably, the action would permit such as Olympic gold medalist Randy Matson, who runs a health spa, and Pennel, a male model, greater latitude in the use of their photos and names to promote their businesses for financial gain.

The Southern Pacific AAU also recommended a "modern day version of the term amateur be developed and forwarded."

"We must take into consideration life as it is today," said Trueman R. Betts, president of the Southern Pacific AAU, and registration committee head Warren Emery in a joint statement.

JIM GILMARTIN

Congrats Go Out To Brink, Sherbert

Congrats to Barry Brink of Mill Valley and Jim Sherbert of Terra Linda for their great football triumps in the National Collegiate Athletic Association this season.

As noted elsewhere on these pages in recent editions, Brink was a defensive line standout on Dartmouth's undefeated team and was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game while Sherbert was winning All-Coast honors as defensive end at Oregon State.

Too bad we couldn't land both of these defensive stars in the Shrine game but Sherbert doesn't qualify for the seniors-only classic because he's only a junior.

Anyway, here are two Marin County Athletic League products who indeed have discovered that the grass is always greener on the other side of defense.

Bruce Kilby In Peach Bowl

ALSO, GOOD NEWS on another Terra Linda High grad, Bruce Kilby, comes from Arizona State College.

Only a sophomore, Kilby appeared in all ASU games and started two at defensive end. He will play with the undefeated and No. 9 ranked Sun Devils against North Carolina in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta Dec. 30.

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL wirephotos carried a four-panel sequence of Redwood High coach Dick Hart in canine action last month.

One of the top collegiate football officials on the coast, Hart was pictured tangling with a doggie as he reffed the Cal-Oregon State game at OSU. The pooch wandered out onto the field and Hart was nomintaed to escort it away from the action. "I feel like I'm going to the dogs," said Mr. Hart, rather hartlessly.

Scholar-Athletes Honored

LARRY KERR, Terra Linda quarterback-linebacker, and Dan Furlong, the great tackle from Tomales, will be among the 22 Northern California athletes who will be honored tonight at the 11th annual awards banquet sponsored by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Good to see little old Tomales get some publicity.

The honorees are selected for their scholastic and athletic abilities.

The 7 p.m. dinner will be at the Jack Tar Hotel with the Presbyterian minister Rev. Donn Moomaw, former UCLA All-American, handling the main speaking chores.

AS LONG as I'm on this football kick, I might as well add that there is the possibility of a Brother Vs. Brother Act in the upcoming National Football League Playoffs. That is if San Francisco and St. Louis win their divisions, the 49ers will battle the Cardinals at St. Louis in the semi-finals.

And, in that event, opposing tackles on the field would be Charley Krueger, No. 70 for the 49ers, against his brudder Rolf, No. 70 for the Cards.

Tempting Football Special

FOR THOSE of you who will not be able to get tickets to the locally "blacked out" 49er-Raiders biggie in Oakland on Dec. 20, Harold's Club of Reno has designed a tempting "Football Special" tour package at low prices.

The Reno gaming house will have several giant color television screens beaming the game throughout the building. The prices for the trip to Nevada, as low as $13.50, will include hic-inducing liquid refreshment and food. Transportation is not included.

As the game has long been sold out and Raider boss Al Davis refuses to lift the local television blackout, I imagine there'll be a great exodus of the Bay Area on Dec. 20.

Things Go Sour For Seals

The Seals' good fortune against the Minnesota North Stars came to an end Wednesday night, 3-2, on a power play goal by Bill Goldsworthy.

Going into the National Hockey League matchup, the Seals had compiled a 3-0-1 record on recent visits to Minnesota. In their series last year, the Seals had a 5-1-2 advantage.

The latest defeat dropped California's record to 6-15-2 and three points behind sixth place Los Angeles.

Goldsworthy's winning goal came in the second period on a follow-up shot. Just two minutes earlier, Gary Jarrett had pulled the Seals even, 2-2, on a power play light-flasher.

Jarrett's goal touched off a wild argument by the North Stars, who claimed Bill Hicke, who got an assist on the play, had obstructed goalie Cesare Maniago.

The Seals, who had scored only one point against opponents from their division this year, drew first blood on Dennis Hextall's goal 7:26 into the game. Bobby Rousseau tied it at 10:19 and then at 19:56, Danny Grant scored to give Minnesota a 2-1 lead.

A wild melee interrupted the game for more than five minutes in the final period and when order was restored, referee Ron Wicks assessed 32 minutes in penalties and two game misconducts.

Score by periods

S.F. Start For Ladies Tennis Tour

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Ladies Professional Tennis tour, the first of its kind, will kick off in San Francisco next January and make its way across the country in six other events.

Announcement of the tour was made Wednesday by Northern California sportsman Kjell Qvale, who is putting up a $15,000 purse for the San Francisco tourney.

The tour starts on Jan. 6 and runs for four days in San Francisco before moving on to Long Beach, Calif., Towson, Md., Oklahoma City, Chattanooga, Ft. Lauderdale and Boston.

A total of 16 women pros will compete for purses of more than $100,000 for the seven events.

DECEMBER TOUGH MONTH FOR WARRIORS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — December will be the make-or-break month for the San Francisco Warriors.

Over their next 17 National Basketball Association games, the Warriors, who lead the Pacific Division by a half-game over Los Angeles, will barnstorm all over the countryside, meeting foes on foreign courts in 13 games.

One out-of-the-way place includes Omaha, whose mayor recently made a pitch for the club.

The trip proper starts Friday night in Los Angeles against the Lakers and after a Saturday home contest against Phoenix, the Warriors won't see their home court again until Dec. 16.

During one period, San Francisco will play seven games in nine nights and none of them will be in the same city.

Although they sport only a 15-10 record, the Warriors are one of the hottest items in the NBA, having won 12 of their last 16 games.

Clay Worried About Being 'Too Ready'

NEW YORK (UPI) —Cassius Clay was worried if he could get into shape quickly enough for his comeback bout against Jerry Quarry on Oct. 26. But in his first bout since 1967, he stopped Quarry in three rounds.

Now he's worried about getting into shape too quickly for the second bout of his comeback against Oscar Bonavena on Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

"I feel good," the 28-year-old Clay said. "Now I'm gonna take it easy."

Clay called off his sparring on Thursday and limited himself to light bag work and running. However, Bonavena continued his grind at Grossinger, N.Y., by sparring several rounds.

Clay's manager, Angelo Dundee, said he will decide on Thursday night whether to have the deposed heavyweight champion resume sparring on Friday.

"I'm continually amazed by this man," he said. "He's unreal. I've never seen an athlete who could get in shape like he does. It shows up when he's working in the gym and the way he's working himself up mentally with all that talk."

Clay continued his talk on Wednesday, predicting that "I will whup him in nine rounds."

However, he found one dissenter in the crowd, former lightweight champion Ike Williams. Clay asked Williams if he could knock out Bonavena in nine rounds.

"No," Williams said bluntly, "I don't think you can knock him out at all. I saw Joe Frazier try to do that in two fights, and he couldn't. But if you can do it in nine I'd say you're the greatest."

Baseball Officials Looking Into Players Popping Pills

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Baseball today became the first major professional sport to organize its team physicians to study whether "pep-pills" and the so-called "ethical" drugs are being widely used by players—and what should be done if they are.

"The concern is with the so-called ethical drugs rather than with narcotics," commented baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn after the announcement that the sport's new Physicians Association will look into "the use and absue of drugs."

'UNDRAMATIC'

Kuhn insisted that the doctors' reports made at the baseball meetings here were "undramatic rather than dramatic" concerning the current usage of drugs by athletes, but he added that "the concern is whether these ethical drugs are being over used."

One team doctor, Dr. Joseph Finegold of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said the pep pills are being used by many athletes and that he expects some players soon will begin having heart attacks while they are playing because pep pills speed up heart action at a time when sport is putting a strain on the heart.

Another team physician said use of such pills by baseball players now is "rather wide spread." He said the general feeling was that it is impossible to control their use by veteran players and that the effort in this direction should be in the area of educating rookies and young players on the dangers of pills by movie films, etc.

The question of drugs was not pinpointed as the reason for the formation of the Physicians Association at the current meetings. The purpose, according to Kuhn, was to "correlate medical information and assist the teams in the treatment of players." But the question of pep pills came quickly to the front in discussions.

The formation of the Physicians Association came as the minor leagues concluded three days of sessions and the major leagues began their three days meeting.

The trading pace slowed and the 12th and 13th deals of the meetings were minor ones—the Atlanta Braves trading catcher Bob Tillman to the Milwaukee Brewers for three players, including outfielder Hank Allen, younger brother of the Dodgers' Richie Allen, all three of them ticketed for the minors; and the Boston Red Sox purchasing utility infielder Phil Gagliano from the Chicago Cubs.

WILHELM

Commissioner Kuhn said he was going to "look with some interest" into one deal consummated at these meetings—the one that brought 47-year-old knuckleball pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm back to the Atlanta Braves from the Cubs along with cash for minor league first baseman Hal Breeden.

It was only back in September that Wilhelm went from the Braves to the Cubs at a time when the Braves had lost any chance at the title in the National League West and the Cubs were battling—in vain, it turned out—for the title in the NL East. Wilhelm made three appearances for the Cubs.

The major leagues had a banquet scheduled tonight at which the winners of new awards were to be announced—Player of the Year, Pitcher of the Year, Defensive Player of the Year, Manager of the Year, and the Player who best typifies the game on and off the field.

Athletic Referendum: Its Role On Campus

BERKELEY (UPI) —University of California students are voting on a referendum which asks if they want to continue allotting part of their registration fees to the athletic budget.

The three-day voting through Friday will only be an advisory for school officials, but still will give an indication as to how students see the role of athletics on campus.

Astro Turf Workout For 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—There should be good footing for the San Francisco 49ers for their games in Candlestick Park next season.

Rained out of their Redwood City practice field Wednesday, the Prospectors worked out at Candlestick Park and found the Astro Turf there still in solid shape.

The Prospectors meet Atlanta in their final Kezar Stadium appearance ever Sunday and though they'll probably be favored, Atlanta has won three of its last four games with San Francisco.

Coach Dick Nolan said that Atlanta has a great defense, five good running backs and a good passer in Bob Berry.

"I think their problem has been turnovers," said Nolan, "and that's also been our problem in the last two games.

"If you're going to win in this league, you must get more turnovers — interceptions and fumbles — than you give up."

Bruins Again Favored To Win NCAA Crown

NEW YORK (UPI) — UCLA should win the national basketball title this season.

The United Press International Board of Coaches made that clear today when it overwhelmingly voted the Uclans the nation's No. 1 favorite for National honors.

UCLA, which won the NCAA title for the fourth straight year last season received 23 of the 26 first place ballots cast by members of the 35-man UPI Coaches Board. The Bruins finished with 25 points to easily outdistance second place South Carolina, which was awarded the remaining three first place ballots.

Jacksonville was third in the tabulation, followed by Kentucky, the defending regular-season national titlist, and Marquette. Notre Dame was sixth, with Pennsylvania, Western Kentucky, Utah State and Southern California completing the top 10.

Slugfest Expected In N.Y. When Raiders Take On Jets

OAKLAND (UPI) — When the Oakland Raiders come to Shea Stadium Sunday to battle New York, it should be another slugfest.

The 1967 meeting, in which Joe Namath's cheekbone was broken, set the pattern and the Raiders-Jets battles since have maintained the lack of decorum.

It was after the 1967 game that offensive tackle Winston Hill proclaimed the Raiders' defensive end, Ben Davidson, football's dirtiest player.

Hill, who takes on Davidson, Wednesday blamed that long ago quote on emotion and called Davidson "a fine competitor and athlete."

Davidson said "offensive linemen usually try to keep you happy. It doesn't pay for them to get you mad."

Davidson said that the Jets line holds worse than any others in the league.

Meanwhile, defense tackle Tom Keating, who missed the game against Detroit last week, is working out with the Raiders again and should be ready for the Jets.

Shelley Hamlin Tries For Fourth Straight

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI) — Stanford coed Shelley Hamlin opened her campaign for a fourth straight California Amateur golf title by breezing to a 6-5 win over Mardel Wilkins of Bell in first round action.

Tourney medalist Joan Damon of Honolulu decisioned Mrs. Ellen Bowering of San Diego 4-3.

The eight survivors battled today.

Palmer Headlines Coral Golf Field

CORAL SPRINGS, Fla. (UPI)—A relaxed and confident Arnold Palmer, still looking for his first win of 1970, headed a field of 144 to tee off today in the $125,000 Coral Springs Open.

Palmer, who finished in a tie for third in the Heritage Classic at Hilton Head, S.C. last week, has not had a winless season since 1955. He said he has no intention of being blanked this year.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Hope was on hand to help launch golf's Tribute to Ike, a $25 million fund-raising campaign to help finance the completion of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Desert, Calif., and Eisenhower College in Seneca Falls, N.Y. Both projects were begun before the death of President Eisenhower in 1969.

The project, intended to reach the nation's 10 million golfers, is under the cosponsorship of the United States Golf Association and the Professional Golfers Association.

Bruce Taylor Is No. 1 Punt Return Man

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rookies are making their mark in the National Football Conference this season, according to the latest statistics released Wednesday by the NFL.

The most impressive of the first year men has been Bruce Taylor, a starting cornerback for the San Francisco 49ers who doubles as the NFC's punt return leader. Taylor has returned 34 punts for 445 yards and a 13.1 yard average.

The Philadelphia Eagles' Billy Walik, a rookie from Villanova, ranks 10th in punt returns with a 4.8 yard average but has shown better form on kick off returns where he is fourth in the conference with a 25.4 yard average.

Jets' Woodall Shows Much Improvement

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Jets have the fifth-ranked passer in the American Football Conference, and it's not Joe Namath.

It's Al Woodall, the former Duke star who has been filling in at quarterback for Namath the past six weeks since Broadway Joe broke his right wrist.

Woodall started out slowly, impressing no one with his style, but over the last four weeks he has shown 100 per cent improvement and has become a very capable pro quarterback.

The rangy quarterback played his fourth solid game in a row last Sunday against the Minnesota Vikings, and this week's AFC statistics released Wednesday finds him with the fifth best passing statistic in the conference.

Daryle Lamonica of Oakland continues to lead the quarterbacks with 16 points and rookie Dennis Shaw of Buffalo ranks second with 19½.

Celtics Are Rebuilding Faster Than Expected

By United Press International

The Boston Celtics, may have rebuilt a lot quicker than most people expected.

The Celtics, who finished out of the National Basketball Association playoffs last season for the first time in over a decade, went heavily to youth this season in an effort to rebuild their collapsed dynasty.

Boston seems to have put together a firm foundation. The Celtics capitalized on free throws in the last 10 seconds by John Havlicek and Don Chaney to beat the Los Angeles Lakers 114-111 for their sixth consecutive victory. The triumph left the Celtics with a 15-10 mark this season in second place in the NBA East, four games behind New York.

In the only other NBA action Wednesday night, Detroit romped past New York, 101-82, Phoenix ripped Atlanta 126-102 and Seattle downed Cincinnati 119-111.

Boston led 111-109 when Havlicek was intentionally fouled and converted a free throw. Jerry West's basket cut the Celtics' lead to 121-111 and Chaney tossed in a pair of foul shots after being fouled with three seconds remaining.

Havlicek had 26 points to lead Boston and rookie Dave Cowens had 24. Wilt Chamberlain's 29 points were high for Los Angeles.

REALIST CHARLIE FOX

Giants' Skipper Has Been In Baseball Quite A Spell

By MILTON RICHMAN

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Willie Mays turned up here in the lobby of the hotel where most of the major league baseball people are staying and his mere appearance moved a few of them to say there goes the next manager of the San Francisco Giants.

Charlie Fox, the present one, doesn't lose any sleep over that kind of talk, first of all because there really isn't anything he can do about it and secondly because he's a complete realist.

"I know someone's going to replace me some day," he says. "If it's Willie, great. Whoever the boss picks is okay with me. For the present I'm still manager of the club."

He figures to be for a long time, if you can use this past season as any yardstick. Charlie Fox took over the Giants last May 24th and nobody in the league played better ball than they did after the All-Star break. They won 65 and lost only 27 which is traveling at a .650 clip, or fast enough to win your division except when you happen to get stuck with being in the same one as the Cincinnati Reds.

When Fox was introduced at a luncheon for all the managers Tuesday, Dave Grote, the National League's PR man, said "and here's the manager who had the best record for the last half of the season."

". . . But they don't pay off on that," commented another manager in the audience to a guy sitting alongside him at the table.

Charlie Fox knows they don't.

He wasn't vaccinated yesterday. Thirty of his 49 years on this year have been spent in professional baseball and he has served in practically every capacity from player, scout, business manager, general manager and field manager.

"Sure they don't pay off on half a season but that kind of performance is encouraging because it shows we're starting to jell," he says. "You have to bear in mind that I took the job in late May and we didn't start together. Next season the players and I will and if we can do over a full season what we did over the last half of this past season we can win. I see no reason why we can't."

The two things the Giants can use most are more pitching and a stronger defense. They tried helping themselves in one of those departments by making a bid for veteran shortstop Lou Aparacio but he wound up with the Red Sox when the White Sox asked too much.

"We talked to them but they were outlandish," Fox says.

"You mean they asked for somebody like Bobby Bonds?" a newsman asked the San Francisco manager.

"Plus a coupla guys with him," Fox said. "We would've liked having Aparicio but we didn't push for him. We've got a fine young prospect coming up from Amarillo. His name is Chris Speier. He hit .290 and was the Texas league all-star shortstop this year, and he's only 21. This was only his first year out also."

Charlie Fox spent 12 years managing in the minors at such places as Bristol, Tenn., St. Cloud, Minn., Sunbury, Pa., Tacoma, Wash., and Phoenix, Ariz., but says he learned as much by working four years as a coach under Herman Franks with the Giants.

Fox was named manager of the Giants on a Sunday and when he called his mother in the Bronx she told him she already had heard the news and had just come from mass.

"I hope you said a prayer for me," Charlie said to his mother.

"I've been on my knees for you all my life," she answered him.

Charlie Fox gets a kick telling that little story.

He doesn't look worried at all about his job.

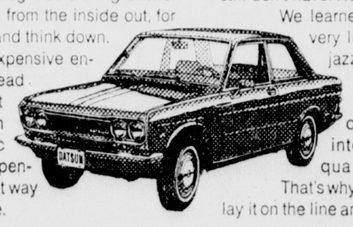
Drive a Datsun then decide

For 38 years our customers have demanded a small economy car with all the luxury and performance of a big expensive car. That taught us a thing or two.
How to build our cars from the inside out, for instance. And not to start big and think down.
How to incorporate expensive engineering features. Like overhead cam engines that give great mileage, quick acceleration and long-term reliability. Exotic 4-wheel fully independent suspensions, because they're the best way to a smooth, road-sticking ride.
And solid unibody construction. Fade-resistant front disc brakes. A lot of things big expensive cars still don't have. Not to mention a lot of small cars.
We learned how to build a complete car for very little money. A car you don't have to jazz up. Or beef up.
Our customers stimulated our determined attention to detail, craftsmanship. They literally drove us into a new dimension of small car quality.
That's why with all seven Datsun models we can lay it on the line and say: Drive a Datsun...then decide.



Seven ways to go!

JIM MURRAY

Lighthearted Brodie Holding Four Aces

SAN FRANCISCO — In the tacky, steamy dressing room at Kezar Stadium that looks like something out of the moleskin era that Knute Rockne just left, John Riley Brodie, the quarterback, sat naked and started to sidestep a room full of blitzing reporters' questions.

In the other dressing room, the Rams were audibly awarding game balls by the box to various individuals, and their organized cheering could be thinly heard through the cracking plaster walls. The scoreboard lights outside read: "Rams 30, 49ers 13." Outside in the runway, a fan bounced a bottle off a bald-headed cop's head. The 49er fans, who had hurried through the rain a few hours before toting their thermos' full of martinis and six packs, and signs which read "Gabriel Go Ram Your Horn," and "A Ram Is Just a Big Goat,"—and "They're Not Men, They're From Los Angeles," were going home once more with a sour taste of frustration and defeat.

LOSING quarterbacks are supposed to sit in the corner and sob, or have to be restrained from cutting their wrists, or announcing their retirement. But John Riley Brodie, vanquished, does not behave any differently from John Riley Brodie, victor. Brodie always looks as if he is holding four aces, anyway. It is an attitude which has baffled some coaches, infuriated others, and, in the sometimes sophomoric world of football journalism, tends to obscure the fact that John Brodie is as good as or better than any quarterback in the National Football League — even if he doesn't smash lockers in defeat.

John R. Brodie is as lighthearted as the gambler who entered the game with 20 borrowed dollars, ran it up to $200,000 then quietly tapped out, and, when someone said, "How did it go?" answered, "I just lost 20 bucks."

"WAS THAT ball slippery out there today?" Someone wanted to know. Brodie smiled. "No, it just looked that way the way I was throwing." Did the fact the Rams kept him bottled in his own 10-yard line most of the second half take away the "bomb," the midfield pass to a sprinting flanker? "Midfield?" asked Brodie. "What was the weather like up there?"

John Brodie completed 20 passes out of 36. One was for a touchdown, but the two key completions were to a pesky, undersized player, aptly named "Nettles." Jimmy Nettles must hold the league record for interceptions by a 5-10 cornerback. Only three 49er receivers caught more of Brodie's passes than Jimmy Nettles.

"WHAT KIND of a pass was it Nettles intercepted?" a guy with a notebook wanted to know. "A spiral," answered Brodie. "Was he open?" somebody cracked. "No," said Brodie, "he caught it in a crowd. Sometimes you have to give a receiver credit." "He hasn't been in the league very long. Didn't you recognize him?" Someone else wanted to know. "The second time I did. The face was familiar. So was the football. Of course, I've been intercepted by so many. It's not exactly a key club."

John Brodie has been intercepted 181 times. But John Brodie has thrown 178 touchdowns and has completed 2,051 passes in his 14 years in the NFL.

HE DOESN'T need the money. He once signed with the Houston Oilers of the old AFL for three-quarters of a million dollars and, when the merger was effected, Brodie sent the league into a prevent defense. Constitutionally, he fell someplace between Dred Scott and Uncle Tom's Cabin, and he's the only guy in the game who is paid by the 49ers to play, and the disbanded AFL not to play (they share in paying off his promised money on a yearly basis). He's the athletic equivalent of the farmer who gets paid not to plant.

NFL quarterbacks are supposed to come from Texas Tech or Ole Miss or someplace where they learn to throw hitting squirrels with boulders. Brodie came from Stanford, which is the next worst thing to coming from Harvard. The writer, Arnold Hano, once described John as being a "graduate of the school of soft knocks." Daddy, for example, was a stockbroker.

EVEN AT Stanford, where he went without a scholarship, the coach used to have to go down and get John out of the poker or bridge games or the penny-pitching in the Quad. In another era, John probably would have played the riverboats instead of the Packers.

When John Brodie first came up to the 49ers, he was good enough to alternate with Y. A. Tittle, no less, and in fact, to take his job away. Joe Perry was still in the backfield, so was Hugh McElhenny, Billy Wilson, and R.C. Owens.

"Are the linebackers any different now," John was asked. "How do you tell one line from another?" he answered. "Do you run any faster now?" "No, but I'm not any slower." An onlooker whispered: "John says they put him on instant replay in a first-half run once, and, by the time they got back to live action, the post-game show was on."

AND JOHN BRODIE, professional quarterback, amateur golfer, bridge player, Stanford man, San Franciscan, a relic of the days when the game was played by gentlemen and scholars on their days off, picked up a towel and sauntered to the shower. And "to do a Brodie" still means to take a big chance, and, if it fails, shrug it off and call for a new deck.

Prep Soccer Titanic

San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools both remained unbeaten Tuesday to set the stage for Friday's game of the year in the Marin County Athletic League soccer race.

San Rafael shut out Marin Catholic, 6-0, while the Trojans edged Redwood, 1-0. Once again Bill Mejia was the Bulldogs' top scorer, with three goals, and Ed Mestri accounted for Terra Linda's only point. The teams meet, probably for the MCAL crown, Friday afternoon at 3:30 at San Rafael.

In other games Tuesday, Urbano Boucsiequez and Andy Justiniano each scored twice as San Marin shutout Tamalpais, 4-0, and Drake beat Novato, 3-2, on two goals by Tom Scheer and one by Joe Navaro.

Lions, Raiders 49ers Favored

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI) — Nevada oddsmakers have listed the Detroit Lions as five-point favorites over the St. Louis Cards in the upcoming battle of divisional powerhouses.

Harrah's Tahoe Racebook also and San Francisco 49ers should win their next games. The Raiders were one touchdown favorites over the revitalized New York Jets while San Francisco was given an eight-point edge over Atlanta.

Other pro odds:

Green Bay over Pittsburgh by 1; San Diego over Cincinnati by 3 1-2; Cleveland over Houston by 3 1-2; Baltimore over Philadelphia by 7; Dallas over Washington by 7; Kansas City over Denver by 9; Miami over Boston by 12; New York Giants over Buffalo by 13 and Los Angeles over New Orleans by 15.

THE SKI SCENE

From Gambling To Skiing Runs

By Charlie Coane

At the doorstep of a flock of gambling establishments at South Lake Tahoe lies Heavenly Valley — a vast complex of skiing runs that spills into both California and Nevada. It offers the unique opportunity of winning back the entire cost of your skiing weekend, or — depending upon the crank of a handle, the turn of a card or the roll of the dice — blowing a month's salary! And it's right there, almost within walking distance of the lodge.

As you pull into the Heavenly Valley parking lot for the first time, the mountain presents an imposing figure. Staring you right in the face is the Gunbarrel Run — something more than a novice playhill. But the area is not all that way. In fact, beginner, intermediate and expert runs abound.

Most of the development this season at Heavenly Valley has been on the Nevada side of the mountain. An Olympic Downhill Run is about three-fourths complete and is now three miles long. One mile in addition will be cleared by next season, completing the run.

Other activities for this season include the clearing of many new trails on the Nevada side and the operating of the ski school under the direction of veteran Pepi Greimeister on both the California and Nevada sides. Food, ski rentals and ticket sales are also available this season on the Nevada side. For those concerned about the financial situation (and who isn't) when you step up to the ticket booth, $8 again will be the rate for the daily adult ticket. Most areas have upped their rates 50 cents this season. But at Heavenly, boss Hugh Killebrew held the line. If you're really the hearty, outdoor type and would like to stroll through the snow-filled peaks on skis, Heavenly offers ski touring, too. And for racing fans, check the FIS World Cup races Feb. 25-28.

PERCHED AT Donner Summit on Interstate 80 is a relatively new area, Boreal Ridge. The area does not attempt to compete with giants like Squaw and Heavenly for the expert skiers, but rather aims primarily for families, and intermediate and beginning skiers. And Boreal has advantages. First, the Boreal lift rate is $6.50 weekends and $5 weekdays for an adult, all-day ticket. The area is as easy to drive to as any — only three hours from downtown San Francisco.

Boreal has added a fourth chairlift this season, and the lift is right in front of the lodge. The new Brown chair parallels the Blue chair and runs 1,300 feet to the top of a gentle slope. This enables beginners to use a chair instead of a poma lift and pomas can be tiring and discouraging to first time skiers. Night skiing began a few years ago at Boreal, and that unusual aspect of skiing takes place Thursday through Sunday, 4:30 - 10 p.m. Of course there are lights! And manager Jay Price has cleared the meadow at the bottom of the hill for non-skiing snow players to bounce around on innertubes and saucers.

Water Polo Win For Tamalpais

It took overtimes but Tamalpais High School finally prevailed over Drake, 5-4, Tuesday in Marin County Athletic League water polo action.

Hugh Cruickshank scored tieing and winning goals for Tam.

'Erotic Film Festival' Picked Right Location

As the "First International Erotic Film Festival" opened at the Presidio Theater in San Francisco this week, two trials were under way in San Francisco City Hall of persons accused of outraging public decency by showing pornographic films.

Police Sgt. Sol Weiner, who has spent four of his 20 years on the San Francisco force in anti-smut investigation, testified as an expert witness at one of the trials.

HIS TESTIMONY, as reported in the San Francisco daily which calls itself the "Voice of the West," was that " 'adult' movies have become at least a $5 million a year business in California in less than two years."

It further reported the sergeant's testimony:

"As recently as 1968, he said, there were no theaters openly showing hard-core sex films in California.

"Now there are at least 125, including 22 to 24 in San Francisco. And the annual take is at least $5 million, perhaps as much as $10 million."

NONE OF THIS could have been surprising to the "Voice of the West." Fifteen of those 22 to 24 San Francisco pornography theaters had display advertisements in its same editions which carried Weiner's testimony. Some samples of their messages:

"See why the Screening Room enjoys the reputation as the undisputed leader of quality erotica in the United States."

"Showing everything claimed by all the others! Unrestrained graphic sexual expression."

"The degree of explicitness and freedom exercised in 'Mona' is unprecedented. It makes the so-called stag movies passe."

"The stag master scores again!"

One out-of-town "stag house" was also represented: "In San Mateo we don't mess around! Live and on-screen adult fun."

THE "VOICE OF THE WEST" is not the only newspaper benefitting from the $5 million (or $10 million) California pornographic film business. The leading newspaper in Sacramento on the same day carried a half dozen "hard core" movie advertisements, with messages such as "Film to stagger the imagination! 'Four Women in Trouble' " and, "This picture is only for the super sizzling hard core adult film buff of Sacramento."

There is little discernable difference between such advertising and that which appears in the so-called "underground press."

In this atmosphere of what appears to be public approval, the "First International Erotic Film Festival" would seem likely to be a huge success in San Francisco. And perhaps Sacramento, striving for a greater share of the smut market, may be able to capture the "Second International Erotic Film Festival."

The Stupid Foreigners

A gang of stupid foreigners has taken over our government, our businesses and our unions. And their bosses are so stealthy that we have welcomed these stupes in the name of efficiency.

They refuse to speak English, requiring interpreters fluent in their native dialects, Fortran, Cobal and so forth to be in constant attendance. Their culture is so alien to ours they do not even use the decimal system. But in the binary system, it must be admitted, they can perform calculations with extreme rapidity, if they are told exactly what to do in the required language.

Their worst defect is that, being unable to understand English, they are given to the endless use of form letters in answering letters, which they don't understand either.

Yes, these Computers are stupid foreigners. But, if they become too obnoxious, we can always pull their plug.

Governors 'Freeze' Orders Can Only Put Dent In Deficit

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — After hearing Gov. Ronald Reagan lay out the fiscal situation to his department heads today, we are more than ever glad we did not decide to run for governor of California.

An economy governor, Reagan is faced with a deficit that more operating economies in government admittedly can only dent.

An opponent of increased taxation, he is faced with dwindling receipts under the present tax structure because of the continuing business and industrial slump.

THE IMPENDING deficit, estimated at about $300 million, is mostly made up of a combination of those decreasing tax receipts and large increases in the costs of welfare and medi-Cal.

Reductions in welfare and medi-Cal costs are in order as the governor sees it, and has seen it for some time. His targets are what he considers to be excessive costs in these two items.

At the same time, and also because of the economic slump, the welfare caseload is increasing and those on welfare are eligible for medi-Cal benefits.

Finance Director Verne Orr told the department heads and assembled reporters that 18,000 to 20,000 people a month are being added to the welfare rolls in Los Angeles County alone.

We suspect that the determination to "do something about welfare" increases in direct proportion to the remoteness with which one regards his own chances of losing his paycheck.

And so public support for cutting the fat out of welfare and medi-Cal may depend on a showing that it is really only fat that is being trimmed and that welfare and medi-Cal will still be able to furnish an economic cushion for those who up until the time of their unemployment have paid in their tax money to support them.

ORR ANNOUNCED a freeze in state hiring and freezes on contracts and other items supported by the general fund. He announced also a freeze on purchase of equipment, including new cars, typewriters and other equipment.

He said no layoffs in state jobs were expected, but that the job freeze would cut the work force through the normal attrition of retirements and resignations.

To capitol observers, this is a replay of 1967, when the same kind of orders went into effect. Even though they entail the risk of reducing the efficiency of state operations, such reductions can only make up about $50 million at best of the projected deficit.

Which would appear to leave the solution somewhere between increased taxes and welfare and medi-Cal cuts.

As we said, we are glad we don't have to walk that tightrope.

City Should Buy Courthouse Square

I see by your newspaper that the old county courthouse is up for sale again. I think that San Rafael City should purchase it from the county, and keep the park and the buildings for use by the citizens. This square gives the otherwise nondescript city a center, a heart, a personality.

The buliding could be used for civic purposes: reaction, senior citizen activities, youth programs, gymnasium, and meeting hall by clubs, etc. The $700,000 purchase price is not prohibitive for a city the size of San Rafael.

Or, why don't you or the chamber of commerce — or a group of citizens — initiate a fund for the purchase, and call on all citizens to contribute to it? Alternatively, why not appeal to the county to sell it to the city for $1?

It would be a loss to the citizens to have this oasis in a desert of dull business buildings disappear, to be replaced by just a few mose buildings dedicated to the profit of a handful of businessmen.

Need Understanding In Zoning Fuss

Your editorial of Nov. 30 indicates a possible misunderstanding of the actions taken by the City of San Anselmo, relating to zoning and building violations on the properties of Mrs. Gay Kagy and Mr. William D. Howey.

The city's actions are not, in any way, a commencement of a drive to eliminate legal non-conforming multiple dwelling uses in single-family zones. they are simply the continuation of enforcement policies which have been followed by the city since the inception of our zoning ordinance. . .

As you point out, the property which has received the greatest attention is that of Mrs. Kagy. The facts of this case should be clarified. Prior to the construction of her second unit, Mrs. Kagy asked whether such a unit could be constructed on her property. She was informed that under the present zoning, an additional living unit could not be built. Subsequently, the unit was added with full knowledge that it was illegal and without benefit of a building permit, hence, without inspection to ascertain compliance with health and safety provisions of our building code.

While the city has, for a number of years, been aware of the developing problem of inadequate housing, particularly for low-income people, the city does not feel that it is prudent to resolve such a complex problem by the simplistic solution of discontinuing enforcement of our zoning law.

The realization of this problem was a major reason for our request for federal funds to assist us in a new and expanded planning program including a housing element. We are proceeding to the best of our ability to obtain solutions in a proper and prudent way, and changes to our zoning ordinance may well be a product of this study. . .

The list of 150 or 200 homes mentioned in your editorial, and over and over again in the press, was prepared in 1959 under the direction of the city council as part of a land use survey. It included known legal non-conforming uses (uses predating the zoning ordinance) as well as uses which were considered questionable. It was not then, and it is not now, used as a tool for abatement . . . It is not known by the city what number of illegal uses do exist. . .

It is my hope that through the steps we are taking and with the help of our citizens, solutions can be found which will provide a wide range of housing in San Anselmo.

Teacher Salary Figured By Hour

This letter is not a direct reply to the person from Novato who recently complained in the Independent-Journal about exorbitant teacher salaries, for it would be quite futile to discuss the matter with one so obviously lacking in objectivity. I do think, however, that the oft-repeated statement and widely held view that school teachers are greedy, overpaid, underworked sappers of the public treasury should be balanced by the facts which pertain to this situation.

Now at first glance, $14,000 for 9½ months' work seems like quite a high salary. But when we get down to the actual pay per hour worked an entirely different picture emerges. Teachers are required to give their districts at least 180 days of service per year. The typical day consists of 7½ hours (8:15 a.m.—3:45 p.m.) of school attendance. It is no exaggeration to maintain, however, that before school, lunch, after school duties, meetings, papers taken home for grading conferences, counseling, etc., that the actual working day is at least nine hours. Nine X 180 equals 1620 hours; $14,000 ÷ 1620 equals $8.64 per hour.

But wait. This is what a teacher grosses when he is at the top of his profession, after 12 to 14 years of service to a district and enough graduate study to earn a master's degree twice over. When he begins, he will receive less than $7,000, or less than $4.32 per hour. (The county pays road maintenance personnel $3.84)!

These rates are like nothing compared to the $10-18 per hour the teacher pays the carpenter, plumber, electrician, car mechanic, or TV repair man. As for the other learned professions, medicine, law, engineering — I will refrain from quoting comparison figures out of compassion for the teacher. Please keep in mind that these are gross figures. Withholding retirement, hospitalization, insurances, professional society dues and assessments, and other incidentals concerned with a profession reduce a teacher's take home pay accordingly.

As for fringe benefits I cannot speak for other districts; my district pays up to $240 per year —less than $5 per week.

Permissiveness Helps Britain Control Marginal Drug Culture

LONDON — Thanks to Spiro Agnew, permissiveness is a dirty word. Yet the permissive approach to the drug problem in Britain is one reason it is divorced in large measure from criminality .

Heroin addicts go once a week to a health clinic where they are registered. They are given a card which they take each day to a pharmacy to receive their daily fix. In this way the standard of the drug is insured and the possibility of death from an overdose greatly reduced.

With only about 3,000 addicts, the scope of the problem is nothing like that in the United States, where in New York alone there are estimated to be 100,000 heroin users.

If the fix is free and available, there is no need to rob and mug for the $60 or $70 a day that the American addict pays. Britain has no built-in ghettos from which the drug culutre can spread. Nor, although Scotland Yard has crossed fingers, is there a Mafia to carry an illegal wholesale traffic.

THE USE of marijuana is spreading rapidly and Parliament is moving to reduce the penalties for possession and use. Penalties under the present law are stiff, with jail sentences up to five and 10 years. But in 1969, of the 4,683 convictions under the drug act, 85 per cent got six months in jail or fines and then the sentence was suspended.

One guess is 300,000 pot smokers, a number varying as users go on and off the stuff. The concentrated resin of the canabis plant used here is far more powerful than the marijuana widely used in the United States. Pakistan, Lebanon and Cyprus are the chief sources of supply, with an organized traffic smuggling it through the ports.

While pamphlets pour out of one commission or another, just as in America, very little research has been done on the effects of the prolonged use of marijuana.

A lobby has grown up here advocating legalizing the sale and use of marijuana. With little effect on public opinion, it is fading away. Others believe stern penalties should be applied. They speak for the stiffening attitude that coincides with the advent of the Conservative government. It is reflected in the outcries against the spread of pornography and nudity on the stage. The revolt is against a swinging Britain and the excesses of Carnaby Street, of which the drug bit is a part.

SCOTLAND YARD suspects that LSD and amphetamines are coming in from the United States. This may represent a form of barter for the hashish that appears to be cheap and relatively plentiful here.

A serious concern is over pill popping in the schools. Teachers know so little about the problem that they resort to expulsion of a student caught exchanging any kind of pill on the playground. This drastic punishment is, in effect, a life sentence, since further education becomes all but impossible in a crowded land where competition is intense and the individual is fitted into a frame of meticulous record-keeping.

Authorities concerned with the drug culture see motives as mixed. One, as with alcohol, is the desire for relaxation and the illusion of ease and well-being. Escape is less common than in the United States where the ghetto dweller flees the intolerable conditions of his life. Most users in Britain are middle or upper-middle class.

THE DRUG CULTURE here can be said to be still marginal. How far it will go no one can say. Looking across the Atlantic, observers here see drugs as a monster threatening the future of America. An article in the New Statesman reports that legalization of marijuana is so likely a prospect that American tobacco companies have bought up great tracts of land in Mexico where the stuff grows like grass. They are copyrighting trade names such as "Mexican Gold." This, if true, is permissiveness, American private-enterprise style.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Stalin, Molotov Memoirs May Hold Real Secrets

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—If the alleged memoirs of former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev being published abroad have generated a global sensation, other memoirs exist which someday will prove infinitely more interesting.

Among them are the reminiscences of Josef V. Stalin himself and those of his right-hand man, the 80 year-old Vyacheslav M. Molotov, onetime premier, foreign minister and one of the few surviving old Bolsheviks whose career spanned more than half a century.

NO OFFICIAL information can be obtained about Stalin's memoirs. But in the past few years there have been intimations that the man who for 30 years was the absolute ruler of his country put down at least part of his extraordinary experience on paper.

In complete retirement since 1961, Molotov, who early in his political life was described by Vladimir I. Lenin as the "best filing clerk in Russia," has an elephantine memory and has been walking the corridors of supreme Soviet power since the 1917 revolution.

He was reported reliably to have completed his menoirs about two years ago.

The tales he could tell would dwarf everything Khrushchev said into relative insignificance.

CURIOUSLY ENOUGH there probably would have been no memoirs at all if there had been no Khrushchev. Memoirs in Stalin's lifetime were inconceivable.

In his devastating indictment of Stalin at the 20th and 22nd Communist party congresses of 1956 and 1961, Khrushchev requested and encouraged old Bolsheviks and military leaders who had been victimized by Stalin to share their experiences with the people.

The first to appear in print were memoirs of Lenin's close co-workers who attempted to rectify the record since Stalin had minimized the founding father's role in history and inflated his own.

There were also a series of grim realistic descriptions of the Stalin era terror exemplified by the memoirs of Gen. Alexander Gorbatov and journalist Yevgenia Ginzburg.

THEN CAME the memoirs of the generals, best known of which were those of Russia's most eminent soldier, onetime Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

The early memoirs of the generals tended to be critical of Stalin's failure to prepare the country for war, but the later ones did not go much into this subject. They tended to emphasize Stalin's competent conduct of the war effort—on which subject Khrushchev was highly emotional and prejudiced. But Stalin was not otherwise rehabilitated.

IT IS AN interesting paradox that a contraband account of what is presented as Khrushchev's memoirs first has been published abroad.

Observers here generally assume that whatever reminiscences Khrushchev may have written, he did not intend to publish them abroad first and had no hand in their transmission to foreign publishers.

Almost-Forgotten One-Way Street Plan May Be Due For Revival

In June, 1969, D. Jackson Faustman, a Sacramento traffic consultant, submitted to the San Rafael City Council a plan to speed the flow of downtown traffic. After a public hearing at which the proposal was greeted with mixed reaction from merchants, the plan was shelved.

And despite worsening traffic, that's where the plan remains 18 months later, although there's a hint relief for the motorist may be in sight.

FAUSTMAN'S PLAN called for making several downtown streets, including Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue, one-way, as well as constructing an underground parking garage at the courthouse square.

The proposal was greeted enthusiastically by several downtown merchants, but opposed by West End businessmen who feared economic ruin or outright elimination because Faustman envisioned cutting a new street in the G Street area to link Fifth and Fourth. The concerns were voiced at a public hearing before the city council on July 22, 1969 — and that was the last time the council formally discussed the Faustman plan.

But Norris M. Rawles, director of public works and chairman of the council's traffic advisory committee, says harried motorists have not been forgotten. "You happened to call at a timely moment," he said. "I've asked members of the traffic committee to make some recommendations on one-way streets for the next meeting Dec. 14."

Rawles generally endorses the Faustman plan, including conversion of Fifth Avenue to one-way, but said public hearings should be held before two-way traffic on Fourth Street was halted.

Fourth Street merchants, he said, "bring in a lot of sales taxes to the city" and should be consulted.

COUNCILMAN FRED E. Jensen opposes making Fourth Street one-way because he believes merchants "would crowd the council chambers against it," despite the traffic snarls.

As one city official put it, "Motorists zipping along a one-way street don't notice the shopping bargains in store windows."

Larry P. Biancalana, president of the chamber of commerce, said he hoped eventually to see Fourth Street closed between D Street and Lincoln Avenue for a mall, but that would depend on provision for added off street parking, as would adoption of any one-way street plan.

And that, Rawles readily concedes, is another problem.

Real Reason For Economic Slump: Nobody–But Nobody!–Pays Bills

WASHINGTON — Everyone has his own theory as to why the economy is in such trouble. In spite of all the gobbledygook the administration is putting out, the real reason the economy has gone to pot is that nobody is paying his bills.

My father, who is president, vice president, treasurer and sole full-time employee of the Aetna Curtain Co. in New York City, called me in Washington to tell me what was going on in the business world.

"If that President of yours really wants to get the economy moving again," he said, "you can tell him to get people to start paying their bills."

"You mean people aren't paying their bills?" I said, astonished.

"NO ONE is paying bills. People, companies, corporations, banks, insurance companies. Everyone is holding up on the money."

"It's hard to believe."

"Believe it," my father said. "I made curtains for a toy company's showroom on Fifth Avenue three months ago. They still haven't paid me. I went over the other day and said, 'Look, you're a big toy company; I'm a small manufacturer. Why don't you pay me for the curtains?' They said, 'We'd love to pay you for the curtains but Krum's Department Store hasn't paid us for our toys.'

"So," my father continued, "I went over to Krum's Department Store and said to them, 'Why don't you pay the Thumbsucker Toy Co. for their toys so they can pay me for my curtains?' The people at Krum's Department Store said, 'We'd love to pay the Thumbsucker company for their toys, but none of our charge accounts has paid us. Here is a customer, Arthur Gordon. He bought $100 worth of toys and he hasn't paid for them.' "

MY FATHER went to see Arthur Gordon and said, "Mr. Gordon, I don't know you, but you owe the Krum Department Store $100."

"What business is it of yours?" Mr. Gordon wanted to know.

"Because if you don't pay your bill, the Krum people won't pay the Thumbsucker Toy Co., and if they don't get paid, they won't pay me for my curtains."

"Well," said Gordon. "If you must know, I'm a lawyer, and I won't pay Krum's until Harold Jaffe, who is in the lumber business, pays me."

My father went to see Jaffe, who said, "The reason I haven't paid Gordon is that the Man Mountain Construction Co. owes me $5,000 for lumber. You get my $5,000 from Man Mountain and I'll pay my lawyer's bill."

SINCE BUSINESS was slow, my father went to see the Man Mountain Construction Co. They admitted owing Jaffe the money, but said the reason they couldn't pay him was that the Third National Bank of Queen's Village had refused to give Man Mountain a loan to finish a housing project they were building in Happy Valley, N.Y.

My father went to see Mr. Michael Kahme, president of the Third National Bank of Queen's Village, and he said the reason they couldn't lend Man Mountain any money was because a dentist named Dr. Hiram Torem hadn't paid back a loan he made to furnish his office with all-new dental equipment.

Dr. Torem told my father he couldn't pay the loan for his equipment because Mr. Robert Cantor hadn't paid him for a very expensive set of false teeth.

MY FATHER told me: "I knew it was hopeless to look up Mr. Cantor, so I went back to the shop where I found Mr. Sam Plotnik, who sold me the fabric for the curtains I made for the Thumbsucker Toy Co. He said, 'When am I going to get the money for my curtain material?' I said to him, 'What's the hurry?' And he said, 'The hurry is that I've had to lay off people because you haven't paid your bill.' "

And my father said, "One of those people wouldn't be named Robert Cantor, would he?"

"No," said Plotnik. "Why do you ask?"

My father replied, "It was just a hunch."

EOC Month Is Backed By Panel

December is Equal Opportunity Month in San Anselmo. The Independent-Journal erred last week in reporting that the city council on Nov. 24 had voted against so designating the month.

The council approved the designation, thus joining other city councils and the county government, but voted not to put such matters on future agendas.

Mayor James F. Reed Tuesday night took issue with another I-J report of the Nov. 24 meeting in which he was said to have informed the city council that the state Council on Intergovernmental Relations had made a firm commitment of planning funds to San Anselmo.

Not so so, said Reed; he had not meant to imply a promise from the state, but merely to state that funding seemed promising.

Hearing Set In Drug Case

A preliminary hearing has been set for Jan. 5 in Marin Municipal Court for Robert Earl Marriott, 23, who was arrested after a drug raid on a San Geronimo residence Friday.

Drug agents said they confiscated almost 1,200 grams of suspected hashish, about 150 grams of suspected marijuana as well as small quantities of suspected cocaine and LSD at the house at 27 Sunshine Drive.

A woman present at the house was not booked after Marriott said she had just arrived there from Seattle.

Mariott, now free on bail, is also wanted by Missouri authorities. He is charged in Marin with possessing marijuana.

Bond Proposal Wins Support

The North Marin County Water District board has endorsed the Novato Sanitary District's $5.5 million bond proposal which will be before the voters Tuesday.

Director George A. Amaroli, who opposes the amount of the bond measure, dissented and chairman Arnold E. Heise abstained for a vote of 3-1-1, according to Dist. Mgr. Eugene Churchill.

Directors also set 8 p.m. Dec. 15 for a public hearing on a proposal to form an improvement district to finance sewage facilities at Oceana Marin Unit No. 1, near Dillon's Beach.

Churchill said the proposed district would include 57 lots and estimated the cost to property owners would be $1,577 per lot.

If young Mark Bramman, I-J carrier of Tiburon, had not been "alert and inquisitive we would have had a very serious fire." The quote is from Tiburon Fire Chief Franklin J. Buscher, commenting on Mark's recent exploit in saving a home from serious damage.

While collecting on his paper route Mark noticed smoke coming from a residence, ran up the stairs, grabbed the edge of the roof and, hanging by his hands, made his way to a window. Seeing flames inside, Mark ran to the fire station enabling firemen under Chief Buscher to put the fire out with minor damage.

For keeping his "cool" in a hot situation and taking immediate action, Mark is the winner of the Community Service Award of the California Newspaperboy Foundation.

Deeds like this are not at all uncommon among I-J newspaperboys. Because they are intimately aware of the community. They know virtually every house on their routes. And being trained to be responsible, these youngsters seem to respond to situations requiring decision. Mark Bramman is a pretty outstanding example.

West Should Have Been Idealist Instead Of Such An Activist

We all know people who love to keep busy. "Satan finds work for idle hands to do," they say, and they dart off to avoid such a fate. They are the salt of the earth, and I am not criticizing them. It's just that sometimes Satan could teach them a thing or two about defending a bridge hand.

Mind you, I'm not saying that Satan is a top-flight bridge player. But the old boy could probably teach us a thing or two — and we should be willing to learn.

AN ACTIVIST

When today's hand was played, West was a determined activist. He decided to lead one of his long suits against the no-trump game contract, and chose clubs since the hearts looked pretty dangerous.

The heart lead would have been dangerous, in fact fatal, but the club lead was no better. Declarer won with the ten of clubs, led a club to dummy's ace and tried a finesse with the queen of diamonds.

West took the king of diamonds and shifted to a spade, but the damage had already been done. South took the ace of spades, cashed the ace of diamonds and led a diamond toward dummy's ten.

SECOND DIAMOND

The jack of diamonds showed up, and declarer was sure of a second diamond trick. He held up the king of spades, won he third round of spades with dummy's king, cashed the ten of diamonds and entered his hand with the king of clubs to cash the queen of clubs and then lead a heart. The ace of hearts turned up in favorable position and South brought home a very lucky game contract — no without a grateful bow to West.

WRONG TITLE

West should have chosen to e an idler rather than an activist. With no really good suit of his own to develop, and with strength in three suits, West should have made a waiting lead in the fourth suit, spades. South would have had to do all of his own work and would almost surely have gone down.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Adverse Trend But Promising Outlook

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would appreciate your opinion of Kawecki Berylco Industries which I have held since 1966. Shares have traded between 55 and 12½ in that time and are now close to the low. Should I hold or has the stock seen its day of glory? — P.S.

A. In your place, I would continue to sit tight in spite of the discouraging price action of these shares. Reduced third-quarter sales reflected the disposal last year of a marginally profitable facility and a strike at the Reading, Pa., plant this year.

As a result of the 32 per cent drop in sales, company reported a 6 cents a share deficit in the September quarter. The initial appearance of Kawecki shares in several mutual fund portfolios in the third quarter has bullish implications.

Also favoring recovery are the completion by year-end of a more efficient plant and the anticipated above-average demand for Kawecki's alloy and specialty metals. Net working capital and current asset ratio both broadened in the 12 months ended December, 1969, while long term debt was reduced 20 per cent; 14 per cent of the common stocks held by two major metal and mining companies.

Q. I am interested in American Maize-Products. Would you please give me what information you have concerning this issue? — G.K.

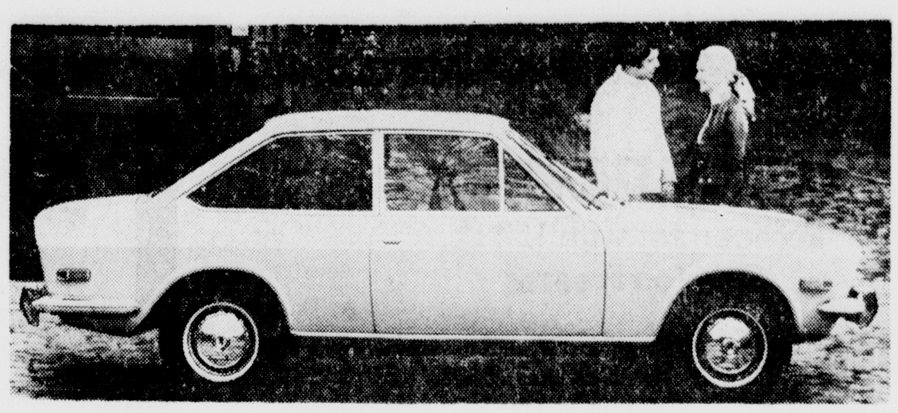
A. Until 1966, American Maize was engaged solely in corn refining. Since 1966, however, the firm has diversified by acquiring companies which manufacture and distribute cigars and candy.

Through the wholly-owned Jno. H. Swisher & Son subsidiary company manufactures cigars, 85 per cent of which are sold under the "King Edward" brand name. Candy products are manufactured through the Boyer Bros. subsidiary. Although sales have enjoyed a long uptrend, earnings are tied to fluctuations in commodity prices. Hence, AZE's past earnings pattern has been rather erratic.

Results for the first nine months of 1970 were above year-earlier levels, with net income up 19.4 per cent and sales advancing 8.8 per cent. Because shares have limited market following, better investment opportunities exist elsewhere.

Automatic Stores

NEW YORK (UPI) — Packers Products Distributing Co., a subsidiary of Bauer International, has bought American rights to Otto-Matic Store Units, a European developed automatic vending system for convenience food stores capable of stocking 280 items and making change for either coins or paper currency.



FIAT 124 COUPE HAS LARGER ENGINE

An 11.9-per cent increase in engine capacity gives this Fiat Sport Coupe higher top speed, better ability to pass quickly and improved anti-pollution performance. A 1,608 cubic-centimeter double overhead camshaft engine and five-speed transmission are standard equipment. Fiats are on sale in Marin at the Doug Dicker Sports Car Center, San Rafael.

$41.5 Million Deal

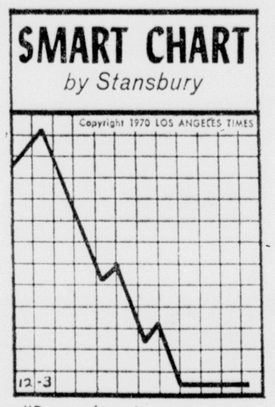
BETHPAGE, N.Y. (UPI) — — Grumman Corp. has obtained a $41.5 million Navy contract to provide EA-6 electronic warfare aircraft.

Industrial Noise Blamed On Design

NEW YORK (UPI) — Industrial noises not only can have devastating effects on people, they are symptoms of costly design shortcomings in machinery, a symposium of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers has been told.

A. C. Underwood, Houston metallurgical consultant, and W. J. Graff, professor of civil engineering at the University of Houston, presented a paper showing that energy expanded by a piece of machinery in creating noise reduces the useful work of the machine and creates severe and probably unnecessary dynamic stresses.

The two engineers studied noise produced by gears, pneumatic drills, diesel engines and electric motors and compared noise levels with efficiency output and came to the conclusion that machinery designers in general should devote attention to noise output as a symptom of failure to approach optimum design levels.



"Remember just one year ago when all the analysts said that our impressive performance could not be passed off as illusory?"

Steel Production Slips 3.1 Pct.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel production slipped 3.1 per cent to 2,289,000 tons last week from 2,363,000 tons the week before, the American Iron & Steel Institute has reported.

Production from the start of the year through Nov. 28 totaled 120,512,000 tons, down 6.1 per cent from the 128,480,000 tons produced in the comparable 1969 period.

Production last week was equal to 122.9 on the Institute's index (average weekly production 1957-59 equals 100, or 1,862,933 tons) compared with 126.8 for the previous week.

Market Hits 20 Million Share Mark

NEW YORK (UPI) — Volume soared today to more than 20-million shares as enthusiastic traders pushed prices higher for the ninth consecutive session.

However, during the last half hour the rally lost some steam.

Shortly before the close the Dow Jones industrial average stood at 808.53, up 5.89. The blue chip barometer had been up more than 10 earlier in the day. The 1970 high is 811.13, set Jan. 5.

Turnover, up from Wednesday's 17,960,000 shares, assured that the week would be one of the busiest in stock market history. Advances outpaced declines, 956 to 488, among the 1,682 traded.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 48 1-8 up 1-8; Beth St. 21 1-4 up 3-8; Chrysler 29 1-4 off 1-4; Ford 52 7-8 off 1-2; Gen. Motors 77 5-8 up 1-4; So Pac 33 1-2 up 1; US Steel 29 1-2 up 1-4.

"There is a great belief that the government is going to do everything possible to sitmulate the economy," one analyst said. He also noted that buying interest, previously confined to blue chips and glamors, had spread to secondary and speculative issues.

The reduction in the consumer loan rate by the Chase Manhattan Bank and other leading banks added to investor enthusiasm.

"Wall Street regards it as another step in the trend toward easier money," one analyst remarked.

Also stimulating the market was a prediction by an economist for Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of another drop in both the Federal Reserve discount rate and the prime bank interest rate.

City Investing, Fannie Mae, Chrysler, Scott Paper, Newmont Mining and American Telephone were active issues.

Rails, airlines, aircrafts nd electronics were mixed.

Stanford Plans New Budget Cuts

STANFORD (BW) — Stanford University has revised the goal of its budget adjustment program to nearly $6 million, President Richard W. Lyman has announced.

Most of this goal, about $5 million, will come from cuts in operating expenditures over a five-year period. Most of the remainder comes from changes in financial treatment of land development income.

The university expects to use about $3 million from its general reserves, set aside in earlier years for this contingency, before achieving its objective of a balanced budget by September 1975.

Favorite Holiday Store Gone From San Rafael In Cutback

Does there seem to be something missing from the Christmas shopping scene along downtown Fourth Street in San Rafael?

There is — the perennial Mission Pak store.

This is the first December in recent years I can remember the street being without one — or at least one just around some corner. Right after Thanksgiving you have been able to count on the dried and glazed fruit shop suddenly appearing in a previously vacant store somewhere between Lincoln Avenue and C Street.

This time the likely place for it to settle seemed to be Ed Cechettini's former Luana's quarters at 915 Fourth before he moved across the street to the Mission Arcade Building. It would have been the ideal location.

But this year the company has cut back its operations extensively. Actually the only store open in the entire Northern California area is the one at 3430 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco, about nine blocks west of the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store. Mail orders are being serviced from there.

AT IGNACIO'S Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center, Kay Robinson and Ruth Caso have moved their KT's women's ready to wear store to larger quarters.

They opened at 434 in the center last April and now have gone to 464, with about one-third more space which will be used for additional merchandise. Featured are both ready to wear and custom made and specially designed wear.

Regular hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays, but during the holiday season are extended to 9 p.m. and from 10 to 6 on Sundays.

A grand opening will be held Friday, Dec. 11, from 5 to 9 p.m. with live models showing off the merchandise.

THERE HAS BEEN a change of name for Pioneer Garage which opened at 48 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael about six months ago.

Owner Michael Farrell felt that it did nothing to indicate the specialty nature of his service — and the new name, Vanguard Volkswagen Repair, does. A survey among some of his acquaintances turned up four to one agreeing with him.

KENNETH BECHTEL of Kent Woodlands has stepped out as board chairman of Industrial Indemnity Co., San Francisco, but will stay active in the business as chairman of the executive committee and senior director.

Fred Drexler of Mill Valley has moved from the presidency to board director. New president is Robert Derr.

DAVID N. LYTLE of Tiburon has been appointed to the newly created position of marketing manager of Zehntel, Inc., Berkeley, designer of control equipment and electronic testing, calibrating and diagnosing systems. A co-founder of the firm, he was formerly project manager. Before the formation of Zehntel in 1966 he was chief applications engineer at Beckman Instruments' Berkeley division.

Lytle Dunn

DAVID J. DUNN of San Rafael, insurance, securities and financial planning specialist, has been named Northern California regional manager of Benevest, Inc., and will be headquartered at the San Rafael office. He was formerly a representative of Mitchell Curtis.

DONALD B. KROSCH of Tiburon has resigned as vice president and manager of the investment division of Frank Howard Allen and Co. to take on a consulting assignment involving travel in the Pacific area. Present plans are to continue living in Marin County.
